Much effort has been properly put forth to secure the production of milk under cleanly and satisfactory conditions. That this may not fail of its purpose it requires to be supplemented by an equally thorough campaign of education among consumers. Millions of gallons of fairly good milk are contaminated with deleterious and disease-producing bacteria in the households where it is used. From a little circular, distributed with the compliments of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, the following pointers are taken:

"As soon as the milk is received put it in a cool place, away from the rays of the sun and not exposed to the heat of the kitchen or dining-room. If the bottle is to be placed in a refrigerator or near food products, the outside should be thoroughly wiped and rinsed, thus preventing contamination of the surrounding air and foods from the street dust and other dirt which may adhere to the bottle. Leave the milk in the bottle and the cap on, until such time as it is required for use.

"It is well to have a separate compartment in your cupboard or refrigerator for milk and butter.

"When the milk is placed in an open vessel, it is well to cover it with a clean, damp cloth. Several thicknesses of cotton, wrung out of cold water, will answer the purpose. This will not only protect it from dust, but will also assist in keeping the milk cold.

"All vessels intended for milk should be sterilised (scalded with boiling water), and thoroughly cooled just before being used.

"Do not disturb the milk, or pour it from one vessel to another more often than is necessary. It is well to keep your milk in one medium-sized vessel, rather than a number of small vessels.

"Milk delivered at different times should not be mixed.

"Left-overs should be kept by themselves, and used before the fresh supply is drawn upon.

"If milk is to be kept until the following day, and there is a likelihood of it souring, pasteurize by placing in a double boiler and heating to near the boiling point (170 to 180 degrees F.). Cool as quickly as possible after it has been pasteurized. Always rinse thoroughly the cap and top part of the bottle before removing the cap.

"Open vessels containing milk should not be exposed to foul odors or produce which will flavor the milk.

"To clean milk vessels, first rinse with water, which may be slightly warm, but not hot. Then wash thoroughly with water containing a washing compound, scald, and allow to drain and dry.

SEA BATHING

To bathe before breakfast is never free from risk, and sometimes seriously injures weakly subjects; for after the long fast of the night the circulatory and central nervous organs are more liable to depression from sudden shock or over-fatigue. On the other hand, to bathe soon after a meal arrests the process of digestion and may give rise to unpleasant gastric and cerebral symptoms. The best results are obtained from bathing two or three hours after the early morning meal, when the stomach is nearly empty, and there should be an interval of rest between the bath and the following meal.

THE LARGEST CRAB

The largest crab in the world, a specimen of the giant spider crab from Japan, is at the Museum of Natural History, New York. The spread of the two largest legs, or arms, having sawlike teeth, called "pincers," is nearly twelve feet, and the body portion is over one foot in diameter and about the size of a large dinner-plate. The monster crab inhabits the sea and islands of Japan, and is known to occur at depths of over two thousand feet.

WHAT FEW REALIZE

There is a time when one looks towards forty as the fringe of the Arctic zone of life. No one realizes that there is a broad temperate belt of middle age, wherein men can labor hard, long, and fruitfully.—Mr. Lloyd George.

Synopsis of Canadian Northwest Land Regulations.

ANY person who is the sole head of a family or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Enter by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

SHOEBLACK TO OPERA SINGER

How a Notable New Tenor Was Discovered in Humble Life—He Delighted Mascagni

A new tenor who, it is quite possible, will one day rank with the world's greatest singers, has appeared in London, England. This is Mr. B. Nevada Landino, who, like many another famous vocalist, began life in a humble way. Mr. Landino, who is twenty-seven years of age, is a Russian Pole of Jewish extraction. His family emigrated years ago to Cleveland, Ohio, and young Barney earned his living by blacking boots and selling newspapers. On the Sabbath he sang in the Synagogue, for among the Jewish colony his naturally fine voice was much appreciated.

Presently young Landino went to work as a cigar-maker, and in that capacity met a girl who was also one day to be raised to a much higher position in the social scale—Rose Pastor, who subsequently married a millionaire, and devoted her time and money to the betterment of the conditions of her less fortunate sisters.

Miss Pastor often told Landino that with his beautiful voice he ought to make a name. He was anxious enough to improve his condition, but who was there to help? At last, however, the editor of the Cleveland Press drew attention in an article called "A New Tenor" to Landino's abilities. This attracted the attention of Mr. Alfred Arthur, director of the Cleveland School of Music, who sent for him and gave him lessons gratis.

Later on Landino drifted to New York. One day he was passing the Grand Opera House with a friend and saw that Mascagni was to conduct. "Now's your chance," said the friend; "go in and try your voice." Landino went, but he was terribly nervous. Mascagni, who was producing "Iris," was testing the voices of the singers. Landino, shy and afraid, was the last. When he had finished Mascagni slapped him on the back shouted "Bravo!" and there and then gave him a part.

For two years he worked hard under Emma Nevada in Milan, and that is how he comes by part of his name. She was so proud of her pupil that she wished it. The new tenors repertoire embraces seventeen operas and two hundred songs, and he sings in four languages. He is a teetotaler and a non-smoker.

ABRUZZI'S STORY

The Young Eskimo Who Loved a Beautiful Maiden

The Duke of the Abruzzi is one of the most successful of living explorers, in which capacity he has had a fair share of adventures and hair-breadth escapes. During his North Pole expedition he had his right hand so severely frozen that two of his fingers had to be partially amputated. Another time during an ascent of the Ruwenzori range, as the Duke was making an observation in advance of his party, he slipped on a bank of loose stones and fell to the edge of an immense precipice, where he remained a prisoner for three hours. The Duke has picked up many interesting stories in the course of his various travels. Here is one of them, which he heard in the Far North. A young Eskimo loved a beautiful maiden whose father's hut was near his own, but, as is so often the case, the girl's parents would not hear of the match. One night a great storm ripped up a crevice in the ice, and between the two huts there yawned an abyss bridged only by a slender strip of ice. Here was the chance which the young lover sought. He crossed the frail bridge in the dead of night, and crept to the home of his sweetheart to steal her from her cruel father. The Eskimos sleep in bags of sealskin, and, with bated breath and loudly beating heart, he hoisted on to his back the one in which he thought his lady-love slumbered. He recrossed the strip of ice, and, safe on the other side, he broke it down with the blow of an axe, so that no one could pursue him save by the aid of a boat. Regaining his own hut he opened the bag to gaze upon the fair one, when, with a cry of horror, he staggered back dumbfounded, for, in his haste to get the affair over, he had stolen his sweetheart's father by mistake.

SCRAP DREADNOUGHTS

Remarkable Development in the Construction of Battleships

When his Majesty's battleship Dreadnought was launched in February, 1906, one had the feeling that finality had surely been reached in the matter of naval construction; but the navies of the world have been making giant strides ever since.

First came greater Dreadnoghts, and then Dreadnought cruisers, Bosdinn scouts, and Tribal destroyers, entirely turbine-driven, followed by great steps in the use of oil-fuel.

And in the past few weeks several startling announcements have been put forward. Within a few days we had talk of motor-driven battleships, and a report of a coming small destroyer, of a height only 36 inches above the water, and with only two guns, but of such power and rapidity of fire that the money spent on Dreadnoughts and super-Dreadnoughts might as well have been thrown into the sea. These guns are to be of 17 inch bore, and will fire a weight of 1,920 pounds.

Nor must we forget the battleship cruiser Lion. She is more powerful than the most powerful Dreadnought, and faster than the fastest destroyer. The St. Vincent, the largest Dreadnought now in commission, has only 19,250 tons displacement, as against the Lion's 26,560 tons.

A DARING EXPLOIT

A Skilful Manoeuvre by Sir Archibald Hunter

The fact that Sir Archibald Hunter is with one exception the youngest officer of his rank in the army, is sufficient proof of his soldierly qualities and his fighting skill, and he has well deserved the Governorship of Gibraltar which has been conferred upon him. He joined the King's Own Royal Lancaster Regiment thirty-six years ago, at eighteen. At twenty-nine he was a brevet-major, and at forty a full-fledged major-general. "Hunter's luck" was that vaunt in the fore-front of every battle during the most arduous campaign on the Nile, while the man whom it represented was known as "the point of the Sirdar's spear." One of Sir Archibald's most daring exploits was performed one dark night while at Ledysmith, when the General, with a little band of volunteers, crept over one of the surrounding hills and blew the head off a mischievous Long Tom. He led all the way on the dangerous task surprised and overcame the Boers, and crippled the gun. Sir Archibald is one of the few British military officers to enjoy the personal friendship of the German Emperor, whom he once saved from a serious accident. During a visit of the Kaiser to Lord Rosebery at Dalmeny a few years ago, General Hunter was in command of the troops in Scotland, and was present in that capacity on the station platform to welcome the Emperor. Lord Rosebery's carriage was waiting, and the Emperor had just taken his seat in it when one of the horses commenced to plunge violently, and in another moment the pair would have bolted. Like a flash, however, General Hunter reached the animal and dealt it a smashing blow on the nose that quickly quieted it. Another pair of horses were soon secured, and Sir Archibald received the hearty thanks of the Kaiser for the smart way he grappled with the situation. Since that time he has been very popular with the Emperor, who never forgets a service, and he shares with Lord Roberts the distinction of being the only non-German soldier who has a standing invitation to visit the Royal palace at Potsdam.

ANTI-FASHION LEAGUE

The Objects of a New Organization Formed in New York

An anti-fashion league has just been started in New York with the highly praiseworthy object of combating the spread of the ridiculous fashions and crazes adopted by the very rich among less well-to-do people, says M. A. P.

There is certainly plenty of work for such an organization to do here. Women who can with difficulty afford to spend as much as thirty or forty pounds a year on their dress, but yet insist on wearing bobble skirts, yards of hat, gloves up to their shoulders, and similar absurdities—made fashionable for a moment by women who can afford to spend a thousand a year with their modistes and milliners—ought to be objects of special attention from the anti-fashion league.

Then there are various fashionable cults, the spread of which an anti-fashion league would be doing good work by combating. For example, the cult of expensive pets in the way of cats, dogs, mice, and lizards of rare type and breeds is all very well for women who can afford to pay five hundred pounds for such a pet without missing the money, but when Mrs. Brown of Balham starts imitating their example by spending twenty or thirty pounds on some wretched animal probably not worth as many shillings, she badly needs some plain words of advice from an anti-fashion league.

MACHINE THAT "THINKS"

Sticks on Stamps and Politely But Firmly Refuses Foreign Coins

A machine which thinks, or at any rate discriminates, is being installed by the Post Office in London, England, and one has a vision of the crowds who will flock to it when duly attached to the corner lamp-post, for the purchase of forgotten postage-stamps on Sunday evenings.

Affixing postage-stamps by the natural process has never been either a pleasant or a wholesome practice; here is a machine which not only delivers a stamp for a penny, but obligingly sticks the stamp on the envelope for the purchaser.

Fraudulent lead discs it flings contemptuously into its interior; foreign coins it returns with the courteous assumption that he depositor has made a pardonable mistake.

With fair treatment the automaton is ready to do the fair thing by the purchaser, and to do it at the terrific rate of 4,000 stamped envelopes per hour. It will stamp newspaper wrappers, and at the same time register the number of stamps used, and it will stamp your letters up to 50,000 at a time. All you have to do is to put 50,000 pennies in a slot and press a knob 50,000 times.

PORK FROM CHINA

Pacific Ports in United States are Receiving Frozen Porkers

Pork from the Orient is now finding a place on Pacific coast markets in America. The scarcity of the domestic supply and attendant high prices have made possible such importation. Frozen porkers from China are an innovation in American pork markets, but are said to possess profit possibilities for the importer under present conditions. One can easily understand how pork production in the Celestial empire can be condducted at a minimum of expense. Cheap production accounts for the possible competition with the American producer. It is not likely, however, that this new source of pork supply will have any noticeable effect on domestic conditions, relative to either market supply or prices.—The Farmers' Review.

AN OPEN-AIR BARBER

Paris, like Pekin, has its ambulant barber. Armed with a little box, containing the necessary apparatus—razor, badger brush, soap, scissors, and serviette—he exercises his calling on the banks of the Seine. All the bargees, navvies and quay laborers are his clients. "Figaro" seats his patient on the pavement, covers his knees with a newspaper, and for a sou shaves, cuts his hair, and gives a human appearance to the tramps and others who entrust themselves to his care. But the wet season has not been favorable to the peripatetic barber, and with a sad countenance he avers that he has had a bad time.

DIFFERENT NOTES OF CUCKOOS

Recently I observed the difference in the calls of two cuckoos answering each other, and, although it is generally held that only the male bird utters the call from which the name is derived I became convinced that the more highly pitched "cuckoo" was uttered by the female. I watched the two birds together for about fifteen minutes as they chased each other from tree to tree, in love rather than in anger, and during this time I frequently heard the well-known rippling note of the female.—"The Hospital."

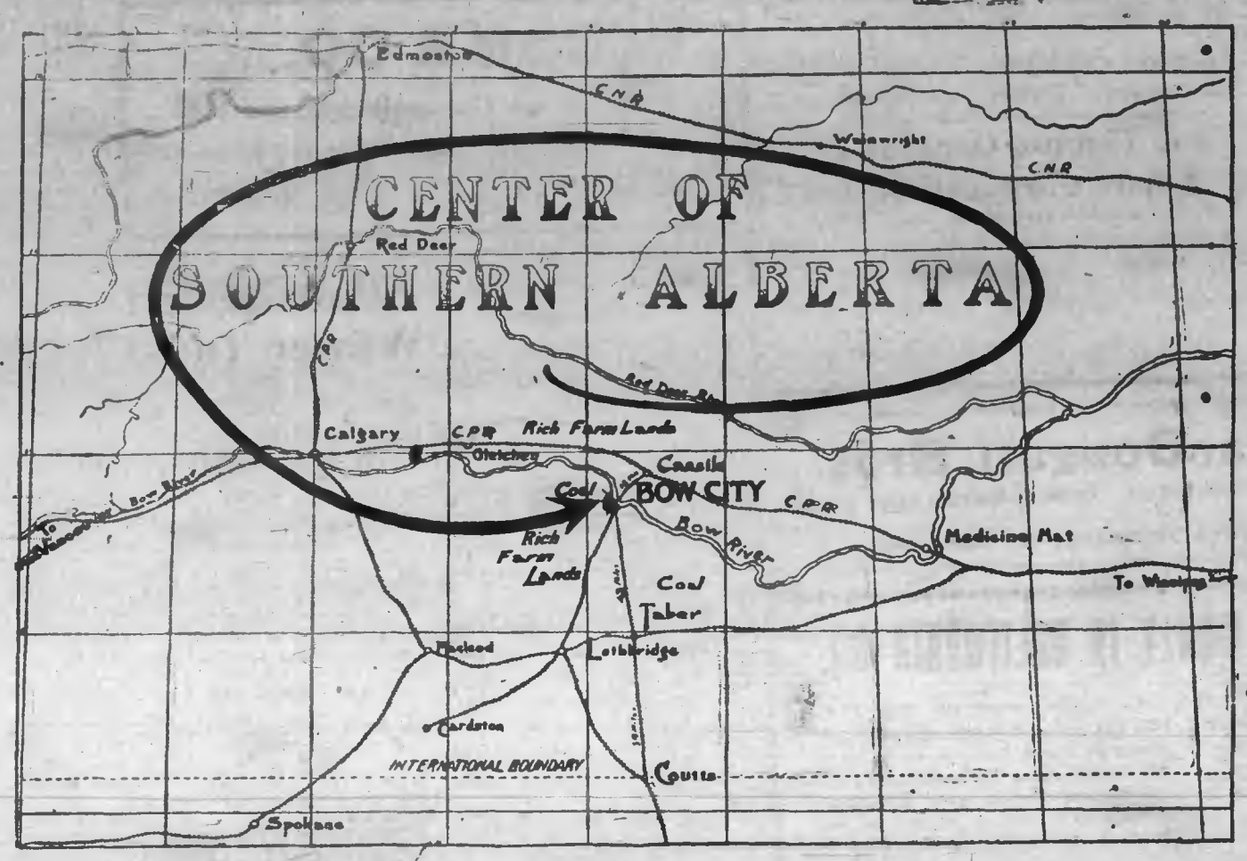
"GIVE YOUR SON A DEED"



If, by way of illustration, you will review the history of the men in your town who have made money out of real estate, you will find that in each and every instance their profits were made from real estate acquired at ground floor prices.

More money can be made by those who acquire a realty interest in a town at its inception per dollar invested than from investments made after a period of years.

Do you know that you can purchase with $5 cash a full sized residential lot in Bow City, Alberta

the logical location for a great city, a city which is destined to be known, the world over, as a market place annually for hundreds of thousands of bushels of grain, grown on the vast irrigated fields surrounding Bow City, a shipping point for coal from the great Bow Centre Collieries, and a purchasing depot for hundreds of prosperous farmers resident throughout Southern Alberta.

To-day is your opportunity to acquire an interest in Bow City at the ground floor prices.

It will be too late six months hence, to apply for a lot in Bow City at the present prices and on such easy terms as are offered you in this advertisement.

Why not follow Russell Sage's advice given in a letter published some years ago to the fathers in the Western States:—

"Buy your son a lot in a town being the "centre of a great agricultural country—when "he comes of age that lot will be worth consid-"erable money and will provide a handsome "stake for him in life; it is at least most sub-"stantial life insurance—sure and certain."

Buy your son a $50 lot in Bow City, the coming metropolis of the western prairies. In a very short time he can re-sell the same at a big increase, which money he will find advantageous in business pursuits or in a college course.

Bow City, the centre of the great granary of Southern Alberta has a future concerning which no sane business man or banker has any doubt.

When you are assured of the success of the city, when you have proven to you beyond the shadow of a doubt that Bow City will, in the very near future, be one of the most active, one of the most progressive towns on the Western prairies, you should not hesitate to acquire at least one $50 residential lot, when same is on sale on such easy terms as 10 per cent cash and the balance 10 per cent per month until paid—a deed at any time.

Bow City is in the heart of a famous irrigated farming belt whose farmers are assured of a crop every year. They are prosperous and their prosperity will naturally enhance the value of Bow City real estate.

The great coal mines of Bow City will furnish work for 1,000 to 1,500 miners daily, these miners will constitute a substantial basis for a successful city.

The present owners of Bow City have decided that no licenses shall be issued for the sale of spirituous liquors; they intend that this great mining and agricultural centre shall be free from any traffic in intoxicating drinks—it will be a clean city.

Bow City is the headquarters of a railway which taps a territory unparalleled for richness in crops and natural resources.

The Sale of Bow City lots opened but a few days ago

If you are desirous of acquiring a $50 residential lot close in you should lose no time in making application by wire direct to the General Agents of the townsite, or to the nearest sub-agent.

Do not delay by sending your apulication by mail.

Wire at once your reservation for one or more lots On receipt of wire your name will be placed on the closest-in unsold lot or lots and same will be held in your name, allowing you sufficient time for your cash payment, mailed same day you wire, to travel from your home to the head office.

You may find it to your advantage, if you are desirous of securing a business opening, or a business lot, to write for copy of the plans, booklets and descriptive matter concerning Bow City, all of which may be had on application, free of charge.

FEEDING GRAIN TO FOWLS

Better Give It to Them in Straw if Available

Whenever grain in the straw is available use it for fowl feeding. It is the best system of feeding of any I ever tried. It delights the fowls and keeps them in grand trim. It is a real boon to fowls in confinement, and those at liberty never tire of it. The nature of all fowls is to scratch and search for food, however small the particles. They seem to enjoy this more than having it shoved down their throats in handfuls. Gobbling all their food up in a few minutes to be succeeded by hours of idleness is not in harmony with their natural habits. This is apt to induce mischief. What else is it but idleness that encourages feather-eating, which is such an objectionable habit? Over-fatness is also a result; then eggs are few. The busy hen is always the thrifty one, and all are kept industrious when corn can be picked from the straw. Give them a full furnished wisp in the morning and they will work at it all day. They will turn and re-turn it, and strive for the last pick. It is delightful to witness, and fills the egg-basket. No food is more healthy for fowls than oats, barley and wheat. When a well-harvested straw it is prime, and the fowls know it. They leave bucketfuls of food to go straw-scratching. Giving vacant straw to amuse them is a delusion they quickly detect; then they cease work, whereas, if they eat every particle of grain out of the straw every morning they will be at it all day as brisk as ever. Never throw it down in the wet or muck. Put it on a clean surface under cover. The vacant straw can be removed before it accumulates too much. It will pay all to buy a quantity of grain in the straw and store it for daily use.

A WORLD'S RECORD

George Gray, the eighteen-year-old boy champion billiard player of Australia, established a world's record at Leeds when, with F. W. Hughes, a Leeds professional, to whom he is conceding 1,500 points in 4,500 up, he made a great break of 985, which included consecutive runs of 447 and 532 of losing hazards, principally into the middle pockets off the red ball.

He played with mechanical accuracy for about two hours. In this world's record Gray made no fewer that 969 points by losing hazards off the red.

The table was passed as standard before the match, and Gray is to receive a hundred guineas from the makers and fifty guineas from the Crystalite Ball Company.

A New Wagon Road.

A new wagon road has been constructed, partly by the Government and partly by the merchants of Edson, Alta., through to the Grande Prairie country, a distance of 165 miles from Edson, which is all practically completed and is reported to be remarkably level, with no heavy hills, and over which heavy loads may be drawn with ease. Road houses have also been established along this wagon-road and settlers will be able to travel in comparative ease and at slight expense from Edson on the Grand Trunk Pacific this year in the course of a week where the former routes via Edmonton and Lesser Slave Lake occupied several months and very great cost. The whole distance to be traversed being over four times as long as the new route.

BERESFORD PUT DREXEL TO SLEEP

A BLUE-BLOOD BOUT AT LAKEWOOD, N.J.—HON. ROBT. BERESFORD WON.

New York, Feb. 17.—The much talked-of boxing bout between Anthony J. Drexel of Philadelphia, husband of Marjory Gould, and the Hon. Robert Beresford, of England, a brother of Lord Decies, took place on Saturday night last in a private gymnasium at Georgian Court, the country home of the Goulds, at Lakewood, N.J.

Details of the bout vary, but all agree that "Battling Bobby" was victor after three rounds. One version says that young Drexel was knocked out and all assert that after his seconds threw up the sponge in thethird round. The bout was scheduled to go six rounds.

Beresford weighed 166 pounds and Drexel 161. They were clad in regulation fighting togs, and Mrs. George Gould gave a silver cup to the winner.

The bout was witnessed by the family of George Gould and a score of guests, including Lord Decies mother and sister

MASSACRES MIGHT FOLLOW INVASION

Britain and Other Countries Advise Russia To Arbitrate Disputes---U. S. Backs China

London, Feb. 17.—European Chancelleries are to-day warning Russia to proceed cautiously in her threatened military demonstration against China. In several instances these warnings are said to have taken the form of official notes to the Russian Foreign Office.

The English press is particularly apprehensive over the outcome of the proposed occupation of Kuldja, in Chinese Turkestan, by Russian troops

"In the present state of affairs in China," to-day's London Times declares, "any threat or forcible action by a foreign power may be attended by far-reaching consequences. It is hoped that before Russia proceeds to the extremity of an invasion of Chinese territory, she will weigh the possible results."

Fear of anti-foreign outbreak in China, should Russia make good her threat, is expressed by many statesmen familiar with Chinese affairs. China has shown a willingness to arbitrate the question of her alleged violation of the treaty of 1881, and this gives rise to the hope that she may yield before actual hostilities are precipitated.

PANTCHENKO IS FOUND GUILTY

HE GETS OFF WITH ONLY FIFTEEN YEARS AT CONVICT LABOR.

Life Term for the Count—De Lassy Made Doctor a Tool—Muravieva Fainted on Acquittal.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 17.—The trial of Dr. Pantchenko, who confessed to murdering forty persons by inoculating them with microbes and Count Patrick O'Brien De Lassy for the murder by poisoning of Count Boturlin, ended yesterday. The jury returned a verdict of guilty against Count De Lassy, and found extenuating circumstances in the case of Dr. Pantchenko on the ground that he was Count De Lassy's tool.

Mme. Muravieva was acquitted. She forthwith fainted and was removed from the court-room.

Sentence on the convicted men was pronounced at 2.20 yesterday morning. De Lassy was condemned to convict labor for life and Dr. Pantchenko was sentenced to fifteen years of convict labor.

SAYS ITS JUST LIKE TORONTO

Conservatives Are Happy—Say Ontario Will Follow Suit—Bankers and Railway Men Opposed to Bill.

Ottawa, Feb. 17.—The general opinion in political circles here as to the vote of the Toronto Board of Trade yesterday in condemnation of the reciprocity agreement is "Just what could be expected." Toronto is always opposed to anything which a Liberal Government does and it would not make any difference if they voted to give an old-age pension to everyman, woman and child in Canada, Toronto would oppose it because it was a Liberal move.

That is, of course, the Liberal view TheConservatives, on the other hand, say that as Toronto goes, so will Ontario go, and they lay special stress upon the fact that the resolution was moved by Sir Edmund Walker, and that this is significant of the opinion of the banking and railway interests of the country.

MR. BENNET REBUKED

By a Vote of 9 to 1 Committee on Foreign Affairs Smothers Annexation Motion

Washington, D.C., Feb. 17.—The Committee on Foreign Affairs did not waste much time over Congressman Bennet's resolution of yesterday over the annexation of Canada. The Committee spent most of its time considering how best to show its little regard for the resolution, and finally decided that the best thing to so was to dispose of the whole thing at a special session.

Congressman Foster, of Vermont, is chairman of the committee, and he with Mr. McCall, called at the White House this morning and saw President Taft, who urged immediate action. Following the call a special meeting of the committee was called. Exactly eight minutes were spent, the resolution was put to a vote and got the magnificent total of one, that of its author, Mr. Bennet. The other nine gentlemen present voted against it.

A brief report was made to the House—that the resolution was adversely reported without any comment. This is the end of a silly attempt. Bennet is getting universal condemnation and ridicule.

Kansas City, Feb. 17.—In an address at the Centennial Dinner of the Knife and Fork Club here last night Cy Warman, of Montreal, the poet and author, warned his audience that the United States must silence the annexation talk if they wished Canada to accept the proposed reciprocity measure.

"I am not in favor of annexation, but I am in favor of reciprocity," said Mr. Warman. "It's the greatest thing for the good of the two countries that has been proposed in the last hundred years.

"But if the people of this country talk annexation they will defeat the reciprocity in the Canadian House Don't spoil a good thing by wanting too much."

Action of Council in December Upheld

THE PRINCIPLE OF EXEMPTING REVENUE PRODUCING INSTITUTIONS TURNED DOWN.

The Committee of Legislature Was In Session Yesterday.

The following extract from The Mail and Empire of yesterday, contains the gist of a situation that was bidding fair to become unbearable. The action of the City Council in December last when the principle of exemptions was pronounced upon is approved. It may confidently be expected that in future, unless the people vote for it, no attempt will be made to extend or continue special privileges for ratepayers and others:

"It did not take the members of the Private Bills Committee very long yesterday to decide on the principle that in future no Y.M.C.A. or similar association should be exempt from school taxes, no matter what others they are not called upon to pay. They decided also that every Y.M.C.A. or Y.W.C.A. would have to pay all taxes on every building used for revenue-producing purposes.

The question was raised when the bills presented on behalf of the Hamilton Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Associations were under discussion, they having been left over from Wednesday, so that the committee could arrive at some definite decision on the question of exemption from taxation. The unanimous opinion of the committee was that school taxes should be paid by every institution, and that question was settled in short order. But on the question of exemption on building used for revenue-producing purposes there was a longer debate. Some of the members drew attention to the fact that a Y.M.C.A. could erect an office building, use one floor, and rent the remainder, and be exempt from taxation. There was a difference of opinion as to the wording of the new regulation, and a committee composed of Messrs. Gooderham, Brewster and McGarry, was appointed to confer with the law clerk to draft a new clause in a bill which will be introduced in the House."—The Mail and Empire.

PETERBOROUGH'S REQUEST TURNED DOWN.

Toronto, Feb. 17.—The Private Bills Committee to-day refused Peterborough's request for a central municipal nomination meeting.

It granted the request to impose a frontage tax for oiling streets, instead of street watering.

It refused to relegate the signing of debenture coupons to some person other than the Mayor.

It allowed the dog tax to be substituted by a license.

Constable Convicted of Forgery.

HE WILL NOT GIVE UP

Will Make Another Effort Looking Forward to the Annexation of Canada.

Washington, Feb. 17.—After his resolution looking to the annexation of Canada to the United States had been defeated to-day in the Foreign affairs Committee, Representative Bennet said that he would make some other effort later to bring the matter up in another way in the House.

Mr. Bennet added:

"This will not be the end of my effort looking forward to the annexation of Canada by the United States. I will make another. Canada ought to become a part of the United States."

When Champ Clark was informed of the vote on the Bennet resolution, he smiled, but refused to discuss the matter.

London, Feb. 17.—The Convocation of Canterbury now sitting in Westminster under the Presidency of the Archbishop of Canterbury, is discussing among other matters a proposal to modify and shorten the Second, Fourth and Tenth Commandments.

Ask Premier Asquith About Annexation

London, Feb. 17.—Premier Asquith will be asked next Tuesday whether England will reply to America regarding the annexation resolution of Representative Bennet.

In the House of Commons to-day, Rowland Hunt, Unionist member, from the Ludlow division af Shropshire, announced that he would put this query to the Premier.

GRADED SCHOOLS FOR ARTISANS

BOUNCED OFF BED RIGHT THROUGH THE WINDOW.

Three-Year-Old Boy Shot to Death By Springy Bed in Fourth Storey.

New York, Feb. 17.—Morris Solomon, an infant of three years, jumping up and down in play on a springy bed near a fourth storey window of his home to-day, bounced too high and to one side, and shot to his death through the window to the street below.

DR. JOHN SEATH OUTLINES A SYSTEM UP TO PROVINCIAL COLLEGE.

In a report covering nearly four hundred pages, Dr. John Seath, Superintendent of Education for Ontario, makes a number of recommendations in regard to a complete system of technical education that shall apply not only to school children and those under seventeen or eighteen years, but workmen in the shops. It embraces among other heads drawing and art, agriculture, commercial training, and the work of the artisan These recommendations are based on an exhaustive research that included a visit to European countries at the close of 1909, as well as far-reaching correspondence.

Mr. Seath lays down two principles "A good general education as an essential preparation for all vocations" and "A closer connection between our schools and the activities of life."

For those who leave school at or before fourteen, the present manual training and Household Science courses should be extended.

For the smaller number who remain at school, there should be a general Industrial School, a special Industrial School (for the trades) and the Technical High School.

For workmen and workwomen engaged in their occupations by day, the following schools should be established:

The apprenticeship school, the evening part of it provided by the employer himself.

The evening school, supplementing the day shop work and other schools.

He suggests the appointment of a special departmental officer to assist the various school boards.

An Ontario Industrial and Technical College—for training industrial teachers, workmen, pupils who have spent some time at industrial schools and to conduct a correspondence study school.

All of these, the industrial and technical evening schools, with liberal support from the Ontario Government are the most urgent.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

NO ELECTIONS ON NEW YEAR'S

RURAL MEMBERS DEFEAT BILL BEFORE MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE.

Cannot Control Suburb—General Feeling Against Any Civic Interference With Laying Out Streets—Mayor Must Sign Coupons.

Toronto, Feb. 17.—Changes in the Municipal Act came thick and fast when the Municipal Committee of the Legislature met for the first time this morning.

The bill of Mr. Nickle, Kingston, declaring that property of charitable institutions shall not be exempt from taxation if they are tenanted passed without discussion.

Fines collected from reckless motorists will hereafter go to the municipalities, not to the constable who lays the complaint. This was Mr. McElroy's (Carleton) bill, and Mr. Hanna endorsed it as a "good one." Mr. McElroy wanted the same conditions to apply as in the case of liquor fines.

Mr. Nickle's bill to give municipalities the right to regulate the places forthe storage of rags and bones also carried.

The municipal elections will not be held on New Year's Day, except in the case of those cities that have special charters. But the present date of the first Monday in January is likelyto be changed to the first Monday in December.

The request of Peterborough City Council, through Mr. Bradburn's bill, for municipalities to be allowed to charge for the oiling of streets in the same way as for watering, was granted, but no city that is divided into wards will be allowed to hold one central meeting for aldermanic nominations.

It was agreed that with 21 vacancies and several times that number of applicants there would be little opportunity to discuss local questions in which each ward was interested.

Nor will a mayor be allowed to relegate the work of signing debenture coupons to the treasurer or some other official, as this might open the way to coupons being signed by improper persons.

To Dig Up the Thames.

London, Feb. 17.—The City of London proposes to spend $70,000,000 in dredging the Thames River to a depth of thirty feet and in building great docks, yards and rail approaches in order to keep up with the procession and maintain its place among thegreat ports of the world. The plan includes the dredging of the river mouth to 1,000 feet wide and over 30 feet in depth at Tilbury in the stretch used by the big liners narrowing gradually to 400 feet wide and 14 feet in depth at London bridge.

DELEGATES TO HARDWARE CONVENTION WILL BE MET AT ALL THE TRAINS

The Reception Committee of the City Council met last night. There were present Ald. Graham, chairman, and Ald. Edgar, Kerneghan and Anderson.

The meeting was called to arrange for receiving the delegates to the big hardware convention to open here on Tuesday morning, and was largely attended by local hardware dealers, who manifested commendable interest in assuring every possible step being taken to consult the comfort and convenience of the coming visitors.

The local citizens present, apart from the Council's committee, were Messrs. Morgan, Fortye, Campbell, Kingan, Reese, Clarkson and Richardson.

TO MEET THE TRAINS.

TUESDAY—

8.10 a.m.—G.T.R.—Ald. Graham and Messrs. Clarkson and Morgan.

4.30 p.m.—C.P.R.—Ald. Graham and Messrs. Ackerman and Labelle.

5.30 p.m.—G.T.R.—Ald. Edgar, and Messrs. Tabar and Richardson.

9 and 10 p.m.—G.T.R.—Ald. Edgar, Ald. Anderson, and Messrs. Reese and Clarkson.

WEDNESDAY—

8.10 a.m.—G.T.R.—Ald. Graham and H. Morgan.

11.45 a.m.—G.T.R.—Ald. Edgar and Messrs. Morgan and Campbell.

The City Reception Committee will furnish Reception Committee badges. The delegates' badges are in the shape of a shaving brush.

WAS FOUND DEAD IN BED BY HIS WIFE

Prosperous Western Farmer Died Suddenly in Haldimand Township.

Cobourg, Feb. 17.—David Baptist, of Yorkton, Sask., died very suddenly at the home of a friend in Haldimand Township, with whom he was visiting yesterday. In the morning he did not feel like rising at the usual hour, and his wife who was with him, went down to breakfast. She returned however, before the meal was over, and found her husband dead. He was a prosperous western farmer, and leaves two brothers, James and William, at Teeswater, and two others, Robert and Aleck, at Fenella, Northumberland County.

ARE SEVERELY PUNISHED.

Fred Roy, alias Fred Raymond, and Clement Gougon, alias Clement Lafrenier, and Bruce Roy came up for sentence on the charge of breaking into the store of Mr. Landry. Clement Gougon was sentenced to two years less one day on each offence, in the Central Prison, Toronto, sentences to run concurrently and Bruce Roy to six months in the Central Prison, and Fred Roy was sentenced to twenty-five months in the Kingston Penitentiary, the sentences in both cases to run concurrently.

Robert Powell, with whome the boys were boarding, was next called. He was charged with receiving stolen goods. He pleaded not guilty, but later the evidence was so convicting that his counsel Mr. G. N. Gordon, changed the plea to guilty. The accused was let go on suspended sentence, and will have to report to the Chief once every month.

A TORONTO LADY FOUGHT HUSBAND

Mrs. Edith Reid of Toronto Tried to Wrest Razor From Man Who Suicided.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 17.—In a fit of jealousy because she had willed all her property to his step-daughter (George Quigley, a travelling salesman tried to kill his wife with a razor at their home to-day, and, failing took his own life by slashing his throat from ear to ear. The woman wasbadly cut about the head, neck and arms, but may recover.

Mrs. Edith Reid, of Toronto, Canada, daughter of Mrs. Quigley, and the innocent cause of the fatal quarrel, with her two-year-old child, witnessed the tragedy. Both Mrs. Quigley and Mrs. Reid fought the enraged to wrest the weapon from his hand.

ORANGE JUICE INEBRIATE CURE; MAKES BAR ODOR "DISGUSTING."

Doctor Tells Vegetarian Society Cooked Food Is Source of 95 Per Cent. of All Human Ills—Unfried Viands Ideal.

Knights of the flowing bowl, attention!

If you wish to stop dallying with the cup that cheers, eat oranges.

The advice was given by Dr. George J. Drews to the Chicago Vegetarian Society in an address on "Cooked Food vs. Unfried Food."

"Orange juice is the best antidote for an alcoholic appetite," he said. "When any one feels a desire to drink anything intoxicating all he has to do is to buy a couple of oranges. After eating them the desire will soon pass away. The secret lies in the sugar of the orange. It immediately causes a wholesome disgust even for the odor of a barroom.

"About 95 per cent. of all diseases are caused by eating cooked food. That is because food coming in contact with fire makes it unnatural. It gives it a sweet taste which causes an abnormal appetite. In consequence the system becomes overworked and the blood deteriorates."—Chicago Tribune.

DUMPED IN THE SNOW.

The Tribulations of an Auctioneer And His Assistant.

A story of misfortune and suffering reached a Times reporter when making his rounds yesterday. It appears that a well known auctioneer and his assistant, who happens to be a young man in a prominent real estate office, were on their way to conduct a sale in the country, and were gracefully gliding over the well beaten road, at a 2.40 clip. The air was crisp and exhilerating, thus creating an appetite for an experted sumptuous dinner on their arrival at the farm house where the sale was to be held. Like a bolt from a blue sky they were, without a second's notice, precipitated into a huge snow bank, the rig having suddenly turned bottom up. The horse, which was a spirited animal, did not stop, and proceeded onward at a high rate of speed. The auctioneer, as soon as he could get themow out of his mouth, nose and ears, exclaimed, "Great Scott, Jack, she's off!" His assistant, when he got squarely on his feet and realized what had taken place, made for the nearest farm house, where fortunately there was a telephone, and calling up the next farmer farther on, hurriedly requested him to stop the flying steed, but alas! too late, as the animal had just passed at a furiousgait. After considerable effort, the two unfortunates gathered up the cushions, robes, whip, etc., and in the course of a short time were overjoyed to see their horse approaching, having been caught further up the road.

In the meantime the appetite of the travellers, owing to the excitement, had faded away, and they had lost their ambition to wield the knife and fork around the festive board. Although a trifle late in starting, the sale was conducted in a satisfactory manner.

QUEBEC HOUSE DISCUSSES BILL

Quebec, Feb. 17.—Replying to a question put by Mr. Henri Bourassa in the House yesterday afternoon, as to the attitude of the Provincial Government regarding the reciprocity negotiations which have resulted in a tentative agreement between the Dominion and the United States, and whether the Government would make any change in its decision as to the exportation of pulpwood. Premier Gouin stated that Quebec was waiting to see what might happen at Washington and Ottawa before making any announcement.

Mr. Bourassa raised the question rather unexpectedly. He did not ask the Government to give a definite reply, he said, as he recognized the question required study, but he was of the opinion the Provincial Government should reach a decision before the conclusion of the debate at Ottawa, as on Ontario and Quebec would depend the attitude of the lumber interests regarding the treaty.

Premier Gouin said that the desire of the Government was to make Quebec the centre of the pulp and paper industry of the world—and there was noreason why it should not be accomplished, seeing that Quebec had the pulpwood and the water-power. If the Government had to choose between the Dominion and the United States, the choice would be for the Dominion, and if the choice lay between Quebec and Ottawa, the interests of Quebec would receive first consideration.

FROM THE TROPICS TO HEAL US

Cedron Seed Plant.

In Central America many natives are gathering the seeds of this plant, Cedron Seed, a rare medicine that has valuable curative powers. But few drug stores carry this seed, owing to the high cost of the article.

This country is a large consumer of this costly seed because it makes into the famous Goldrich remedy, Tolmin, sold the world over.

COMING from CALIFORNIA!

The "SUNKIST" Special, Moving at Express Train Speed, is Bringing TWENTY THOUSAND Boxes of Famous "SUNKIST" Oranges

Special Sale of "SUNKIST" Oranges All Next Week

Another big sale of "Sunkist" oranges will begin Monday next, continuing till the close of the week.

Nearly everybody now knows the excellence of "Sunkist" oranges and they look forward with great interest to these announcements. If you and your people have never eaten "Sunkist" oranges, please try them. Until you do so, you can not imagine the delicious taste of fresh picked, tree-ripened oranges.

Special "Sunkist" Train

Two giant locomotives, pulling 48 refrigerator cars laden with fresh-picked, tree-ripened oranges—the select crop of 5,000 groves—will soon arrive from California.

So carefully have these oranges been picked; so rigidly were they inspected and graded; so rapidly are they being transported, that the people of this vicinity will be able to secure oranges as fresh, sweet and wholesome as can be bought in Los Angeles or San Francisco.

Your dealer and all other local dealers will be supplied with "Sunkist" oranges from the "Sunkist" Special Train.

"Sunkist" is the Perfect Orange

"Sunkist" is not a species or variety of oranges—it is a certain grade or quality, the choicest of each of five thousand California Orange Farmers, who produce 60% of the state's entire crop. They pack all their perfect oranges under the one name, "Sunkist," and ship them East by special fast freight.

Every "Sunkist" orange is firm, solid and sound. It is picked by a gloved hand. No orange that falls to the ground or becomes bruised or damaged in any other way, ever bears the "Sunkist" name.

Cheapest You Can Buy

"Sunkist" oranges are not only the finest flavored, freshest and most healthful of all oranges, but they are actually the least costly you can buy. Being seedless, fibreless and thin-skinned, the percentage of waste is extremely small. The tender, luscious pulp comprises 98% of the orange.

So it means economy to buy "Sunkist" oranges.

Buy "Sunkist" by the box. You can obtain a worth-while reduction on a box from your dealer. Because of their excellent condition "Sunkist" oranges keep better than others.

Many Ways to Serve Them

Oranges are the most appetizing and nourishing foods one can serve—at breakfast—in the sick-room—between meals—in salads, ices, sherbets and puddings.

There is no limit to the number of excellent dishes of which "Sunkist" oranges form the basis.

Doctors Recommend Them

It is very unusual to find a food that people like and can safely eat as much of as they please. Leading physicians say that to counteract the meats and other heavy foods we eat, one should eat oranges liberally. It is a universally known fact that orange juice is an excellent food for the brain cells and a tonic for run-down nerves. No better laxative than sound, ripe oranges can be found.

Save Your "Sunkist" Wrappers

By saving your "Sunkist" orange wrappers you can easily secure a full set of genuine Rogers orange spoons, dessert spoons and fruit knives. The patterns shown are new 1911 styles, designed exclusively for us. They are as attractive and stylish as money can buy. All are Rogers quality, standard A-No. 1 plate and are fully guaranteed by the maker. No advertising appears on any of our premiums.

He was surprised at how the sores healed—"I took your New Method Treatment for a serious blood disease with which I had been afflicted for twelve years. I had consulted a score of physicians, taken all kinds of blood medicine, visited Hot Springs and other mineral water resorts, but only got temporary relief. They would help me for a time, but after discontinuing the medicines the symptoms would break out again—running sores, blotches, rheumatic pains, looseness of the hair, sparklings of the glands, pains of the heads scaling, itching of the skin, dyspeptic stomach, etc. I had given up in despair when a friend advised me to consult you, as I had written him of a similar disease 5 years ago. I had no hope, but took his advice. In three weeks' time the sores commenced to heal up and I became encouraged. I continued the New Method Treatment for four months and at the end of that time every symptom had disappeared. It was cured 7 years ago and no signs of any of the sores since. My health, three years after, is perfect. I honestly can recommend your treatment with all my heart. $100 REWARD $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

We have also under way several other county maps, the first to be ready for delivery, being the United Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry. This map will also sell for $3.50.

OBITUARY.

Charles Rose.

Mr. Chas. Rose passed away on Thursday evening after a brief illness, having suffered from a paralytic stroke on Monday last. The deceased leaves to mourn his loss, a widow and seven children, four of whom reside in the city.

The funeral took place yesterday to Little Lake cemetery. Rev. G. W. Henderson conducted the service.

Death of Mr. John Brown.

On Thursday last death claimed one of the best known and highly esteemed residents of the eastern part of this county, in the person of Mr. John Brown of Cordova Mines. The late Mr. Brown was for many years Reeve of the Township of Belmont and also a member of the County Council, and filled for a term the office of Warden of the county. The funeral, which took place on Saturday to Rockdale cemetery was attended by a very large cortege of friends and acquaintances.

Mr. W. D. Morrow, son of Mr. W. G. Morrow, Water street, left last night for Edmonton, where he has accepted the management of the insurance department of the firm of McGrath, Colgate & Co., real estate and insurance dealers, which is one of the largest and most prosperous concerns in the west. Mr. Morrow, one of Peterborough's brightest young men, and his hosts of friends join in wishing him every success in his new home. The employees of the Davis-Thompson Co. yesterday presented Mr. Morrow, with a serviceable club bag, as a token of remembrance.

A Great Set of Detective Books Free

Beginning next Sunday, Feb., 19th, the New York Sunday World will give with each Sunday paper a complete detective story in book form. These stories will describe the adventures of a second Sherlock Holmes. Each one will be the length of an ordinary novel, set in good, plain type and folded in booklet form, so each book may be preserved. The stories are of thrilling interest, and grip the reader from the first line to the last. The wonderful deductive processes by which the Famous Detective reaches his conclusions in solving the mysteries of the Red Triangle have made these stories famous. Order from newsdealer or carrier.

CHAMP CLARK GOT PRETTY HARD RAP

Americans Surprised Canadians were Upset ---Remarks were Not Taken Seriously by People of United States

Washington, D.C., Feb. 18.—The only feature of interest in connection with the reciprocity situation here yesterday was the remarkable quick work which the House Committee on Foreign Affairs made of the Bennet resolution. As stated yesterday the two resolutions introduced by the member from New York was not taken seriously for a moment. Indeed, they have been boomerangs against the cause which they were intended to help. To-day the reciprocity cause is stronger here than if they had never been moved. The House saw through the scheme in a trice, regarded it as a would-be practical joke on itself, and yesterday administered a snub to the joker that he will not forget in a hurry.

To Representative Tawney, of Minnesota, belongs the credit for the method in which that snub was delivered. Mr. Tawney opposed the bill at first, and did not vote on it, but when the resolutions were introducedhe was prompt. He suggested the special session of the Committee, on which the President acted. It was felt that such a course would show Mr. Bennet just where he stands in the estimation of the House, and the reporting of the bill adversely without a word of comment and with only one vote in its favor was about as nasty a facer as any member has got for some time.

WAS TOO PALPABLE.

Nobody here will believe that political capital will be made out of the Bennet resolutions in Canada, whatever may be done with Champ Clark's outbursts.

HOT HASTE TO GET TRAVERS FROM "PEN"

Toronto, Feb. 18.—W. R. Travers, who wrecked the Farmers' Bank, and who pleaded guilty to having done so, is on his way to Kingston Penitentiary to serve the six-year term Magistrate Denison imposed upon him, and as a result, Crown Attorney Corley, Inspector Duncan, and all the others who have to do with the prosecution of the cases in the Police Court are decidedly up in the air.

If W. R. Travers was taken to Kingston on the jump, he will likely come back on the wing. Armed with the order of Judge Winchester, chairman of the general sessions of the peace, calling upon the warden of the penitentiary to deliver the man over to him by reason of the fact that he is a necessary and material witness in the trial of Col. James Munroe, who comes up before the judge on Thursday, Inspector Duncan left the city for Kingston on the G. T. R. train leaving the city at 1.50. The inspector arrived in Kingston shortly after seven o'clock Saturday night. He leaves there between midnight and 1 o'clock Sunday morning, and, bar accident, or further intervention, will arrive back in the city with Travers Sunday morning.

FORESTALLED PRISON SHEARS

Immediately upon the issue of the judge's order, which was made upon the application of Assistant County Crown Attorney Monahan, the Toronto police got busy on the telephone to prevent any alteration in Travers when he shall be returned. The Dominion police were called on the long-distance telephone and asked to have the justice department stay the shaving and clipping of Travers, so that he may suffer no indignity when he comes back to give evidence. In addition to this Sergeant Mackay telephoned to the warden of the penitentiary, asking that Travers be not shaved, and saying that Inspector Duncan had left with the judge's order. The warden assured him that Travers would not be shaved and that he would be turned over to Inspector Duncan as soon as he arrived withthe order, so that it is reasonably safe to expect Travers here Sunday morning.

One thing that was noticeable in the effort of the police to recover Travers was the evident haste to get him immediately back into their custody. Just why this was the police did not say, but others connected with the case did not hesitate to say that were Travers taken into Kingston Penitentiary he might very likely come out of that place with a much diminished desire to talk, with not with an adamantine determination to preserve silence with regard to any further disclosures in connection with the affairs of the bank.

Mr. Hughes Charles Wanted in Court

Former Peterborough Man to Testify in Bank Case.

Toronto, Feb. 18.—Crown Attorney Corley stated in the Police Court, that if D. Hugh Charles, broker, of Montreal, whose evidence in the Farmers' Bank case is wanted by the Crown, does not show up by Monday, a warrant will be issued for his arrest.

Mr. Charles is well known in Peterborough, where he was manager of the local branch of the Bank of Commerce, and he left to go into the brokerage business in Montreal. He was prominent in sporting circles, and the information that he is wanted to add light to the bank affairs is of interest to Peterborough people, among whom he numbers many warm friends.

PRESENTATION OF ATTENDANCE PRIZES

The presentation of attendance prizes to scholars in St. Joan's Sunday school, to celebrate the 300th anniversary of the English Bible took place in the school yesterday afternoon. The prizes were presented by Mr. A. E. Coulthard, the People's Warden, who expressed his pleasure in assisting the officers of the school in their splendid efforts in that most important branch of the Church's work, and added words of commendation to the successful scholars, and encouragement to all to persevere in the great work of religious education.

The successful scholars were as follows:

Class 1—Emily Horsfield.
2—Isabel Morphet and Gladys Crowe (equal).
3—Gretna Rountree.
4—Olive Conway.
5—Joyce Davidson, Gladys Collinson and Majorie Gladman (equal).
6—Marjorie Britton.
7—Gertie Hood.
8—Ada Chambers.
9—Burness Pidgen.
10—Hazel Crowe.
11—Grace Conway, and Violet Smith (equal).
12—Hubert Banister.
13—Bob Cavanah.
14—Harry Cobb and Lome Conway.
15—Cedric Evans.
16—Harold Devey.
18—Hugh Wallis and Millard Brooks (equal).

Short addresses by the Rector, Rev. Canon Davidson and Mr. R. J. Devey, brought an interesting session to a close.

An offertory taken up in the school for the "People's Chimes" realized over nine dollars, which will probably be made up to ten dollars or more during this week.

Tercentenary of King James' Bible

SPECIAL CHURCH SERVICES TO COMMEMORATE EVENT ALL OVER THE WORLD.

Gathering in St. Paul's To-Night Promises to Be One of the Greatest Ever Held in Peterborough.

The tercentenary of the English Bible, issued in 1611, and since popularly styled "The Authorized Version of King James," is being celebrated by special services and appropriate sermons and addresses in churches of Protestant denomination throughout the world.

The gathering of St. Paul's church to-night for the celebration of the 300th anniversary of the coming of the English Bible promises to be one of the greatest meetings ever held in Peterborough. The people of all the churches pledged themselves to waive all social and other engagements to keep the evening free. The Choir will consist of four voices from each of the city choirs, supported by the complete choir of St. Paul's church. The excellent choir of St. Paul's, under the capable leadership of Mr. Crane, will furnish special music.

Rev. J. L. Gilmour, D.D., is to be the only speaker, and is a native of the city, and now holds a most responsible position on the faculty of the McMaster University, Toronto.

His name would command a large audience in any city in Canada. Arrangements will be made to increase the seating capacity of St. Paul's church if necessary.

Denies Stories of Unrest in Ireland

Montreal, Feb. 18.—"There is no truth whatever in these statements appearing in the press about unrest in North Armagh, and the suggestion that arms will be taken up if home rule is not granted to Ireland," was the declaration made by Chief Carpentier by Sergeant McNiece of the Royal Irish Constabulary.

The sergeant, who hails from Newry, County Down, was enroute for Erin from Toronto with a prisoner who was wanted for theft, and he had wired the detective department here asking for a man to keep guard in the interval between the connecting [illegible] Ireland, he said, was in a very peaceful condition, just now.

Is There Slavery Here?

Great was the rejoicing among all the friends of freedom when slavery was abolished in the United States. But slavery has been revived there and elsewhere under the more dangerous and subtle form of peonage. Inmates of prisons, sometimes guilty of petty misdemeanors, are handed over to masters who have no interest in the welfare of the laborer, whose interest is to work one victim to death and procure another. In South Africa, it is charged that taxes are imposed upon natives, knowing that they cannot pay, with the object of compelling them to work out the tax in the diamond mines. In Greece attention has been drawn to the enslavement of children. The bootblacks and messengers of Athens are drawn for the greater part from the Peloponesus. They are hired for one year from their parents, and kept in the city in a state of virtualslavery.

Here the boy remains, under contract for one year, bound to the boyfarmer, who prospers and grows fat with the earnings of his gang of slaves. Huddled together in one room, in masses of thirty or forty, in the basement, under the most unsanitary conditions, half starved, thinly clothed, forced to give every halfpenny of his earnings to his often brutal master, and exposed to all weathers, the lot of the small Greek bootblack is not a happy one.

Are we sure that such conditions do not prevail in Canada, among the various foreign populations? We see boys and men at work, and we do not know whether they work under conditions of freedom or slavery. We do not understand their language; they understand only a few words of ours, and are perhaps in ignorance of the fact that they live in a free country and have rights which can be enforced against their employers. An inquiry into this matter might produces some surprising results.

Hungarian Banker Cruelly Murdered

New York, Feb. 18.—Convinced that Hugo Kharos, a Hungarian banker, was murdered as a result of his exposure of a plot against thelife of John D. Rockefeller, friends of the dead man to-day asked the police Department to make investigation.

In November two Hungarians, strangers to Kharos, had him translate two letters into English. Kharos was amazed to find that they contained a demand for $50,000 from Mr. Rockefeller upon penalty of death. The police were notified and arrests were made.

SHERIFF MOWAT GAVE THE ORDER

SAYS HE HAD PREVIOUSLY ARRANGED FOR TRAVERS' REMOVAL TO KINGSTON.

Didn't Know That Case Would Be Resumed Saturday—Simply Carried Out Arrangements Made.

Toronto, Feb. 18.—Sheriff Mowat is alone responsible for the sudden removal of W. R. Trakers to Kingston Penitentiary.

It was first thought that an order had come from the Department of Justice at Ottawa, ordering his removal, but a representative of the press there made enquiries and he was assured that no such order had been issued.

The same information was handed out at the local Parliament Buildings. Deputy Attorney-General Cartwright stated that no order was issued by his department.

Sheriff Mowat was then asked, after he had given his evidence in the Police Court:

"Did you receive an order from anyone for Traver's removal?"

"I received no order at all," said Mr. Mowat. "Earlier in the week I had made arrangements to have him removed to Kingston to-day, and I was not aware of the fact that he was needed to-day or any other day in the police court."

"Will there be any trouble about getting him back?"

"Oh, not the slightest," replied the Sheriff.

So it appears that had some one in the Police Department notified Sheriff Mowat yesterday that Travers' presence was needed here to-day Travers would not have been removed.

PLAGUE IS SURE DEATH TO VICTIM

VERY FEW [illegible] ATTACKED IN CHINA RECOVER FROM DISEASE.

Over 75,000 Have Died—Out of 773 Cases Only Six Survived—Twenty-Three Europeans Dead.

Pekin, Feb. 18.—The Viceroy of Manchuria estimates that the fatalities in Manchuria from the bubonic plague already have reached 65,000, while the Foreign office believe that inside the great wall there have been 11,000 more deaths. According to the general belief, however, the number of fatalities will be nearer double that number.

The Japanese have checked the plague in South Mukden, but the remainder of Manchuria is being ravaged by the disease. The pestilence is spreading to Sgantung. A dozen doctors who attended the stricken people are dead. Reports from Harbin show 250 deaths daily. Practically none of the afflicted recover.

The frozen ground makes burial impossible and half a mile of coffins are visible. The people have finally consented to the cremation of 4,000 bodies and 1000 victims have been cremated at Kwang Chang Tsu.

While there has been some improvement at the centre of the disease, it is spreading to the villages. The homes of refugees are being burned.

Roger S. Green, United States Consul at Harbin, reports that up to January 17, 433 persons, including twelve Europeans, had died of the plague, while at Pa Chia Tien, a suburb of Harbin, 1,083 had succumbed to the disease. Of the deaths at Harbin, 267 persons had been found dead in the streets and houses.

From statistics gathered at points along the Chinese Eastern Railway, the Consul said that up to January 17, there had been 773 cases of plague among the Chinese and twenty-five cases among Europeans, resulting in 766 deaths of Chinese and 23 deaths of Europeans.

THE FRENCH SCORE BISHOP FALLON

Strong Resolution Passed as to His Alleged Scandalous Attack on Their Rights--- Address to Gauthier

Ottawa, Feb. 18.—After approving an address that had been prepared for presentation to Archbishop Gauthier on the occasion o his enthronement on Feb. 21st, the Executive Committee of the French-Canadian Educational Association of Ontario last night passed a strong resolution condemning the attitude of Bishop Fallon, of London, towards French-Canadians, and decided not to read the address to Mons. Gauthier if Mons. Fallon persisted in attending the ceremonies. The text of the resolution which was handed out this morning, signed by Senator Balcourt president of the association, is as follows:

"Whereas this association has learned that Mons. Fallon, Bishop of London, had been invited and had accepted the invitation to be present at the enthronement of Mons. Gauthier.

"In view of the hostile attitude taken by Mons. Fallon since his elevation to the episcopal see of London, an attitude which he has since maintained and still maintains towards bilingual schools and towards our compatriots, priests, and laymen of the Province of Ontaro, and more particularly of the diocese of London;

"Whereas this association considers the attitude of Mons. Fallon as an offensive, unjustifiable, and scandalous attack on the natural and constitutional rights of French-Canadians, rights which it is the duty of this association to protect and defend;

COULD NOT COMPLY.

"Whereas the St. Jean Baptiste Society requested Mons. Gauthier to so arrange that Mons. Fallon would not be present at the enthronement ceremonies, and Mons. Gauthier had declared by a messenger that he could not comply with this request.

"Whereas, in order to exhaust all legitimate means of preventing a public disagreement, the president of the St. Jean Baptiste Society had written Mons. Fallon to acquaint him of the wishes of the French-Canadians, and Mons. Fallon had made no reply, this association, whilst approving the address, profoundly regrets to have to recommend that the said address be not publicly read to Mons. Gauthier in the presence of Mons. Fallon."

To Tax Bachelors and Aid All Spinsters

BILL TO IMPRESS A TAX OF $5 ON EACH BACHELOR OVER 35.

Bill Will Be Reported Favorably by Massachusetts Committee—A Woman's Applause.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 18.—A bill to impose an annual tax of $5 on each bachelor over 35, to be applied to a fund to aid in the support of spinsters part 35, is to be debated by the Massachusetts House.

The Committee on Taxation decided favorably on the measure, and will report it soon. The committee is composed of both married men and bachelors, the chairman, Russell Wood, of Cambridge, being single.

Told of the Committee's action today, Mrs. Charlotte Smith, who suggested the bill, said:

"I would not have believed that a body of men could have been so sensible.

CALVERT COURTS FULL ENQUIRY

Borrowed Money From Farmers' Bank, But Repaid It, Says Ex-Liberal Whip.

Ottawa, Feb. 18.—W. S. Calvert, former Liberal whip, stated this morning with reference to the evidence of Travers, in connection with the trial of the Farmers' Bank directors yesterday, that he had introduced Travers to the Minister of Finance by request, but that he had never met him before the morning of the introduction. He had secured a loan of $3000, not $5000 sometime after the bank was established in the regular way, but had repaid it with interest.

"I do not believe the Minister of finance ever asked Mr. Travers if he had paid anything to me for the introduction," said Mr. Calvert, who asserted that his connection with the affair was open to the fullest investigation.

MUNICIPAL ELECTION DAY.

Mr. Donovan's bill to change the time for holding the annual municipal elections throughout Ontario has the warm support of all who have to do with the administration of local government, says the Mail and Empire. The Mayors of 75 of the cities and towns and the reeves of 60 villages have signified their approval. Reports from the rural municipalities are also favorable. Many Municipal Councils have passed resolutions commending the bill, and as it now stands it provides for the making of nominations on the second Monday in January and for polling on the third Monday. Whether or not these are the days most suitable for the important civic business of electing Municipal Councils, they are certainly more suitable than those now appointed. It would be difficult, if not impossible, to make the election more unseasonable than they are at present. Held on the first Monday in January, they put the whole Province in a ferment at a time of year when peace and good will should prevail among neighbors. The weeks given up to municipal campaigning are those during which the pressure of holiday traffic is at its highest, and the thoughts of the people should be given up to the anticipation and festivities of Christmas and New Year's. The holiday season is spoiled by the election contests and municipal business is upset by holiday arrangements. The people should be permitted to despatch their Christmas business and enjoy their holidays free from the distraction of municipal campaigning, and should have an opportunity to attend to their duties as electors when they are less preoccupied with private business and pleasure. If a longer gap could be made between Christmas and election day than the one now proposed, it would be still more satisfactory. Originally there was doubtless something to be said, on the ground of convenience, in favor of the holding of elections on the first Monday in January. Great social and economic changes have taken place since then, and have turned the balance of argument, whether on the ground of convenience or on other considerations, altogether against the view that the first Monday in January is a suitable day for elections. It is to be hoped that Mr. Donovan's bill fixing some other day will be adopted.

Colored Civic Father.

Windsor, Ont., Feb. 18.—At yesterday's municipal election to fill the aldermanic vacancy in the Third Ward, caused by the disqualification and unseating of John Evans, a colored man, David Purvis was chosen to serve out the term, by a plurality vote of 59 over ex-Alderman Trumble his closest opponent.

Morehead made complete restitution, and paid the costs. His operations, it is alleged, having secured him $1,308. While in jail here he spent his time writing poetry and magazine articles.

THE RED YEAR

—By—

LOUIS TRACY.

the frou-frou of silk and the footfall of slippered feet. Then the curtain was drawn aside and Akbab Khan entered, followed by the Princess Roshinara.

Malcolm had the advantage of a few seconds' warning. Even as Akbab Khan placed his hand on the curtain the Englishman sprang forward, and the astounded sowar, now a brigadier in the rebel forces, found himself looking into the muzzle of a revolver.

"Do not move till I bid you, Akbab Khan," said Malcolm, in his self-contained way. "I am summoned hither, so I come, but it may be necessary to secure a hostage for my safe conduct outside the walls again."

"You! Malcolm-sahib!" was Akbab Khan's involuntary outburst.

"Yes, even I. Have you not heard, then, that I rode into the palace today?"

"There was a report that some Feringhis—some sahibs—were in the city as spies—"

"You—sent for him!"

Akbab Khan's swarthy features paled, and his eyes sparkled wrathfully. Heedless of Malcolm's implied threat, or perhaps ignoring it, he wheeled round on the Princess, and his right hand crossed to his sword-hilt.

"If you so much as turn your head again or lift a hand without my order, I blow your brains out," said Malcolm in the same unemotional tone.

"Nay, let him attack a woman if it pleaseth him," cried Roshinara, who had not drawn back one inch from the place where she was standing when Malcolm confronted Akbab Khan and herself. "That is what our troops, officers and men alike, are best fitted for. They love to swagger in the bazaar, but their valor flies when they see the Ridge."

Again quite indifferent to the fact that Malcolm's finger was on the trigger, the rebel leader threw out his hands towards the Begun in a gesture of agonized protest.

"Do you not trust me, my heart?" he murmured: "If you knew of this Nazarene's presence why was I not told?"

"Because I wished to save you in spite of yourself. Because I would mourn you if you fell in battle as befits a warrior and the man whom I love, but I would not have you die on the scaffold, as most of the others will die ere another month be sped. What hope have we of success? If forty thousand sepoys cannot overcome the three thousand on the Ridge, how shall they prevail against the force that is now preparing to storm Delhi? I sent for Malcolm-sahib that I might obtain terms for my father and for thee, Akbab Khan. This man is now in our power. Let us bargain with him. If he goes free to-day, let him promise that we shall be spared when the gallows is busy in front of our palace."

Each word of this impassioned speech was a revelation to Malcolm. Here was the fiery beauty of the Mogul court pleading for the lives of her father and lover, pleading to him, a solitary Briton in the midst of thousands of mutineers, a prisoner in the stronghold, a spy, whose life was forfeit by the laws of war. Hardly less bewildering than this turn of fortune's wheel was the whirligig that promoted a poor trooper of the Company to the position of accepted suitor for the hand of a royal maiden. Never could there be a more complete unveiling of the Eastern mind, with all its fatalism, its strange weaknesses, its uncontrollable passions.

Akbab Khan stretched out his arms again.

"Forgive me, my soul, if I did doubt thee," he almost sobbed.

The girl was the first to recover her self-control.

"Put away your pistol," she said, fixing her fine eyes on Malcolm, with a softness in their limpid depths that he had never seen there before. "If we can contrive, my plighted husband and I, you will not need it to-night. I was rejoiced to hear that you were within our gates. We are beaten. I know it. We have lost a kingdom, because wretches like Nana Dundhu Punt of Bithoor, have forgotten their oaths and preferred drunken revels to empire. Were they of my mind, were they as loyal and honorable as the man I hope to marry, we would have driven you and yours into the sea, Malcolm-sahib. But Allah willed otherwise and we can only bow to his decree. It is Kismet. I am content. Say, then, if you are sent in safety to your camp, do you in return guarantee the two lives I ask of you?"

Malcolm could not help looking at Akbab Khan before he answered. The handsome young soldier had folded his arms, and his eyes dwelt on Roshinara's animated face with a sad fixity that bespoke at once his love and his despair.

Then the Englishman placed the revolver in his belt and bowed low before the woman who reposed such confidence in him.

"If the issue rested with me, Princess," he said, "you need have no fear for the future. I am only a poor officer and I have small influence. Yet I promise that such power as I possess shall be exerted in your behalf, and I would remind you that we English neither make war on woman nor treat honorable enemies as felons."

"My father is a feeble old man," she cried vehemently. "It was not by his command that your people were slain. And Akbab Khan has never drawn his sword save in fair fight."

"I can vouch for Akbab Khan's treatment of those who were at his mercy," said Malcolm, generously.

"Nay, sahib, you repaid me that night," said the other, not to be outdone in this exchange of compliments. "But if I have the happiness to find such favor with my lady that she plots to save me against my will I cannot forget that I lead some thousands of sepoys who have faith in me. You have been examining our defenses all day. Sooner would I fall on my sword here and now than that I should connive at the giving of information to an enemy which should lead to the destruction of my men."

Malcolm had foreseen this pitfall in the smooth road that was seemingly opening before him.

"I would prefer to become the bearer of terms than of information," he said.

"Terms? What terms? How many hands in this city are free of innocent blood? Were I or any other to pen-

ASSETS OF THE COMPANY

$10,000,000 of stock still in the Treasury.

$10,000,000 pooled for 9 and 18 months.

500 acres of land; value, $3,000 per acre.

A subsidy obtained from the Municipality of North Vancouver of 5 per cent. for 15 years on $200,000, and freedom from taxation of our plant and 30 acres of land for 10 years.

A subsidy obtained from the Dominion of Canada, 3½ per cent. for 25 years on $1,214,000, for the purpose of building a dry dock of 15,000 tons at Roselyn, the Company's townsite.

A very valuable brick clay deposit has been discovered on the Company's property. This will be developed to its fullest capacity, as brick clay is very rare here, Vancouver even importing from Seattle millions of brick annually.

NOTE.—A shareholder participates in every asset of the Company.

LIABILITIES OF THE COMPANY

Amount yet owing on land, extending over a period of four years, $446,000.

REMARKS

MORE LANDS

The Company proposes to purchase lands surrounding their townsite, and to this end are securing options on about 250 acres, with about 2,800 feet of deep waterfrontage adjoining that which they now own.

MINES

They have also secured an option of purchase of a group of ten claims of very valuable iron deposits situated within twelve miles of their townsite. The Company believe, located as they are in a country which abounds with everything necessary to the smallest detail for turning out a perfect car, should go to nature's storehouse for their material, and with this end in view have secured the above group.

SHIPBUILDING

In addition to building the Imperial Sleeping Car, cars of every description will be contracted for, and just as soon as their dry dock is completed, the Company intend to use it to the greatest advantage in building ships of the largest tonnage. As there will be but three or four docks in the whole Dominion, they will encounter but very little competition in the building of the larger class of vessels.

SALE OF LANDS

The Company do not intend to sell any of its land until its dry dock, car works, sawmills and other industries are in operation, and in this way secure as nearly as possible all the profit derived from the establishment of these great works.

CLEARING OF LAND

The Municipality of North Vancouver have under consideration a proposition from the Company whereby the Company promise to clear their whole townsite on condition the Municipality will at once clear and grade all the streets, charging the cost of same to local improvement taxes. The Municipality view the Company's proposition with great favor. This plan would at least double the price of the Company's holdings.

PURCHASING STOCK

A small block of stock is now on the market and can be had on very easy terms of payment. This once sold, the Company will have no difficulty to borrow on their assets at from 4 to 5 per cent. any money they will require for improvement purchases, and in this case all stock will be withdrawn from the market.

New C. P. R. Line Toronto to Montreal

Will Parallel Grand Trunk Along Lake Ontario With Extensions to Niagara Falls.

Montreal, Feb. 18.—There is evidently a good deal more behind the big developments which the C.P.R. is planning in Toronto than the mere improvement of terminal facilities in that city. It has already been announced that the company is planning to take a much larger share of the Niagara Falls tourist traffic than in the past by building its own connections between Toronto and the Falls and also between Woodstock on its main line, to Chicago, and the Falls.

Now comes the announcement of an important new line which will cut into all the prosperous towns and cities along the shore of Lake Ontario between Montreal and Toronto, tapping among other places, Belleville, Cobourg, Port Hope, Bowmanville, Oshawa and Whitby. The new line will commence at Bathurst, ten miles west of Smith's Falls, and proceed south-westerly to Belleville. The whole of this new line, it is stated, will be double-tracked and as the line between Smiths Falls and Montreal is double-tracked already, the C.P.R. will have a double track the whole of the way between this city and Toronto, and will reach all the important industrial communities between Montreal and Toronto now served by the Grand Trunk alone.

It is stated that the Railway Committee of Ottawa approved the route of this new line, so that the C.P.R. is now in a position to start its construction immediately. An incentive for pushing on the work with all possible speed is the fact that the Canadian Northern is now building a line from Toronto to Ottawa between the Grand Trunk and the Canadian Pacific main lines.

PEAT AS FUEL

Dr. Eugene Haanel is busy telling Canadians of the great value of peat as a fuel. He describes successful experiments in Germany with a product known as peat powder. It is a magnificent fuel for steam raising, and is the equivalent of the best English bituminous coal.

Dr. Haanel says that peat powder blown under a boiler, burns with a long, hot, smokeless flame, leaving no unburnt residue. The fuel is specially adapted to cement, glass and clay industries, where intense local heat is desireable. Dr. Haanel figures that if the peat were used in Ontario in a gas producer plant, it would cut down the coal bills to less than one-third of the present cost. The Government has installed a producer for 100 h.p. for lignite and soft coal, to be operated by peat, and if the experiment is successful, the department will recommend installation of such producers at peat bogs for the production of power.

RUSSIAN IMMIGRATION COMING TO CANADA.

Picked Families From Siberia All of Them With Some Money.

Montreal, Feb. 17.—A big colony of Russian immigrants, picked families from Siberia will be brought to this country via Dalney, Manchuria and Vancouver, and settle on the eastern section of the C.P.R. irrigation block in Alberta as soon as spring opens. These settlers are said to be intelligent farmers, and among the most desireable citizens coming into this country, each with a considerable sum of money to enable them to begin operations successfully.

Alberta is also to be invaded in the spring by a colony of Norwegians, whose representatives visited the Provinces last fall and purchased some 3,500 acres of land in the irrigation block. Norwegians look very favorably on Southern Alberta for settlement of their nationality, and expect once they make a beginning, to interest many of their countrymen at home.

TENOR OUT $10,000.

New York, Feb. 17.—If you were a grand opera tenor receiving $2,500 a night and stood to lose $10,000 for missing four performances in less than eight days because a tiny particle of Broadway dust had blown into your pharynx and contracted it so that you couldn't utter a note, to say nothing of not being able to eat your spaghetti in any kind of comfort, you would be considerably peeved—wouldn't you?

This is exactly what has happened to Signor Enrico Caruso, and to say that he is out of humor mentally, physically and financially is not half telling the story.

He wanders about the lobby of the Hotel Knickerbocker muffled up to the ears, afraid to venture out, hating to stay in and unable to utter a word.

INSANITY CURE IS ANNOUNCED

Dr. Oswald, of Glasgow Asylum, Says New Discovery is Sure Remedy.

London, Feb. 20.—An important discovery, which, it is stated, promises to provide a certain cure for mental diseases, was announced yesterday.

It was made by Dr. Oswald, of the household staff of the Glasgow Hoo household staff of the Glasgow Royal Asylum. It is asserted that the substance discovered when injected into the blood of a patient suffering from madness not only cures but makes the patient immune from a further attack. The discovery was first made by a German professor and has been perfected by research work in Germany and in Glasgow.

Pending further details, London pathologists are inclined to be somewhat sceptical as to the discovery. They point out that the prevailing opinion is that insanity is accompanied by structural change in the brain, and is therefore, not likely to be affected by injections of serum.

Legless Newsboy Weds.

New York, Feb. 17.—Hundreds of friends and patrons of George Gray, the legless newsboy, who sells papers at the Forty-second street entrance to the subway, stopped for a few seconds to-day to congratulate him on his approaching marriage to Miss Maud E. Gilbert, of Bridgeport, Con. Despite his disability the newsboy or rather the newsman—for Gray is 30 years old—made a gallant cavalier and during the few months of their acquaintance has taken his fiancee to many theatres and other entertainments. After the evening rush he would don evening clothes, and by the aid of a pair of artificial legs, which made his disability scarcely noticeable, would call for Miss Gilbert and accompany her to the places of amusement.

Miss Gilbert is 18 years old and very pretty. She is an orphan and has been supporting herself since she was a child. Gray has been selling papers for ten years.

READ EVERY WORD OF THIS

It Will Be Money In Your Pocket To Do So

Everyone is anxious to make money. Everyone has an ambition to get rich. Some men DO get rich. Others remain poor. The difference is simply a difference of methods. Nearly all of us save some money, but we do not let these savings earn anything for us. THE MAN WHO SAVES HIS MONEY AND LETS THE SAVINGS EARN SOMETHING FOR HIM is making it do double duty. Take the history of all the very wealthy men of the country and learn how many of them made their fortunes by simply saving what they earned Not one of them did. They saved but they immediately put their savings to work for them. YOU WANT TO GET TO THE TOP OF THE LADDER, YOU WANT TO ACCUMULATE SOMETHING FOR YOUR OLD AGE. THEN YOU HAD BETTER PUT YOUR SAVINGS TO WORK AND LET THEM HELP YOU DO IT.

In almost any ordinary investment a man cannot make his money earn over 8 per cent. Mining offers you greater opportunities. I am going to offer you an opportunity that has promise of earning for you 800 per cent or even more. I want to take you into partnership with me, in an enterprise that will probably make us all independent for the balance of our lives. YOU MUST TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THIS OFFERING. The Gold Queen Mining Company, of which I am president, has over 135 acres of rich mineral ground in one of the most prosperous mining districts of the world. We have already expended thousands of dollars in developing this property and we have struck ore that is very rich. We need a mill to extract the precious metal from this ore. We need a little help in building this mill. Are you willing to subscribe a portion of the amoont necessary to do it? In numbers there is strength, and even though your subscription be a very small one, we are willing to give you a part ownership in this great enterprise, in return for it. We are willing to take you in on an equal basis with us and give you the benefit of all your savings may earn for you. The men behind this proposition are all successful business men. They are in this business to make it pay and for every dollar they earn for themselves they will earn one for you. REMEMBER: THIS IS NOT A PROSPECT—IT IS A MINE WITH ORE IN IT. But a small amount of money is necessary to build our mill. We have decided to offer only a very limited number of shares at the present price, and as soon as this amount is secured the price will be advanced to a much greater figure. NOW IS THE TIME FOR YOU TO ACT. YOU ARE GETTING IN WITH THE ORGANIZERS OF THE COMPANY AT GROUND FLOOR PRICES. YOU ARE COMING INTO A BONA FIDE PARTNERSHIP WITH US AND WITH NO PARTNERSHIP RESPONSIBILITIES. Read what Mr, Van Wagenen, one of the foremost mining engineers of the country has to say: "I would advise the immediate erection of a ten-stamp mill with cyanide equipment, to treat your gold ores, and a separate concentrating plant to handle your copper pyrites, thus reducing the shipping weight 6 to 1, and eventually put in a smelter in connection with the mill, with a ten-stamp mill on your property and a daily production of 50 tons of ore. I CAN PROMISE YOU A NET EARNING OF $300.00 PER DAY or $109,500 per year and that can be increased to ten times as much as soon as tunnels A and B are finished, and added milling equipment is installed. The economical method is the best. Start with a ten-stamp mill and let your stockholders be content with 10 per cent per annum until you have increased your milling facilities, and install your smelting plant to treat your concentrates. THEN YOU CAN PAY THEM 400 TO 500 PER CENT DIVIDENDS PER YEAR FOR THE NEXT TEN YEARS ON THE PRESENT VALUATION OF YOUR STOCK, 5 CENTS PER SHARE, and this out of the new discovered vein alone." Now if you want to get in with us on this proposition you must act quickly, for the present allotment of shares will not last long. The man who buys now will get his shares at the very rock bottom price. The one who waits until later will without a doubt pay many times what it is being offered for now. Arrangements may be made to pay for your subscription on the easy payment plan. Write at once for full information and detailed literature explaining all about it. Write today. Do not wait another minute or you may be too late.

EUROPE GROANS UNDER CONSCRIPTION

Europe groans under conscription. Any anti-militarist will confirm this statement, and if necessary will give some extra and illuminating detail about boys being torn from their mother's arms by relentless Government. Any person who has the time can write a story about conscription, and can make it sufficiently pitiful to bring tears from a civil engineer. But what of the girls? They seem to enjoy a halcyon existence. No one tears them from anybody's arms. They have no defined duty to the State. Therefore, say the men, they should not vote.

But Fraulein Pauline Woerner, a leading German Suffragist, sees a way out. She proposes compulsory Domestic Service for Women. She is sufficiently un-Socialistic to assert that conscription has done marvels in the development of German manhood. She attributes the fine physique and the alert mentality of the average German to the fact that he has served his time with the colors. It is her belief that if every girl were compelled by national edict to undergo a comprehensive training in cooking, sweeping, sewing and laundry work she would be immensely benefitted mentally and morally. If every woman in Germany were a competent housewife, bachelors would not be so common. Husbands would be happier and would be able to do more efficient work.

The remedy may be considered in some respects as a desperate one. But something should be done. Not only in Germany, but in every other civilized country there is a decline in knowledge of the useful art of housewifery. Mothers bring up girls who can construe a Latin sentence or play Chopin, but whose knowledge of boiling water is only rudimentary. Perhaps it is important for a girl to know the peculiarities of Dryden's style or the oddities of a Corot landscape. But is is less important for her to know how to make a bed or iron a shirt waist? Domestic science schools are advantageous, but twenty years ago every good mother conducted one in her kitchen for the benefit of her daughters. Nowadays one does not hear of a girl twelve years old making a batch of bread, and standingon a stool to reach the kneading pan. Conscription might be a good thing if it could produce girls who could make puff paste the way our grandmothers did.

Camped for a Week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm Faux, former residents of Peterborough, "camped" a week at the door of the Government land office in Calgary recently, so as to be first to file a homestead claim. They secured their land and are about $3,000 ahead.

Attended Church.

The members of the Knights of Pythias attended service in All Saints' Church last night, marching in a body from their hall, Simcoe street. Rev. Mr. Thompson preached a sermon suitable for the occasion The church was filled to the doors.

A Freak Calf.

On Friday last Messrs. J. Davis and R. J. Reynolds, brought a freak calf to town. It was taken to the stables of the King George Hotel. The calf had two heads and four eyes. It is said that this is the second double-headed calf that Bethany has provided.

Fell in a Fit.

On Saturday afternoon, Percy Lynch, a barber in Snelgrove's shop, was seized with an epileptic fit, and fell heavily to the floor. Four men were necessary to hold him and keep him from battering himself until a hysician arrived. He was removed to St. Joseph's Hospital in the ambulance where he soon recovered.

Saturday's Market.

There was a large market on Saturday. The following prices prevailed:

Hardwood, per cord $5.75.
Tamarack, $3.75 to $4.
Hay, per ton, $13 to $15.
Beef, 8c to 11c.
Pork, 11c to 12½c.
Lamb, 11c to 12½c.
Turkeys, $1.50 to $2.50.
Chickens, each 60c to 75c.
Butter, 25c to 26c.
Eggs, 25c to 27c.

Epidemic of Grippe.

When influenza, commonly known as "grippe" visited this continent in 1890 after an absence of many years, it was treated as a joke. The funny columns of the papers were filled with humorous references, and the people who took grippe were considered proper subjects for ridicule. La Grippe is not treated any longer as a joke, many broken family circles and many new made graves place influenza among the most terrible of scourges to which the human race is subject. The present influenza epidemic appears to be most serious for several years.

Harvey Telephone Line is Now Assured

The Boboaygeon Independent says that the enterprising farmers in South Harvey have organized for a Telephone Company under the Act of 1908, and are the first to take advantage of the Act east of Toronto. There are several West of Toronto that are working in a very satisfactory manner. Under the Act of 1908 the organization is a sort of combination of private Company and municipal ownership. The cost of putting in the phone to each subscriber is ascertained and each are engaged to pay the amount in one year, or a number of years as the case maybe. If the cost is spread over five ot ten years and money has to be borrowed, then the Municipal Council on petition of the subscribers issue Debentures for the amount, the lands of the subscribers becoming liable for the amount each subscriber engages to pay and the amount is placed in his tax bill, if necessary by the Municipal Clerk. Each subscriber pays the cost of putting in his phone, which costs $12 The Municipal Council acts as a sort of Trustee, holding the wiring plant for the subscribers and arranging for the management of the plant. This is done in some places by the Municipal Council, in others by a committee. The subscribers are the owners of the plant, and have private management if they desire, still it is not conducted for a profit. It is a co-operative system of mutual advantage, at actual cost. The Municipality holds the lines in Trust, enforces payment by the subscribers, but opposes no responsibility whatever upon the ratepayers, who are not telephone subscribers. The intention of Harvey people is to run a line from Lakehurst to Ennismore, where connection will be made with the Bell system. The distance is about 13 miles, and there will be another four or five miles making connections with the thirty subscribers. The cost will run to about $2,000 and the proposal is to take ten years in payment. The cost to each subscriber will be between ten and fifteen dollars a year, and after payment for the plant, merely running expenses and maintenance. The petition was presented to the Harvey Council on Saturday last and the Council passed a by-law establishing the organization, and appointed Messrs. Wilbert Elliott, Henry Coons, John Chase, A. Wilson, jr. Joe Stevenson, Wm. Nesbitt, Perry Alexander, Edwin Irwin and D. Wier a committee to manage the construction of the line, the Council reserving authority to remove any or all members of the Committee when desirable. Arrangements are being made to get out the poles and have them in place during the sleighing and wire will be strung as soon as work can be done in the spring. A cable will be run across Gannon's Narrows, similar to the one now across Chemong lake to connect with Ennismore. The South Harvey people are to be congratulated on their enterprise, and it is to be hoped that they will meet with every success.

DATE OF MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS

Some probability seems to exist that the Ontario Legislature may enact a change in the date of municipal elections. Except in Toronto, where they vote on New Year's Day, municipal elections are held on the first Monday in January. Consequently the heat of the election campaign comes between Christmas and New Year's. There could hardly be a worse time, so far as interest in the elections is concerned. Nor is any advantage gained. Advantage there might be by holding the elections a month or more later. Then the result of the municipal finances of the previous year would be known. Advantage there might be in holding the elections a couple of weeks earlier. Then the new council could take office at the beginning of the year. But no advantage of any kind adheres to the present arrangement.

A good deal seems to obtain in favor of holding the elections later themnow, say about the middle of January. The exact municipal balance sheet of the previous year would be available, and would help people to judge of municipal issues, and of the work of members of the council standingfor re-election. With the holiday season over, ratepayers would be in more of a mood to pay attention to a civic contest.

Mrs. John Madill, of Craik, Sask., formerly of Lakefield, who has been visiting her brother, Mr. John Watson, Rubidge street, city, and friends in Lakefield, will return home tomorrow.

Mr. R. Treawith, a former resident of Peterborough, is a visitor to this city after an absence of 27 years. He is visiting his sister, Miss J. Treawith. Meanwhile he is registered at the King George Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Cressman are at Hotel Clarendon, Sea Breeze, Florida. A letter to a friend says that the weather is delightful, the chief pastime being the bathing which the splendid beach affords at this place.

Narrow Escape From Runaway.

At four o'clock Saturday afternoon, just in front of Mr. Frank Walker's grocery store, George street, a spirited horse driven by two young men in a cutter, did a couple of dancing and prancing that threatened to end in a serious accident. It seems that the two young men driving the horse could not control the animal, when it became frightened by a northbound car. As the car approached the horse and cutter, the rattle of its wheels frightened the steed which tried to bolt. The driver whilst able to prevent a runaway, could not hold the horse to its feet. It reared and plunged, and finally trying to get away to one side of the roadway, managed to break the cross-bar to which the shafts were attached. This placed the animal completely beyond control. The young man jumped out of the vehicle and grasping the horse by the halter, led it up the street until the car had passed. The incident created considerable excitement, owing mainly to the "pas de mut," danced by the horse on its hind legs Beyond the smashed gear of the cutter, no damage was done further than a possible shock to the nerves of those in the cutter.

VOL XXXIV NO. 43 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, TUESDAY FEBRUARY 21, 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

A BRITISH FORCE WAS MASSACRED

ADMINISTRATOR OF PAPAU AND TWO OFFICERS AND 24 NATIVES WERE KILLED.

New Guinea Disaster—Natives in the Interior Slaughtered Them—The Searchers Also Dead.

Brisbane, Australia, Feb. 20.—Word was received to-day from Papau, a division of the Island of New Guinea of the massacre of Staniforth Smith, the British Administrator of Papau, two white officers and a party of natives by inhabitants of the interior.

Smith, accompanied by the officers, twelve native police, and fourteen carriers, left Port Moresby, the capital of Papau, on Nov. 18 last to explore the interior of the country. Theparty was last heard of on December 7. Subsequently, searchers were sent out, and those have failed to return.

Two natives who accompanied Smith arrived at Goulbari with the tidings that all of the party except themselves were killed by natives.

RUSSIAN ARMY PREPARES

IS EVANGELIST NOW.

Former Pugilist is Handing Out Punches in Wrongdoing.

St. Catharines, Feb. 20.—The men's Y.M.C.A. mass meeting here yesterday afternoon was addressed by C. Marks, featherweight champion of Western New York, who has turned evangelist. His stories of how he as a bouncer in saloons would pass an undercut to some poor victim who had spent all his money, and then kick him out of the place after which if the police interfered, the whole saloon would swear against the victim, was a revelation.

A NAVAL HERO PENSIONED OFF

PORTUGAL MARINES MAKE A SHARP DEMAND THAT HE SHOULD BE RE-INSTATED.

Relations Are Strained—Religious Congregations Will Have Property Restored or Be Given an Indemnity.

Lisbon, Feb. 20.—The relations between the Government and the navy have again almost reached the breaking point as a result of a demand bythe navy for the reinstatement and theappointment to the command of the battleship Almirante Reis of Capt. Jose Cerejo, one of the naval heroes of the revolution, who had been pensioned off the active list by former Premier Franco on account of his disloyal attitude.

The Minister of Marine objects to Capt. Cerejo holding this command, as he believes such a concession would be tantamount to placing the Government in the hands of the Extremists, who are supporting the naval officers in their demands. The navy has expressed the determination to remove the Minister of Marine, Amaro Azevedo Gomes, by force and the Minister of the Interior, Antonio Almeida, who is very popular, has exhausted every argument to induce the Extremists to exercise patience, pointing out that such a step would result inevitably in a civil war. The Extremists, however, stand firm.

The Government is contemplating contracting a loan to indemnify the foreign and religious congregations, to which has been accorded the choice of restoration of their property or any indemnity. For the most part, the congregations have chosen to be repaid in money, as the new law of separation does not permit of the wearing of the habit or living in community. It is estimated that there are sixty of the establishments in the country valued at several million dollars. The proposed loan would be paid off gradually, as the properties were disposed of to purchasers.

SEVEN WERE CREMATED.

Sutton, W. Va., Feb. 20.—Seven persons lost their lives in a fire which destroyed the home of J. D. Hardin in this city yesterday. Only Mr. Hardin escaped, the six remaining members of his family, and Ada Green, a 14-year-old girl who made her home with the Hardins, perishing in the flames. The fire was caused by a natural gas grate.

COL. SAM HUGHES AT THE CAPITAL

DIDN'T SEE CHAMP CLARK, AS DEMOCRATIC LEADER WAS TOO BUSY.

Asquith is Not Worried—Refuses to Give Fictitious Value to Annexation Talk by Acting.

Washington, D.C., Feb. 20.—Col. Sam. Hughes made his appearance at the capital late this morning and wandered about both sides, meeting numerous members and chatting affably. Col. Hughes maintains his sphinx-like silence as to his mission here. Champ Clark is busy in the House, fighting over the rules, and Col. Hughes may not be able to see him, assuming that he wants to, till thepresent stress in the lower chambers is relieved.

BRITAIN IGNORES IT.

London, Feb. 20.—Declaring that he did not wish to give a fictitious value to Champ Clark's annexation talk, Premier Asquith announced in the House of Commons to-day that he would not instruct Ambassador Bryce to make any representations to the American Government in the matter. The Premier stated his position in reply to a question by J. Fremnant.

Nat Goodwin is threatening to write a book on the subject of matrimony. It doesn't always follow, however, that the man who has fallen farthest is best fitted to write on the matter of falling.

EXTRA SESSION WILL BE CALLED

LITTLE HOPE OF SENATORS BEING ABLE TO PUT THROUGH RECIPROCITY PACT.

McCall Gives the News—President Feels That It Is Obligatory on Him to See That Such Action Is Taken.

Washington, Feb. 20.—Both Senators and Congressmen are preparing for an extra session. They expect it to convene about March 15, and many of them are making preparations to hurry to their homes immediately after the present session ends and prepare their affairs for a long stay in Washington.

INTERNATIONAL OBLIGATION.

According to Mr. McCall's announcement, the President feels that he is under an international obligation to summon an extra session, if it be necessary, to secure action of the reciprocity agreement.

While it is the purpose of the President, in permitting the announcement of Mr. McCall, to avoid an extra session by inducing Senators to act upon the agreement, it is the opinion of many about the capitalthat in all probability the statement has come too late.

With appropriation bills in badly congested condition, with the Lorimer case pending, with the permanent tariff board bill pressing for consideration, with the general service pension bill being urged by many Senators, and with the resolution for the popular election of Senators coming up daily as the unfinished business the chances for action upon the Canadian reciprocity agreement are slight. Of course, however, conditions may change.

OPPONENTS ARE COMPLACENT.

Opponents of the reciprocity agreement in this state are viewing with complacency the congested condition existing in that body. The public business bills are such that a vote on reciprocity can be avoided easily without the appearance of a filibuster. The bill carrying the agreement into effect probably will not be reported out of the finance committee before Thursday at the earliest. At that time there will remain only seven and a half legislative days of the present session.

London, Feb. 20.—In the Commons to-day Premier Asquith replying to a question said he saw no reason for appointing a committee for the purpose of collecting evidence as to the manner in which Britain might strengthen her relations with the Dominions. The Parliament bill would not be submitted to the Imperial conference. The colonies had not been consulted about it.

Mr. James Hope: "Is it the opinion of the Government that they have nothing to learn from the colonies?" The Premier did not answer.

Mr. Hunt asked whether Hon. Mr. Bryce had assisted in any way in bringing on the reciprocity agreement. Mackinnon Wood replied that he had nothing to add to the answer given on the sixteenth. Answering a further question he said the conditions of the agreement would extend to the most favored nation countries.

The Manchester Guardian says that Canada's ambition is to follow her own free development. British diplomacy has removed one after another of those disputes between Canada and the United States. I Canada in return, acts as a mediator in perfect friendship between the English-speaking peoples she will be of greater service than she could render in any other way.

THEY LOOK GOOD TO GERMAN GIRLS

Madeliens From Fatherland Think Canadian Youth is Good Husband Material.

Berlin, Feb. 24.—According to a letter from a Prussian suffragette to the Tageblatt, German girls are preparing to compete with English girls for Canadian husband.

Referring to the recent announcement that 5,000 English girls were wanted to become the wives of young Canadian farmers, the writer says among it are things that "since the German Government does not pay the least attention to the colossal surplus of German girls and as the high price of meat makes it increasingly difficult for respectable girls to get married, the girls of our circle have decided to become British subjects, emigrate to Canada and gratify the aspiration of Canadian bachelors.

"The Prussian government will then realize that the women to whome the right to vote is refused have been driven into the arms of England."

Department of Justice Didn't Know of Removal

(From The Toronto Star).

Department of Justice,
Ottawa, Feb. 18, 1911.

Dear Sir,—

Your telegram of to-day asking the reason of the Dominion authorities for transferring prisoner Travers from the Toronto gaol to the penitentiary, without notifying the Ontario authorities, was the first intimation which had come to me that Travers was being taken to Kingston.

I replied at once that I knew nothing about the matter except what I saw in the newspapers, and that the Dominion authorities had nothing to do with convicts until they reached the penitentiary.

Under the law, it is the business of the Sheriff of any County from which a convict has been sentenced to the penitentiary to convey such convict to the penitentiary and deliver him to the Warden there. The penitentiary authorities take no responsibility for a prisoner until they receive him at the institution, and, until then, Dominion authorities have, in fact, no official knowledge of the case whatever.

Since answering your telegram, I have heard by telephone that Travers was being conveyed to the penitentiary this forenoon, and I can only assume that this couse is the action of the Sheriff, who probably wishes to be relieved of further responsibility for the prisoner. At all events the step has been taken without any reference, so far as I know, to any of the Dominion authorities.

I am, yours faithfully,
A. B. AYLESWORTH.

The Editor Daily Star, Toronto, Ont.

SUBJECTS FOR THE CONFERENCE

London, Feb. 20—The Government has issued the correspondence with the overseas dominions setting out the subjects for discussion at the Imperial Conference.

Right Hon. Lewis Harcourt, the Colonial Secretary, hopes that the conference will meet fifteen times between May 22 and the coronation, June 22. Firstly, "It will decide whether it will sit privately.

New Zealand suggests an imperial council, with representatives from all parts of the Empire and a secretary of imperial affairs instead of the Colonial Secretary, with separate departments for the dominions and Crown colonies, and the high commissioners raised to the status of ambassadors.

Australia raises the question of the Declaration of London, regretting that the colonies had not been consulted, opposing the provisions affecting food supply and the destruction of neutral vessels.

The all-red route and a state cable with a line across Canada are also subjects.

Another topic for the imperial court is the appeal of New Zealand and Australia suggesting overseas representation in the Cabinet.

Canada has no special proposals, but would welcome suggestions for a uniform naturalization law.

South Africa cabled January 20, suggesting the consideration of replacing the trade preferences by contributions to the Imperial naval and local defence, but these suggestions were withdrawn on Feb. 10.

How Travers Looked

When He Arrived at the Limestone City.

Kingston, Feb. 20.—The Standard says: Travers arrived on the fast train shortly after one o'clock to-day (Saturday) in charge of Deputy Sheriff Sievers Brown and a constable. He seemed to be on the verge of a nervous collapse, with his shoulders bowed and an apprehensive look in his eyes under which were great black circles. He was not handcuffed, and was not directly accompanied by the officers, as he left the train, the Deputy Sheriff preceding him a few feet, and the constable following a few feet in the rear of the prisoner. Travers was attired in a brown suit, and a light green overcoat.

As the prisoner alighted from the suburban train an expectant photographer stood on the platform preparatory to taking a "snap". Deputy Sheriff Sievers, however, placed himself between the photographer and Travers, and the prisoner with his coat collar up and his derby hat pulled down, well shading his face, escaped to a waiting cab. The deputy sheriff through threats of instant annihilation, subdued any aspirations the would-be photographer had towards taking a photo. As he drove away in the cab, a faint smile spread over the face of Travers—the first since he left Toronto for the Pen.

Autos for Everybody

Management Designed Big Armouries Event as February 25th as "Everybody's Show."

The horseless carriage has the same keen attraction for the man-of-the-street as for the enthusiastic owner. When three hundred powerful types of motor-driven vehicles showing everything from a small runabout to the most elaborate limousine, from the light and economical baker's wagon to the armour clad and highly destructive pom-pom car, there is plenty of room for prediction of the automobile's future.

The aim of the management of the Toronto Automobile Show which opens at the Armories Saturday, Feb. 25th, at 1 p.m., is to get away from the idea of technical display of machinery and to make it instead a great arena of entertainment, with model aeroplanes whirring about through the air under their own power, with bands playing and brightly dressed crowds moving along the promenade.

In a large adjoining room a stereopticon will throw upon a screen views of military and other cars, while about the walls will be placed groups of photographs depicting automobiles as applied to all services and under all conditions. The Daughters of the Empire are in charge of the tea room and refreshment booths. About the ball soldiers in uniform will be placed, and a patrol of boy scouts in their picturesque costumes will act as messengers. It is estimated that the value of cars within the four walls will amount to considerably over half a million dollars.

Mark Tonne says he has been in many a joke pro. hockey league, but the Lake Shore outfit must be awarded the cake.

China's Reply to Russia is Not Satisfactory

Washington, Feb. 20.—Cables from St. Petersburg, Pekin and London today to the State Department bring the information that China's reply to Russia's demand for adjustment of claims in Ili Province, and the treaty of 1881, is entirely unsatisfactory.

Russia, it is declared, is getting ready to press at once her military demonstration in these circumstances and means nothing less than initiation of a move to occupy the Province and hold it against eventualities.

WEDDING BELLS

BURNS—McELWAIN—On Wednesday, February 15th, at St. John's Church, by the Rev. Alex. Williams, Elizabeth Ethel McElwain, daughter of Matthew McElwain, Peterborough, to Cornelius (Corney) Burns, son of Mr. Corney Burns, lieutenant of Bolton avenue fire hall, Toronto.—Toronto Star.

Mr. Burns was formerly of this city, having been employed on the Review staff. "Corney" as he was familiarly known to the boys, will receive the hearty congratulations of his many Peterborough friends. He was very prominent in sporting circles and was manager of the Peterborough baseball team in 1909. Mr. Jas. P. Kennedy, another (Comp.) formerly on the Times' staff was an usher at the wedding.

WARSAW.

Owing to the soft weather our rink has been out of commission for a few days. If it continues the ground will soon be showing and we can have a bowling lawn.

The Lakefield bankers met a reverse when they ran up against the local team to a tune of 4—3. The home team is coming up.

The Grove school team played a fast and exciting game with the local school team on Thursday afternoon. The boys played well, considering their practice. Lakefield won with a score of 7—4.

Farmers coming to town report the roads in very bad condition, being filled up level with the fences in places. They are beginning to cut off badly owing to the soft weather in places.

Several of our local young men attended the Lakefield carnival last Friday. None of them returned with prizes however.

We congratulate Mr. Wm. Wavis heartily. It's a boy.

Mr. Aitkins and family expect to go west the middle of next month.

The Farmers Club held a very interesting and enthusiastic meeting in the hall last week. The rural sections are beginning to get out of the rut, thanks to the efforts of the Department of Agriculture.

Mrs. Choate and Miss McIntosa are expected to return from Toronto some time this week. Then the men can dig down into their pockets for Easter hat funds.

Mr. Will Robinson is spending his vacation at Mr. Levi Payne's.

Protestants Afraid of Jews and Catholics

Montreal, Que., Feb. 20.—"I know no more difficult place in which to live the Christian religion than Montreal, unless it should be New York or Chicago," said Rev. G. Osborne Troop last night in the course of a strong sermon on civic problems.

"The Protestants of Montreal," he said are between two great sections of the people. They are afraid of the Roman Catholics and of the Jews."

We enjoy the fullest liberty under the British flag. The city is under that flag and not under the Pope of Rome, and we should claim this liberty."

Bennet Resolutions on House Calendar

Washington, Feb. 18.—Taking advantage of the permission given by the house rules, Representative Bennet of New York has had both of his resolutions directed toward Canadian annexation placed upon the calendar of the house. The Foreign Affairs Committee made adverse reports on both of Mr. Bennet's resolutions, Mr. Bennet being the only member of the committee voting in favor of the measures. To-day he filed minority reports on the resolutions, and put them upon the calendar with the adverse reports of the committee.

Dynamite was Placed in a Montreal Theatre

Montreal, Que., Feb. 20.—Three sticks, labelled dynamite, enough to blow the place to pieces and probably kill hundreds of those in attendance, was found in the Theatre Francaise here Sunday afternoon, but a short time before the evening performance was due to begin.

The explosive was placed in an aisle in such a position that it could have been detonated by the feet of those entering the "gods" and would undoubtedly have caused terrible loss of life had it not been discovered.

There is no clue to the owner. It isbelieved that some crank carried it into the building but lost his nerve and decamped.

MESSAGE TO CATHOLICS.

Archbishop Ireland Gives Sensible Advice.

To the Editor of The Times:—

Sir,—The following extract from The Catholic Register shows how the wind blows when people are free to do and not as they should have the pluck. "There is no prejudice here in Canada, either or there would not be if our good friends spoke and acted for themselves and were not always "represented" by someone else. How long would any other people under the sun be led round like a lot of infants?

Yours, &c.,

COME OUT OF IT.

Recent press dispatches carry the following message from Archbishop Ireland to Catholics. The message comes as a quotation from an address delivered to the students of Detroit College, conducted by the Jesuit Fathers:

"I want each one of you students to have laudable ambition. I want you to put out all that is in you.

"How many members have you Catholics in the Legislature at Lansing, not many, I warrer. At Washington, we have only three or four Catholic Senators. In the country at large we are great in numbers; but I do not see that we are towering upward.

"The remedy is in our schools, and the teachers of our schools. Chief Justice White of our Supreme Court learned the logic that has made him one of the ablest jurists in the United States in a Jesuit College. I want you to get everything that is in the brain of your professor; I want you to be thorough in your studies, and go to the source of things.

"I have no patience with the Catholic whoi as an excuse for his slothfulness says: 'I can't rise because there is a prejudice against Catholics.' I say there is no prejudice against Catholics here to-day. Merit is the only thing that wins and demands attention in this Republic. Everybody looks out to-day for the man who does things."

The message has the right ring. It is the voice of the watchman on the tower; of the shepherd who carefully guards his flock. It suggests a common battleground tor the interests and energies of the hierarchy, clergy and laity of the country.

EARLY INDISCRETIONS AND EXCESSES HAVE UNDERMINED YOUR SYSTEM

The nerves control all actions of the body so that anything that debilitates them will weaken all organs of the system. Early indiscretions and Excesses have ruined thousands of promising young men. Unnatural Drains sap their vigor and vitality and they never develop to a proper condition of manhood. They remain weaklings, mentally, physically and sexually. Have you fear? Are you nervous and weak, despondent and gloomy, specks before the eyes with dark circles under them, weak back, kidneys irritable, palpitation of the heart, bashful, deadly sting dreams, sediment in urine, pimples on the face, eyes sunken, hollow cheeks, careworn appearance, poor memory, lifeless, distrustful, lack energy, prostate, poor strength, tired mornings, restless nights, changeable moods, premature decay, home pains, hair loose, etc.

GRADE CATTLE FOR FARMERS

Better Keep Hands Off the "Pure Breds," which is a Specialized Business

Does the breeding and feeding of a pure-bred dairy herd pay? This each man must consider according to his location, the capital that he has to invest and his general knowledge and understanding of the business.

The pure-bred business is a specialized business. It requires a watchful care, thorough knowledge of the heredity of the cattle in your herd, constant study in breeding, a better understanding of the wants of the community in which you are located and plenty of money to invest in new blood at any time the demands of the herd call for it.

Records must be kept, and a daily record of each item be entered; in fact, I might say you must ever be ready with pencil and paper to mark down dates of service, birth, etc. All this must be kept right, so that if called upon you can swear to your record. Even an application for registry papers amounts to an oath.

You must keep posted on the activities of your breeders' association. You must always be ready with a pen, ink, and paper, and always cheerfully reply to all inquiring letters and postal-cards received, and at times this alone will prove quite burdensome to the man on the farm.

Your sires must always be selected with the greatest care and judgment, and even then breeding requirements may force you to invest in a better one than you now own, although you may be compelled to dispose of your present high-priced sire for much less than he cost you. This alone would strongly test the nerve of many a successful farmer. Then again it is an undoubted fact that all pure-bred animals are more susceptible to disease than the more hardy grades that originated from the same breed; this renders them a more hazardous investment than grades.

All of us, by a little self-searching, can tell whether or not we are strict truth-tellers or whether we are individually given to misrepresentation or evasion of the cold, straight facts. All I can say to you if you are of this class is "to keep your hands off" of the business of breeding pure-bred cattle. If you make one mistake and go wrong, your occupation and business is ruined and you have a herd of cattle on your hands that no breeder with a reputation would dare to buy, even though he was satisfied that they were good individuals and worth the money you were asking for them. The discriminating buyer will study the breeder's pedigree fully as closely as he will that of the animal.

To Dig Up the Thames.

London, Feb. 17.—The City of London proposes to spend $70,000,000 in dredging the Thames River to a depth of thirty feet and in building great docks, yards and rail approaches in order to keep up with the procession and maintain its place among the great ports of the world. The plan includes the dredging of the river mouth to 1,000 feet wide and over 30 feet in depth at Tilbury in the stretch used by the big liners narrowing gradually to 450 feet wide and 14 feet in depth at London bridge.

"Then I must tell you that I cannot accept your help at the price of silence. When I undertook this mission I knew its penalties. I am still prepared to abide by them. Let me remind you that it is I, not you, who can impose conditions within these four walls."

Akbab Khan paled again. His was the temperament that shows anger by the token which reveals cowardice in some men; it is well to beware of him who enters a fight with bloodless cheeks and gray lips. But Roshinara sprang between them with an eager cry:

"What folly is this that exhausts itself on a point of honor? Does not every spy who brings us details of each gun and picket on the Ridge tell the sahib-log all they wish to know of our strength and our dissensions? Will not the man who warned us of the presence of an officer-sahib in our midst to-day go back and sell the news of a sepoy regiment's threat to murder the King? Have done with these idle words—let us to acts! Nawab-ji!"

"See to it that my orders are carried out. Mayhap thine own head may rest easier on its shoulders if there is no mischance."

The nawab-ji bowed again, and assured the Presence that there would be no lapse on his part. Akbab Khan had turned away. His attitude betokened utter dejection, but the Princess, not the first of her sex to barter ambition for love, was radiant with hope.

"Go, Malcolm-sahib," she whispered, "and may Allah guard you on the way!"

"I have one favor to ask," he said. "My devoted servant, a man named Chumru—"

She smiled with the air of a woman who breathes freely once more after passing through some grave peril.

"How, then, do you think I found out the identity of the English officer who had dared to enter Delhi?" she asked. "Your man came to me, not without difficulty, and told me you were here. It was he who inspired me with the thought that your presence might be turned to good account. But go, and quickly. He is safe."

Frank hardly knew how to bid her farewell until he remembered that, if of royal birth, Princess Roshinara was also a beautiful woman. He took her hand and raised it to his lips, a most unusual proceeding in the East, but the tribute of respect seemed to please her.

Following the nawab he traversed many corridors and chambers and ultimately reached an apartment in which Chumru was seated. That excellent bearer was smoking a hookah, with a couple of palace servants, and doubtless exchanging spicy gossip with the freedom of Eastern manners and conversation.

"Shabash!" he cried, when his crooked gaze fell on Malcolm. "By the tomb of Nizam-ud-din, there are times when women are useful."

They were let down from a window on the river face of the palace, and taken by a boat to the bank of the Jumna above Ludlow Castle, while the nawab undertook to deliver their horses next day at the camp. He carried out his promise to the letter, nor did he forget to put forth a plea in his own behalf against the bear when British bayonets would be probing the recesses of the fort and its occupants.

When Nicholson came out of the mess after supper he found Malcolm waiting for an audience. Chumru, still wearing the servant's livery in which the famous brigadier had last seen him, was squatting on the ground near his master. The general was not apt to waste time in talk, and he had a singular knack of reading men's thoughts by a look.

"Glad to see you back again, Major Malcolm," he cried. "I hope you were successful?"

"It is for you to decide, sir, when you have heard my story," and without further preamble Frank gave a clear narrative of his adventures since dawn. Not a word did he say about the very things he had been sent to report on, and Nicholson understood that a direct order alone would unlock his lips. When Frank ended the general frowned and was silent. In those days men did not hold honor lightly, and Nicholson was a fine type of soldier and gentleman.

"Confound it!" he growled. "this is awkward, very awk ard," and Malcolm felt bitterly that the extraordinary turn taken by events in the palace was in a fair way towards depriving his superiors of the facts they were so anxious to learn. Suddenly the big man's deep eyes fell on Chumru.

"Here, you," he growled, "was aught said to thee whereby thou hast a scruple to tell me how many guns defend the Cashmere Gate?"

"Huzoor," said Chumru, "there are but two things that concern me, my master's safety and the izzat of that laghir your honor promised me."

Nicholson laughed with an almost boyish mirth.

"By gad," he cried, "you are fortunate in your friends, Malcolm. Then he turned to Chumru again. "The jagbir is of no mean size," he said, "but I shall see to it that a field is added for every useful fact you make known."

Frank listened to his servant's enumeration of the guns and troops at the Lahore, Mori, and Cashmere Gates, and he was surprised at the accuracy of Chumru's mental note-taking.

"I need not have gone at all, sir," he could not help commenting when the bearer had answered Nicholson's final question. "I seem to have a Napoleon for a valet."

"You forget that you have brought me the most important news of all," he said. "The enemy is defeated before the first ladder is planted against their walls. They know it, and, thanks to you, now we know it. My only remaining difficulty is not to take Delhi, but to screw up our Chief to make the effort."

Then his voice sank to a deep growl. "But I'll bring him to reason, I will, by Heaven, even if I risk being cashiered for insubordination!"

ASSETS OF THE COMPANY

$10,000,000 of stock still in the Treasury.

$10,000,000 pooled for 9 and 18 months.

500 acres of land; value, $3,000 per acre.

A subsidy obtained from the Municipality of North Vancouver of 5 per cent. for 15 years on $200,000, and freedom from taxation of our plant and 30 acres of land for 10 years.

A subsidy obtained from the Dominion of Canada, 3½ per cent. for 25 years on $1,214,000, for the purpose of building a dry dock of 15,000 tons at Roslyn, the Company's townsite.

A very valuable brick clay deposit has been discovered on the Company's property. This will be developed to its fullest capacity, as brick clay is very rare here, Vancouver even importing from Seattle millions of brick annually.

NOTE.—A shareholder participates in every asset of the Company.

LIABILITIES OF THE COMPANY

Amount yet owing on land, extending over a period of four years, $446,000.

REMARKS

MORE LANDS

The Company proposes to purchase lands surrounding their townsite, and to this end are securing options on about 250 acres, with about 2,800 feet of deep waterfrontage adjoining that which they now own.

MINES

They have also secured an optian of purchase of a group of ten claims of very valuable iron deposits situated within twelve miles of their townsite. The Company believe, located as they are in a country which abounds with everything necessary to the smallest detail for turning out a perfect car, e should go to nature's storehouse for their material, and with this end in view have secured the above group.

SHIPBUILDING

In addition to building the Imperial Sleeping Car, cars of every description will be contracted for, and just as soon as their dry dock is completed, the Company intend to use it to the greatest advantage in building ships of the largest tonnage. As there will be but three or four docks in the whole Dominion, they will encounter but very little competition in the building of the larger class of vessels.

SALE OF LANDS

The Company do not intend to sell any of its land until its dry dock, car works, sawmills and other industries are in operation, and in this way secure as nearly as possible all the profit derived from the establishment of these great works.

CLEARING OF LAND

The Municipality of North Vancouver have under consideration a proposition from the Company whereby the Company promise to clear their whole townsite on condition the Municipality will at once clear and grade all the streets, charging the cost of same to local improvement taxes. The Municipality view the Company's proposition with great favor. This plan would at least double the price of the Company's holdings.

PURCHASING STOCK

A small block of stock is now on the market and can be had on very easy terms of payment. This once sold, the Company will have no difficulty to borrow on their assets at from 4 to 5 per cent. any money they will require for improvement purchases, and in this case all stock will be withdrawn from the market.

ABLES BETTER COLD THAN DAMP

of the First Requirements of a Horse or Cattle Stable is a System of Ventilation

o kind of live stock can thrive and well in ill-lighted, poorly-aired dings. One of the first requirets in a stable is that it should be provided with windows and have ans for letting fresh air in and foul out. Neither of these requirets are difficult to fill. Sunlight fresh air cost nothing, and the ex se of getting a sufficiency of each the stable is no greater than that which some stable builders go to p these two health essentials out first care should be to have the ble light. Sunlight is Nature's t effective germicide; the next, t the fresh air in. Fresh air contains vitalizing oxygen that the blood es up through the tiny cells of the gs every time an animal breathes o get light in is not so difficult to provide for the taking out o l air and the getting in of fresh a garded by some as a problem o e difficulty. Elaborate systems o tilation have been built into farm ldings, and some of the simpler of m work satisfactorily. The system vented by Professor King has work well under a wide variety of con ions. It is probably the most us of the more elaborate systems wever, lack of ventilation cannot excused on the ground that the stem necessary for effective work is costly and difficult to install. tion or duck tacked onto the window ames will let in and diffuse abundce of outside air, as well in horse cattle stables as it does in poultry uses. The curtain system of ventilon has disadvantages, so has the en window method, or ventilation means of holes in the ceiling or lls, but is a long ways ahead of thing at all. Because one cannot ord, or does not understand the nstruction of the more complicated stem, is not reason why simpler thods should be neglected. Every building a stable this fall or with old stable that is damp and foul d dark when the stock are in it in nter, should arrange now to have ese defects remedied. A horse or ttle stable is better a little cold than mp.—Winnipeg Farmers' Advocate.

EXCLUDE WASTERS

ractically Worthless Birds Should be Got Rid Of

It is extremely important to give rds that are destined to be the fu re breeding stock as much freedom possible, in order to develop fully e qualities that are so essential a ctor towards success. This can only accomplished when the ground is t overcrowded nor the birds cramp in their roosting quarters. It is ite impossible to say just how much ace is necessary to maintain fowls ealthy and strong, since so much deds upon the variety, the nature of e soil, the time of year, and several her considerations. The health and oductiveness of the birds are the onsatisfactory guide. Those who have nty of space at their command need t perhaps trouble themselves about e matter although they would be ll advised to do so. But to those hose space is limited this question one of great importance. I have ten and often seen a small poultry rd greatly overstocked, with the initable result that none of the birds re thriving well. Had half the mber been kept in all probability e actual, not the proportional, sup y of eggs would have been greater. very many cases quite half the ock consisted of practically worthss birds, which were consuming od, occupying space, and involving bor, and thus reducing the profitableness of the remaining fowls.

There are several ways of classifying fowls, but there is none so useful by means of their economic qualities. In this manner we have four reat classes, namely, the fancy reeds, the table breeds, the laying reeds, and the general purpose reeds. Fancy fowls are those which re bred and selected for their outard characteristics, such as feather arkings, comb, wattles, shape, etc. uch birds may or may not possess ood economic qualities; as a rule the ternal characteristics have been scrificed for the external. Table rds are those which possess a large reast development and flesh of an cellent flavor and texture, but generally speaking they are comparaely poor layers. The laying breeds, the other hand, are very prolific, t possess poor edible qualities, while e general purpose fowls are those hich combine both laying and table roperties. They are better table owls than the laying breeds, but produce fewer eggs, while they lay more ggs than do the table varieties, but ey possess inferior edible qualities.

SNAKES AND TOADS

hould Not All be Killed—Of Value on Farm

The French town authorities post things bulletin boards, for public instruction. One of these reads:—Hedgehog: Lives upon mice, snails nd wireworms—do not kill a hedgeg. Toad, helps agriculture, kills venty to thirty insects every hour—, not kill a toad. Cockchafer: a edful enemy to the farmer; lays two ndred eggs at a time—kill the cockafer." It would be a good idea for r own Government to post bulletins this sort, instead of printing so any for circulation.

In the south most of the snakes are great value, and that is relatively e everywhere. The blue racer, a nderous fellow, is estimated to be orth ten dollars a year to destroy ice and gophers. The ball snake nd garter snake destroy insects and dents without themselves hurting e garden. In my Clinton ground we ave so long protected the little garter ake that he suns himself on the ... without fearing us at all. D. Powell, in September

EIGHT-YEAR-OLD HERO

FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Some Good Suggestions to Paste Up for Reference

Combs should not be washed. Clean them by passing a piece of soft rag between the teeth.

When Making Pastry add the juice of a lemon to the water for mixing it will make the paste lighter and dispel the flavor of lard.

Milk and Eggs are great fat producers. Drink milk with your meals instead of water, and, if reared for, eggs can be added with advantage.

Coal-Ash is a fine polisher for the bright parts of the range. Dip a wet rag into the fine ash and rub well, and a fine polish will be the result.

After an Umbrella has been in use for a short time put a drop of oil in the centre of the top about once a month. This prevents the ribs from rusting.

It is recommended that a little vinegar be added to the water in which stockings are rinsed after being washed. The stockings should then be dried wrong side out. Colored stockings will not be faded, and black ones will retain their original lustre.

If when Boiling or Baking Meat you find it is smelling somewhat tainted, take a small piece of stick, put the end of it in the fire, and burn it just enough to make it black. If baking, place the burnt end in the dripping pan. If boiling, place the end in the saucepan. The taint will be found to have disappeared.

Ink Spots may be removed from certain dress materials if moistened with turpentine, which should be allowed to remain on the spots for five minutes or longer (half an hour, if necessary) before the material is rubbed between the hands as in washing. Turpentine should never be used near an open fire or flame.

A Good Plan is to Rub Vaseline into the backs of ebony hair-brushes before washing, so that the soda will not affect the ebony. Then, when dry, a little olive oil, applied with a soft rag and rubbed in with a clean cloth, will give as much polish as is required, as ebony should not be very highly polished at any time.

Soap never should be used in cleaning paint, especially white enamel or any paint with a gloss, as it will remove the gloss, which is the chief charm of the wood. If, in washing woodwork a capful of the glue used by carpenters is melted and poured into a pail of warm water, it will not only serve as a cleanser, but it will leave a high gloss such as new paint has.

When Linen has been Badly Scorched, try the following method. Boil to a good consistency in half a pint of vinegar two ounces of fuller's earth and the juice of two onions. Spread this mixture over the damaged part and leave it to dry. If the threads are not actually burnt through, the scorched place will appear after washing as white and perfect as the rest of the linen.

STRAINING MILK

The Milk Strainer Does Not Purify the Fluid

Straining milk does not purify it. Milking should be done with such attention given to cleanliness that it would be unnecessary to use the strainer. The utensil is of value chiefly because it removes the visible indications of impurity from milk, not because it really has any purifying effects. Small particles of manure, hairs, pieces of dead cuticle from the cow's udder and body, and dirt from the milker's hands find their way into the milk pail during the first manipulations of the udder, these impurities are churned around in the pail by the force of the streams in the milk is drawn, and by the time the pail is full this filth is all but dissolved, and no strainer yet produced can remove anything but the coarser and more insoluble substances which settle to the bottom of the bucket.

The millions of bacteria carried into the receptacle by these impurities are untouched by the strainer and go on their way rejoicing to carry ill-health and disease, maybe, to all who drink the milk or use the butter made from it. We use the milk strainer because we do not like the looks of small particles of dirt and refuse in the bottom of the milk can, or perhaps in the drinking cup. It does no harm to remove these, but gives us a sense of relief in thinking that the milk is clean because it looks clean. We seem to have discharged a moral obligation in using the strainer, forgetting that the real harm comes from the dissolved material, the filth that goes into solution and carries its nauseating effect concealed in the pure white fluid.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

A moderate oven is one in which a piece of white paper will become golden brown in 12 minutes.

A combination and economy for the oil or gasoline stove is a three part cooker which can be used over one burner. The parts are separated so that three articles can be cooked at the same time.

Rinse out the dish cloths frequently and let them bleach on the grass in the sun to keep them sweet. There is nothing like the sun as a purifier. Use it lavishly and your health will be better and the house purer.

To relieve ear ache, irrigate the ear with warm water. Arrange the patient so that the water can run out of the ear into a receptacle or into cloths which will absorb it. Have the water of slightly more than tepid warmth and allow it to run slowly into the ear until relieved. Cover the ear afterwards with warm woollen cloths.

Little chicks require plenty of fresh water in their reach in hot weather. If this is neglected you will be disappointed in the growth and health of your chicks.

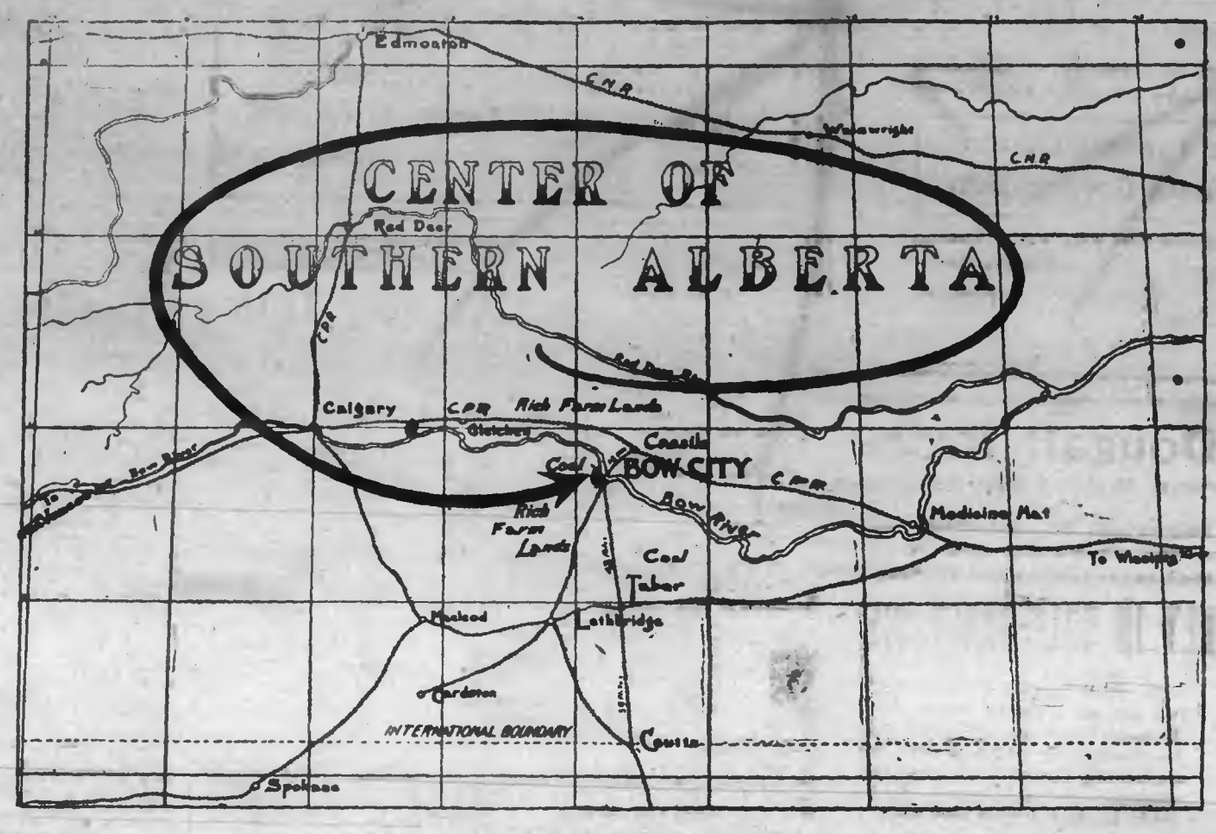
DEAD AT MADRID

Is the Last Descendant of Christopher Columbus

The Duke of Veragua, the last descendant of Christopher Columbus, has died at Madrid, after a long illness, aged 72. He was formerly Minister of Public Works, and also held the post of Minister of Marine. He went to America in 1892 as the official representative of Spain at the celebrations in commemoration of the discovery of that country by his illustrious ancestor.

THE WORLD MOVES

"GIVE YOUR SON A DEED"



If, by way of illustration, you will review the history of the men in your town who have made money out of real estate, you will find that in each and every instance their profits were made from real estate acquired at ground floor prices.

More money can be made by those who acquire a realty interest in a town at its inception per dollar invested than from investments made after a period of years.

Do you know that you can purchase with $5 cash a full sized residential lot in Bow City, Alberta

the logical location for a great city, a city which is destined to be known, the world over, as a market place annually for hundreds of thousands of bushels of grain, grown on the vast irrigated fields surrounding Bow City, a shipping point for coal from the great Bow Centre Collieries, and a purchasing depot for hundreds of prosperous farmers resident throughout Southern Alberta.

To-day is your opportunity to acquire an interest in Bow City at the ground floor price.

It will be too late six months hence, to apply for a lot in Bow City at the present prices and on such easy terms as are offered you in this advertisement.

Why not follow Russell Sage's advice given in a letter published some years ago to the fathers in the Western States:—

"Buy your son a lot in a town being the "centre of a great agricultural country—when "he comes of age that lot will be worth consid-"erable money and will provide a handsome "stake for him in life; it is at least most sub-"stantial life insurance—sure and certain."

Buy your son a $50 lot in Bow City, the coming metropolis of the western prairies. In a very short time he can re-sell the same at a big increase, which money he will find advantageous in business pursuits or in a college course.

Bow City, the centre of the great granary of Southern Alberta has a future concerning which no sane business man or banker has any doubt.

When you are assured of the success of the city, when you have proven to you beyond the shadow of a doubt that Bow City will, in the very near future, be one of the most active, one of the most progressive towns on the Western prairies, you should not hesitate to acquire at least one $50 residential lot, when same is on sale on such easy terms as 10 per cent cash and the balance 10 per cent per month until paid—a deed at any time.

Bow City is in the heart of a famous irrigated farming belt whose farmers are assured of a crop every year. They are prosperous and their prosperity will naturally enhance the value of Bow City real estate.

The great coal mines of Bow City will furnish work for 1,000 to 1,500 miners daily, these miners will constitute a substantial basis for a successful city.

The present owners of Bow City have decided that no licenses shall be issued for the sale of spirituous liquors; they intend that this great mining and agricultural centre shall be free from any traffic in intoxicating drinks—it will be a clean city.

Bow City is the headquarters of a railway which taps a territory unparalleled for richness in crops and natural resources.

The Sale of Bow City lots opened but a few days ago

If you are desirous of acquiring a $50 residential lot close in you should lose no time in making application by wire direct to the General Agents of the townsite, or to the nearest sub-agent.

Do not delay by sending your application by mail.

Wire at once your reservation for one or more lots. On receipt of wire your name will be placed on the closest-in unsold lot or lots and same will be held in your name, allowing you sufficient time for your cash payment, mailed same day you wire, to travel from your home to the head office.

You may find it to your advantage, if you are desirous of securing a business opening, or a business lot, to write for copy of the plans, booklets and descriptive matter concerning Bow City, all of which may be had on application, free of charge.

RECIPROCITY AND PREFERENCE.

The objection that the reciprocity agreement will injure the British preference is answered in a few words by the Montreal Herald.

The outstanding feature of the British preference is its application to manufactured articles.

The outstanding feature of the new tariff arrangement with the United States is its application to natural products.

Therefore the proposal now under consideration does not conflict with the preferential tariff established by the Canadian Parliament at the instance of Mr. Fielding in 1897. On the contrary, one arrangement is the complement of the other; and the two measures are in accord with the policy agreed upon at the Liberal convention of 1893; freer trade with the world, especially with Great Britain and the United States.

Our trade with the United Kingdom would be affected not so much by the changes in the Canadian tariff of the United States. If the people of the United States buy more freely from Canada, a certain portion of the trade which now flows east may flow south. But as the Hamilton Herald points out, this is a matter over which the Canadian Government has no control. "Without any reciprocity negotiations it is in the power of the United States at any time to give free admission to natural products from Canada. Even the objectors would hardly propose to check the exportation of our foodstuffs and raw material to the United States by the imposition of export duties."

Some of the objectors to reciprocity are placing our national existence and British connection on a very insecure basis. These conditions are precarious enough if they are based upon our existence of the products of the United States; still more precarious if they depend upon the existence of Canadian products from the United States. That would mean that our national existence and our connection with Great Britain depend upon the will of Congress. At any moment they may cut the Imperial tie and sweep us into continental union by the simple process of taking the duties off fish, wheat, and other natural products.

For those who hold this view, the outlook must be dar. Because nothing is more certain than that the export from Canada to the United States will increase. The trade has attained to very large proportions in spite of the high tariff, for the simple reason that the people of the UnitedStates require our products. They are growing at the rate of a million and a half a year, and the growth is largely in consumers of farm products, so that the demand for Canadian goods will constantly be enlarged.

The terrible temptation arising out of this trade will, therefore, become more formidable every year. And as we cannot remove this temptation the best thing we can do is to grow accustomed to it, and turn to other modes of preserving national existence than that of commercial non-intercourse. If it is foolish to lean upon the friendship of a neighbor, it is still more foolish to lean upon his continuance of a policy of exclusion.

Algonquin National Park.

Many people are unaware of the fact that in the Algonquin National Park, 1600 feet above sea level, at Algonquin Park station, a charming hotel known as the "Highland Inn" is open during the winter months for the reception of guests who desire to enjoy the pleasures of outdoor life. The purity of the air and the many winter amusements that can be enjoyed are just the thing to recuperate a run-down constitution and build the physical over-worked body. Address "Highland Inn," Algonquin Park Station, Ont., for further particulars.

GOLD BELT ACROSS DOMINION! DOMINION GOLD MINES, LIMITED

It is becoming more evident continually that that part of the Dominion covered by the granites and schists of the Laurentian formation is heavily mineralized, wherever there are unions with the Huronian rock or where quartz or other veins are interposed. St. Francis Beauce, Porcupine Cobalt, Bruce, Ont., and Sturgeon Lake are proof spots of this theory, corresponding to the test probings of diamond drills in a mining claim.

This last locality has received but slight attention as yet in the newspapers, though a good deal of successful development has been done on the spot. The lake itself is connected at its south end with Port William by a branch of the Grand Trunk and runs an irregular, greatly indented course, amid capes and islands over 40 miles to the north, where it is only eight miles away from the Transcontinental line of the same railway. Gold is found over a wide stretch of the country about the upper end, and several opening have been made with excellent prospects in nearly every case. The Dominion Gold Mines, Limited, control six claims covering 220 acres of land generally heavily timbered. That locality gives the lie direct to any but the most extravagant theories regarding the extent of the pulpwood reserves of that Dominion, being covered with spruce of good size and quality. At the present it looks as though the fate of all the timber within the sight is to fill the stokehole of power-producing boilers. There is enough of it in sight to drive drills and mills for many a decade of years.

EXPERT OPINION.

During the week Mr. Beidelman, a mining engineer and prospector of very wide experience, extending from James Bay to Mexico, from British Columbia through all the mining states of the West, told The Standard something of what he had himself seen in the Sturgeon Lake, or Thunder Bay district.

"In all my experience, I have never seen more gold showing at the surface," he said. "The geological stratum is perpendicular, as a rule, and the vertical fissures, which are numerous, are all heavily mineralized, the ore being generally copper pyrites bearing gold. The Keewatin runs in veins, from a foot and a half up to some feet in width. Where the Dominion Gold Mines, Limited, are working, for instance, they have two parallel veins of good ore, only a few feet apart, and the rock between the two veins is full enough of mineral to make it a good low-grade proposition. It is to get out this matter and mill it that the company is offering 200,000 shares for sale at a very low figure in Montreal. A mill will have to be built, and the material reduced to a condition of readiness for refining, though I believe the cyanide process could be applied right on the spot."

From the general excellence of the assays made by the Dominion Government analyst, Dr. J. T. Donald, and Mr. W. W. Bennet, assayer to the U. S. Steel Corporation, which shows results ranging from never below $17 up to $424 a ton in gold, it will be seen that there is no doubting the presence of the precious metal in paying quantities. The specimens dealt with were not hand-selected chips, of which the Standard has seen many from that section of much greater richness, but good-sized blocks, representative of the whole texture of the veins.

It is clear that Canada is to have her reputation established as a land of gold by a widely-dispersed series of gold camps. It is many years—60 at least—since Nova Scotia astonished the world by stories of gold discoveries. Northern Quebec is still to have her possibilities developed. The Peace River and Rocky Mountain section a have shown mineral for many years, and so the band of gold which weds the East and West is probably about to be proved to be a reality. Ontario is having a wonderful development, and the new camp at Sturgeon Lake will add greatly to her wealth. Only the future can make it clear, whether the banner agricultural province is to maintain the position she at present promises to fill, of being also in mineral production.

ONE USE OF CHALK

Illustrated by a Billiard Story from Columbus

"Once, when I had my own parlor, in Columbus," he said, "I was a good deal disturbed by the loss of chalk. Chalk disappeared at a tremendous rate, and I said to my helper, 'Keep a better eye on the chalk, Jim. I'm no millionaire.'

"'I know the gents wet pockets the chalk, Mr. Laughlin,' Jim said; 'but they're regular customers. I guess you wouldn't want to offend 'em, would you?'

"'Well, no,' said I, 'I wouldn't. You might give them a gentle hint though. Use your diplomacy.'

"Jim, I found out later, used his diplomacy that night. He walked up to one of my best patrons who had just pocketed a piece of chalk, and he said:

"'You're in the milk business, ain't you, sir?'

"'Yes, why?' the patron asked.

"'I thought so,' said Jim, 'from the amount of chalk you carry away. The boss likes enterprise, and he told me to tell you if you wanted a bucket of water now and then you could have one and welcome.'"

ENGINE DRAWS HEARSE

A Strange Scene at a Showman's Funeral—Happened in Wales

It is quite a common thing for deceased persons to be followed to the last resting-place by some emblem of their occupation during life, but the scene witnessed at the recent funeral of a showman at Cardiff was indeed out of the ordinary. On his deathbed, the man expressed the wish that the huge traction-engine used by the showman in his business should draw the hearse containing his coffin to the cemetery, and this request was fulfilled.

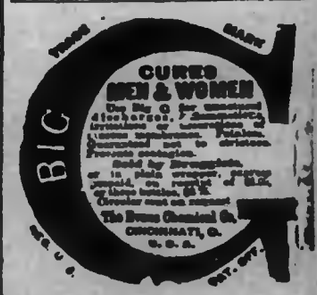
On the day of the funeral, the streets of Cardiff were crowded with people assembled to see the unusual sight. The hearse was attached to the traction-engine, and thus taken to the cemetery gates, where the cortege halted. The coffin was then carried from the hearse to the graveside by mourners.

The showman's engine was beautifully decorated with flowers. A large floral heart, with a centre design of the Prince of Wales's feathers in white flowers, adorned the front, and the wheels were draped with crape.

LOVERS PERSISTED

And Were Rewarded at Last by Finding a Minister

A wedding in St. Mary's church, Brandon, on a recent Wednesday, brought to a close a most trying experience for the parties interested. The bride was Miss Silsma Parsinage Gardener, of Antler, Sask. and the groom, Darcy Lewis Stewart, of Oakre River, Man. The wedding was arranged to take place at Antler on the Tuesday, but when the time for the ceremony arrived, no minister could be obtained. Sooner than postpone the wedding the young couple drove to the next town, but on arriving there found that the minister at that point was also away from home. From there they drove to several other towns but could not obtain the very essential clergyman. Upon arriving at the borders of Manitoba they were informed that it would be necessary to procure another license to marry in the Province of Manitoba, and it was then that they decided to go to Brandon and run no more risks. A special license was obtained here and the wedding took place.



Synopsis of Canadian Northwest Land Regulations.

READ EVERY WORD OF THIS

It Will Be Money In Your Pocket To Do So

Everyone is anxious to make money. Everyone has an ambition to get rich. Some men DO get rich. Others remain poor. The difference is simply a difference of methods. Nearly all of us save some money, but we do not let these savings earn anything for us. THE MAN WHO SAVES HIS MONEY AND LETS THE SAVINGS EARN SOMETHING FOR HIM is making it do double duty. Take the history of all the very wealthy men of the country and learn how many of them made their fortunes by simply saving what they earned. Not one of them did. They saved but they immediately put their savings to work for them. YOU WANT TO GET TO THE TOP OF THE LADDER, YOU WANT TO ACCUMULATE SOMETHING FOR YOUR OLD AGE. THEN YOU HAD BETTER PUT YOUR SAVINGS TO WORK AND LET THEM HELP YOU DO IT.

In almost any ordinary investment a man cannot make his money earn over 8 per cent. Mining offers you greater opportunities. I am going to offer you an opportunity that has promise ocarning for you 800 per cent or even more. I want to take you into partnership with me, in an enterprise that will probably make us all independent for the balance of our lives. YOU MUST TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THIS OFFERING. The Gold Queen Mining Company, of which I am president, has over 135 acres of rich mineral ground in one of the most prosperous mining districts of the world. We have already expended thousands of dollars in developing this property and we have struck ore that is very rich. We need a mill to extract the precious metal from this ore. We need a little help in building this mill. Are you willing to subscribe a portion of the amoont necessary to do it? In numbers there is strength, and even though your subscription be a very small one, we are willing to give you a part ownership in this great enterprise, in return for it. We are willing to take you in on an equal basis with us and give you the benefit of all your savings may earn for you. The men behind this proposition are all successful business men. They are in this business to make it pay and for every dollar they earn for themselves they will earn one for you. REMEMBER: THIS IS NOT A PROSPECT—IT IS A MINE WITH ORE IN IT. But a small amount of money is necessary to build our mill. We have decided to offer only a very limited number of shares at the present price, and as soon as this amount is secured the price will be advanced to a much greater figure. NOW IS THE TIME FOR YOU TO ACT. YOU ARE GETTING IN WITH THE ORGANIZERS OF THE COMPANY AT GROUND FLOOR PRICES. YOU ARE COMING INTO A BONA FIDE PARTNERSHIP WITH US AND WITH NO PARTNERSHIP RESPONSIBILITIES. Read what Mr, Van Wagenen, one of the foremost mining engineers of the country has to say: "I would advise the immediate erection of a ten-stamp mill with cyanide equipment, to treat your gold ores, and a separate concentrating plant to handle your copper pyrites, thus reducing the shipping weight 6 to 1, and eventually put in a smelter in connection with the mill, with a ten-stamp mill on your property and a daily production of 50 tons of ore. I CAN PROMISE YOU A NET EARNING OF $300.00 PER DAY or $109,500 per year and that can be increased to ten times as much as soon as tunnels A and B are finished, and added milling equipment is installed. The economical method is the best. Start with a ten-stamp mill and let your stockholders be content with 10 per cent per annum until you have increased your milling facilities, and install your smelting plant to treat your concentrates. THEN YOU CAN PAY THEM 400 TO 500 PER CENT DIVIDENDS PER YEAR FOR THE NEXT TEN YEARS ON THE PRESENT VALUATION OF YOUR STOCK, 5 CENTS PER SHARE, and this out of the new discovered vein alone." Now if you want to get in with us on this proposition you must act quickly, for the present allotment of shares will not last long. The man who buys now will get his shares at the very rock bottom price. The one who waits until later will without a doubt pay many times what it is being offered for now. Arrangements may be made to pay for your subscription on the easy payment plan. Write at once for full information and detailed literature explaining all about it. Write today. Do not wait another minute or you may be too late.

North Monaghan Council in Session

The Township Council met on Monday, the 13th inst., in the County Committee Room, at 2 p.m.

All the members were present, the reeve presiding.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

Communications were received from the following:

The Tax Reform League, re assessment of improvements.

The National Sanitarium, asking for a grant.

The Salvation Army, asking for a grant to their Rescue Home.

E. M. Elliott, treasurer, showing return of taxes in arrears.

Moved by Messrs. Foster and Robson that the Council hereby authorize the Reeve and Clerk, to endorse the petition of the tax reform league asking the legislature to amend the assessment act, so as to permit of the assessment of improvements on farm property to be a rate lower than that on land. Carried.

Moved by Messrs. May and Foster that a grant of the sum of $5.00 be herebymade to the Salvation Army Women's Rescue and Children's Homes in Ontario and the clerk is hereby directed to forward same. Carried.

Moved by Messrs. Foster and Morrow that the clerk be hereby directed to notify the Council of Cavan Township that this Council have not authorized in any way the removal of a tile culvert at Springville, and that heretofore they have taken no action in the matter, and further that they strongly object to the diversion of, or the blocking of any stream until full consideration be given to the same. They are however willing to meet the committee of the Cavan Council to ascertain what action, if any, it may be advisable. Carried.

The auditors for 1910 presented their statement of the township accounts, which on being read was found to require a few amendments. It was then referred to the auditors for revision.

A committee of the whole Council was then appointed to examine the dredge on the 12th and 13th, with a view to finding out the probable cost of its re-construction and if possible to obtain a legislature and county grant towards the same.

The clerk was then directed to ascertain the dates and probable cost of sending a delegation to interview the Minister of Public Works of Ontario, in connection with obtaining a grant to the said dredge and to attend the good roads convention in Toronto.

The Council then adjourned to meet in the same place at the same time on March 11th next.

Woman Uses Revolver on Quebec Business Man

Ottawa, Feb. 2.—Sheriff Wright of Hull this morning received information of a shooting affray at Montcerf Que., last night, when Mrs. Lanon of that place fired a charge of shot into the leg of a local merchant. Andrew Lachapelle. The wound is so serious that amputation at Maniwaki Hospital was found necessary. Mrs. Lanon claims, Lachapelle was trying to break into her home. The woman personally telegraphed her statement of the affair to the authorities.

The Hardships of Mail Carriers in West

Peace River Crossing, Alta., Feb. 20.—A story of hardship, in which two men, carrying mails to northern posts, endured the terrible privations and narrowly escaped losing their lives, was learned when two small carriers, named McLean, 17 and 20 years old respectively, staggered into the post-office at Fort Esrmil,lon, one with his feet badly frozen and the other in a serious condition.

The mail for Vermillion left here on January 2, in charge of the two brothers, who were well equipped for their long journey, having excellent dog teams and an abundance of provisions, and carrying six hundred pounds of mail. When about 100 miles out they were overtaken by one of the most severe blizzards which has swept the country in years, and so intense became the cold that the huskies' paws began to freeze, making the going exceedingly slow.

Their dog feed and provisions ran low, and within 30 miles of their next stopping place the younger of the two volunteered to go ahead and secure provisions and then return and meet his brother. He succeeded in making the cache without difficulty, but on the return journey, not meeting his brother as soon as he expected, was compelled to camp out for the night. Having no axe or blanket with him, his feet and hands were badly frozen before he managed to start a fire. With the break of dawn, however, he again hit the trail and eventually met his brother. During the next few hours his feet became so painful from frost that the elder brother placed the young man on the sled, after unloading some of the mail, and a rigorous trip brought them to the fort, having been twenty one days on the trail, which it usual lytakes eight days to cover.

Husband Dead and Two Others Very Ill

Chatham, Feb. 18.—David Hutchinson, night watchman for the Campbell Fanning Mill Company, was found dead in bed at his home at Lacroix street about 9 o'clock last night, suffocated from the escaping fumes of natural gas. It is supposed he had been dead 24 hours when he was found. His wife and daughter were found in an unconscious condition and are now in the hospital where they may die.

It is supposed that Hutchinson and his wife and daughter were overcome by the fumes on Thursday night. The escaping fumes came from the kitchen stove, where the gas was blazing two feet above the lids. The chimney was unable to take care of the fumes and they penetrated to the sleeping rooms.

Hutchinson was sleeping in a room near the stairs and was overcome first. The women lay in a helpless condition all yesterday.

DO YOU KNOW?

Why Old Shoes are Thrown at Weddings?

Throwing shoes at weddings after a newly-married couple on their departure for their honeymoon originated in the old Jewish custom of handing to the purchaser of land an old shoe as a token of surrender or renunciation. The bride's father gave a shoe to the husband, or threw it after him, to signify they surrendered to him all authority over their daughter.

Who was "Jack Robinson"?

Few of those who make use of the name "Jack Robinson" in popular parlance of the figurative order are aware that the person referred to in the phrase had historical actuality. John Robinson was a political favorite of George III., and sat as member for Harwich for twenty-six years, during part of which period he was Secretary to the Treasury. In a debate on the India Bill this prominent statesman was once bitterly attacked by the witty and sharp-tongued Richard Brinsley Sheridan, who, denouncing bribery and its instigators, replied to the cries of "Name, name," by pointing to Robinson on the Treasury Bench, exclaiming at the same time, "Yes, I could name him as soon as I could say Jack Robinson," and thus originated the saying still current.

Who Invented the Compass?

The Italians claim the invention of the compass, attributing it to Flavio Gioja, a native of Amalfi, between the years 1300-20; but the probability is that he improved rather than invented the instrument, for there is evidence that as early as the year 1242 A.D. a primitive kind of compass was in common use on the Syrian coast, and it is said that on the return of Marco Polo from China in 1260 he brought with him a knowledge of this among other Oriental inventions.

What "Cocktail" Comes From?

In "the days which were earlier," when doctors sometimes used more strenuous methods than their successors do now in the cure of disease, there was a habit among them of treating certain diseases of the throat with a pleasant liquid, which was applied by the top of a long feather plucked from a cock's tail. In course of time this remedy came to be used as a gargle, still retaining its old name. During the course of its evolution the gargle gained most of the present ingredients—spirits, sugar, bitters, and so on—till it became the beverage of to-day.

Why the Red Sea is so Styled?

In the Red Sea reefs of bright pink coral are clearly to be seen. Much of the rocky bed of this sea is the work of the coral insect. But probably the true reason for the name of the Red Sea is because all along its eastern shore lies ancient Edom. This word signifies "red." It was given to the region—not from the color of its sandstone hills, but from its people. These are the descendants of him who came in faint and weary from hunting, and said to his brother, "Feed me, I pray thee, with that same red pottage; for I am faint: therefore was his name called Edom."

BEATS JARNDYCE CASE

A Suit in Chancery Still Undecided After Six Hundred Years

A law case, which was begun in 1348, and was interrupted because Richard de Maundeville had to leave for the war in France, has just been resumed in the Chancery Court.

The point at issue is the right to hold a market at Stowmarket, Suffolk, and the suit was originally brought by the Abbot of St. Osyth, Essex, in the twenty-second year of Edward III., against Richard de Maundeville. According to the abbot, who claimed to be lord of the manor, Richard had wrongfully obtained the grant of the right to hold a market in Stowmarket, and his claim was "to the grave damage of the said abbot."

Richard claimed the King's protection, and eventually the case was adjourned sine die because of his departure abroad.

At the resumed hearing the modern representatives of Richard asserted that the modern representative of the abbot had no right to set up a rival market. This assertion was supported by Mr. Ogden, a famous London lawyer, who cited the Domesday Book and other authorities to prove his case.

"When Richard de Maundeville went abroad," remarked the judge, "he little foresaw that we would be fighting the same question 600 years afterwards."

The hearing was adjourned for the second time after extracts from the abbot's pleadings had been read.

AN ORGAN ON THE ROOF

A Queer Custom at a Bohemian Monastery—Primitive Instrument

In these days, when the music in churches and chapels has reached such a high standard, it is surprising to find such a primitive organ in use as one in Bohemia. This organ is one of the oldest forms of the mechanical organ, and is a very humble affair in comparison with some of the magnificent instruments to be found in English places of worship. It is still used in the Catholic Redemptorist monastery at Prague, and is played by one of the monks every Sunday morning on the roof of the monastery.

Although this strange organ is but a primitive-looking thing, it has a very sweet tone, and the harmonious sounds are heard for a great distance. Prague is an old-fashioned town in Bohemia, and its ideas are not very progressive, so that this strange old barrel-organ is quite in keeping with its surroundings. It has been in constant use for over one hundred years.

ARRESTED FOR FORGERY.

Woodstock, Feb. 20.—C. A. McDonald, salesman for the National Manufacturing Co., Ottawa, was arrested here to-day charged with forgery. It is alleged he sold a stove to Edwin Phillips of Foldens Corners, taking a note for $15 and then raising the note to $25. McDonald lives in Woodstock.

Through Colonist Cars to Winnipeg and West—Comfortable Travel for Settlers, Etc.

New leather seated colonist cars in which berths are free are now running between Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver on the Canadian Pacific "Winnipeg Express", leaving Toronto 10.10 p.m. daily. The cars are new, bright, clean and ensure a comfortable journey to the West without change of cars en route.

Prospective Homesteaders.

It is reported that there are thousands of prospective homesteaders, especially in the northwestern United States who have been waiting eagerly for the opening of the Peace River country to homesteading, and when the announcement reaches them there will be the greatest land rush into the Peace River and Grande Prairie country that has ever taken place to any section of Canada. The Grand Trunk Pacific is accordingly taking means to have an adequate transportation facilities between Winnipeg, Edmonton and Edson to provide for the very large traffic expected.

A Great Railway System.

Hardly a town, village or city in Ontario, that does not receive daily benefit from the operation of the Grand Trunk Railway System, and considering the net work of Branch line connections, it is wonderful with what regularity trains are run. Not only is a good service provided between points in Ontario, but this line also reaches nearly all the important cities of Michigan, viz: Detroit, Flint, Saginaw, Bay City, Lansing, Battle Creek, Jackson, Grand Rapids and Muskegon, South Bend, Ind., and the second city in America, viz: Chicago, Ill., the gateway to the North-west, West and South, bringing Ontario in close connection. On the East, the Grand Trunk connects Ontario with Montreal, Quebec, the Maritime Provinces and Boston, Mass.

300 Year Triumph of the English Bible

St. Paul's Church Crowded Last Night at Bible Celebration.

The celebration of the 300th anniversary of the coming of the English Bible, which took place last night in St. Paul's church, was a great event. The spacious building was filled to the doors, every seat apparently being occupied. The meeting was the result of the combined efforts of the ministers of all the Protestant Churches of the city. The music was of a very special character, a picked choir of about 50 voices from all the Protestant Churches being present, under Mr. Crane's leadership, splendid music was provided. The ushers were kept busy seating the vast multitude of people who came to pay tribute to the triumph of the English Bible.

The chair was ably filled by Rev. Mr. Rollins, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, who explained the object of the meeting.

Rev. Mr. Pogue, of St. Paul's church read the Bible lesson and Rev. Mr. Henderson, of Charlotte street Methodist Church, offered up prayer. Rev. Mr. Couch, in a neat speech introduced the speaker of the evening. Rev. Dr. J. L. Gilmour, who is an old Peterborough boy, having spent the early years of his life here.

Dr. Gilmour delivered a thoughtful, eloquent and impressive address, giving a history of the English Bible, from the beginning up to the present day, showing the divine origin of the Scriptures and the wonderful advances made, especially during the later years. The Bible is the light which guides men into paths of virtue and leads them heavenward..

Rev. Mr. Webb followed and made a stirring appeal on behalf of the Bible Society, for funds, after which the doxology was sung and the benediction pronounced.

There is a brisk demand for trained nurses in Peterborough at present, owing to the prevalence of grip.

Their Grateful Thanks.

Mrs. J. Isbister and family wish to extend their many thanks to friends for kindness extended to them during their recent bereavement.

Annual Oyster Supper.

Coldsprings Union Sunday School, Otonabee, will hold their annual oyster supper and concert this evening. As the sleighing is good, there will doubtless be a good attendance from the city.

The C. P. R.'s new line (Toronto-Montreal) along the lake front towns, will soon be under way. It will be a single-track proposition at the start, not a double-track, as published in some of the papers. The junction with the main line at this end will be somewhere near Donlands or Leaside.

Gone to Washington.

Sam Hughes has gone to Washington on private business. He said before he left that he would have a word or two to say to Champ Clark about that scheme of annexing Canada.

Epidemic at Orts.

The stores, offices and factories are being hard hit just now on account of the number of employees that are laid up with grip. On Saturday, Eaton's store suffered, several being off in almost every department. The grip, however, is abating, and the worst is over.

Chimes Fund Now $5,500.

The total cash receipts in connection with the Chimes Fund amount to $5,500.

Out of Commission.

The gates at the Grand Trunk Crossing at Charlotte and Simcoe streets were out of commission yesterday morning on account of the accumulation of ice in the works underground. As a result it was found necessary to thaw the ice out by steam before the gates will again be ready for operation.

Headed for Peterborough.

Port Hope Guide:—David Turner was in the police court this morning charged with being drunk on Walton street. David comes from Toronto and was en route for Peterborough. He was told to lose no time in reaching the northern city.

Children's Aid Society.

The annual meeting of the Children's Aid Society will be held tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock in the City Council chamber when the election of officers and the transaction of other business will take place. As this will be one of the most important meetings in the history of the society, it is desirable that there should be a large attendance.

Will Speak at St. Paul's.

Rev. J. G. Shearer, D.D., secretary of the Moral and Social Reform Committee of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, who led the recent successful campaign for clean moral conditions in the city of Winnipeg, will pay a visit to Peterborough to-day, when he will address two meetings in St. Paul's church. In the afternoon he will speak to the women of the city on "The White Slave Traffic" and "What We Can do to Abolish it." In the evening he will address a mass meeting for men, to which all the men of the city are invited.

SOCIETY EVENTS

The Times will be pleased to receive notices of Weddings, Social Events, Personal Announcements, which will be published in this column free of charge.

Mr. Wm. Flavelle of Lindsay, was in the city on business last Friday.

The many friends of Mr. John Nugent will be pleased to learn that he is gradually recovering from a severe attack of grip.

Harry Mulhern, of the Dominion Bank staff here, has been transferred to Gravenhurst. He leaves to-day to take up his new duties.

Miss Daisy E. Buchanan, of Creasman's, left on Saturday for Regina, where she has accepted a position with T. Barrie, Limited.

Mr. John Noyes, who has been confined to Nicholls Hospital for some time past has recovered sufficiently to be removed to his home in East City.

Miss Hattie Campbell, who has been visiting in Toronto for a couple of weeks, returned home Saturday. On Thursday Miss Campbell will leave for Weyburn, Sask., where she has accepted a responsible position.

OBITUARY

GORDON LANE.

Their many friends will sympathise with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Lane, in the death of their nine months' oldson, Gordon, who passed away on Sunday last.

JOHN GUNIGLE.

The death of John Guniggle, aged 69 years, occurred at St. Joseph's Hospital on Sunday.

The remains were taken to Lindsay for interment.

VOL XXXIV NO. 44 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY FEBRUARY 22, 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

ROMAN CATHOLIC PROPOSITION FOR MAINTENANCE OF INDIGENTS TURNED DOWN BY THE COUNCIL

The main object for which the City Fathers met last night was in connection with the clause in the city's private bill, now before the legislature, asking permission to levy taxes upon Protestants and Roman Catholics separately for the maintenance of Protestant and Roman Catholic paupers—the former in a new Protestant home and the latter in the present House of Providence.

A deputation from the City Council waited upon the Private Bills Committee last week at Toronto, to press the passage of the city's bill, and there was also present a deputation representing Roman Catholic interests, the members of which urged that for the maintenance of indigents all incorporated companies be also assessed, and the taxes therefrom divided between the Protestant home and the House of Providence in proportion of the assessment upon Protestants and Catholics, apart from companies. Consequently this clause of the bill in question was sent back to our city fathers for further consideration; hence the meeting last night.

The Council would not agree to the amendment suggested by the R.C. deputation; and Ald. Duncan moved, seconded by Ald. Graham,—That the Mayor and City Solicitor be instructed to advise the Private Bills Committee that the Council is willing to have the bill amended to provide that the corporation may apportion the rates for the maintenance of indigents between the Protestant home and the House of Providence in the same way as they are now enabled to do between public and separate schools, under the Separate School Act.—Carried.

Were the R.C. proposition put into effect they would probably reap considerable advantage in the deal, as the preponderance of Protestant interests vested in incorporated companies is enormously in excess of the difference between the minority assessment and that of Protestants on the roll apart from companies.

City Fathers in Special Session Last Evening

City Will Ask Railway Commission to Revert to Original Plan of Subwaying Monaghan Road Instead of Park Street.

There were present Mayor Morrow, and Aldermen Kerneghan, Metheral, Morgan, Graham, Anderson, Brown, Edgar and Buller.

BOARD OF WORKS REPORT.

Ald. Metheral submitted the following:—

Gentlemen,—Your Board of Works beg leave to report as follows:

1. Your Committee has received through Mr. Willis Chipman, tenders for machinery for the sewerage pumping station, and recommend that the purchase of the machinery needed at this time be left with the Mayor, the chairman of this Board, Mr. Chipman and Mr. Hay, with authority to purchase it.

2. Your Board was interviewed by Mr. F. Nicholls, general manager, Mr. Ashworth, assistant general manager, and Mr. E. G. Patterson, superintendent of the Canadian General Electric Co., who said that the Company contemplated erecting a building 250 ft. by 60 ft., four stories high, for the lamp department, on Townsend street, and we recommend that the City Engineer take the necessary proceedings to have Townsend street graded and a sidewalk and sewer constructed on that part of the street in the spring, providing the Canadian General Electric Co., will erect the new building there.

3. We recommend that no action be taken on the request to have amendments made to the By-law respecting illuminated signs.

4. We recommend that the City Engineer notify the owners of property that is drained into the Park street drain to discontinue so draining it and to connect their premises with the sewers where the sewers are accessable to the property.

5. We recommend that the City Solicitor take such steps as he thinks best to protect the City's interests in the parts of the Rink and Crescent streets, east of George street and north of Perry street.

6. We recommend that the matter of purchasing blankets for the horses be left with the chairman with power to act.

7. We recommend that the chairman be authorized to sell the Board of Works team and to purchase another team suitable for the work.

8. We recommend that the City Engineer be given two weeks' holidays at a time to be arranged with the chairman.

SIGN BY-LAW NOT AMENDED.

Ald. Morgan offered that the sign by-law should be at least amended to relieve their owners of liability in case of accident. He thought the liability clause should be abandoned when a license fee of $2 is enforced.

Council, however, could not see the point of Ald. Morgan's contention, and agreed that the object of the by-law to protect citizens would be frustrated were the liability clause erased.

The by-law consequently will not be withdrawn or amended.

SOUTH CITY SEWER ACCOUNTS.

Ald. Metheral moved, seconded by Ald. Graham,—That the payment to Willis Chipman of $500 on his account to date of $750, for engineering services in connection with the South City sewer system, be appointed. South City sewer system, be approved.—Carried.

Ald. Metheral moved, seconded by Ald. Graham,—That $722.31 be paid the Ontario Sewer Pipe.—Carried.

of South City residents regarding the proposed diversion of Romaine street making an attempt to meet the views [illegible] of Rink Stewart, Park and Chamberlain streets with Ald. Buller raised the question of a subway at Park street) by the new C.P.R. Georgian Bay grain line. He suggested that the city press the Board of Railway Commissioners to endorse the original plan of having a subway at the Monaghan road and the other street crossings protected.

Solicitor E. H. D. Hall, said he had written the Board of Commissioners to that effect, but had received no reply.

His Worship thought were Chamberlain street closed and a subway constructed at the Monaghan road, all opposition from South City residents would be removed. Such a plan would also give the railway 4,700 feet for trains.

Ald. Buller did not think the South City people would object to the closing of Chamberlain streets.

The Mayor and the City Solicitor will meet the Board of Railway Commissioners in Toronto on Thursday, and press for the subwaying of Monaghan road in place of Park street, and the closing of one street only—Chamberlain.

WAR CLOUDS HANG OVER THE ORIENT

DON'T SEE WHAT THERE WAS IN MOVING TROOPS—A PREARRANGED PLAN.

Through an Exchange of Notes Between Tokio and St. Petersburg—Combating the Plague.

Pekin, Feb. 21.—Although China had yielded to Russia in the international controversy over violations of the commercial and territorial rights treaty of 1881, war clouds still hung over the Orient to-day.

Both Russia and Japan are moving troops upon Manchurian frontiers.

Russia and Japan are carrying out a prearranged plan, arranged through an exchange of notes between Tokio and St. Petersburg, it is charged here. Both advance the ground that more soldiers are needed to cope with the bubonic plague in Manchuria.

COMBATTING THE PLAGUE.

It is this which has aroused China to the greatest activity yet shown in combatting the plague. It seeks to remove as quickly as possible the grounds for Russia and Japanese contention for more soldiers in Manchuria. The Chinese Xiceroy to Manchuria. The Chinese Niceroy to Manchuria he has yet had in stamping out the scourge.

NIAGARA FALLS IS MENACED

LAW WHICH LIMITS USE OF THE WATER POWER EXPIRES JUNE 29, NEXT.

Washington, Feb. 21.—Serious damage to Niagara Falls is threatened if Congress fails at the present session to extend the life of the "Burton Act," it was declared to-day. This law which limits the quantity of water that may be taken from the falls for power purposes, expires on June 29th. It restricts American electric power companies to what they now have in use, and the importation of 160,000 horsepower from Canada.

Should the Act be allowed to expire, power companies could greatly increase the quantity of water taken from the American side and increase the amount of power imported from Canada. Experts declare the result would be that great rocks now covered, would be bared and the scenic beauty of the Falls sadly marred.

The American Civic Association is making a desperate fight to procure an extension of the present restrictions.

Regina Street Cars

Municipal Ownership to go Into Practical Effect.

Winnipeg, Feb. 22.—Regina will have a street car system soon. The contract for cars has been awarded a Montreal firm, and the system is to be under municipal ownership. A novel feature of the cars to be used lies in the fact that they will be made in England and shipped across the ocean — the first English-made street cars to be used in Western Canada.

Germany Has New Scheme Against Britain

MAY EQUIP ARMOR PLANT IN RUSSIA.

France and Britain Would be Hit—The Millions Borrowed Would go to Germany.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 20—According to the "Novoe Vremya," the Ministry of Marine is lending its countenance to a scheme initiated by the Krupps to take over the ironworks at Mariupol and equip them with an armor plant. French and British shipyards see in this move a preliminary to securing immediate c[illegible] The money which is presumably to be borrowed in London and Paris for the needs of a great Russian navy would thus find its way into German pockets. The "Novoe Vremya" asks what will become of the $5,000,000 voted for the improvement of the Ishora armor works if the Germans are encouraged to open a rival establishment in Southern Russia, and inquires whether it is politic thus to give the Germans a looting in the Black Sea shipyards, which may sooner or later have to compete against Turco-German constructions.

As the Ministry of Marine has repeatedly declared that no more orders will be placed in Germany, the "Novoe Vremya's" assertions, if accurate, betray a mysterious change in admiralty views. The unpleasant experience connected with the attempt to give Messrs. Blohm and Voss, of Hamburg, a preference over the foreign firms, who presented designs for dreadnoughts appears to have been forgotten.

property adjoining the King Edward Rink is to be sold at once, now is the time for the City to act if the acquisition of such property for manufacturing or park purposes is thought advisable.

Mayor Morrow replied that it would be a good policy to pick up lots here and there suitable for small parks, and resting spots.

The manufacturers committee was instructed to report to the Council as to any such property on the wink in North, South, East and West City.

Coal at Edmonton

Splendid Coal Deposits Add to the City's Wealth.

Edmonton, Alta., Feb. 22.—Edmonton's coal fields will be a big asset to the business and industrial enterprises of that city. The recent survey made by geological experts, places the area of coal fields in the Edmonton district at fourteen miles, and the tonnage at 60,800,000. The quality is high-grade lignite, and the coal burns well and gives excellent results in heat and economy. The disposition of lignites to deteriorate under exposure to weather is offset by the nearness of the Edmonton supply to the consumer and these coal fields are sure to be a great and permanent source of value to Edmonton and its people.

BEATITUDES FOR CHURCH GOERS

Newington, Conn., Feb. 21.—Rev. Herbert Macy, pastor of the Congregational Church in this place, has given a hint to the members of his congregation who are in the habit of coming late to services in the following "beatitudes for church goers," which he has had printed in the church calendar:

"Blessed are those who rise early Sunday morning, for they get to church on time.

"Blessed are those who get to church on time, for they arrive in the spirit of worship.

"Blessed are those who are never late, for they cause the Minister and choir to love them.

"Blessed are those who must be late, who do not enter during the Scripture lesson or prayer.

Double Track C.P.R.

Western Division to be Greatly Improved.

Winnipeg, Feb. 23.—It is probable that double-tracking the Canadian Pacific will be continued to Medicine Hat and Calgary shortly. This subject is under consideration and may be begun this spring. At present the C.P.R. double track runs west from Fort William to Brandon—over six hundred miles—and extension of the work to cover all of the prairie section is only a matter of time. With a double track from the Rocky Mountains to the Great Lakes, the C.P.R. will be able to reduce the running time of transcontinental and local trains along the main line, a good deal.

"UNCLE JOE" IS AGAIN MASTER

THE LAST DAYS OF CANNONISM TO BE THE MOST GLORIOUS OF ALL.

His Enemies Outwitted—He Recognizes Whom He Pleases, and Minority Holds the Balance of the Power.

Washington, Feb. 21.—With just ten more days as speaker "Uncle Joe" Cannon grinned down from his rostrum to-day and swung his gavel with the assurance that the "last days of Cannonism" will see his banner waving in personal triumph until the final moment of his sway.

Democrats who voted for the gag rule to expedite passage through the House of the big appropriation bills during the closing days of the session and jubilantly proclaimed their veto power, to-day awoke to find that in their success "Uncle Joe" had gained a personal victory.

The gag rule provides for the suspension of the rules for the remainder of the session. The Democrats forced the House leaders to stipulate that bills under suspension should not pass without a two-thirds vote and as it requires a number of Democratic votes to make a two-thirds majority, the minority holds the balance of power.

Before a member can move to suspend the rules, however, he must secure recognition and the rules grant the speaker the power to recognize at his discretion. So members who want to move to suspend the rules on measures will have to arrange the matter of recognition with the Speaker.

The Armories will be thrown open to the public to-night, and the citizens of Peterborough should avail themselves of the privilege of seeing this most wonderful exhibit of goods manufactured in Canada. The exhibits surpass anything ever displayed at a hardware convention before.

Farmers Bank Case Mr. Charles' Evidence

Toronto, Feb. 21.—The hearing of the Farmers' Bank conspiracy case, resumed in the Police Court this morning, brought out a larger attendance than at any time since the affair was first introduced to Magistrate Denison's attention.

The recent effort to withdraw W. R. Travers, the bank wrecker, from the case as a star witness had evidently stimulated public interest, the expectation being that some developments might be expected along that line.

Mr. Hugh Charles, the Montreal broker, who was manager of the Peterborough branch of the Bank of Commerce when the loan of $80,000 was made by the Trusts & Guarantee Company to the Farmers' Bank for the purpose of making good the latter's deposit with the Government was put in the box and told his story of that conversation.

Mr. Charles said that he was manager of a bank in Peterborough from 1902 to 1906.

In the latter year at a private residence he had a conversation with Mr. Stratton with regard to the Farmers' Bank and immediately Thereafter he had written a letter on the subject to the general manager, B. E. Walker.

Mr. Corley read the letter that passed between Mr. Charles and Mr. (now Sir Edmund) Walker.

In this communication Mr. Charles said that he did not know whether the conversation he had had with Mr. Stratton was to be considered as confidential, but that it had taken place openly.

"He asked me," wrote Mr. Charles, "how I would like to buy stock in the Farmers' Bank, and I told him that I didn't think much of it; that it was not likely to go on anyway.

"He said that he had advanced $80,000 to the Farmers' Bank, and I asked him if he did not think that he was taking pretty good risks.

ALL THE ASSETS.

"He replied that he did not think so; that he had taken in security, practically all the assets of the bank."

Mr. Charles added that some time later he had met Mr. Stratton on the train, coming from Toronto, and on that occasion, Mr. Stratton had informed the witness that the loan made to the Farmers' Bank had been paid back in full with interest and bonus.

"Why did you write the letter?" asked Mr. Corley.

"It was not in reference to anything Mr. Stratton had said, but with regard to the manner in which the Farmers' Bank was doing business. I thought that my head office should be acquainted with these facts."

Mr. Hall, who represents Mr. Stratton, asked if the conversation between the witness and the Peterborough publisher was not in the course of a social function.

"Yes."

"Mr. Stratton was not committing you in any way?" "No."

"And the whole conversation was most casual?" "Yes."

"And in such cases absolute accuracy is not to be expected?"

"No."

"You found no fault with a bank borrowing money on subscribers' notes?" "No."

"But your objection was to the use to which the money so borrowed might be put?" "Yes."

"Mr. Stratton didn't ask you to subscribe to stock in the Farmers' Bank?"

"No," answered the witness much amused. "He knew that I knew too much about the Farmers' Bank."

"When your general manager took no action regarding your letter you thought no more about it?"

"I thought that in bringing the matter to the attention of my general manager I had done my duty."

"Your impression from Mr. Stratton's conversation was that the institution which made the loan got the bonus?"

"Certainly."

DEPARTMENT OF MILITIA AND DEFENCE, OTTAWA.

SEALED TENDERS (in duplicate) for the supply of Coal and Fuel Wood required to heat the Military Buildings at Kingston, Belleville, Port Hope, Cobourg and Peterborough, Ont., for the year ending March 31st, 1912, will be received up to Saturday, March 11 next. Each tender is to be marked "Tender for Fuel," and addressed to the Director of Contracts, Militia Headquarters, Ottawa.

AMERICANS CAN'T UNDERSTAND FUSS

DON'T SEE WHAT THERE WAS IN CHAMP CLARK'S SPEECH TO ROUSE CANADA.

U. S. Steel Trust's Scheme—It Is Said to be the Real Power Behind the Long Salt Power Bill.

Washington, D.C., Feb. 21.—A good deal of nonsense has appeared in the Canadian papers about the "suppression" of Champ Clark's references to annexation. The Washington Post used his speech, but scarcely any of the New York morning papers considered it worth while publishing. I am sure that there was nothing approaching deliberate suppression on any hand. I had the greatest possible difficulty in persuading anybody in either gallery that the speech would mean anything in Canada, and the Associated Press intimated that was the only reason for the omission.

Even [illegible]ng Champ Clark, was astounded at the attention given the speech in Canada. He and his methods are familiar here, and nobody paid any attention to him. He is not a sensation monger, but one of the big men of the House. The trouble is that he has cultivated the Missouri mule-driver style till he has to live up to it.

There is little chance that the Housecan finish its business without an extra session which may therefore come independent of reciprocity.

SAM HUGHES' MISSION.

Col. Sam. Hughes, M.P., may not be here in connection with reciprocity at all, but on an entirely different mission shortly after his arrival he joined J. Wesley Allison, the head and front of the Opposition to the Long Salt bill, now before the Senate.

There are millions and millions behind the power bill—it's said to be really the United States Steel which wants the power.

LIBERALS SCOFF AT THE STORY

Ottawa, Feb. 20.—The statement sent out from Ottawa to the effect that Liberal members are circulating a round robin requesting Sir Wilfrid Laurier to make a statement in the House in regard to the annexation talk in the United States is absolutely denied by Liberal members who are here to-day. In fact it is laughed at all round. Men like H. H. Miller, M. S. Sehell, John Tolmie, Dr. Rankin, M. Y. McLean, J. M. Douglas, Dr. Molloy White, of Victoria, J. M. Douglas Reid, of Restigouche and Michaud of New Brunswick, assert that there is no such round robin in circulation, and they ought to know. The fact is that the Liberals are treating the annexation talk with contempt regarding it as part of the political game by the opponents of reciprocity to block the movement.

"TOLERATION"

A Writer Charges that Certain Newspapers Are Unfair.

To the Editor of The Times:—

Dear Sir,—We hear a great deal about "Toleration" these times, and much printer's ink has been wasted on it, but it is all talk. We are all ready enough to respect our neighbors convictions—in theory, but in practice it works the other way. We had a good illustration of our boasted and oft-preached "toleration" last week. A Rev. Gentleman from the north of Ireland, addressed several meetings in the city and said some very hard things about Roman Catholics and Irish Catholics in particular. His addresses were published at length in a certain local newspaper, that makes a hobby of this toleration cry in its editorial columns. The Rev. Gentleman's remarks made "copy" and naturally the journal in question published them. So far so good. On Friday night Rev. Fr. Carey of Campbellford, whom nobody would ever dream of suspecting of intolerance, lectured here on social life in Ireland, and in the course of his address replied very moderately and very charitably to what he considered the slanders of the gentleman already referred to. He said nothing which could in the slightest degree hurt the feelings of any minister of the Gospel in the city — indeed he went out of his way to pay them a compliment which some of them do not entirely deserve. The paper in question passed over his lecture in silence, although it had given it prominent notice in advance. This was done, of course, in the interests of "toleration." The "Times" is, I dare say, the arch-enemy of this curious brand of toleration, in the eyes of the gentlemen who control the aforesaid newspaper, but the "Times" at least gives BOTH sides of the question. Comment is needless.

TARIFF AGREEMENT.

A little discussed phase of the tariff agreement has been its effect upon Canadian mining interests, an aspect of the pact which has been overshadowed by the interest taken in the clauses which have reference to food-stuffs, lumber, and live stock. The Canadian Mining Journal, however, a magazine which speaks with independence and authority, comes forward with words of warm approval for the changes in tariff which have been suggested. Among the mine products affected are feldspar, fluorspar, mica, talc, gypsum, asbestos, coke, soda-ash, saltcake, grinding and building stones and iron ore. It points out that Canada possesses the best and largest deposits of feldspar on the continent, and with the United States duty of 20 per cent. removed, a great market is opened. It regrets that ground and calcined gypsum have not been placed on the free list, "but even the removal of the duty on crude will be of service. The revision also provides an added outlet for our manufactured talc. The situation as regards mica and asbestos is improved." The journal sums up the effects upon mining as follows:

"If these changes crystallize into actuality, then the mining industry of Canada will have received a strong stimulus. . . . In the main we feel inclined to congratulate Canada's delegates upon having received a fair quid pro quo."

Thus is another feature of the tariff agreement approved by those most concerned. It is to be noted, indeed, that most of the protesting on behalf of various interests has been done by men who do not in any sense represent them; by politicians who have become the uninvited advocates of causes whose legitimate representatives are making no complaint.—Exchange.

LONDON'S HEALTH.

On the last year 24,092 lives have been saved to the London community by the more healthy condition of the capital, says the Westminster Gazette, London. "That is to say, that had the death rate remained what it was in 1901-1909 the population would have been less by that number in 1909. London is almost the healthiest of the great cities, and its residents have a greater immunity from the diseases which sweep off large numbers. No better justification could be urged of the measures of sanitation and public health which have been carried on. These have been costly, and their price is reflected in higher rates and growing local expenditure. The man who exclaims against a penny or two extra in the pound in the charges levied upon him can reflect that if he had not paid he might possibly not have been alive to complain."

If Russia goes to war with China, she should caution her fleet to be specially careful while passing the Dogger Banks.

THE RED YEAR

fun their toll. EVEN WAITING, the deadliest task of all, slackens its energy, and the ghostly reaper leans on his scythe while wearied soldiers sleep. Wellington knew this when he said that the bravest man was he who possessed "two-o'clock-in-the-morning" courage, for shadows then become real, and dangers anticipated but unseen are magnified tenfold.

Yet, soon after two o'clock in the morning of September 14, 1857, four thousand five hundred soldiers assembled behind the Ridge for the greatest achievement that the Mutiny had demanded during the four months of its wonderful history. They were divided into five columns, one being a reserve, and the task before them was to carry by assault a strongly fortified city, surrounded by seven miles of wall and ditch, held by forty thousand trained soldiers and equipped with ample store of guns and ammunition. Success meant the certain loss of one man among four—failure would carry with it a rout and massacre unexampled in modern war.

Men had fallen in greater numbers in the Crimea, it is true—a British army had been swallowed alive in the wild Khyber Pass—but these were only incidents in prolonged campaigns, whereas the collapse of the assailants of Delhi would set free a torrent of murder, rapine and pillage, such as the utmost triumph of the rebels had not yet produced.

The Punjab, the whole of the North-west, Central India, and Rajputana, all northern Bengal and Bombay, must have been submerged in the flood if the gates of Delhi were unbarred. It is not to be marvelled at, therefore, that General Wilson, the Commander-in-Chief, "looked nervous and anxious" as he rode slowly along the front of the gathering columns, nor that many of the British officers and men received the Holy Communion at the hands of their chaplains, ere they mustered for what might prove to be their last parade.

In some tents, of their own accord, the soldiers read the Old Testament lesson of the day. With that extraordinary aptness which the chronicles of the prophets often display in their relation to current events, the chapter foretold the doom of Nineveh: "Woe to the bloody city! It is full of lies and robbery . . . draw the waters for the siege, fortify the strongholds . . . then shall the fire devour thee; the sword shall cut thee off; it shall eat thee up like the canker-worm."

How thrilling, how intensely personal and human these words must have sounded in their ears, for it should ever be borne in mind that the Britons who recovered India in '57 were not only determined to avenge the barbarities inflicted on unoffending women and children, but were inspired by a religious enthusiasm that showed itself in almost every diary kept and letter sent home during the war.

And now, while the brilliant stars were dimmed by bursting shells and rockets hissing in glowing curves across the sky, the columns moved forward.

English, Scotch, Irish and Welsh—swarthy Pathans, bearded Sikhs, dapper little Ghoorkahs—marched side by side, from the first column on the left, commanded by Nicholson, to the fourth, on the extreme right, led by Reid.

The plan of attack was daring and soldier-like. John Nicholson, ever claiming the post of utmost danger, elected to hurl his men across the breach made by the big guns in the Cashmere Bastion, the strongest of the many strong positions held by the enemy. The second column, under Brigadier Jones, was to storm the second breach in the walls at the Water Bastion. The third, headed by Colonel Campbell, was to pass through the Cashmere Gate when the gallant six who had promised to blow open the gate itself had accomplished their task, while the fourth column, under Major Reid, undertook to clear the suburbs of Kishengunge and Pahadunpore and force its way into the city by way of the Lahore Gate.

Brigadier Longfield, commanding the reserve, had to follow and support Nicholson. Generally speaking, if each separate attack made good its objective, the different columns were to line up along the walls, form posts, and combine for the bombardment and escalade of the fortress-palace. Nicholson, who directed the assault, had not forgotten the half-implied bargain made between Malcolm and the Princess Roshinara. Strict orders were given that the King and members of the royal family were to be taken prisoners if possible. As for Akhab Khan and other leaders of rebel brigades, it was impossible to distinguish them among so many. Not even Nicholson could ask his men to be generous in giving quarter, when nine out of every ten mutineers they encountered were less soldiers than slayers of women and children.

At last, in the darkness, the columns reached their allotted stations and halted. The engineers, carrying ladders, crept to the front.

Nicholson placed a hand on Jones's shoulder.

"Are you ready?" he asked, with the quiet confidence in the success of his self-imposed mission that caused all men to trust in him implicitly.

"Yes," answered Jones.

"Tell the gunners to cease fire," he said.

Left and right they hurried, stumbling over the broken ground to reach the batteries, which were thundering at short range against the fast crumbling walls. In No. 2, which Malcolm entered, he found a young lieutenant of artillery, Frederick Sleigh Roberts, working a heavy gun almost single-handed, so terribly had the royal regiment suffered in the contest waged with the rebel gunners during the seven days and nights.

Almost simultaneously the three batteries became silent. With a heart-stirring cheer the Rifles dashed forward and fired a volley to cover the advance of the ladder-men, and the first step was taken in the actual capture of Delhi.

The loud yell of the Rifles served as a signal to the other columns. The second, gallantly led by Jones, rushed up to the Water Bastion and entered it, but not until twenty-nine out of thirty-nine men carrying ladders were killed or wounded. On Jones's right, Nicholson, ever in the van, seemed to lift his column by sheer strength of will through an avalanche of musketry.

ASSETS OF THE COMPANY

$10,000,000 of stock still in the Treasury.

$10,000,000 pooled for 9 and 18 months.

500 acres of land; value, $3,000 per acre.

A subsidy obtained from the Municipality of North Vancouver of 5 per cent. for 15 years on $300,000, and freedom from taxation of our plant and 20 acres of land for 10 years.

A subsidy obtained from the Dominion of Canada, 3½ per cent. for 25 years on $1,214,000, for the purpose of building a dry dock of 15,000 tons at Roselyn, the Company's townsite.

A very valuable brick clay deposit has been discovered on the Company's property. This will be developed to its fullest capacity, as brick clay is very rare here, Vancouver even importing from Seattle millions of brick annually.

NOTE.—A shareholder participates in every asset of the Company.

LIABILITIES OF THE COMPANY

Amount yet owing on land, extending over a period of four years, $446,000.

REMARKS

MORE LANDS

The Company proposes to purchase lands surrounding their townsite, and to this end are securing options on about 250 acres, with about 2,800 feet of deep waterfrontage adjoining that which they now own.

MINES

They have also secured an option of purchase of a group of ten claims of very valuable iron deposits situated within twelve miles of their townsite. The Company believe, located as they are in a country which abounds with everything necessary to the smallest detail for turning out a perfect car, should go to nature's storehouse for their material, and with this end in view have secured the above group.

SHIPBUILDING

In addition to building the Imperial Sleeping Car, cars of every description will be contracted for, and just as soon as their dry dock is completed, the Company intend to use it to the greatest advantage in building ships of the largest tonnage. As there will be but three or four docks in the whole Dominion, they will encounter but very little competition in the building of the larger class of vessels.

SALE OF LANDS

The Company do not intend to sell any of its land until its dry dock, car works, sawmills and other industries are in operation, and in this way secure as nearly as possible all the profit derived from the establishment of these great works.

CLEARING OF LAND

The Municipality of North Vancouver have under consideration a proposition from the Company, whereby the Company promise to clear their whole townsite on condition the Municipality will at once clear and grade all the streets, charging the cost of same to local improvement taxes. The Municipality view the Company's proposition with great favor. This plan would at least double the price of the Company's holdings.

PURCHASING STOCK

A small block of stock is now on the market and can be had on very easy terms of payment. This once sold, the Company will have no difficulty to borrow on their assets at from 4 to 5 per cent. any money they will require for improvement purchases, and in this case all stock will be withdrawn from the market.

GOLD BELT ACROSS DOMINION!
DOMINION GOLD MINES, LIMITED

It is becoming more evident continually that that part of the Dominion covered by the granites and schists of the Laurentian formation is heavily mineralized, wherever there are unions with the Hutonian rock or where quartz or other veins are interposed, St. Francis Beance, Porcupine Cobalt, Bruce, Ont., and Sturgeon Lake are proof spots of this theory, corresponding to the test probings of diamond drills in a mining claim.

This last locality has received but slight attention as yet in the newspapers, though a good deal of successful development has been done on the spot. The lake itself is connected at its south end with Port William by a branch of the Grand Trunk and runs an irregular, greatly indented course, amid capes and islands over 40 miles to the north, where it is only eight miles away from the Transcontinental line of the same railway. Gold is found over a wide stretch of the country about the upper end, and several opening have been made with excellent prospects in nearly every case. The Dominion Gold Mines, Limited, control six claims covering 220 acres of land generally heavily timbered. That locality gives the lie direct to any but the most extravagant theories regarding the extent of the pulpwood reserves of that Dominion, being covered with spruce of good size and quality. At the present it looks as though the fate of all the timber within the sight is to fill the stokehole of power-producing boilers. There is enough of it in sight to drive drills and mills for many a decade of years.

EXPERT OPINION.

During the week Mr. Beidelman, a mining engineer and prospector of very wide experience, extending from James Bay to Mexico, from British Columbia through all the mining states of the West, told The Standard something of what he had himself seen in the Sturgeon Lake, or Thunder Bay district.

"In all my experience, I have never seen more gold showing at the surface," he said. "The geological stratum is perpendicular, as a rule, and the vertical fissures, which are numerous, are all heavily mineralized, the ore being generally copper pyrites bearing gold. The Keewatin runs in veins, from a foot and a half up to some feet in width. Where the Dominion Gold Mines, Limited, are working, for instance, they have two parallel veins of good ore, only a few feet apart, and the rock between the two veins is full enough of mineral to make it a good low-grade proposition. It is to get out this matter and mill it that the company is offering 200,000 shares for sale at a very low figure in Montreal. A mill will have to be built, and the material reduced to a condition of readiness for refining, though I believe the cyanide process could be applied right on the spot."

From the general excellence of the assays made by the Dominion Government analyst, Dr. J. T. Donald, and Mr. W. W. Bennet, assayer to the U. S. Steel Corporation, which shows results ranging from never below $17 up to $424 a ton in gold, it will be seen that there is no doubting the presence of the precious metal in paying quantities. The specimens dealt with were not hand-selected chips, of which the Standard has seen many from that section of much greater richness, but good-sized blocks, representative of the whole texture of the veins.

It is clear that Canada is to have her reputation established as a land of gold by a widely-dispersed series of gold camps. It is many years—60 at least—since Nova Scotia astonished the world by stories of gold discoveries. Northern Quebec is still to have her possibilities developed. The Peace River and Rocky Mountain section s have shown mineral for many years, and so the band of gold which weds the East and West is probably about to be proved to be a reality. Ontario is having a wonderful development, and the new camp at Sturgeon Lake will add greatly to her wealth. Only the future can make it clear, whether the banner agricultural province is to maintain the position she at present promises to fill, of being also in mineral production.

LITTLE UTOPIA IN SWITZERLAND

Ideal Community Found Among the Swiss—No Taxes to Pay

"Lloyd's" correspondent, wiring from Geneva, announced the discovery of a little Utopia where life is entirely free from the complications and anxieties of the workaday world.

Inhabitants of the village of Hurtigny, beautifully situated on the slopes of the Jura Alps, in the Canton of Vaud, have no rates and taxes to pay. The village, after paying its debts, which amount to between £110 and £150 a year, divides the surplus of about £10 among the oldest inhabitants.

The village owns forests, vineyards, and tracts of fertile land, as well as cattle. The villagers possess in common their own water service and reservoir, a cafe, wine presses, public fountain, and weighing machine, a baker's and butcher's shop, and a dairy.

Everything is sold at cost price, and the surplus stock is sent to the markets in the vicinity. Very little money exchanges hands. Most of the necessities of life are paid for in kind and by labor.

family receives so much wine, and the remainder is sold to "outsiders." The same system prevails when the timber is cut every year. If a member of the community becomes ill or old and unable to work, he or she receives food and lodging free.

Each inhabitant is content to work hard for the common good. Crime is unknown. The village sends few but splendid young men to do their service in the federal army.

PUZZLES IN WEIGHTS

The weights and measures used in England are confusing to very many more than foreign visitors. Home men are frequently at a loss in making up their reckoning when they chance to be considerably afield in a strange district.

Some butchers and cattle-dealers of the old school still calculate by the Dutch stone of 17½ lbs. London men keep by the stone of 8 lbs., but in many parts of England, notably in the southern counties, the score of 20 lbs. is adhered to in making out weights of farm animals.

The cental of 100 lbs. is still kept to the coast side for wheat-weighing. Inland, wheat goes at Mark Lane, for instance, at the quarter containing 480 lbs. In East Anglia the coomb of four bushels is used. Newcastle, Carlisle, and Darlington hold by the boll of three bushels. Berwick, Duns, Kelso, and several other places buy and sell wheat as a rule on the basis of a boll of six bushels. Chester, Shrewsbury, Nantwich, and one or two other centres reckon the bushel of wheat at 75 lbs. At Monmouth, however, it is 56 lbs., but it is down to 65 lbs. at Aberystwyth, this being 2 lbs. over what some are inclined to reckon the Scottish standard. Old Preston men have their windle of 280 lbs., while their friends in Denbigh argue over a hobbet of 168 lbs.

THE LORD MAYOR'S COACH

The coach of London's Lord Mayor used in the annual procession has probably had more money expended upon it than any horse-drawn vehicle in the world. Originally costing something more than $5,000, and now 150 years old, but still used, more than $100,000 has been paid out in refurbishing it for the sole occasion when it is made use of each year.

A more modern coach could be had for the cost of five years' repairs, but a new coach would never seem the same to the London public who line the Strand for the November parade. It is probable that the Lord Mayor of a century hence will ride in the same equipage, although the coach has been repaired so often that practically nothing of the original vehicle remains.

Synopsis of Canadian Northwest Land Regulations.

ANY person who is the sole head of a family or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Enter by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

Strange Ambitions—Another is Reported to be Anxious to Contract a Disease

The secret ambition of the queer sort is usually the thing that is farthest removed from what the ambitioner is accustomed to. Thus some men who toil from morning to night think and plan a great time of rest. One man who is of this mind confesses that for years he has had an ambition to be ill enough to go into a hospital and remain in bed for three or four months. He has even planned out a suitable illness and taken steps to catch it, for he knows that unless he were really ill he would get up and go out after the first hour. He rather relies on scarlet fever, but he can't seem to get hold of it—or, rather, it won't get hold of him. He is a great contractor by trade, but he can't contract a disease to save his life. Even if he was successful he is not sure that scarlet fever would be the thing, but he thinks a broken leg might hold him.

Of all the wild ambitions that ever came into the head of men, that of an American politician is probably the wildest. He has it in his mind to buy Ireland. This is the subject of his dreams. Having made it his, he would proceed to lay out, peg, plan, and otherwise specify the Emerald Isle according to the way in which he thinks it should go. It is extremely doubtful if this dream will ever be realized. It is too American.

BRITAIN'S AIR FLEET.

How Ideas to be Incorporated in the Construction of Dirigibles

A very busy time awaits the officers and men of the Army Balloon School at Farnborough, England, this winter. In addition to the work of testing and completely overhauling the "Clement Bayard II.," the air corps will have ready the large gas bag begun a few weeks ago for the "Gamma," and at the same time start on the construction of the "Delta," another airship which the War Office has just decided to add to the present aerial fleet.

The "Delta" will be much larger than the two sister ships, "Beta" and "Gamma." Its envelope is to be made from a new fabric which, it is said, is far superior to any other on the market. By subjecting the material to a special treatment, of which the Army experts alone know the secret, the percentage of leakage will be reduced to an infinitesimal quantity. Reversible propellers and heavy six-cylinder engines are among the other new constructional details of the airship. The "Delta" is to be completed by the beginning of next spring, when the large admiralty dirigible now being built at Barrow-in-Furness will also be ready for active service.

The winter months at the Balloon School will further be occupied in training some 300 additional men to handle air-ships, so as to bring up the number of the corps to a total of 400.

GIRLS SELL LUNCHES

Parisians Now Talk of "Five O'Clock Tea," and Nibble Sandwiches

It is only within the last year or so that the words "five" (pronounced feeve), "o'clock" and "tea" have been incorporated into the modern Anglicised French language. "Cocktail" (to taste), was, and is yet, the term employed by the conservative class for the five o'clock afternoon light meal, which all classes, high and low, in France, indulge in.

One enterprising young man who is the head of one of the most popular of the smaller hotels in the Tuilleries quarter, has cleverly and successfully introduced the custom of having girls wait on customers during the "rush" hours each afternoon. These young women wear black frocks and white aprons and black bows in place of a head covering when they go out to serve ham, cheese chocolate, sandwiches, and other light food, at banks and similar large establishments during luncheon time. Carrying large baskets they visit the places named in the neighborhood. Many of these girls sell 500 sandwiches in half an hour, while the sale of eatables at the luncheon rooms runs into hundreds of francs during the busiest hours.

KEEPS TAB ON THE AUTOS

France Knows Just Where to Get Cars for War Purposes if Needed

"In time of peace prepare for war," is a saying which France intends placing in active and immediate execution.

Beginning with the first of the year a general census of automobiles in France is to be made. The description of every machine is to be recorded, with the name, etc., of the chauffeurs. This will be done with the double view of enabling the Government to use the machines in time of war and also to call on the chauffeurs for military service. Strange to say, dozens of wealthy women, patriotically inclined, who own autos, have not waited until the Government calls on them for the information, but have supplied it to the proper officials. Their willingness to aid the Government in the manner indicated before having been approached on the subject is a matter of much satisfaction to officials high in authority.

PASSES AS A MONK

After passing eighteen years as a man in a monastery, where she was known as Brother Arsene, a woman of great beauty, the Countess Khuskin, has been arrested, and an extraordinary story revealed. Years ago a duel was fought between her lover and her husband, ending fatally for the latter. The lover, remorse-stricken, retired to a monastery, and the countess, unable to bear the separation, disguised herself, and so by some her lover gained access to the same convent, where she lived unsuspected for eighteen years.

LEVEL COLT'S FEET

Properly Done, It Cures Wrong Tendencies and Prevents Resultant Injuries

The feet of foals frequently need leveling to prevent an abnormal development of the legs as a result of unequal wear of the hoofs. Many foals stand badly at first, and if they can show in gaining a correct position of the legs the hoofs may become worn in such a way as to prevent a proper standing position or a straight form of action.

Leveling the feet acts both as prevention and cure. It prevents a breakage, or other cause of rapid wearing away of any part of the hoof from throwing the weight on the wrong part of the joints. Even if the foal is born with a natural tendency to stand wrong, as with the feet too wide apart or too close together or pigeon-toed such a tendency may be gradually corrected in a large part by keeping the feet level. A colt that stands pigeon toed, for example, wears off the outside wall of the hoof faster than the inside, and the more that condition develops the worse the tendency to stand wrong becomes. By rasping off the inner wall to correspond with or even slightly to exceed the wear of the other side, the feet will be thrown more nearly into line as it strikes the ground. While the leg bones and joints are growing they are susceptible to the persistent pressure from one angle or another and grow toward a correct position or away from it according to the condition of the feet.

A level foot induces the colt to assume a correct position of the leg. As an example of the marked effect of the pressure on the joints from shortening one wall or the other of the hoof, work horses with lameness and symptoms of spavin have frequently been made to go sound simply by taking half an inch off the inner wall of the hoof, thus throwing the concussion on to the outside of the hock joint. If colt's hoofs are kept fairly short at the toes, with the inner and outer walls of equal length, the foot will develop an nearly a correct shape as it can be induced to take and the limbs as well will be safe-guarded against deformity.

FEAR OF DEATH

A Well-Known Magistrate Doubts its Deterrent Effect on the Criminal

The well-known magistrate, Mr Plowden, contributes an interesting study in criminal psychology to the discussion on the death penalty which has been carried on for the past fortnight in the columns of the "Times." Incidentally Mr. Plowden pleads for a saner judgment of the character and motives of the murderer. He says:—

It is a popular fallacy to regard a murderer as the worst of criminals. The real truth is that in many cases it is hardly fair to describe him as a criminal at all.

No one who has not been through the fire can tell what may be the effect on his self-control of a long course of studied insults and provocation on the part of a worthless wife against her husband persevered in day by day, for months and even years at a stretch.

He is angry with Crippen on account of his coolness in the witness-box, which he calls an outrage, and he apparently regards it as a distinct aggravation of his conduct that he should have sworn to love and cherish at the altar the wife whom he subsequently put to death.

It is somewhat amazing to me that considerations such as these should weigh for a moment in any just appreciation of Crippen's character. They were to me absolutely irrelevant.

What Crippen actually did, and for which he suffered death, was to kill a wife whom he hated for the sake of a woman whom he loved. Probably of all the murders that are committed under the sun, in one country or another, there is no more common type of murder than this.

It was the irony of Crippen's fate that he did not meet No. 2 until after he had met No. 1. Had such been his good fortune he would probably have lived a life not better per worse than his neighbors, and have enjoyed with the best of them the reputation of a contented, law-abiding citizen. I am convinced from such experience as I have had of criminal courts, extending over many years, that what a man murderously inclined really dreads is not death, but pain.

The spectre of death, though it can always be conjured up, is too remote and shadowy to have much effect on the nerves of a man in the enjoyment of full and vigorous health. Not so with pain. There is no imagination so dull that it cannot take in the terrors of the "cat"; and I believe if such punishment could be made part of the sentence, even without abolishing capital punishment, the deterrent effect would be unmistakable.

I think even Crippen's courage, wonderful as it was, would have quailed on that dark and wintry morning, had he known that he would have to endure a flogging before he was hung.

And had he been asked which he feared most—the physical pain of the lash or the death to follow—can anyone doubt what his answer would have been?

DEPOPULATING IRELAND

The Number of Those Leaving Erin Still Exceeding the Births

The report of the Registrar-General on the population of Ireland in 1909 shows that during the year a decrease took place in the country of 590 persons. There was a natural increase o fpopulation of 27,726, but 28,676 persons emigrated during the period.

Births numbered 102,749, deaths 74,973, and marriages 23,950. Of the last, 16,667 were between Roman Catholics.

The percentage of bachelors with sweethearts constituted 59.5 per cent. of the total, those of widowers and spinsters were 6.6 per cent., marriages of bachelors and widows were 2.4 per cent., and those of widowers and widows formed 1.5 per cent. of the total marriages. Then of the men married 6.1 per cent. were widowers, and of the women 2.9 per cent. were widows, so that in twelve instances in over 100 marriages one or both of the contracting parties had been in the married state before. Of the 23,950 men who married, the number under age was 397, or 1.67 per cent., and of the women 1,550 or 6.54 per cent. Of the 102,749 births, 52,726 were boys and 50,023 girls. Fourteen hundred and four of the former were illegitimate, and 1,256 of the latter. There were in 1909 1,301 twin births, and seventeen cases of triplets.

"GIVE YOUR SON A DEED"

If, by way of illustration, you will review the history of the men in your town who have made money out of real estate, you will find that in each and every instance their profits were made from real estate acquired at ground floor prices.

More money can be made by those who acquire a realty interest in a town at its inception per dollar invested than from investments made after a period of years.

Do you know that you can purchase with $5 cash a full sized residential lot in Bow City, Alberta

the logical location for a great city, a city which is destined to be known, the world over, as a market place annually for hundreds of thousands of bushels of grain, grown on the vast irrigated fields surrounding Bow City, a shipping point for coal from the great Bow Centre Collieries, and a purchasing depot for hundreds of prosperous farmers resident throughout Southern Alberta.

To-day is your opportunity to acquire an interest in Bow City at the ground floor price.

It will be too late six months hence, to apply for a lot in Bow City at the present prices and on such easy terms as are offered you in this advertisement.

Why not follow Russell Sage's advice given in a letter published some years ago to the fathers in the Western States:—

"Buy your son a lot in a town being the "centre of a great agricultural country—when "he comes of age that lot will be worth consid-"erable money and will provide a handsome "stake for him in life; it is at least most sub-"stantial life insurance—sure and certain."

Buy your son a $50 lot in Bow City, the coming metropolis of the western prairies. In a very short time he can re-sell the same at a big increase, which money he will find advantageous in business pursuits or in a college course.

Bow City, the centre of the great granary of Southern Alberta has a future concerning which no sane business man or banker has any doubt.

When you are assured of the success of the city, when you have proven to you beyond the shadow of a doubt that Bow City will, in the very near future, be one of the most active, one of the most progressive towns on the Western prairies, you should not hesitate to acquire at least one $50 residential lot, when same is on sale on such easy terms as 10 per cent cash and the balance 10 per cent per month until paid—a deed at any time.

Bow City is in the heart of a famous irrigated farming belt whose farmers are assured of a crop every year. They are prosperous and their prosperity will naturally enhance the value of Bow City real estate.

The great coal mines of Bow City will furnish work for 1,000 to 1,500 miners daily, these miners will constitute a substantial basis for a successful city.

The present owners of Bow City have decided that no licenses shall be issued for the sale of spirituous liquors; they intend that this great mining and agricultural centre shall be free from any traffic in intoxicating drinks—it will be a clean city.

Bow City is the headquarters of a railway which taps a territory unparalleled for richness in crops and natural resources.

The Sale of Bow City Lots opened but a few days ago

If you are desirous of acquiring a $50 residential lot close in you should lose no time in making application by wire direct to the General Agents of the townsite, or to the nearest sub-agent.

Do not delay by sending your application by mail.

Wire at once your reservation for one or more lots On receipt of wire your name will be placed on the closest-in unsold lot or lots and same will be held in your name, allowing you sufficient time for your cash payment, mailed same day you wire, to travel from your home to the head office.

You may find it to your advantage, if you are desirous of securing a business opening, or a business lot, to write for copy of the plans, booklets and descriptive matter concerning Bow City, all of which may be had on application, free of charge.

MUNICIPAL ELECTION DAY.

Mr. Donovan's bill to change the time for holding the annual municipal elections throughout Ontario has the warm support of all who have to do with the administration of local government, says the Mail and Empire. The Mayors of 19 of the cities and towns and the reeves of 90 villages have signified their approval. Reports from the rural municipalities are also favorable. Many Municipal Councils have passed resolutions commending the bill, and as it now stands it provides for the making of nominations on the second Monday in January and for polling on the third Monday. Whether or not these are the days most suitable for the important civic business of electing Municipal Councils, they are certainly more suitable than those now appointed. It would be difficult, if not impossible, to make the election more unreasonable than they are at present. Held on the first Monday in January, they put the whole Province in a ferment at a time of year when peace and good will should prevail among neighbors. The weeks given up to municipal campaigning are those during which the pressure of holiday traffic is at its highest, and the thoughts of the people should be given up to the anticipation and festivities of Christmas and New Year's. The holiday season is spoiled by the election contests and municipal business is upset by holiday arrangements. The people should be permitted to despatch their Christmas business and enjoy their holidays free from the distraction of municipal campaigning, and should have an opportunity to attend to their duties as electors when they are less preoccupied with private business and pleasure. If a longer gap could be made between Christmas and election day than the one now proposed, it would be still more satisfactory. Originally there was doubtless something to be said, on the ground of convenience, in favor of the holding of elections on the first Monday in January. Great social and economic changes have taken place since then, and have turned the balance of argument, whether on the ground of convenience or on other considerations, altogether against the view that the first Monday in January is a suitable day for elections. It is to be hoped that Mr. Donovan's bill fixing some other day will be adopted.

His Body Cremated.

A little book issued by the Toronto Playgrounds Association shows that substantial progress has been made in the movement. Mr. E. R. Osler's handsome gift of $25,000 resulted in the purchase of a playground near Dundas and Argyle Sts. An offer of $15,000 has come from Mrs. McCormick. The members of the Board of Education have co-operated heartily in the movement, and seven school playgrounds have been conducted in the last two years. Again under the direction of the Parks Department of the City Council, there are twenty-four acres set apart for ball grounds, twenty-six acres for baseball, twenty acres for tennis, seven acres for cricket, and three acres for lawn bowling. There are sixteen free skating rinks, on some of which hockey can be played, and Riverdale.

and toboggan slides at High Park We need these, and more as the city expands in population. Play, as Mr. Kelso says, is essential to proper physical development. The money spent will yield a handsome return in Canadian citizens, sturdy and healthy in body and mind. It is gratifying to observe that the movement has made headway in London, Hamilton, Ottawa, Winnipeg and other cities.

Sedentary habits, lack of outdoor exercise, insufficient mastication of food, constipation, a torpid liver, worry and anxiety, are the most common causes of stomach troubles. READ EVERY WORD OF THIS

It Will Be Money In Your Pocket To Do So

Everyone is anxious to make money. Everyone has an ambition to get rich. Some men DO get rich. Others remain poor. The difference is simply a difference of methods. Nearly all of us save some money, but we do not let these savings earn anything for us. THE MAN WHO SAVES HIS MONEY AND LETS THE SAVINGS EARN SOMETHING FOR HIM is making it do double duty. Take the history of all the very wealthy men of the country and learn how many of them made their fortunes by simply saving what they earned. Not one of them did. They saved but they immediately put their savings to work for them. YOU WANT TO GET TO THE TOP OF THE LADDER, YOU WANT TO ACCUMULATE SOMETHING FOR YOUR OLD AGE. THEN YOU HAD BETTER PUT YOUR SAVINGS TO WORK AND LET THEM HELP YOU DO IT.

In almost any ordinary investment a man cannot make his money earn over 8 per cent. Mining offers you greater opportunities. I am going to offer you an opportunity that has promise assuring for you 300 per cent or even more. I want to take you into partnership with me, in an enterprise that will probably make us all independent for the balance of our lives. YOU MUST TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THIS OFFERING. The Gold Queen Mining Company, of which I am president, has over 135 acres of rich mineral ground in one of the most prosperous mining districts of the world. We have already expended thousands of dollars in developing this property and we have struck ore that is very rich. We need a mill to extract the precious metal from this ore. We need a little help in building this mill. Are you willing to subscribe a portion of the amount necessary to do it? In numbers there is strength, and even though your subscription be a very small one, we are willing to give you a part ownership in this great enterprise, in return for it. We are willing to take you in on an equal basis with us and give you the benefit of all your savings may earn for you. The men behind this proposition are all successful business men. They are in this business to make it pay and for every dollar they earn for themselves they will earn one for you. REMEMBER: THIS IS NOT A PROSPECT—IT IS A MINE WITH ORE IN IT. But a small amount of money is necessary to build our mill. We have decided to offer only a very limited number of shares at the present price, and as soon as this amount is secured the price will be advanced to a much greater figure. NOW IS THE TIME FOR YOU TO ACT. YOU ARE GETTING IN WITH THE ORGANIZERS OF THE COMPANY AT GROUND FLOOR PRICES. YOU ARE COMING INTO A BONA FIDE PARTNERSHIP WITH US AND WITH NO PARTNERSHIP RESPONSIBILITIES. Read what Mr. Van Wagenen, one of the foremost mining engineers of the country has to say: "I would advise the immediate erection of a ten-stamp mill with cyanide equipment, to treat your gold ores, and a separate concentrating plant to handle your copper pyrites, thus reducing the shipping weight 6 to 1, and eventually put in a smelter in connection with the mill, with a ten-stamp mill on your property and a daily production of 50 tons of ore. I CAN PROMISE YOU A NET EARNING OF $300.00 PER DAY or $109,500 per year and that can be increased to ten times as much as soon as tunnels A and B are finished, and added milling equipment is installed. The economical method is the best. Start with a ten-stamp mill and let your stockholders be content with 10 per cent per annum until you have increased your milling facilities, and install your smelting plant to treat your concentrates. THEN YOU CAN PAY THEM 400 TO 500 PER CENT DIVIDENDS PER YEAR FOR THE NEXT TEN YEARS ON THE PRESENT VALUATION OF YOUR STOCK, 5 CENTS PER SHARE, and this out of the new discovered vein alone." Now if you want to get in with us on this proposition you must act quickly, for the present allotment of shares will not last long. The man who buys now will get his shares at the very rock bottom price. The one who waits until later will without a doubt pay many times what it is being offered for now. Arrangements may be made to pay for your subscription on the easy payment plan. Write at once for full information and detailed literature explaining all about it. Write today. Do not wait another minute or you may be too late.

U. S. Senate Gets New Blood on March 4th

Washington, Feb. 20.—There's a lack of ginger in the manner of some of the veterans of the Senate, and droopy their erstwhile imperial mein for moving day comes apace. At noon on March 4, the most remarkable change in history will take place in the "greatest deliberate body in the world."

The change will come just the same whether President Taft calls an extra session or not, for the sixty-first Congress dies by law at that time.

Hale, Republican, Maine, senior in point of membership, having served since March 4, 1881, remains in the fighting ranks till the last. His final ambition was to prevent the adoption of the reciprocity during his term in the Senate.

Aldrich, third in rank, whose service dates back to October 5, 1881, passed from the scene two months ago. As a parting contribution to legislative proposals he left his central bank plan and he hied to Jekyll Isle, where only millionaires and servants are admitted and to Florida. His health, it was explained, demanded the change in climate.

Burrows, of Michigan, with fifteen years as a Senator; Kean, of New Jersey; Scott, of West Virginia, and Depew, of New York, each of twelve years' service and commanding influence under the Aldrich reign, retire to private life. Beveridge, of Indiana, the brilliant progressive, will pass, at least temporarily, after 12 years in the Senate. Nineteen in all, three of them Democrats, will lay aside their togas.

The Republicans include, besides those mentioned, Bulkeley, Connecticut; Burkett, Nebraska; Carter, Montana; Dick, Ohio; Flint, California; Pyles, Washington; Warner, Missouri; and Young, Iowa. Young, who serves until March 4, by appointment of the Government of Iowa, is in a deadlock for election by the Iowa Legislature. Flint and Pyles were not candidates for re-election.

The comparatively new progressives will step forward and the whole aspect of the body will be changed. The Republican majority will be eight or nine, and nearly every big proposition will cause an open fight.

Drank the Contents of a Fatal Vial

London, Feb. 20.—The coffee poisoning mystery at Dalkeith had a tragic sequel to-day in the suicide of John Hutchinson, a son of one of the victims, who swallowed a fatal drug in the presence of officers sent to arrest him. The suicide was a chemist, and was charged with having placed poison in the coffee served at a dinner party at his father's home, resulting in two deaths and the serious illness of several other persons.

DINNER TO FRIENDS.

On the evening of February 4th, Charles B. Hutchinson, a man about 50 years of age, connected with the Duke of Buccleuch's Dalkeith estate office, gave a dinner for sixteen of his friends. At the end of the meal coffee was served first to the ladies and later to the gentlemen. After only a few minutes several of the ladies became ill and then a number of the gentlemen complained of distress.

THE HOST DIED.

Physicians were summoned, but the host died during the night. Later, Alexander Clapperton, a relative, died. Twelve others were more or less seriously ill for some days.

Post mortem examinations revealed that the deaths were due to poisoning and suspicion fell on the son John. A warrant for his arrest was issued and to-day the officers found him at a hotel at Guernsey. An exciting scene followed, during which the young man drew a vial from his pocket and, despite the efforts of the officers to prevent him, drank its contents. He died in a few minutes. The motive for poisoning the dinner party, if known, has not been divulged.

Girl Drank Poison Inquest Being Held

Burk's Falls, Feb. 20.—Minnie Peachey, aged 21 years, drank carbolic acid at the Hotel Central on Saturday and died a few minutes later. Dr. Partridge was called in but the unfortunate young woman was beyond human aid when he arrived. It appears that a young man, well known in town had been keeping company with her till a few weeks ago when he ceased his attentions. The girl brooded over this and her father, George Peachey, went to the hotel on Saturday to take her home. Father and daughter were closeted in the latter's room for a short time, when the former came out, Miss Peachey saying she would follow him as soon as she got dressed. One of the girls in the hotel ran upstairs to help her dress and discovered the latter in a dying condition. Her screams brought the unfortunate girl's father and others to the room, and medical aid was summoned, but all attempts at resuscitation were futile, and she passed away in a few minutes.

County Crown Attorney Haight was notified of the tragedy by his representative here. Mr. Fred Tasker and word had just arrived from the former ordering an inquest, which will begin this afternoon.

Finance Department Takes Precautions

Ottawa, Feb. 20.—A reflection of public opinion upon the developments in the Farmers' Bank case was given in the Banking and Commerce Committee of the Commons, when a bill to incorporate the Hudson Bay Mortgage Corportation was under consideration.

On the organization clause, the suggestion was made by Samuel Barker, M.P., for Hamilton, that at least half of the proposed capital of $100,000, should be "deposited in cash" in some chartered bank prior to organization. Hon. Mr. Fielding accepted the suggestion, owing to recent developments, and with the object of preventing the deposit of anything but cash. The capital of the company is proposed to be $5,000,000, and it is provided that the company shall neither borrow nor lend money until it has received a certificate rom the Finance Department, which shall show that $100,000 has been paid in cash. These safeguards are provided both against premature organization and premature borrowing and lending.

A clause giving the company power to loan money on its own paid-up stock was eliminated.

PAINS THAT MAKE MISERY

A Talk With Our Lady Readers.

Have you ever noticed how miserable and unhappy the little pains and aches make one? A stinging cut, badly chapped hands, a nasty burn, a sore foot, a poisoned finger—none of them wounds or ailments ever likely to cause serious trouble, which come to every woman—and man too—and are just sufficient to take the edge off one's temper and give one a "grouch."

Zam-Buk is just the thing at such times. As soon as you put it on to a sore, a cut, a burn, or any skin injury, it stops the pain, and the smarting, and starts up healing. Don't make the mistake that because Zam-Buk is so widely used by medical men, by nurses, and for serious skin diseases and accidents, that it is only for serious cases. Keep it handy and use it immediately you get some trivial injury or have some little sore.

Mrs. Chas. H. Barrett, Harmony Road, Truro, N.S., says: "I had an ingrowing toe nail, which caused me acute agony. Sometimes the pain was so severe I could not sleep. It became so bad that I feared blood-poisoning had set in. I was advised to try Zam-Buk and bound up the sore toe with it. In a few days it was much easier, and I continued the treatment. The result is that today the toe is sound and I have no more trouble with it. We always keep Zam-Buk in our house, and I would strongly recommend it to every housewife."

Zam-Buk is just the thing, too, for the little ones. Pure in its composition, and herbal in nature, it is suitable for the most delicate skin. It also cures piles, eczema, varicose ulcers, cold sores, abscesses, blood poisoning, ring-worm, and all similar skin diseases. Sold everywhere at 50c a box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, upon receipt of price.

MEXICO MUST GRANT REFORMS

Paris, Feb. 20.—In a review of the crisis in Mexico, made to-day for the Canadian Press, Jose Ives Limantour, Minister of Finance in the Cabinet of President Diaz, declared that the only basis for peace was that the insurrectos lay down their arms pending negotiations with the Government, which, on its part, should grant a reform of the evils that made the revolution possible. The only alternative that he foresaw was the probability of a long wasting struggle, for, said the Minister, the Federal troops are no match for the cowboy insurgents.

In the opinion of Senator Limantour the feudal system in Mexico must go and the great estates in the north, which have been passed from family to family, should be distributed among the people.

For himself, the Minister said he had no political ambition, though he had been frequently urged to contest the Presidency with President Diaz. He expects to start home within two weeks.

Minister Limantour came to Paris early that August in order that his wife, who is in ill-health, might receive medical treatment here.

Before leaving Mexico he declined nomination for the Presidency, and though he remained in the Cabinet it was rumored that his relations with President Diaz were not as close as formerly. Consequently there has been much interest in his attitude, and as to whether he would feel under the necessity of returning home during the rebellion.

Through Colonist Cars to Winnipeg and West—Comfortable Travel for Settlers, Etc.

New leather seated colonist cars in which berths are free are now running between Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver on the Canadian Pacific "Winnipeg Express", leaving Toronto 10.10 p.m. daily. The cars are new, bright, clean and ensure a comfortable journey to the West without change of cars en route.

Prospective Homesteaders.

It is reported that there are thousands of prospective [illegible] especially in the northwestern United States who have been waiting eagerly for the opening of the Peace River country to homesteading, and when the announcement reaches them there will be the greatest land rush into the Peace River and Grande Prairie country that has ever taken place to any section of Canada. The

A Great Railway System.

Hardly a town, village or city in Ontario, that does not receive daily benefit from the operation of the Grand Trunk Railway System, and considering the net work of Branch line connections, it is wonderful with what regularity trains are run. Not only is a good service provided between points in Ontario, but this line also reaches nearly all the important cities of Michigan, viz: Detroit, Flint, Saginaw, Bay City, Lansing, Battle Creek, Jackson, Grand Rapids and Muskegon. South Bend, Ind., and the second city in America, viz: Chicago, Ill., the gateway to the North-west, West and South, bringing Ontario in close connection. On the East, the Grand Trunk connects Ontario with Montreal, Quebec, the Maritime Provinces and Boston, Mass.

A New Wagon Road.

A new wagon road has been constructed, partly by the Government and partly by the merchants of Edson, Alta., through to the Grande Prairie country, a distance of 165 miles from Edson, which is all practically completed and is reported to be remarkably level, with no heavy hills, and over which heavy loads may be drawn with ease. Road houses have also been established along this wagon road and settlers will be able to travel in comparative ease and at slight expense from Edson on the Grand Trunk Pacific this year in the course of a week where the former routes via Edmonton and Lesser Slave Lake occupied several months and very great cost. The whole distance to be traversed being over four times as long as the new route.

WINNIPEG BANK CLEARINGS

Winnipeg, Man., Feb. 22, 1911.—With the approach of spring, the smart start made by business in Western Canada at the opening of the year adds force and speed to its pace. Winnipeg bank clearings for the week end February 16th, showed an increase of $2,495,952 over the corresponding week of last year and of $5,641,513 over the same period of 1909. Unusually warm weather for a week and no present indication of a change, has put added life and go into all branches of business activity. Real estate deals are more numerous, and a new element has been added by inquiries from farmers in the Middle West of the United States who reason that reciprocity will have the effect of making Western Canadian land more valuable and who are anxious to get in before the advance comes.

Peterboro' Merchant Returned Insurance

Mr. Wm. Greenwood Brown, general manager of the Equity Fire Insurance Company, writes to the Toronto Star:

"It may be of interest to your readers, as something unusual, to know that the Equity Fire Insurance Company has received a check for its part of $1,000, which Mr. A. W. Cressman, department store owner of Peterborough, has returned, after discovering that he had been paid in excess of the actual loss by fire, which occurred in his store last August."

THE CHIMES

A Chance to Display Christianity's Power.

To the Editor of The Times:—

Sir,—I noticed a short article in one of your contemporaries suggesting that the funds which have been contributed to the purchase of a chime of bells for St. John's Church, be "switched" over to the Chinese Famine Fund. When we think of the amount of good $5,000 would do just now in relieving sickness and providing food for the starving millions in the East, it seems to me that the suggestion is a good one. St. Paul says: There abideth with thee Faith, Hope and Charity, these three, but the greatest of these is Charity." Here we have a church, founded on the Bible, which has an opportunity of proving that it is really what it claims to be: A beacon to guide its members Heavenward. Surely God will bless a people who would make such a sacrifice in His name? I am sure that Canon Davidson, who I believe is a true Christian, and an humble follower of the Master, will favor the proposal. A true Christian would not regard this as a duty, but rather as a great privilege to serve the Master.

CHARITY.

Meetings at St. Paul's

Rev. Dr. Stewart of Winnipeg, Delivered Two Addresses.

Rev. Dr. Stewart, of Winnipeg, delivered two addresses in St. Paul's Church yesterday, under the auspices of the Moral Reform League of Canada. In the afternoon he spoke to a mixed audience, and in the evening his remarks were addressed to men only. The subject was "The White Slave Traffic in Canada." The attendance on both occasions was small. A good many people have not much use for men who have messages "for men only," believing that what is unfit for a woman's ears is not likely to promote a man's moral advancement.

OBITUARY

THOMAS COURSEY.

Thomas Coursey, aged 31, passed away on Monday at Kingston. He was unmarried and is survived by a brother, Patrick, a mother and sister in Pennsylvania.

The funeral will take place from 171 Park street, at 9 o'clock to the Sacred Heart Church, thence to St. Peter's cemetery.

MRS. JOHN STEWART.

The death occurred after a brief illness of Mrs. John Stewart, mother of Mrs. Wm. Irwin and Mrs. Walter Wood, of this city. The deceased came to this country 39 years ago from Aberdeen, Scotland, and took up residence in Peterborough. Her many estimable qualities endeared her to a wide circle of friends.

The funeral will take place from the residence of her guest daughter, Mrs. James Hamilton, 436 Sheridan street this afternoon.

MRS. ALEXANDER LAW.

At the good old age of 75 years, Mrs. Alexander Law passed away at the family residence, 340 Stewart street yesterday morning. Deceased had been ailing for some time. The survivors are three daughters, Mrs. Cragie, of British Columbia; Misses Minnie and Alexandria, at home and one son, Bruce, who resides on Charlotte street.

The funeral will take place at 3.30 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, from the family residence to Little Lake cemetery. Rev. J. C. Davidson will officiate.

The Dorcas Society will meet at the home of Miss Kerr, 586 Gilmour street this afternoon.

May Be Insane.

A man appeared at the Police Court yesterday charged with being insane. He was examined by the city medical health officer and remanded for a week.

The Manse Completed

The Manse which has been in the course of erection since last summer, is now about completed, and will be occupied by Rev. Mr. Pogue and family in a few days. The building, including the land, cost about $12,000.

Visitors Souvenirs.

Visitors in the city will find dainty souvenirs with views of the lift lock and St. John's Church, hand painted on numerous articles, such as cups, and saucers, cream jugs, pin trays, little fern pots, &c., &c., as well as many other articles too numerous to mention. Times Book Store, Hunter-street, nearly opposite post office.

Sacred Heart Wins.

On Monday night a debate at St. Alphonsus Lyceum between the Sacred Heart T.A.S. and St. Peter's T. A.S. was a success. The decision was given to Sacred Heart team. Rev. Dr. O'Brien acted as chairman and in making a few remarks said that debates were becoming very popular with the society.

"The Making of a Nation."

The Baptist Church was well filled last night by a large and appreciative audience to listen to Rev. John McNeill, of Toronto, who delivered an eloquent address on "The Making of a Nation". This is the lecture which was chosen as Canada's contribution to the World's Baptist Congress in Royal Albert Hall, London, England, in 1905. At the conclusion of the address, a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the lecturer.

VOL XXXIV NO. 45 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, THURSDAY FEBRUARY 23, 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

CAPITAL WOULD RUSH INTO CANADA

PAPERMAKERS ALLEGE THAT NEWSPAPER COMBINE IS AT WORK TO COMPEL LOWER PRICES.

Washington, Feb. 22.—The Senate Committee on Finance, which is conducting hearings on the McCall bill to carry out the provisions of the Canadian reciprocity agreement, today took up the wood pulp and print paper provisions of the bill. The first witness was Representative Swasy of Maine, who protested against the passage of the bill. He spoke on behalf of the eleven paper mills in his district, and denied the existence of a "paper trust."

Arthur C. Hastings of New York, representing the American paper and Pulp Association, embracing 235 manufacturers, read a letter signed by John Norris and Herman Ridder of New York, representing the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, directed to newspapers in various sections of the country. The purpose of Mr. Hasting's remarks was to show that the newspapers were united to compel a lowering of the price of paper.

Mr. Hastings also said there was no paper trust, and that the books of all the big mills now were open to the Tariff Board. "If this agreement should go into force," he said, "capital would rush into Canada and soon there would be an overproduction."

There is not a mill in the United States that could compete with Canadian mills, according to Mr. Hastings.

TAFT MEANS BUSINESS.

Washington, Feb. 22.—President Taft denied emphatically to some of his callers to-day the public intimation that he is not serious in his intention to call an extra session of Congress in the event of the failure of the Canadian reciprocity agreement.

Senator Root, one of the White House callers, declared after coming out of the executive offices that it was impossible to tell whether the Senate would be able to reach a vote on the agreement or not. Owing to the complicated situation in that body and the large number of other questions which it is considering, he thought it doubtful if a vote would be reached.

KILLED HIM BY BLOW FROM AXE.

Winnipeg, Feb. 22.—John Berich and M. Pritkal two C. P.R. laborers, fell out at work and Berich killed Pritka with a blow from an axe.

Enraged fellow - workmen pursued the murderer to the woods, where he is now at bay, armed with a rifle.

Toronto, Feb. 22.—A reporter of The News saw W. R. Travers in the custody of Detective McKinney and another member of the force in a Queen street restaurant after 7 o'clock last evening.

After supper they had a walk round town and were seen later on Yonge street about 8 o'clock.

This morning Governor Chambers was asked whether the former bank manager was still his guest.

"Of course, he is," said the Governor.

"Why do you ask?"

It was explained to him that the prisoner was out late last night.

"Hold the line a minute until I investigate," the Governor said, and then in a few minutes he returned to the phone and stated that the prisoner had been brought in late in the evening by detectives. "I guess they held him out for the investigation," he explained.

It is known that the hustling off of Travers to Kingston in the midst of the trial has resulted in a breach between the detective and Sheriff's departments and in consequence the former General Manager has been enjoying a unique experience for a man with six years to serve in the penitentiary.

DAMS FOR THE OTTAWA RIVER

Headwaters Conservation Scheme to be Rushed Forward.

Ottawa, February 23.—The work of conserving the head waters of the Ottawa river, which has been in progress for some two years, will go ahead still further this summer.

The Department of Public Works will issue a call for tenders for the construction of the dam at the foot of Quinze Lake, the estimated cost of which is $50,000. The dam will be located at the foot of Quinze Lake, about eighteen miles distant from the head of Lake Temiskaming. The dam at the foot of Lake Temiskaming has already been completed, and will control 27,878,400,000 cubic feet of water, and the dam at Kippewa is now under construction.

Tenders will also be called this spring for the new dam at the head of Gordon Creek, which it is expected can be rebuilt from the present Lumsden estate dam, for a cost of about $5,000.

Japs Fight for Peru

Debarred From Entering the United States, They Go to Callao.

San Francisco, Feb. 22.—Migratory Japanese, debarred from entering the United States by the agreement between the two Governments are going in large numbers to Peru, according to a report brought here yesterday by the steamer Uarda. Officers of the Uarda, which called at Canao from Asia carried many Japanese. It is reported that the Peruvian army, which has been engaged in skirmishes with the forces of Ecuador over the boundary dispute, has in its ranks Japanese soldiers, some of them veterans of the Russian war.

Will Close Down the Peterborough Mills

(From the Toronto News).

A number of concrete instances that have come to the knowledge of The News demonstrates more convincingly than argument the effect that reciptocity agreement will have on the industrial development of this country.

Mr. Stuart, president of the Quaker Oats Company, a large American concern with a Canadian Branch at Peterborough, was in the city a few days ago from Chicago, and he stated that if the proposed agreement is adopted at least 80 per cent. of the business now done at Peterborough will be transferred to the United States.

AT A DISADVANTAGE HERE.

"This means therefore, that the mills at Peterborough will be at such a disadvantage compared to the mills in the United States, that the Quaker Oats Company will be obliged to transfer to their mills in the United States all this export business which now amounts to about 80 per cent. of the total output at Peterborough.

"This would mean practically the closing down of the Peterborough mills."

CANADA BECKONS GIRLS

HUNDREDS STORM AGENT WHO IS IN LONDON SEEKING BRIDES FOR YOUNG FARMERS.

Men Also Hear Call From the West—Letter From Young Lady in a Workhouse.

London, Feb. 22.—Thomas Howell, the Canadian immigration agent who is conducting a search throughout England for brides for the stalwart farmers of Canada, has given up searching, and is really trying to lose himself, as brides-to-be in a veritable army, not content with bombarding him with tons of letters, are here by the hundreds seeking personal interview.

There are touches of humor in some of the letters received by Mr. Howell, who has been overwhelmed with invitations to teas and other functions dear to the feminine heart.

One of the letters received is from a young woman in a London workhouse, who, with unconscious irony, writes:

"Please come and see me. I can make you quite at home."

Women, however, are not half so anxious as the men of England to go to Canada. It is estimated that fully 150,000 English mechanics, farmers and laborers will leave for the Dominion during the coming season.

By direct route from London nearly 17,000 passengers will start for Canada in March, and in addition, during that month, about three thousand immigrants will reach that land of promise via the United States.

The phenominal immigration is attributed to the general prosperity and immense advance in railway construction in Canada. Fully 30 per cent. of these immigrants are skilled workmen, and nearly all of them have means upon which to subsist for months after their arrival.

There is no doubt that immigration is being stimulated by English imperialist organizations which expect through these sturdy Britons to neutralize the effects of the great rush from the United States to "Our Lady of the Snows."

HOUSE OF COMMONS IS AGAINST ANNEXATION.

Ottawa, Feb. 22.—The Canadian Parliament to-day unanimously declared its sentiments to be that the proposed reciprocity agreement with the United States shall not lead to annexation.

Provisional Directors Committed for Trial

CROWN NOT READY TO GO ON WITH OTHER CHARGES IN THE BANK CASE.

Travers Will Be Held Until Those Committed for Trial Come Up in the General Session Court.

Toronto, Feb. 22.—J. R. Stratton, president, and J. J. Warren, general manager, of the Trusts and Guarantee Company, and Dr. John Ferguson, Alex. Fraser, A. S. Lown, and John Watson, the four provisional directors of the defunct Farmers' Bank were committed for trial by Magustrate Denison in the Police Court to-day.

Travers was escorted into the court room by Detective Guthrie, at 11.20, and the case was resumed a few minutes later.

"I have no further witnesses," said Crown Attorney Corley. "I have produced all the evidence I could get. I move for the committal of all the defendants."

"They will be committed," was the Magistrate's assurance.

Toronto, Feb. 22.—The second charge against those committed was then read. Crown Attorney Corley immediately rose to state that he was not yet prepared to go on with the case.

"Mr. Morden is not here," he stated, "he has not been summoned."

"He was served to appear on Friday," informed Inspector Duncan.

At present the case stands remanded from week to week until the charge sent over to-day comes up in the Sessions, in order that Mr. Warren may be allowed to go to British Columbia to transact some personal business.

PLEADED NOT GUILTY.

Not being yet arraigned on this charge, the summons was read, and through their counsels Messrs. Warren and Stratton pleaded not guilty.

Mr. Warren was represented by Mr. Matthew Wilson, and Mr. Stratton by Mr. R. R. Hall, of Peterborough, and Grayson Smith. Mr. Wilson stated that he was willing to plead not guilty on behalf of Mr. Morden.

Mr. Warren at once rose to say he had private business to conduct in British Columbia, and asked that as the Crown was not ready to proceed at once, he be allowed to leave, when he would return upon request.

"This case might stand until the present one comes up in the Sessions," remarked Mr. Corley, "Mr. Travers will be kept here anyway."

"I have enough work ahead of us to keep Travers here for weeks," put in Inspector Duncan.

"I would be very willing to oblige Mr. Warren if I could," said Magistrate Denison. "He might appear by counsel alone, and be committed for trial on that."

"I'll do anything," Mr. Warren replied, "except consent to be committed to jail. That's when I want to have something to say about it."

"We won't ask that much," was the reply.

"He might consent to a committal without the taking of evidence," offered Mr. Corley, "but in that case there could be nothing but a jury trial."

"Well, I never ran away from anything yet," stated Mr. Warren, "and I'm not going to start now. All I want is to get my work done out there, then come back and fight it out. It would take about six weeks altogether."

After considerable discussion it was agreed that in case the magistrate found it necessary, Warren might be committed for trial without his personal presence, being represented by counsel alone, upon the understanding that he return in time for his trial before the Sessions. For the present the case stands remanded for a week.

Denounces Clergymen Who Ask Leniency

London, Ont., Feb. 22.—Walter Richards and George Lee were each sentenced to one year in the Central Prison this morning for stealing sugar from the Grand Trunk cars. Superintendent Gillen, Toronto, stated that during the past year the G. T.R. has had to pay London shippers $14,000 in claims for stolen goods.

Magistrate Graydon said he had been pestered by clergymen and others calling on him and asking him to deal leniently with the men accused. He denounces such proceedings as unheard of in a Canadian Court of justice, and said he would not countenance it any more.

Lord Landsdowne to Have a Rival Veto Bill

London, Feb. 22.—Lord Lansdowne, leader of the Opposition in the Upper Chamber, to-day announced his intention to introduce a bill to amend the constitution of the House of Lords. This is regarded as the Unionist answer to the Government's veto bill in the House of Commons yesterday.

BLIND TBOOPER WINS RICH BRIDE

Ottawa, Feb. 22.—A marriage of much interest to Canadians generally will be consummated in the Methodist Church at Waddington, N.Y., on Friday, March 3rd, when Trooper L. W. R. Mulloy, the blind hero of the South African Campaign, will lead to the altar Miss Jean Munro, the daughter of a Seattle, Wash., millionaire, and herself the possessor of a half million in her own right.

Trooper Mulloy will be in the novel position of never seeing his bride, as the romance which culminated in the present engagement only began some years after he received the terrible injuries in the war which resulted in the complete loss of sight, he having met her in London, England about six years ago.

The trooper himself gave out the news of his intended nuptials yesterday, surprising a party of friends by calmly remarking that when they next saw him they would see him "double."

Miss Munro is an accomplished musician and the possessor of a magnificent soprano voice. She has studied in Italy for five years and was a companion of Madame Tetrazzini, the noted opera singer. Trooper Mulloy recently received the appointment of the Conservative Association of London, Eng., and besides this is secretary of the Imperial Pioneer Association.

It is anticipated that he will now enter politics and stand in the Conservative interest on his return to England for one of the two constituencies offered him at the recent general elections. The marriage will be very quiet, owing, it is said, to family reasons.

Special Typewriters.

The Monarch Typewriter Company, Limited, are showing regular and special machines at the Hardware Men's Convention this week. The exhibit is under the charge of Mr. W. W. Dunlop the company's system expert and any one interested in typewriters for billing or other special detail should not fail to see Mr. Dunlop.

NO CHANGE IN ELECTION DATE

LEGISLATURE COMMITTEE HAVE THROWN OUT PROPOSALS FOR EARLIER CAMPAIGN.

And For New Year's Too—Rural Members Are Against Civic Regulation of the Suburbs.

Toronto, Feb. 22.—The date of the municipal elections in municipalities outside of Toronto will not be changed. The changes suggested by Hamilton and A. E. Donovan of Brockville were both thrown out by the Municipal Committee of the Legislature this morning. Mr. Donovan wanted to make the date for all municipalities the third Monday in January. Hamilton wants to make New Year's Day the date in all cities over fifty thousand population.

The other proposals from Hamilton that suburban property should be registered in the city registry office was also discountenanced by the committee.

There is a similar proposal coming from Toronto, but that it is to be strongly opposed by rural members was shown this morning by the attitude taken by some of these gentlemen to Hamilton's proposal. R. H McElroy, himself representing a rural constituency, has bill for a similar purpose, but he confessed to the committee that since his bill had been drawn he had not found it perfect. He hoped it would get as far as the Municipal Committee, but was not particularly anxious to get it through the House this session.

Mr. McElroy's idea that a general plan of roads within five miles of a city should be drawn up and filed with the Railway Boards so that all property in that area could be laid out according to that plan.

The suggestion from the Toronto City Council is that all plans of property within a radious of five miles of a city should be filed with the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board and that the city should be given opportunity to object to any plans.

Millionaire Banker Shocked at Prices

New York, Feb. 22.—Anthony Drexel, sr., millionaire banker and former partner of J. P. Morgan, is too poor to stand the high prices for food in America, particularly those of New York city. He said so to-day when he sailed for his London home after a stay of only five days here.

"Your food prices here are too high for me," Mr. Drexel said, on the deck of the Mauretania, "It's shocking. Why it costs a day's wages for a single meal.

"Things have not increased like that abroad, and I cannot see any reason why they should here. This country is getting in a bad way if two recent experiences I had here are a fair sample of what you people have to contend with."

This is not the first time Mr. Drexel has complained of the high food prices. He came here last April to attend the wedding of his son, A. J. Drexel, jr., to Miss Marjorie Gould. On that occasion Mr. Drexel had a breakfast which consisted of two eggs and a cup of coffee.

"Awful," he exclaimed, when presented with a check for $1.75 for his simple fare. "I don't see why your people stand for this."

Mr. Drexel's two sons, Anthony J. Drexel, jr., and J. Armstrong Drexel, were at the pier to see their father off.

FORMER SENATOR ON TRIAL.

New York, Feb. 22.—Former State Senator Frank J. Gardiner's Counsel began to-day their defence to the State's charge, that Gardiner tried in 1908 to bribe Congressman, then State Senator, Otto G. Foelker, to vote against the passage of the anti-race track betting bills. Last week and yesterday the prosecution had witnesses on the stand in an effort to show that Gardiner offered Foelker a bribe of $62,000, while the two were on a train coming from Albany. Foelker testified to the offer and its rejection and other witnesses have sworn that Gardiner told them he had not only made terms with Foelker, but had carried a big roll of money to Albany—to use in fighting the Hart-Agnew bills.

Gardiner himself is expected to take the stand early in the course of the defence.

Albany, N.Y., Feb. 20.—One must be eighteen to smoke legally, according to a bill introduced to-day by Assembly man Collins. The measure provides that it shall be a misdemeanor to furnish cigars, cigarettes, tobacco or "the makings" to a child under eighteen years of age. The age limit has been raised by the bill from sixteen years.

LANGFORD HAD LANG TRIMMED

WHEN LANG FOULED HIM AND WAS PROMPTLY DISQUALIFIED.

Foul Saved a Knockout—London Thinks Langford the Pugilistic Wonder of the Age—Will Back Him.

London, Feb. 22.—Sam Langford, who won last night's battle with Bill Lang, on a foul in the sixth round, is the pugilistic wonder of London to-day, and nothing will satisfy the sports but to see him clash with Jack Johnston for the world's title.

The ease with which the Boston negro, weighing 166 pounds, whipped Bill Lang, who weighs 220, last night, surprised everybody. So decisive was Langford's victory that there is a general regret that Lang's disqualifying foul in the sixth round robbed the negro of the knockout that seemed inevitable.

Should promoter McIntosh succeed in matching Langford and Johnson for Coronation week, Langford will not lack for backing. Most of those who saw him literally sweep Lang off the boards, believe him the greatest scrapper in the world.

Langford was about town to-day with not a mark of the fight showing. He says he will stay in training until the result of the McIntosh negotiations with Johnson is definitely known.

Lang never had any chance with Langford. The little negro swatted him all over the lot, and had him down for the count of nine in the second. He let up for a couple of rounds, and came on again and was preparing to finish it when Langford went to his knees by accident and Lang dizzy and only half conscious, swung on him, and was disqualified.

CARRIED GLADNESS TO THIS HOME

MRS. ANNIE VANVORST'S HEART DISEASE CURED BY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

St. Benedict, Sask., Feb. 22.—(Special)—Gladness has replaced the anxiety that reigned in the household of Mrs. Annie Vanvorst, of this place. For some time past Mrs. Vanvorst had suffered from Kidney Trouble and palpitation of the heart, and fears were entertained of those terribly sudden fatalities that so frequently accompany affections of the heart. But relief from both ailments was quickly found in the old reliable remedy, Dodd's Kidney Pills. In an interview Mrs. Vanvorst says:

"I had palpitation of the heart and my Kidneys were out of order. I took one box of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and found great relief. For a Kidney pill Dodd's Kidney Pills cannot be beat. You may publish what I say as it may be the means of benefitting others who suffer with Kidney Trouble or Heart Disease."

Pure blood is the basis of all health, and you can't have pure blood unless your Kidneys are in good working order. Dodd's Kidney Pills never fail to put the Kidneys in perfect working order.

Men Ran Away Leaving Women Under Auto

Pittsburg, Feb. 22.—An automobile party of six went over a twenty-five foot embankment at West Liberty, near here, this morning, and two women, Mamie Gregory, aged 22, and Annie McDonald, aged 28, were dangerously injured. Four men, including the chauffeur, escaped injury and disappeared.

In going over the embankment the automobile turned turtle into a creek pinning the two women under the machine in the water. The women almost perished in the cold water before they were rescued by a motorman of a street car.

FLIGHT OVER HARBOR.

Aviator Le Gagneaux Circled Steamship Cleveland Three Times.

Nice, France, Feb. 20.—Aviator Le Gagneaux, of France, made a daring flight over the harbor in his bleriot to-day. He circled the steamship Cleveland, of the Hamburg-American Line, three times.

COMFORT IN OLD AGE.

The impression which some people have that the Canadian Government Annuities scheme is available only to persons over the age of 55 is quite erroneous, an impression arising, probably, from the fact that 55 is the earliest age, except for invalidity or disablement, at which an Annuity can begin. Naturally, the younger the person is when the purchase is begun, the smaller will be the payments which he or she will have to make to secure the same Annuity, and smaller will be the apparent cost. But any person over the age of 5 may purchase an Annuity. An account of the sad ending of an old gentleman who had until recently lived all his life in a Canadian Province, but upon whom fortune for some reason had not smiled, was communicated a few days ago in a despatch from a U. S. city. He had gone to Michigan to stay with a son for the remainder of his days, but shortly after his arrival the son died leaving no means, and the father who preferred death rather than the poor house, to which he was to have been sent the following day, terminated his life. If the old gentleman had been provident in his younger days, and had laid aside but 10c a week, the amount accumulated at 3 per cent. compound interest which he would have had at his disposal at 80 would have purchased for him an Annuity of $180 a year, an income sufficient to have enabled him to have provided for himself for the remainder of his days. Had he had the opportunity at 20, as all residents of Canada have to-day, of paying in to the Government Annuities fund a sum of 10c a week, his income at 80 would have been over $525 instead of $180, and had he died at any time before attaining the age of 80 his heirs would have received every cent that he had paid in with 3 per cent. compound interest up to the date of his death. As the old gentleman reflected upon the past, it no doubt seemed but yesterday when he was a boy. Still, young men and women are disposed to spurn the thought that old age is inevitable, that the day will come when they themselves will be old, and that the poor house must be their ultimate destiny if they have not made provision against such a contingency. But it will be impossible for them to dodge the issue, and the system of saving which the Annuities Act affords them is positively the only means available by which they can make this provision with absolute certainty, and with the smallest outlay. Explanatory literature may be obtained at the Post Office, or will be supplied on application to the Superintendent of Annuities, Ottawa, to whom letters may be sent free of postage.

DOG AWOKE HIM.

Master Fired on Thief as He Retreated Through Window.

Kingston, Feb. 20.—A thief entered the house of D. E. Terry, of the Ordinance stores office, through a window last night. Terry's dog jumped on his bed and woke him in time to see the thief disappearing through the open window. Terry fired after the rapidly retreating figure of the burglar, but did no damage, neither was there anything missing from the house.

THE RED YEAR

—By—
LOUIS TRACY.

CONTINUED.

Heavy stones, grape-shot and bayonet thrusts, while the rebels, swarming like wasps to the breach, inspired each other by hurling threats and curses at the Nazarenes. But to stop Nicholson and his host they must kill every man, and be killed themselves in the killing, and, not having the stomach for that sort of fight, they ran.

Thus far a magnificent success had been achieved. It was carried further, almost perfected, by the splendid self-sacrifice displayed by the six who had promised to blow open the Cashmere Gate. To this day their names are blazoned on a tablet between its two arches—"Lieutenants Home and Salkeld of the Engineers, Bugler Hawthorne of the 52nd and Sergeants Carmichael, Smith and Burgess of the Bengal Sappers." Smith and Hawthorne lived to wear the Victoria Crosses awarded for their feat. The others, while death glazed their eyes and dimmed their ears, may have known by the rush of men past where they lay that their sacrifice had not been in vain. The stout timbers and iron bands were rent by the powder bags, and the third column fought a passage through the double gateway into the tiny square in front of St. James's Church.

Then, as if the story of Delhi were to serve as a microcosm of fortune's smiles and frowns in human affairs, the victorious career of the British columns received a serious, almost a mortal check. The mutineers were in full retreat, terror-stricken and dismayed. Thousands were already crossing the bridge of boats when the word went round that the Feringhis were beaten.

They were not, but the over-caution against which Nicholson had railed for months again betrayed itself in the failure of the second column to capture the Lahore Gate when that vital position lay at its mercy. Audacity, ever excellent in war, is sound as a proposition in Euclid in operations against Asiatics.

Brigadier and men had done what they were asked to do—they ought to have done more. Having penetrated beyond the Mori Bastion they fell back and fortified themselves against counter assault, thus displaying unimpeachable tactics, but bad generalship in view of the enemy's demoralization. Instantly Akbab Khan, who commanded in that quarter of the city, claimed a victory. The mutineers flocked back to their deserted posts. While one section pressed Jones hard, another fell on Reid's Ghoorkahs and the cavalry brigade. They actually pushed the counter attack as far as Hindu Rao's house on the Ridge, until Hope Grant's cavalry and Tomb's magnificent horse artillery tackled them. A terrific melee ensued. Twenty-five out of fifty gunners were killed or wounded, the 9th Lancers suffered with equal severity, but the rebels were held, punished, and defeated, after two hours of desperate conflict.

The mischance at the Lahore Gate cost England a life that she could ill spare. When he heard what had happened, Nicholson ran to the Mori Bastion, gathered men from both columns and tried to storm the Lahore Bastion at all hazards. It was asking too much, but those gallant hearts did not falter. They followed their beloved leader into a narrow lane, the only way from the one point to the other. They fell in scores, but Nicholson's giant figure still towered in front. With sword raised he shouted to the survivors to come on. Then a bullet struck him in the chest and he fell.

With him, for a time, drooped the flag of Britain. The utter confusion which followed is shown by Lord Robert's statement in his Memoirs that he found Nicholson lying in a dhooly near the Cashmere Gate, the native carriers having fled. Although Baird Smith, a skilled engineer and artillerist, had secured against a coup de main that small portion of the city occupied by the besiegers, General Wilson was minded to withdraw the troops. Even now he considered the task of subduing Delhi to be beyond their powers. Baird Smith insisted that he should hold on. Nicholson sent a typical message from his deathbed on the Ridge that he still had strength enough left to struggle to his feet and pistol the first man who counseled retreat, and the harassed commander-in-chief consented to the continuance of the fighting.

Although his judgment was mistaken he had good reasons for it. Akbab Khan, on whom the real leadership devolved when it became known that the King and his sons had fled from the palace, tried a ruse that might well have proved fatal to his adversaries. Counting on the exhaustion of the British and the privations they had endured during the long months on the Ridge, he caused the deserted streets, between the Cashmere and Mori Gates, to be strewn with bottles of wine, beer and spirits. To men enfeebled by heat and want of food the liquor was more deadly than lead or steel. Were it not that Akbab Kahn himself was shot through the forehead while trying to repel the advance of Taylor's engineers along the main road to the palace from the Cashmere Gate, it was well within the bounds of possibility that the afternoon of the 14th might have witnessed a British debacle.

In one respect the sepoy commander's death was as serious to his cause as the loss of Nicholson to the English. The rebels, fighting fiercely enough in small detachments, but no longer controlled by a man who knew how to use their vastly superior numbers, allowed themselves to be dealt with in detail. Soon the British attack was properly organized, and a six days' orgy of destruction began.

Although no Briton was seen to injure a woman or child in the streets of Delhi, the avenging army passed no man. Unhappily thousands of harmless citizens were slaughtered side by side with the mutineers. The British had received a great provocation and they exacted a terrible payment. On the 20th the gates of the palace were battered in and the British flag was hoisted from its topmost turret. Then, and not till then, did Delhi fall. The last of the Moguls was driven from the halls which had witnessed the grandeur and pomp of his imperial predecessors, and the great city had passed into the hands of the new race that had come to leaven the decaying East. It was a dearly-bought triumph. On September 14 the conquering army lost sixty-six officers and eleven hundred and four . . . . . Jan. 20

$10,000,000 of stock still in the Treasury.

$10,000,000 pooled for 9 and 18 months.

500 acres of land; value, $3,000 per acre.

A subsidy obtained from the Municipality of North Vancouver of 5 per cent. for 18 years on $200,000, and freedom from taxation of our plant and 30 acres of land for 10 years.

A subsidy obtained from the Dominion of Canada, 3½ per cent. for 25 years on $1,214,000, for the purpose of building a dry dock of 15,000 tons at Roslyn, the Company's townsite.

A very valuable brick clay deposit has been discovered on the Company's property. This will be developed to its fullest capacity, as brick clay is very rare here, Vancouver even importing from Seattle millions of brick annually.

NOTE.—A shareholder participates in every asset of the Company.

LIABILITIES OF THE COMPANY

Amount yet owing on land, extending over a period of four years, $446,000.

REMARKS

MORE LANDS

The Company proposes to purchase lands surrounding their townsite, and to this end are securing options on about 250 acres, with about 2,800 feet of deep waterfrontage adjoining that which they now own.

MINES

They have also secured an optian of purchase of a group of ten claims of very valuable iron deposits situated within twelve miles of their townsite. The Company believe, located as they are in a country which abounds with everything necessary to the smallest detail for turning out a perfect car, should go to nature's storehouse for their material, and with this end in view have secured the above group.

SHIPBUILDING

In addition to building the Imperial Sleeping Car, cars of every description will be contracted for, and just as soon as their dry dock is completed, the Company intend to use it to the greatest advantage in building ships of the largest tonnage. As there will be but three or four docks in the whole Dominion, they will encounter but very little competition in the building of the larger class of vessels.

SALE OF LANDS

The Company do not intend to sell any of its land until its dry dock, car works, sawmills and other industries are in operation, and in this way secure as nearly as possible all the profit derived from the establishment of these great works.

CLEARING OF LAND

The Municipality of North Vancouver have under consideration a proposition from the Company whereby the Company promise to clear their whole townsite on condition the Municipality will at once clear and grade all the streets, charging the cost of same to local improvement taxes. The Municipality view the Company's proposition with great favor. This plan would at least double the price of the Company's holdings.

PURCHASING STOCK

A small block of stock is now on the market and can be had on very easy terms of payment. This once sold, the Company will have no difficulty to borrow on their assets at from 4 to 5 per cent. any money they will require for improvement purchases, and in this case all stock will be withdrawn from the market.

Veto Bill was Brought Down Tuesday

FAT IS NOW IN THE FIRE, AND GREAT CONSTITUTIONAL STRUGGLE RESUMES.

London, Feb. 21.—The Government bill to abolish the veto power of the House of Lords, which if the Government is able to pass as it stands promises to accomplish a historic change in Parliamentary system of Great Britain, was introduced in the House of Commons to-day by Premier Asquith.

No one professes to foresee the outcome of the constitutional battle. If the Liberals have any thought of a compromise they are keeping their intentions to themselves, and the greatest controversy known in this country for several generations began with both sides apparently determined not to yield except to superior force.

A full House faced Mr. Asquith when he rose to make the customary explanatory statement on the introduction of a measure of such moment. The tickets for seats in the public galleries had been exhausted weeks before, and the diplomatic and peers benches were thronged with interested ones. The Premier lost no time in telling the Opposition that he felt the country was behind him, and, therefore, did not hesitate to re-introduce the bill without a change of a word in the form of its first reading last year. The measure, he said, had gone before the electorate at the recent elections and had been endorsed by the return of its supporters to the House of Commons with a majority of 126.

Mr. Asquith declared that when the Lords rejected the budget in 1909 they committed political suicide. History would say that it was the most stupendous act of political blindness ever perpetrated.

LORDS COMMITTED SUICIDE.

Hereditary in origin, irresponsible in the exercise of its powers, and overwhelmingly partisan in its actual composition—that was the body to which the law entrusted the right to delay and check the considered decisions of the elected representatives of the people. The Premier said that he did not propose to dispense with a second chamber. They had already suffered enough from the evils of what was practically a single-chamber government, but the country required an immediate remedy for the present evil, and could not await a release from the dangerous and intolerable situation until the long and laborious process necessary for the creation of a new second chamber had been completed.

Arthur Balfour, the Conservative leader, answered Asquith, declaring that the Administration held no mandate for the revolutionary legislation that it proposed. He denied that the Lords had "committed suicide," but declared that the Liberals had rather assumed office determined to pick a quarrel with the Lords. Balfour admitted the necessity for certain reforms in the Lords but contended that the veto bill was unwarranted and revolutionary.

THE DESIRE FOR CLEVERNESS

A witness in a law suit this week, being asked if he had been to America in his youth, said that he went there to get clever, and added that the Americans are cleverer than we are, says the London Times. Very likely they are, for we are not a clever people; indeed in the past we have been inclined to distrust cleverness. We have commonly used the word in a depreciatory sense, as when we say of a man that he is too clever by half, or of a book that is clever. Now that is all changed; and, like the witness in question, there are many of us who think they can learn to be clever, just as there are women who think they can make themselves beautiful. But cleverness, like beauty, is only attractive when it is natural. It is well worth having as a gift, but the effort to attain it by force leads people to behave as if they were not human beings, but performing monkeys who have taught themselves their own tricks. Cleverness is a peculiarly urban quality. The Greeks who were a town people, were remarkable for it; the Romans, who loved the country were not. So in modern times the French, who delight in town life, are the cleverest of nations; and we, who have always been a country-loving people, are not clever. But, like the Romans, we have been turned into a nation of townsmen against our natural inclination; and in the process we have, also like the Romans, fallen into a general insecurity of taste, trying to transform our natures to suit our new surroundings, not cultivating those innate qualities in which we can excel, but trying to assume others in which we cannot. No amount of effort will ever make us as clever as the French; and the more we try to be clever the less attractive we become, like a plain woman who tries to be beautiful.

Italian Workmen Are in Great Need

Rome, Feb. 21.—Government relief measures were put under way to-day for thousands of idle workmen throughout Italy. The families of workmen are on the verge of starvation and many of them have been evicted from their homes. Many local communities undertook to relieve the distress by distributing bread, but the conditions have grown so bad and want so widespread that broader measures will have to be adopted.

Telegrams from Barletta to-day stated that scores of families there are famine stricken and that many are camped in the fields having been driven from their homes for the non-payment of rent. A general industrial stagnation prevails in many parts of the country.

Agreement Will Pass the U. S. Senate

MR. McCALL TELLS PRESIDENT EXTRA SESSION WILL NOT BE NECESSARY.

Whipping Them In Line—Only Three Senators Who are Now Dangerous—Majority Will, It Is Said, be Large.

Washington, Feb. 21.—The House Ways and Means Committee to-day voted against the Canadian customs pact measure, introduced by Representative Gaines of West Virginia. The bill was intended to obstruct the Administration's Canadian reciprocity agreement.

Washington, Feb. 21.—Representative McCall, of Massachusetts, called at the White House and notified President Taft that the Senate will pass the Canadian reciprocity agreement before March 4, thus obviating the necessity of an extra session. He said that Senator Bailey's announcement that he would filibuster against the measure assured it success.

Canadian reciprocity to-day has a distinctly better chance of becoming a reality than ever before.

The President's threat of an extra session, which neither Republicans nor Democrats want, coupled with his arguments and persuasive powers on recalcitrant senators and representatives, has practically won the fight.

ONLY THREE DANGEROUS.

There are, now only three senators who appear to be endangering the enactment of the bill. They are Senator Hayburn, of Idaho, Senator Cummins, of Iowa,, insurgent chieftain, whose eloquence contributed so largely to the unpopularity of the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill; and Senator Hale, of Maine, who believe the injury to his State would be irretrievable if Canadian reciprocity became an actual fact.

These men are displaying what might be defined as a solemn enthusiasm over the Canadian pact—solemn because they deprecate the political exigency which compels them to stand by the executive in its advocacy of the measure.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

The Morning Times
PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO
THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 23, 1911.

Directors to Meet.

There will be a meeting of the directors of the Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society in the City Engineer's office this evening at 7.30.

Black List Increasing.

Magistrate Dumble added one more to the black list yesterday. It was the result of a family disagreement, which was tried in the Police Court.

Knox Church W.F.M.S.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of Knox Church will hold a meeting this afternoon at 3.30, in the church parlors. A full attendance is requested.

Deep Snow in the Woods.

It is said that deep snow is seriously interfering with lumbering operations at the woods. Snow has not been so deep in years as it is at present. In some localities lumber camps are breaking up in consequence.

Broke Through the Ice.

Last night while playing on the ice in the river, a boy, more risky than wise, ventured too close to an opening in the ice, and went through. His cries brought help, and for a time it was feared he would sink. A board was secured on which one of his companions was able to reach him. It is to be hoped that the experience will be a lesson to him in future.

To Be At Home.

St. Peter's Ladies' Aid will be at home in St. Alphonsus Lyceum today (Thursday), February 23, from 4 till 6 p.m., also the evening, the occasion being a shower for St. Vincent's Home or for the children. Bed linen, suitable for single beds, with 17-inch pillows, suggested as well as articles suitable for children's wear. No charge for admission.

Royally Entertained.

On Tuesday evening, Mrs. Westlake 162 Brock street, entertained an impromptu party in a very pleasing manner. The young people were out for a sleigh drive and dropped in on Mrs. Westlake without notice. The charming hostess was equal to the occasion, however, and made her unexpected guests, who numbered over fifty, heartily welcome. Miss Herd presided at the piano during the evening, and a very delightful time was spent, everybody seeming to thoroughly enjoy themselves.

His Skull Fractured

On Tuesday afternoon, Frank Sullivan, son of Dennis Sullivan, of Indian River, had his skull fractured by the fall of a tree while lumbering in Cavandish Township. The young man who is about 22 years of age, was at work in the woods when he was struck by a tree and rendered unconscious. He was at once placed in a sleigh and driven to Peterborough, a distance of 50 miles, reaching this city at 2 o'clock yesterday morning. He was then taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, where he was attended by Drs. McGrath and McNulty. After skillfully dressing the wound, the doctors expressed the hope that he had a fair chance for recovery.

Would Prevent All Joy Riding.

It is stated that there will be a large number of new automobiles in Peterborough this year, thus augmenting the number already in use here. Auto owners and citizens in general, will await with interest the result on the vote to be taken in the Provincial house on Valentine Stock's (South Perth) notice of a bill to require chauffeurs or other drivers to motor vehicles to carry a license or permit with them when driving. The permit to be endorsed by a magistrate in case of a first conviction for reckless driving and on a second conviction to be endorsed and sent to the Provincial Secretary.

An Exciting Runaway.

Yesterday an exciting runaway took place on Charlotte street, when might have resulted in serious damage. It appears that a farmer named Sangsinson, who lives on the outskirts of the city, accompanied by his niece, Miss Stark, were driving along Charlotte street, when their horse became frightened and ran away. The cutter was overturned at the corner of Charlotte and Park streets, throwing the occupants out, but fortunately without serious injury. The horse proceeded to Gilmour street, where it jumped a fence in front of Mr. Yoakum's residence, where it was stopped.

IT'S FOOD.

That Restores and Makes Health Possible.

There are stomach specialists as well as eye and ear and other specialists.

One of these told a young lady, of New Brunswick, N. J., to quit medicines and eat Grape-Nuts. She says "For about 12 months I suffered severely with gastritis. I was unable to retain much of anything on my stomach, and consequently was compelled to give up my occupation.

"I took quantities of medicines, and had an idea I was dieting, but I continued to suffer, and soon lost 15 pounds in weight. I was depressed in spirits and lost interest in everything generally. My mind was so affected that it was impossible to become interested in even the lightest reading matter.

"After suffering for months I decided to go to a stomach specialist. He put me on Grape-Nuts and my health began to improve immediately. It was the keynote of a new life.

"I found that I had been eating too much starchy food which I did not digest and that the cereals which I had tried had been too heavy. I soon found that it is not the quantity of food that one eats, but the quality.

"In a few weeks I was able to go back to my old business of doing clerical work. I have continued to eat Grape-Nuts for both the morning and evening meal. I wake in the morning with a clear mind and feel rested. I regained my lost weight in a short time. I am well and happy again and owe it to Grape-Nuts." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

SOCIETY EVENTS

The Times will be pleased to receive notices of Weddings, Social Events, Personal Announcements, which will be published in this column free of charge.

Mr. Thompson, of Montreal, is in the city on business.

Mr. Calder, clerk of Norwood, is in town for a few days.

Mrs. D. D. C. Dawe, Gilmour street, has been called to Napanee, owing to an accident to her sister, Mrs. Lucas

Mrs. Richard Foster, 218 Wolfe street, is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. H. Lowe, of Mt. Pleasant.

Miss Ethel Record, 13 Cricket place is visiting her cousin, Miss Pearl Lowe, of Mt. Pleasant.

OBITUARY

MRS. RYE.

The many friends of Mrs. Rye, a former resident of Peterborough will regret to hear of her death, which occurred at Vancouver on Sunday last. She will be remembered by many as "a dear old lady," who made friends wherever she went. Her son, Mr. Harold Rye, is a resident of this city.

GORDON WILFRID BREWER.

It is with sincere regret that we are obliged to chronicle the death of Gordon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Brewer, who passed away on Tuesday night after a lingering illness at the early age of 14 years. His kindly disposition endeared him to many, and his demise will be sincerely regretted. He leaves three brothers and five sisters to mourn his demise. The brothers are: Fred and Harry of Cleveland, Sydney of Buffalo, and the sisters, Mrs. Knox of Toronto, Mrs. Fred Skenely of Hamilton, Mrs. Chas Nicholls of Campbellford and Olive and Daisy of Nottingham, England.

A SUCCESSFUL SOCIAL.

Women of All Saints' Give Entertainment.

The Women's Auxiliary of All Saints' held a congregational social in the parish hall on Tuesday night. There was a large attendance and a most enjoyable time was spent.

During the evening the following programme was given:

Instrumental Solo—Miss Geraldine King.
Vocal Solo—Herbert Rush.
Vocal Solo—Miss Geraldine King.
Recitation—Miss Bristow.
Instrumental—Miss Olga Johnston.
Vocal Solo—George Chandler.
Reading—Rev. H. R. Trumpour.
Vocal Solo—Miss Ruth Dawson.

The accompanists of the evening were Miss Gumpright, and Mrs. Geo. Johnston.

Refreshments were served, after which the meeting was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

The Women's Auxiliary are making an effort to increase the membership, this being the 25th year since the founding of the Auxiliary in the Anglican Church.

Farm House Burned.

The house occupied by Mr. John Lemay, who lives about six miles from Warsaw, on the boundary between Douro and Dummer, was totally destroyed by fire on Tuesday morning during the absence of the family. Loss about $200.

Billing By Typewriter Saves Money

Every live manager and every live proprietor of every business enterprise wants to save time. Time is the scarcest and the most precious thing in the universe.

THE MONARCH

BILLING TYPEWRITER saves time — saves the manager's time because his records come to him clear and legible; saves the accountant's time because much of his work is done on the machine; saves the stenographer's time because the work progresses more rapidly. The accumulation of time saved means much in the course of a year.

Mr. W. W. Dunlop, system specialist, is exhibiting MONARCH BILLING MACHINES of every description at the Hardwaremen's Convention this week in the Armouries. Bring along your forms and tell your problems and he will gladly help you if he can. See these marvelous MONARCH Typewriters anyway.

Hardware Convention Is In Full Swing

THE "SHOW" THE BEST EVER—LARGE ATTENDANCE.

Yesterday the big convention of hardware men was largely attended, hundreds of strangers being present from a distance.

At the meeting on Tuesday:

Walter B. Screaton, McClary's, of London, was called to the front and handed a suit case for his services in enrolling new members.

Then Tom Wright, of Howland's Toronto, chairman of the "Travellers Hour" Committee, did himself proud by taking the chairmanship for the most interesting hour and a half ever spent at a hardware gathering in Canada. Tom called on A. S. Howe the Asbestos Sad Iron man; George Boomer, Shurley Dietrich Co.; J. A. Bossack, who sells as-skin tapes for less than cost; and Arno-Bittues who does the opposite with Gillette Safety Razors; and one by one they handed out hot stuff.

Then Russell Chown set the grass on fire by handing the travellers some straight talk, criticizing the jobbers for failing to have their travellers show samples and help educate the retailer on selling points, "There are too many order-takers," said next year's president.

Harry Clucas, who pushes a "beauty and utility" goods (see page 53 February Hardware and stove journal,) A. F. Collins, the ever-ready live wire, and John Irwin, the Brandram-Henderson King pin, followed, after which Jimmy Hossack had a second spasm, during which he got off his chest some most practical talk about travellers carrying samples and the jobbers' duty to retailers. Talk about jobbers' salesmen selling from catalogues, he said: "None of you would marry a girl from a picture—you'll want to see the real article."

Frank Taylor, Carleton Place, who has a sample room in his store for travellers, said there were too many "train catchers" on the road.

C. M. Woodburn, who carries the biggest line of hardware samples in Canada, said if Taylor had to stay at Carleton Place hotels he'd catch the first train out, too. J. J. Levy, who brushes up trade for Boseth Bros., Toronto followed.

Tom Wright then told of how he had landed Dan Cinnamon as a customer by showing him samples of new goods. H. J. Carter, Picton, C. M. Woodburn, N. Turner, Sol Waffle, N. B. Wiener, Toronto, J. D. Robinson, the wide awake Imperial Varnish man, and J. Smith, of Boseth Bros., closed the discussion. Secretary Wrigley suggested a "travellers' afternoon" next year, and the suggestion was applauded. The meeting adjourned at 5.45.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

ALASKA DESIRES TO JOIN WITH CANADA

BUSINESS MAN FAVOR ANNEXATION, CLAIMING NEGLECT BY UNITED STATES.

The Movement on Foot Is Gaining Ground—Mass Meetings Are Being Held.

Cordova, Alaska, Feb. 23.—A movement is on foot in Alaska looking to the Annexation of that territory to Canada. The men behind the movement assert that the United States Government does not seem disposed to relieve the territory of its present burdens, and that annexation to the Dominion seems to offer the only hope.

The movement is gaining the endorsement of a large number of business men throughout Alaska, and mass meetings will be held in Valdez, Seward, Fairbanks, Juneau, and Cordova. It is planned to adopt resolutions asking the Congress of the United States to divorce Alaska from the American Government, so she can become allied with Canada.

Crown Prince's Escape

Heir to German Throne Saved by Englishman.

Berlin, February 23.—According to the Neuste Nachrichten, the Crown Prince of Germany had a narrow escape from death while hunting elephants in Ceylon last November. The story has just reached here.

The informant of the newspaper quoted says that a huge tusker ambushed the Prince and suddenly charged him without warning. The Prince fired, but missed, and the beast was so close upon him that he had no time for a second shot. Fortunately, however, an English official stood immediately behind the royal hunter and he fired over the Prince's shoulder, bringing down the elephant and killing him instantly. The shot, it is said, grazed the Prince's ear and caused temporary deafness.

The resignation will be dealt with by the Police Committee. Chief Sweet has proved himself to be a most efficient officer, and the town does not want to lose him.

Caretaker Appointed for Isolation Hospital

The Property Committee met last night, when there were present:—Chairman Ald. Duncan, and Aldermen Morgan and Brown.

The Committee accepted the Peterborough Light and Power Company's offer for lighting the Isolation Hospital at a meter rate of 5c per K.W. hour. The flat rate offered was $1.50 each 16 candle power lamp per annum, and 3c per K.W. hour for heating purposes by separate wire.

The company will be requested to get connection with the Hospital at once.

There are two cases in the city now that would be at the Hospital were it ready for patients, in the way of lighting and a caretaker.

H. Sowden was appointed caretaker of the Hospital, at a salary of $400 per year, duties to commence March 1st. Engagement made for one year. Mrs. Sowden to act as cook.

Ald. Morgan moved, seconded by Ald. Brown,—That the figure bust sent to the Public Library by the City Property Committee be handed over to the Library Board as permanent property of the institution.—Carried.

The Chairman was authorized to have the Isolation Hospital furniture insured.

The Fire Underwriters Association suggested that the City Buildings on Simcoe street be rewired, and thus effect a saving of 15c on the insurance rates, besides assuring better protection.

The Chairman will discuss the matter with the City Trust Commissioners.

A Majority of 124 For the Veto Bill

London, Feb. 23.—The House of Commons yesterday passed on its first reading the Parliament Bill by exactly the Government's official majority—124—all absentees being paired. There was tremendous cheering from the coalitionists as Premier Asquith went to the table to bring in the Bill, the members standing in their places waving hats, handkerchiefs and papers.

Mr. Churchill said he could not reveal the Government's intentions, in answer to a chance question.

The motion to bring in the bill was passed by a vote of 351 to 227.

THE LORD'S MOTION.

In the House of Lords, Lord Lansdowne, Opposition leader in that body, gave notice that he would introduce a bill to amend the constitution of the Upper Chamber.

Lord Lansdowne's bill has not yet been drafted, but it will be framed without delay. It is understood that it will be an amalgam of Lords Rosebery, Lansdowne, and Curzon's schemes, but none of the forecasts current seem to have an official basis. A majority of the Unionists apparently approve of Lord Lansdowne's move, although the more extreme Tories shake their heads gravely at the idea of sacrificing the ancient constitution of the House of Lords to party exigencies.

The debate maintained a good oratorical level, but presented few new points. The dominant note of the Unionist speeches was an invitation to the Government to settle the matter by agreement. Fred E. Smith, in a slashing attack, accused the Government of outraging the convictions of half their fellow-countrymen on a matter that could never be settled except by consent. The British people, he said, would support the Opposition in any resistance, however desperate, they might offer to the bill.

To these persuasions Rt. Hon. Winston Spencer Churchill, the Home Secretary, concluding the debate for the Government, replied that the Ministers would not have fifty supporters left if they agreed to enter such a conference now. He contended, as compared with the referendum, the Government's moderate proposals were the veriest Toryism, and no step would be neglected to carry the bill swiftly into law. The Government did not fear the referendum as a check on progressive legislation, but regarded it as a vicious system, especially unsuitable for this country, and its adoption would lead to Jacobitism, Caesarism, and anarchy.

At the close of Mr. Churchill's speech came a little scene. He stated that among the legislative proposals to be submitted, in addition to Home Rule, would be a measure for creating a fair and evenly constituted Second Chamber. A chorus of shouts came from the Opposition members, "When?"

FEW WILL SEE THE CORONATION

ROUTE IS SHORT, AND A MULTITUDE WILL BE UNABLE TO GET GOOD VIEWPOINTS.

Mayors Won't be Honored—Knighthoods Not to be Showered Down—Colonials Must Take Their Chance.

London, Feb. 3.—The coronation and the part of the "Colonials"—where shall we coin a more satisfactory word for overseas visitors?—are to play in it, is now a live topic, and we are reminded by one London Journal that "in 1902 the Dominion arch in White hall, allegorical of Canada's vast areas of cultivated lands, was the most striking and beautiful of all the decorations."

It is to be hoped that intending visitors from Canada will not imagine that they will receive some exceptional attention in the way of free seats to view the procession on Coronation Day. The route is so short, and so few portions of it are available for the erection of stands, that even the Government bought up all the seats, not all the overseas visitors could be accommodated, even if everybody else were excluded. Another rather insane idea seems to be that in addition to making a possible five hundred Coronation Peers, the King intends to Knight a few hundred colonial mayors, etc. The threatening slump in Peers ought surely to react in other branches of the title market.

Famous Case Ends

In Which Carter, Green and Gaynor Were Implicated in Fraud.

Savannah, Ga., Feb. 23.—Final decree were signed by Federal Judge Speer last night covering the decisions and agreements that have been reached in the litigation which involved Captain Oberlin M. Carter in this district. The United States recovered by civil suit about $42,000 of the estate of Captain Carter and allowed certain Attorneys' and Trustees' claims.

This ends the famous case which began with the indictment of Captain Carter and Messrs. Green and Gaynor, the two latter now in the Atlanta Federal Prison for fraud in the work on Savannah harbor.

Green and Gaynor were well known in Quebec.

SHUTTING OUT COUNTY PUPILS.

Toronto, Feb. 23.—Frontenac county is disturbed at a threat of Kingston to exclude the county pupils from the City Collegiate Institute in order to avoid a heavy expenditure for an enlargement of the school. Sydenham High School, in the county, is not an "improved" school nor is it large enough to accommodate the pupils now attending in Kingston. A deputation waited on Hon. Dr. Pyne at noon yesterday to consult him over the situation, and also a proposal to establish a continuation school in the northern part of the county to serve Addington as well. They also met Hon. Dr. Reaume over a colonization road grant in company with Lennox and Addington counties.

DR. McKIM ENDS SUIT.

New York, Feb. 22.—Society read with keen interest to-day an announcement made of an agreement whereby Dr. Smith Hollins McKim consents to end all pending and prospective litigation against his former wife and her father, Dr. Isaac E. Emerson, for alienation of Mrs. McKim's affections.

The agreement has revived the report that Mrs. McKim, who recently obtained a divorce from her husband at Reno, Nev., is going to marry Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt.

It is reported that an agreement provides that a large sum of money will be paid semi-annually to Dr. McKim until his death.

MONTREAL MAY QUIT PROVINCE OF QUEBEC

IF BILL PROVIDES FOR EXCLUSIVE AND PERPETUAL CAR FRANCHISE THERE'LL BE TROUBLE.

Mayor Declares It Will Have to Be Considered If Bill Passes.

Montreal, Feb. 23.—That the passage by the Legislature of the Montreal Street Railway merger bill, which provides for an exclusive and perpetual franchise, despite the storm of protest that is arising on all sides if passed, might mean the separation of the Island of Montreal from the remainder of the Province of Quebec was the startling statement made by Mayor Guerin this morning.

"It would be a rather radical proposal, but it might have to be considered," declared the Mayor.

"Quebec is a very large Province, but without the City of Montreal it would not amount to much. If the bill were to pass without amendment it is quite possible that a plebescite would be taken to decide the question of the separation of the island from the Province.

MOST IMPORTANT SINCE CIVIL WAR

JAMES J. HILL THUS REFERS TO PENDING RECIPROCITY PACT WITH CANADA.

England is Now Waiting—If Imperial Preference is Inaugurated Britain Would Impose the Tax on American Wheat.

St. Paul, Feb. 23.—Discussing an attack made on him through a letter from a North Dakota farmer, read in the United States Senate Tuesday, James J. Hill, of the Great Northern Railway, said: "The pending reciprocity treaty before Congress is the most important this country has had before since the Civil War. If, after having Canada waiting 40 years, we turn her down again, our country will suffer, and one of the hardest hit of our industries will be that of wheat raising.

"England is waiting and watching for just that thing to happen. Within the fortnight Austen Chamberlain had called up for decision in the British Parliament the measure providing an Imperial federation for England and her colonies.

NINE EXPLOSIONS.

New York, Feb. 23.—The ninth Black Hand bomb explosion in New York within a week occurred early to-day in a block of tenement houses on East Sixty-second street. The bomb, equipped with a fast burning fuse, was thrown from the roof of a five storey tenement down an narrow air shaft, exploding in the air between the second and third floors.

The force of the blast in the narrow shaft was terrible, throwing the walls on both sides out of plumb and hurling fragments of bricks and plaster upwards in a shower over the adjoining roofs. The building rocked as though about to collapse and the tenants, fifty in number, were thrown from their beds as if shaken out of a hammock. Nine persons were injured, but none seriously.

Rome, Feb. 20.—King Peter of Servia, who has been on a visit here for some days past, left this afternoon for Belgrade. He was accompanied to the station by King Victor Emmanuel and several of the Ministers, and was given a heart farewell by a great crowd of people.

Mr. R. R. Hall's Opinion of Farmers' Bank Case

Mr. R. R. Hall, solicitor for Hon. J. R. Stratton, has given the following to the Peterborough Press for publication:

What is the charge against Mr. Stratton and Mr. Warren?

Mr. R. R. Hall says it reads as follows:

"That in the year 1906 they did, contrary to law, conspire, confederate and agree with the Provisional Directors of the Farmers' Bank and others to obtain by false representation, deceit and fraud from or through the Treasury Board of the Dominion of Canada to open for business under the provisions of the Bank Act, to the detriment of the public."

What is your opinion Mr. Hall of the evidence which was given in support of that charge?

"In my judgment there has not been submitted to the court one tittle of evidence upon which a committment for trial should be based, but on the contrary the evidence at the trial entirely exonerates Mr. Stratton and Mr. Warren from any wrongdoing in connection with the Farmers' Bank."

"What are your reasons?" asked the reporter, "for forming such a strong opinion?"

"In the first place, the only misrepresentation that was made," said Mr. Hall, "to the Finance Minister and the Treasury Board of the Dominion of Canada was contained in a declaration made by W. R. Travers, then General Manager of the Farmers' Bank, wherein he swore in these words: 'On the 23rd day of October 1906, there had been actually bona-fide subscribed 5,757 shares of the Capital Stock of the Farmers' Bank of Canada, and I have had personal knowledge of the applications and subscriptions, and each and all of the said subscriptions is and are on the printed form of application, a copy of which is now produced and marked Exhibit "C." to this my declaration, and that said subscriptions appear on the stock books of the said bank, and that a sum beyond $250,000 thereof in each case had been actually paid in by the subscribers of the same.'"

Was that statement wholly incorrect?

"No," said Mr. Hall, "the evidence showed that there was 5,757 shares subscribed, and that the stock-holders had actually paid in on account of their subscriptions almost $200,000.00 in cash and that Travers personally hypothecated to the Trust Company certain notes made by the shareholders and raised thereon $80,000, which sum at Travers' request was paid over openly to the order of the Bank of Montreal, who are the Bankersfor the Dominion Government, and the cheque on its face showed that it was to be deposited with the Finance Minister and the Receiver General of the Dominion of Canada for the account of the Farmers' Bank."

"Where, then," said the reporter, "was their any wrong and concealment on the part of the Trust Company?"

"Most assuredly," said Mr. Hall, "It is quite apparent upon the face of the transaction, so far as the Trust Company was concerned, that it was engaged in a perfectly legal transaction, because any school boy knows that there is not the faintest objection to lending money upon notes which are made by financially responsible people, and the very fact that the cheque was marked payable to the Bank of Montreal, and showed the purpose for which it was intended, shows conclusively that there was not the slightest pretence to conceal from the Treasury Board the source from which the money came."

Had Mr. Stratton or Mr. Warren any knowledge of Travers' false declaration?

Mr. Hall said: "Travers swore positively in his evidence that he never told either Mr. Stratton or Mr. Warren, or anyone connected with the Trust Company that he made a false and misleading declaration to the Financial Department, and that no one in any way connected with the Trust Company knew of the existence of such a declaration."

Did the Trust Company assist him to get the certificate from the Finance Minister?

"No," said Mr. Hall. "Travers swore positively that neither Mr. Stratton nor Mr. Warren nor anyone connected with the Trust Company, had lent him any assistance whatever, with the Finance Minister or his Department, and that they had nothing whatever to do with the obtaining of the certificate from the Treasury Board."

Did Mr. Stratton or Mr. Warren make any profit out of the transaction personally?

Mr. Hall said in answer to this question "that Travers swore, and the books of the bank bear out his statement, that neither Mr. Stratton nor Mr. Warren received one single cent out of the transaction, but that the Trust & Guarantee Co. received interest on their money, and a bonus for making the loan, which in itself was a legitimate transaction."

What do you think of the result of this investigation?

"I consider," said Mr. Hall, "that the commitment of Mr. Stratton and Mr. Warren on this charge does them a great injustice, and under the circumstances it is nothing more than a travestry on justice and an unjust attempt to saddle upon them the cause of the failure of the Farmers' Bank, with the management of which they, personally, had nothing whatever to do, either directly or indirectly."

What is being done with the real culprits? enquired the reporter.

"Apparently nothing, beyond the conviction of Travers. I understand that about a million dollars was looted from the Farmers' Bank. It is incomprehensible to me why the authorities do not get after the real culprits who looted the bank, instead of people trying to drag into the affair the names of innocent people who did not contribute in the least degree to its failure."

Rival Factions Among Women Storm Capital

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 22.—With "Votes for Women" as the slogan on one side, and "Down with Equal Suffrage" on the other, suffragists and women who are opposed to the ballot for their sex captured the State capitol to-day. Most of them came from New York, the "antis" arriving on a special train.

The suffragists were here for the purpose of trying to have a bill reported that gives them equal rights with the men. It is the same measure that was defeated last year.

Though the invasion began yesterday, this was the big day, with the joint judiciary committees holding a hearing on the Newcomb-Spieldberg bill, which amends the constitution by striking out the word "male" where applied to voting.

The time for the hearing was apportioned as follows: Anti-suffragists, first hours; suffragists, second hour; antis next half-hour, and suffragists, last half-hour.

Long Chase Ended

San Francisco, Feb. 23.—After a chase across the continent and a hunt lasting more than seven months, Vincenzo Palato, alias Joh Vincenzo, has been arrested for the murder of Millionaire Wm. L. Rice, of Cleveland, Ohio, on August 5th last.

The fugitive was captured in a gambling house at Black Diamond by Detective J. C. Meinbrom, who had been on his trail for nearly eight months. Palato was finally traced to Berkeley, several days ago, but escaped before he could be nabbed. He admitted his identity, but refused to tell further. He who takes to Martinez to-day pending arrangements for extradition.

Snow Too Deep.

Ottawa, Feb. 23.—The snow has been so deep this year as to make hauling and cutting too hard on the lumber men. Gangs of men are arriving early from the woods, though ordinarily they remain till March. It is expected that the drive of logs down the river will commence in a few weeks.

John W. Sicklesmith, Greensboro, Pa., has three children, and like most children they frequently take cold. "We have tried several kinds of cough medicine," he says, "but have never found any yet that did them as much good as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy." For sale by all dealers.

Hardware Men Are Kept Very Busy

BIG CROWDS IN ATTENDANCE AT THE ARMORIES.

TO-DAY'S PROGRAMME.

9 to 12—Exhibition—No exhibits removed before Friday noon.
10 a.m.—Closing Session of Convention—Meeting of new executive, etc.

THURSDAY'S SESSION.

Because of the usual inadequacy of the hotels to handle crowds, the opening of the meeting was delayed somewhat. For the same reason regular business was carried on for a few minutes instead of immediately handing over the meeting to the exhibitors as arranged.

A solo rendered by Harry Bennett, with cornet accompaniment by Prof. Ghiddon, made a great hit. This song was composed by J. S. Weichel of Elmira.

The meeting was then put in charge of the exhibitors, with Mr. Bittuse, managing director in Canada of Gillette Safety Razor Co., weilding the gavel. With appropriate introductory announcement, Mr. F. M. Tobin was introduced as the first speaker, to present the views of practically all the exhibitors.

He expressed the thanks of the manufacturers for an opportunity of meeting so many of them in so short a time. The manufacturers, he said, naturally did not get to know the dealer personally without coming to see them. During the meet, he said, the manufacturers, perhaps developed such high pressure that he might want more of the dealers' time. He said a suggestion had been made that the dealers do not give the salesmen the treatment he should get. Realizing the many travellers that call on a dealer until he is simply "pestered," the speaker said it is possible to turn down a traveller and yet satisfy him. He thought unfair to the traveller to have his business interrupted. "You are sufficiently advanced in intelligence to learn from every salesman." The successful salesman, he said, was the keynote to business. The largest and most successful jobbers in Canada and the United States gave the traveller the greatest attention, he affirmed.

In regard to the kindness of the Association in receiving the manufacturers, he said, "We are pushing the slogan 'Made-in-Canada,' and we are going to make it warm enought to appeal to your most tender spot, your pocket book."

Mr. A. J. Barnett, of Iron Age Hardware, from New York, was then introduced, this being his first visit to a convention of the O.R.H. & S.D.A. Mr. Barnett declared that he came as a listerner and not a speaker. The Question Box feature, he said, had been mostly relied upon to make the conventions in the United States of interest, rather than by the reading of papers. At the Ohio Convention next week, he said, the Question Box would be the main item of the programme. The next number of his paper he said would be a Canadian number containing much Canadian data that he believed would be of interest to United States trade.

Mr. T. B. Williamson, of H. S. Howland, Sons & Co., who was next called upon, said his being called upon was a joke of Mr. Bittuse, and being a Scotchman he did not see it. "It is upon the manufacturers," he said, "to create the demand. A jobber, he said, is essentially a distributor of goods, and it is a question to-day which is the cheaper way for the dealers to buy goods. In regard to catalogue houses which, are not much heard of in Canada, he said, he had been told it costs catalogue houses forty per cent. to market goods.

The bringing up of advertising by the dealer and competition of catalogue houses, Mr. Williamson, he thought a valuable consideration.

Mr. Chas. Smallpiece of the Taylor-Forbes Co., was the next speaker called upon. He thought that retailers did not always look as closely into the lines before ordering as they should.

The emphasizing of quality, he thought, sometimes neglected by salesmen. He expressed disappointment that in the majority of large buildings in Ontario and Quebec much of the hardware was being imported. "In Canada," he said, "we manufacture as good hardware as any in the world." In concluding, he told the dealers to emphasize "Made-in Canada." when buying.

Mr. Bittuse advised the dealers to make the United States manufacturers come over here with their plants and their money. He then called upon Mr. A. S. Howe of the Dover Mfg. Co., an American house, manufacturers of Asbestos Sad Irons.

Mr. Howe said the Canadian trade had received Asbestos Sad Irons most warmly and assured the delegates that quality in their manufacture would not be sacrificed. Mr. Howe concluded with the statement that his firm purposed coming over to Canada to manufacture.

Mr. T. W. Caley, of the Peterboro Lock Co., said he had spent 36 years inthe manufacture of builders' hardware, and that it was by accident he came to Canada. It was on the understanding that the sole object was Canada for Canadians

J. J. Turner, of J. J. Turner & Sons, to whom the Association is much indebted for assistance in connection with the arrangement of the exhibition booths, eulogized Secretary Wrigley for his activity in connection with the Association and complimented the organization upon its success.

WEDNESDAY'S SESSION.

The convention is a huge success, not only as regards the display, but also in regard to the attendance. Last night the large building was again thronged and everybody appeared to be pleased with what they saw.

At the session of the convention on Wednesday afternoon, the hall was well filled and President Cinnamon occupied the chair.

H. T. Kirk, of New Westminster, B.C., president of the B.C. Hardware Dealers' Association, Mr. F. C. Lariviere, Montreal, Honorary member of the Ontario Association; Mr. Hunt, of London, and Mr. Maxwell of

THE GROUND FLOOR.

Once upon a time, as the story goes, a Fox and a Groundhog went out for a walk, and their talk immediately drifting on to the subject of the various schemes which even in that day were being presented to a credulous public by which they might Get-Rich-Quick, the fox, recognizing the increasing interest of the groundhog in the subject, remarked: 'Would you like, my boy, to get in on the ground floor of an absolutely sure thing?' and the groundhog's readiness to embrace such an exceptional opportunity being immediately communicated, the fox said: "All right then, you have only to open your mouth and the plum will fall into it—there you are;" and suiting the action to the word, he pointed to a juicy piece of meat which was hanging from a bush near by. As the groundhog reached for it, the carefully concealed trap, to which the fox had all along been leading him, was sprung, and the fox walked off with the meat. The foxes which are on your track to-day are more numerous than ever, and the number of get-rich-quick schemes with which you are beset is also increasing. The ground-floor plan is worked over-time and the "fox" in ninety-nine times out of one hundred walks off with the "plum." If, however, the people of Canada are seriously looking for a "sure thing" in which to invest their savings, that sure thing is available to them in the Canadian Government Annuities proposition, by which for the payment of a small sum each month they can provide an income to begin at an age after the age of 55, ample for all needful requirements, and which no process of law can deprive them of. You should be interested in the subject, and information will be supplied you either by your Postmaster or by the Superintendent of Annuities, Ottawa, to whom letters go free of postage.

CHINA-JAPAN MAIL WRECKED.

Fifteen Injured in Accident Near Palisades, Nevada.

Palisade, Nev., Feb. 23.—Fifteen passengers were injured, three seriously, in a wreck on the Southern Pacific Railway, near here, late last night. The eastbound China-Japan fast mail went into the ditch. The wreck was caused by a broken rail.

The tourist car, the dining car, a mail car, and a standard sleeping car were derailed, but they did not turn over. The smoking car and chair car turned over on their sides and slid down the embankment. Four hundred feet of track were torn up by the derailment, causing several hours delay in traffic.

New Industry for Winnipeg.

Cobourg, Feb. 23.—It is stated that two well known and popular young citizens of Cobourg, Messrs. Lyle Crossen and Percy Clarke, have recently organized at Winnipeg, and received a charter for a company to be known as the Winnipeg Steel Granery and Culvert Co., Limited, capitalized at $100,000, with headquarters at Winnipeg, where the plant will be located, and a branch at Regina. The company will manufacture corrugated steel products of all kinds, chiefly for the use of railroad and municipalities. Mr. Lyle Crossen, who is a son of Mr. W. J. Crossen, president of the Crossen Car Co., is at present in Winnipeg. Mr. Percy Clarke is the oldest son of Mr. Sam. Clarke, M.P.P., for West Northumberland.

By LOUIS TRACY.

CONTINUED.

and September 30 the total British casualties were nearly four thousand.

Malcolm soon learned that the Princess Rochinara had fled with her father and brothers. Probably the death of Akbab Khan had unnerved her, and she dared not trust to the of the victors. Frank was among the first to enter the palace. After a few fanatical ghasees were made an end of, he hurried towards the zenana. It was empty. He searched its glittering apartments with feverish anxiety, but he met no human being until some men of the 75th entered and began to prise open boxes and cupboards in the search for loot.

After that his duties took him to the Ridge, and it was not until all was over that he heard how Hodson had captured the King and shot the royal princes with his own hand. This tragedy took place on the road from Humayun's Tomb, whither the wretched monarch retreated when it was seen that Delhi must yield. Hodson claimed to be an executioner, not a murderer. He held that he acted under the pressure of a mob, intent on rescuing Mirza Moghul, the heir apparent, and his brother and son. That all three were cowardly ruffians and merciless in their treatment of the English captured in Delhi on May 11, cannot be denied, but Hodson's action was condemned by many, and it was perhaps as well that he found a soldier's grave during Colin Campbell's advance on Lucknow.

It was there that the fortune of war next brought Malcolm. Delhi had scarce quieted down after the storm and fury of the week's street fighting when Havelock, re-enforced by Outram, drove the relief force through the insurgent ring around the Residency like some stout ship forcing her way to port through a raging sea.

No sooner had he entered the entrenchment on the 25th of Sept. than the rebel waves surged together again in his rear, and on the 27th the Residency was again invested almost as closely as ever. But the new column infused vigor and hope in the hearts of a garrison that had ceased even to despair. Apathy, a quiet waiting for death, was the prevalent attitude in Lucknow until the Highland bonnets were seen tossing above the last line of mutineers that tried to bar their passage through the streets. At once the besieged took up the offensive. The lines were greatly extended, the enemy's advanced posts were carried with the bayonet, troublesome guns were seized and spiked and the rebel mining operations summarily stopped.

Two days before Havelock's little army cut its way into Lucknow, Unged, the pensioner, crept in to the retrenchment and announced the coming relief. He was not believed. Twice already had he brought that cheering message and events had falsified his news.

Winifred, a worn and pallid Winifred by this time, sought him and asked for tidings of Malcolm. He had none. There was a rumor that Delhi had fallen, and an officer had told him that there was a Major Malcolm on Nicholson's staff. That was all. Not a letter, not a sign, came to reassure the heart-broken girl, so the joy of Havelock's arrival was dimmed for her by the uncertainty that obtained in regard to her lover's fate.

Then the dreadful waiting began again. After having endured a plague of heat in the hot weather, the remnant of the original garrison was subjected to the torment of cold in the months that followed. In Upper India the change of temperature is so remarkably sudden that it is incomprehensible to those who live in more favored climes. Early in October the thermometer falls by many degrees each day. The reason is, of course, that the diminishing power of the sun permits the earth to throw off by night the heat, always intense, stored during the day. Something in the nature of an atmospheric vacuum is thus created, and the resultant cold continues until the opposite effect brings about the lasting heat of the summer months, which begin about March 15 in that part of India.

But scientific explanations of unpleasant phenomena are poor substitutes for scanty clothing. In some respects the last position of the beleaguered garrison was worse than the first, and the days were on in seemingly endless misery, until absolutely authentic intelligence arrived on November 9, that Sir Colin Campbell was at Bunnee and would march forthwith to relieve the Residency.

Then Outram, who had succeeded to the chief command as soon as Havelock joined hands with Inglis, called for a volunteer who would act as Sir Colin's guide through the network of canals, roads, and scattered suburbs that added to the dangers of Lucknow's narrow streets, and a man named Kavanagh, an uncovenanted civilian, offered his services.

It is not hard to picture Kavanagh's lot if he were captured by the mutineers. His own views were definite on the point. Beneath his native disguise he carried a pistol, not for use against an enemy, but to take his own life if he failed to creep through the investing lines. But he succeeded, and lived to be the only civilian hero ever awarded the Victoria Cross.

Another incident of the march should be noted. Malcolm saw preparations being made to hang a Mohammedan who was suspected of having ill-treated Europeans. The man protested his innocence, but he was not listened to. Then Frank, thinking he remembered his face, questioned him and found he was the zemindar who helped Winifred, her uncle and himself during the flight from Cawnpore.

Such testimony from an officer more than sufficed to outweigh the slight evidence against the prisoner, who was set at liberty forthwith. During the remainder of his life he had ample leisure to reflect on the good fortune that led him to help the people who sought his assistance on that June night. Were it not for Malcolm's interference he would have been hanged without mercy, and possibly not without good cause.

On the afternoon of November 11, Sir Colin Campbell reviewed his little army. It was drawn up in parade order, on a plain a few miles south of the Dilkusha. Three thousand four hundred men faced him, and the smallness of the number is eloquent of the magnitude of their task. Indeed, that is one of the salient features of each main episode of the Mutiny. Nicholson at Delhi, Havelock at Cawnpore and on the way to Lucknow, Colin

$10,000,000 of stock still in the Treasury.

$10,000,000 pooled for 9 and 18 months.

500 acres of land; value, $3,000 per acre.

A subsidy obtained from the Municipality of North Vancouver of 5 per cent. for 15 years on $200,000, and freedom from taxation of our plant and 30 acres of land for 10 years.

A subsidy obtained from the Dominion of Canada, 3½ per cent. for 25 years on $1,214,000, for the purpose of building a dry dock of 15,000 tons at Roslyn, the Company's townsite.

A very valuable brick clay deposit has been discovered on the Company's property. This will be developed to its fullest capacity, as brick clay is very rare here, Vancouver even importing from Seattle millions of brick annually.

NOTE.—A shareholder participates in every asset of the Company.

LIABILITIES OF THE COMPANY

Amount yet owing on land, extending over a period of four years, $446,000.

REMARKS

MORE LANDS

The Company proposes to purchase lands surrounding their townsite, and to this end are securing options on about 250 acres, with about 2,800 feet of deep waterfrontage adjoining that which they now own.

MINES

They have also secured an option of purchase of a group of ten claims of very valuable iron deposits situated within twelve miles of their townsite. The Company believe, located as they are in a country which abounds with everything necessary to the smallest detail for turning out a perfect car, should go to nature's storehouse for their material, and with this end in view have secured the above group.

SHIPBUILDING

In addition to building the Imperial Sleeping Car, cars of every description will be contracted for, and just as soon as their dry dock is completed, the Company intend to use it to the greatest advantage in building ships of the largest tonnage. As there will be but three or four docks in the whole Dominion, they will encounter but very little competition in the building of the larger class of vessels.

SALE OF LANDS

The Company do not intend to sell any of its land until its dry dock, car works, sawmills and other industries are in operation, and in this way secure as nearly as possible all the profit derived from the establishment of these great works.

CLEARING OF LAND

The Municipality of North Vancouver have under consideration a proposition from the Company whereby the Company promise to clear their whole townsite on condition the Municipality will at once clear and grade all the streets, charging the cost of same to local improvement taxes. The Municipality view the Company's proposition with great favor. This plan would at least double the price of the Company's holdings.

PURCHASING STOCK

A small block of stock is now on the market and can be had on very easy terms of payment. This once sold, the Company will have no difficulty to borrow on their assets at from 4 to 5 per cent. any money they will require for improvement purchases, and in this case all stock will be withdrawn from the market.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Ex-Pres. Roosevelt is Again on the Move

Chicago, Feb. 23.—Theodore Roosevelt was the centre of the celebration of Washington's birthday in Chicago to-day and his programme was strenuous enough to satisfy even his strenuous appetite.

When he got up this morning he announced that he was "fit as a fiddle" after a day's rest and a good night's sleep at the Union League Club. Looking at the programme, however, he declared: "This certainly is a terror."

For the first time in a long time, the Colonel is in training for a visit. He admitted that he had to "get into trim" for his first trip to Chicago, and that he came a day ahead of time to prepare for the busy day before him.

From 8.30 until 10 o'clock the Colonel received friends at the Union League Club and hundreds of personal as well as political friends, called on him. Following the reception he appeared for his speech at the auditorium at 10.30 o'clock.

MAN BREAKS RECORD AND DIES

New York, Feb. 23.—Charles Muenchler, a retired boss barber, broke the Brooklyn record for the rapid consumption of Scotch whiskey last night, and to-day he was found dead from the effects of his feat. On a bet he finished a quart bottle in one hour—an average of one ordinary drink every four minutes. Mrs. Muenchler told the coroner and detectives that two men had brought her husband home at 2 o'clock in the morning in a drunken stupor. The detectives found that Muenchler went to his favorite hotel Friday night and became involved in an argument with a man known as "Mike" as to their relative carrying capacities.

"I'll bet you $5 that I can drink a quart of Scotch faster than you can," said Muenchler.

"You're on," rejoined Mike.

The house supplied two quarts. A large crowd followed to a back room to see the bout. Muenchler went at his bottle in rapid style. "Mike" was more conservative. In one hour Muenchler had finished his quart; the other man had only a third out of his bottle. Muenchler took his stake and fell over in a stupor, and in that state was carried home to die.

The Agreement Means the Sale of Birthright

London, Feb. 23.—The Pall Mall Gazette says the American makers of the tariff agreement know quite well that reciprocity spells absorption, and their daring policy does all credit to their patriotic zeal for their country's growth and glory. Viewed from an American standpoint the agreement is perhaps the most brilliant piece of political initiative since the days of Bismark, but for Canadians it means the sale of their birthright. The chances of its ratification at Ottawa are visibly diminishing opines the Gazette.

AN AULTRIA OPINION.

London, Feb. 22—A Vienna paper the Fremdenblatt, says the disposition of Canada towards England is excellent, but the reciprocity treaty shows she is not minded to subordinate her commercial policy to political considerations. It shows also the weakness of the British Imperial Policy, that is not guided by economic and political ideas.

CANADIANS AND ANNEXATION TALK

New York, Feb. 22.—Col. E. Price-Jones, the English M.P., who has been in Canada and the West for several weeks, says that the general feeling in Eastern Canada is against reciprocity, as it is feared that the trade from Western Canada would be diverted to the United States. In the Western sections the farmers generally were uncertain as to the benefits and Col. Pryce-Jones said he thought if the matter was put up to a vote at the present time it would be defeated.

Canadians generally, said the Colonel, ridiculed the talk of annexation One thing which the Canadians generally believe will result from reciprocity will be to arouse Great Britain to a better understanding and a more liberal policy with the colonies.

The Colonel sailed to-day on the Mauretania for England.

TWO NEW BATTLESHIPS.

U.S. Navy Appropriations Bill Provides for Their Construction.

Washington, Feb. 22.—The House passed the navy appropriations bill to-day by a vote of 167 to 132. The measure carries two battleships and the eight hour law provision. The House then proceeded to consider the Panama fortifications bill.

SETTLED $50,000 ON SONG BIRD

Mme. Cavalieri Agrees to Drop Civil Suits Against Robert Chanler.

It was learned to-day that "finis" has been written upon the romance of the famous operatic song bird and the eccentric young American, which stirred two continents for months.

Following a secret trip to this country several weeks ago on the part of Oreste Cavalieri, representing his sister, a conference was held during which it was agreed that Madame Cavalieri will sue for her freedom through the courts of France. Furthermore, Mme. Cavalieri agreed to drop all civil suits against her husband, including present and future attempts to enforce the famous pre-nuptial agreement by the terms of which Robert W. Chanler said he turned over all his property to his bride.

SETTLE SUM ON DIVA.

In return for these concessions on Mme Cavalieri's part, the "sheriff" and his brothers agreed to settle an unconditional sum upon the diva. This sum is stated to amount to approximately $50,000.

"Both Mme Cavalieri and Mr. Chanler were tired of their intolerable positions," said a friend of the couple to-day, "and both grasped at a chance to free themselves from an alliance that had become unbearable. There was no disposition on the part of either Chanler or his family to refuse an adequate settlement to Mme Cavalieri. The money she received is small compared to the amount she might have received by a legal battle. But, rather than undergo the notoriety attendant upon public appearances in court, and also because she feels that the whole affair has been most unfortunate, Mme. Cavalieri agreed to the settlement."

Says Annexation Talk is All Bosh

London, Feb. 22.—J. D. McGregor, a director of the South Alberta Land Company, in an interview says: "This talk of annexation is simply put forward to embarrass the low tariff people. There is nothing, whatever, behind it. The U.S.A. doesn't want to annex Canada any more than Canada wants to be annexed. The way to make people disloyal is to handicap them in the matter of selling."

For Canal Fortification

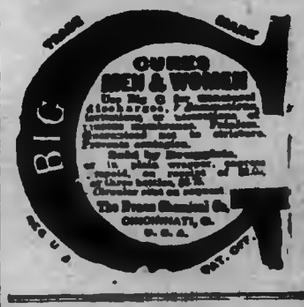
Civil Bill to Carry $2,000,000 Panama Appropriations.

Washington, Feb. 23.—Representative Fitzgerald, of New York, a member of the committee on Appropriations, announced in the House that the sundry provision bill that the sundry civil bill will carry a provision for the fortification of the Panama Canal. The statement was greeted with applause.

It is understood that the civil bill, when reported by the Appropriations Committee, will carry $3,000,000 for the fortification of the canal.

Drank Carbolic.

Kingston, Feb. 22.—Cornelius Baiden, clerk in Steacy and Steacy's dry goods store, committed suicide last night in a small hotel on Wellington street. He drank about an ounce of carbolic acid. His act is attributed to melancholy. A few months ago he was married to a young widow. He was about 33.



Synopsis of Canadian Northwest Land Regulations

SAVED HER FINGER.

Mrs. B. E. Bedwell, of 237 Provencher Ave., St. Boniface, Winnipeg, says:—"Some time ago my children took diphtheria, and while attending them the poison entered a small scratch on the second finger of my left hand. This became very sore and blood-poisoning soon set in. For months after the children were quite well I was suffering from a shockingly bad finger. The scratch was caused originally by a pen, and in itself, was not at all serious. The consequences, however, of neglecting this scratch, were very serious to me.

"When the blood-poisoning set in I tried poultices and a salve I had in the house. These, however, did not have the desired effect. Quite on the contrary the finger became more and more swollen and discolored. It then began to fester, and I had to call in a doctor. He lanced the finger to let out the pus, and you can imagine how painful the finger was! Despite his care, however, it again festered and the pain became intense, and it was evident very shortly that the trouble was being reduced to a less and still less area. We persevered with the Zam-Buk and in the end the festering sore was thoroughly cleansed, then healed. In under three weeks from first commencing with Zam-Buk, the finger was entirely well; and had we applied Zam-Buk in the first place, instead of trying ordinary prepared balm, no doubt I should have saved myself hours and hours of acute agony."

All sufferers should note this case. Zam-Buk is a sure cure for blood-poisoning, festering, sores, scratches from barbed wire, abrasions, eczema, rashes, tetter, ash sheums, foul sores, ulcers, piles, bad leg, running sores, and all skin injuries and diseases. Rub it in, all druggists and stores or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Send 1c stamp for postage of free trial box. Refuse all imitations.

A Costly Spree.

Railway Accident.

Yesterday morning an accident occurred on the Grand Trunk track near Birdsall, Otonabee, by which a couple of cars were ditched. The accident was caused through the breaking of an axle. The auxiliary from Lindsay was rushed down, and the line cleared in a short time.

Found a Snake.

While opening a crate of pineapples at Mr. S. A. Oke's fruit store a snake was discovered comfortably curled up amongst the packing. The reptile evidently crawled in before the fruit started from Florida, thus had a free ride right through. It was promptly killed, and is preserved in alcohol.

May Keep Circuses Out.

The bill now before the Ontario Legislature and which is likely to become law, provides that circuses shall pay to the Provincial Treasurer $100 per day license. This will no doubt help to keep these kind of shows from entering Canada.

Massive Rink for Kirkfield.

Lindsay Post: According to reports, that pretty little hamlet, Kirkfield, is to have one of the finest rinks between Toronto and Montreal. A site has been selected for a $15,000 structure 160x80 ice space and fitted up with all modern conveniences. It is further understood that the structure will be erected during the coming summer.

At a meeting held at the store of Mr. R. C. Braund, a resolution was passed that the Railway Board be asked not to close Chamberlain street, as proposed. Mr. Braund accompanied by one other of the interested parties, will go to Ottawa to present their protest to the Board in person.

A Valuable Horse Lost.

While travelling along Charlotte street, a horse attached to a hack belonging to Mr. Gibbs, stepped into a ditch which had been made to convey the water off the street railway track. The jolt broke the collar-bone of the horse. It is said that Mr. Gibbs will seek damages from the city. The drain was at once filled in.

How it Looks to Him.

Our Hunter street contemporary yesterday headed a wedding notice with the word "Obituary." This is no doubt the way getting married appeals to the editor of our contemporary, who evidently thinks that married existence and death are pretty much the same thing.

Inspection of Milk.

Hon. Mr. Duff has introduced a bill into the Ontario Legislature having to do with milk vendors. The bill gives municipal councils the power to pass by-laws regulating the production and sale of milk and for the appointment of milk inspectors for the municipality, who have power to enter into the premises of milk vendors at any time and demand statistics, or to demand such samples when the vendors are making their rounds.

When you have rheumatism in your back or muscles apply Chamberlain's Liniment and your pain will soon cease. It costs but a quarter. Why suffer? For sale by all dealers.

Ran to Warsaw.

On Wednesday evening a team of horses belonging to a local liveryman attached to a hack, took fright and ran away. They happened to be in the north end of the town, on the east side of the river when they started. There was a young lady in the hack, and both she and the driver were thrown out, but forunately without injury. The horses continued running until they reached Warsaw, where they were captured. The hack was badly damaged.

A Pretty House Wedding.

On Wednesday afternoon a very pretty house wedding was solemnized at the bride's parent's, 491 Parnell street, when their daughter, Miss Mary Peters was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Thomas Frost. The bride was attended by Mrs. Barry, and Mr. George Peters supported the groom. The nuptial knot was tied by the Rev. Mr. J. G. Brown of St. James' Methodist Church.

Fined Ten Dollars.

A driver for a local coal company was yesterday fined $10 by Police Magistrate Dumble, for making improper proposals to a married woman residing with her husband and family in the south end of the city. The husband, when told of the occurence, at once laid a charge against the party, and the above fine was imposed.

C.G.E. Benefit Society.

The semi-annual meeting of the Mutual Benefit Society of the Canadian General Electric Company was held at the Y.M.C.A. parlours last evening and the report of the President, W. S. Robinson, showed the Society to be in a flourishing condition. The membership is now twelve hundred. The financial statement showed the reserve fund to be $1,936.57.

Congregational Meeting.

The annual congregational meeting of the George street Methodist Church took place on Wednesday evening, when reports from the various church organizations were submitted. Mr. W. D. Dumble presided and delivered a thoughtful address on church topics. A short program was presented, in which Mrs. Downey gave a reading, and Mrs. W. Routley a song; Mrs. Kendry had kindly loaned the use of her large Victor gramaphone, and many excellent selections, both vocal and instrumental were reproduced to the delight of the audience. The Ladies' Aid Society served refreshments.

Trains Worked by Phones.

The Canadian Pacific Railway is busy extending its telephone system between various points for the operation of trains. The latest section to be installed is that from Toronto to London, a distance of 114 miles by rail. The telephones which will supplement and not supercede the telegraphs will be fitted at 25 stations on the line to London, and are intended to be used only in the despatching of trains. The Port Burwell, St. Thomas and St. Mary Branches, and the line between Toronto and Smith's Falls, are also to be connected by phone. The C.P.R. is already working about 1,500 miles of track by this method.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Telephone Co. Organized.

Norwood Register:—At a meeting held on Tuesday evening at the offices of the local branch of the Department of Agriculture it was decided to organize a local telephone company, under the special act passed at the last session of the Legislature to be known as the East Peterborough Ind. Telephone Co. The following provisional officers and directors were elected:—President, Mr. W. T. Rink; Secretary, Mr. W. A. Richardson; Directors, Messrs. E. P. Cuffe, G. A. Brethen, John W. Rorabeck, T. E. Finlay, and Andrew Marks, Len Brown, James Gardner, Chas. McNulty, Wm. Sanderson and Andrew Knox. A good start was made towards securing the capital necessary for the purposes of the company and the directors are confident that sufficient money can be obtained to carry out their plans.

Billing By Typewriter Saves Money

Every live manager and every live proprietor of every business enterprise wants to save time. Time is the scarcest and the most precious thing in the universe.

THE MONARCH

BILLING TYPEWRITER saves time — saves the manager's time because his records come to him clear and legible; saves the accountant's time because much of his work is done on the machine; saves the stenographer's time because the work progresses more rapidly. The accumulation of time saved means much in the course of a year.

Mr. W. W. Dunlop, system specialist, is exhibiting MONARCH BILLING MACHINES of every description at the Hardwaremen's Convention this week in the Armouries. Bring along your forms and tell your problems and he will gladly help you if he can. See these marvelous MONARCH Typewriters anyway.

Criminals Have Many Ways to Die in Nevada

Reno, Nev., Feb. 23.—Condemned men in Nevada will have their choice of death by hanging, shooting or poison, if the law compiled by the code commission, which will be presented to the Legislature to-day, is approved. Hydrocianic acid is the poison alternative mentioned.

One drop on the end of the tongue is sufficient to produce instant death. The measure provides that at the time of sentencing, the condemned man may choose his way to die. If by poison he is to be supplied by the physician of the prison, and is to be instructed in its use.

PETERBOROUGH IS ON ANXIOUS SEAT

BIG ORDER FOR BOOKS REFUSED UNTIL TRADE QUESTION IS SETTLED.

People are Holding Back—Only One Same View to take Says Publisher—Fact is Revolutionary.

From The Toronto News.

The trade of the retail booksellers has been unsettled as a result of the proposed reciprocity agreement.

Only yesterday a Peterborough bookseller refused to place an order with a wholesaler in this city on the ground that several of the big factories had virtually notified their thousands of hands that if reciprocity went through they might expect to be laid off or to be placed on short time.

"A Peterborough bookseller," said the president of the largest publishing house in Canada, "came in to our warehouse to buy some of the text books. We tried to interest him in fiction, but that was impossible. He told us that they couldn't sell anything down there. All the people on Salary were holding back until they saw which way the thing was going. Manufacturers and wholesalers," he said, "had notified their employes that they should be prepared for anything; for a cut in wages or to be laid off altogether."

CONDEMNED LOTTERIES. NEED NOT PARDON.

The Hague, Feb. 24.—The Permanent Court of Arbitration to-day decided that England need not pardon Vinayack Havarkar, the Indian law student, charged with sedition to the French authorities.

Suspicious Facts in Double Asphyxiation

Bruises Found on Bodies of Both Chatham Victims—Inquest Being Held.

Chatham, Ont., Feb. 24.—The inquest into the cause of death of the late D. A. Hutchinson and his wife, whowere killed by being suffocated by gas fumes in their home, opened last night and adjourned until to-night.

The inquest has been ordered by the Crown Attorney and it is expected that some interesting developments in the case will be brought out.

Several bruises were found on both the bodies, which have aroused the suspicion of the authorities.

The double funeral took place this morning.

135,000 Australian Youths for the Army

Melbourne, Australia, Feb. 24.—Under the compulsory service law 126,000 lads have registered for army training. Figures show that the response by the youths of the Federation has been marvelous.

The Federal Government has gone a step further in the campaign against Asiatics in Australia. Regulations have been issued which will have the effect of practically expelling Orientals. The real reason is that the authorities charged with the duty of securing the defence of the island continent are anxious lest the Japanese may have the opportunity of spying.

A Successful Year

Annual Report of the Sovereign Life Assurance Company.

We congratulate the officers and shareholders of the Sovereign Life Assurance Company of Canada on the result of operations of the company for the past year, as shown in the report which we publish elsewhere in this issue. It is alike gratifying to the management as well as to the shareholder and shows that the institution is carefully and prudently managed. The income of the Company during the year from premiums and interest amounted to $138,856.61 being a considerable increase over last year. The interest received in cash during the year amounted to $28,038.55, being $9,307.77 in excess of any previous year. The total assets at the close of the year amounted to $785,283.04, being an increase of $162,892.13 over previous year.

Terrible Railway Wreck Fifty People Killed

Valparaiso, Chile, Feb. 24.—A railway train jumped the tracks on the bridge near the American Braden copper mines to-day and plunged into the ravine below.

Fifty persons were killed or injured.

CANADIAN ENDS LIFE IN BUFFALO

Was Wanted for Theft — He Took Eighteen Morphine Pills, Besides Quantity of Chloral.

Buffalo, N.Y., Feb. 24.—George A. Allen, aged 50, for over 20 years a trusted employee of the Welland Nale Mfg. Co., of St. Catharines, Ont., died at the Emergency Hospital at 3 o'clock this morning from morphine poisoning, following his arrest last night by a local detective agency on the charge of theft preferred by the St. Catharines firm.

Chief H. M. Green, of St. Catharines, wired that he had a warrant. Something like $1,000 was involved.

When arrested Allen said he had taken eighteen morphine pills and a quantity of chloral and he dropped unconscious.

L.O.L. No. 50.

The regular meeting of Duke of Manchester L.O.L. No. 50, was held on Thursday night, with a large attendance of members. Two candidates were duly initiated into the Orange degree. Bro. Clarke of Kenora was present and gave a fine address. Considerable business for the welfare of the lodge was transacted, and Bro. Barrie was appointed as delegate to represent the lodge at the meeting of the Eastern Grand Lodge to be held in Smith's Falls, on the third Wednesday in March.

ALL CHURCHES ON SAME FOOTING

FRENCH PROTESTANTS PASS RESOLUTION AGAINST ROME'S SPECIAL PRIVILEGES.

Montreal, Feb. 24.—"That the time has come to demand that the Roman Catholic Church of the Province of Quebec should be put on the same footing as the other Churches of the country by the withdrawal of the extraordinary privileges which it enjoys, contrary to the provisions of the Treaty of Paris, which she abuses to crush the people."

Such was the resolution passed unanimously at a large meeting of French Protestants held in St. John's Church last evening.

"The ultramontane section of Catholicism has had the audacity to usurp the misleading name of Nationalism," he declared. "Certain people imagine that as a nation there is nothing to fear from this. But those who have studied the question cannot fail to see the danger, and marvel at the indifference of the majority of Protestants. If the Nationalist party, so called, has any policy whatever, and if in concert with the clergy it succeeds, the Province of Quebec will be the indifference of the majority of Canada, and raising the cries of race and language will place itself in antagonism with the other Provinces, and again will be seen the chains which for so long held it a slave under the old religious and political regime. If they succeed in isolating French Canada from the rest of the country, will that be a patriotic work?

"England made a serious mistake in leaving the conquered colony under the old regime. If a good system of education and other institutions had been established this Province would have advanced more rapidly.

"It is strange that in this 20th century the church of Rome here under the British flag should exercise such powers, reign as a tyrant, receiving from the State almost all she demands, and exploiting at her pleasure the people of this Province. Not satisfied with this, however, she seeks to fetter the progress of modern civilization in the Province of Ontario, Alberta and Saskatchewan."

HEREDITY.

Can Be Overcome in Cases.

The influence of heredity cannot, of course, be successfully disputed, but it can be minimized or entirely overcome in some cases by correct food and drink. A Conn. lady says:

"For years while I was a coffee drinker I suffered from bilious attacks of great severity, from which I used to emerge as white as a ghost and very weak. Our family physician gave me various prescriptions for improving the digestion and stimulating the liver, which I tried faithfully but without perceptible result.

"He was acquainted with my family history for several generations back, and once when I visited him he said: 'If you have inherited one of those torpid livers you may always suffer more or less from its inaction. We can't dodge our inheritance, you know.'

"I was not so strong a believer in heredity as he was, however, and, beginning to think for myself, I concluded to stop drinking coffee, and see what effect that would have. I feared it would be a severe trial to give it up, but when I took Postum and had it well made, it completely filled my need for a hot beverage and I grew very fond of it.

"I have used Postum for three years, using no medicine. During all that time I have had absolutely none of the bilious attacks that I used to suffer from, and I have been entirely free from the pain and debilitating effects that used to result from them.

"The change is surely very great, and I am compelled to give Postum the exclusive credit for it." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

RECIPROCITY BILL GOES TO SENATE

THE FINANCE COMMITTEE REPORTS BILL WITHOUT RECOMMENDATION.

The Members Decline to Report Favorably or Unfavorably—No Vote on the Pact This Week in the Senate.

Washington, Feb. 24.—The Senate Finance Committee to-day reached the McCall Canadian reciprocity bill without recommendation.

At the executive session of the committee two votes were taken. A motion to report the bill favorably was defeated 7 to 6 and another motion to report the measure unfavorably was also defeated 7 to 6. It will be impossible for a vote to be taken on the bill in the Senate this week.

SENATOR CUMMINS' DEMAND.

Senator Cummins will demand time to speak on the resolution call on the President to submit information gathered by the Tariff Board regarding certain commodities affected by the bill, and with this and the Lorimer case on its hands the Senate can do nothing to-day or to-morrow towards taking a vote on the bill.

Must Report Monthly.

Earl Schwier, the sixteen-year-old youth who was charged with stealing several small articles, including socks and pincers, from the lumber camp of Dickson brothers, Smith township, appeared before the county court yesterday morning. After hearing the evidence, Magistrate Edmison advised him to try and secure some permanent employment at which he could earn an honest living. He allowed him his liberty, requiring him, however, to report on the first day of each month, commencing in April.

CONDEMNED LOTTERIES.

Lotteries at bazaars were condemned by the Roman Catholic Archbishop of Dublin, Dr. Walsh, in a speech at the Irish capital, as an inducement to gambling.

MAN CUT INTO THREE PIECES

TERRIBLE DEATH OF HIRAM STINSON, A SAW MILL MAN.

Occurred at Bernard Lake—The Details Reached Hall on Thursday Morning.

Ottawa, Feb. 24.—Cut into three pieces by falling upon a circular saw, Hiram Stinson met a horrible death in the sawmill of J. A. Erickson near Bernard Lake, on Monday afternoon. Details of the accident have reached Hull. Stinson was 22 years of age, unmarried and lived at Lascelle's Corpers, Masham township.

Stinson was working beside the saw, taking away the slabs, when the carriage which carried the log was stopped for a few moments to be adjusted. It is supposed that at this moment Stinson attempted to jump across the saw, and his clothing was caught in the sharp teeth. His cries attracted the attention of his companions, who turned around and were horrified to see Stinson mutilated before them. His head and legs were cut off, and there was also a terrible cut across the body.

Next Year Will Meet in City of Guelph

The Convention of Retail Hardware Men Closed Yesterday.

The sixth annual convention of the Ontario Retail Hardware and Stove Dealers' Association was practically concluded so far as the business features were concerned by a session on Thursday afternoon, at which the officers were elected. It was decided that the convention and exhibition will be held in Guelph next year. The following officers were elected on the report of the nomination committee:

President—R. C. Chown, Belleville.
1st Vice-President—M. S. Madole, Napanee.
2nd Vice-President—H. Ocomore, Guelph.
Executive—W. F. McPherson, Prescott; R. H. Blackmore, St. Thomas; Wm. Magladery, New Liskeard; W. W. Bennett, Gananoque; C. W. Conn, Tilsonburg; D. McNab, Orillia.
Secretary—W. Wrigley, Toronto.
Treasurer—J. Caslor, Toronto.
Auditors—S. M. Burt, J. W. Peacock, Toronto.

A Times' man had a few minutes hastily grasped talk with Mr. Wrigley, the over-worked and capable secretary of the convention. In reply to questions put by The Times, Mr. Wrigley said emphatically, that the Peterborough exhibition, the third of its kind in Canada, absolutely and beyond comparison, excelled the previous efforts of the Association Mr. Wrigley noted that next year's exhibition would be held in the city of Guelph. He paid a strong tribute to a local contractor, Mr. James Haggert by saying, practically, "The Peterborough Exhibition has been the best the Association has held yet, away best as regards both exhibits and general interest manifested in the show. Now, as you newspaper men can easily understand, the success of the present show was, in a large part due to the good work done by the contractor, a local man, who put up the various booths. Mr. Haggert accomplished splendid work. No serious fault was found by the most exacting. In fact, the booths, electrical and other work was done better than was or could have been anticipated. When the next exhibition under the auspices of the Hatdware Association is held in Guelph, it is to be hoped that this local contractor will tender on the job.

In response to a further question put by the Times, Mr. Wrigley replied that no financial statement of the local exhibition would be published. It is enough to know that financially, as otherwise, the 1911 exhibition in the Peterborough Armories, was a success in every particular.

Mr. Jack Cookson, in charge of the Imperial Varnish Company's exhibit, who is well known to hundreds of Stoney Lake cottagers every summer remarked to The Times' man, "Peterborough has certainly done herself proud over the exhibition. I have always been glad to come to your city, but after this successful exhibition, my business trip is possibly a little easier." Mr. Cookson noted further, that during his yearly summer visits to Stoney Lake he has always welcomed the arrival of the Morning Times in camp.

Before the golden rays of the February sun dimmed behind the western outskirts of the city, all the thousands of dollars, with all kinds of hardware samples had been packed into their respective cases and shipped away to the various exhibiting firms of Canada and the United States.

OBITUARY

Late William Campbell.

On Thursday night Mr. Wm. Campbell, of Bailieboro, passed away at the age of 61 years. The deceased had not been in good health for some time, but the end came with startling suddenness. He was well known and highly respected throughout the district, as well as in the city. He leaves a widow, one daughter, and three sons, viz.: Messrs. W. S., of Peterboro, James C. and Harry, and Miss Olive Campbell. The funeral will take place at one o'clock this afternoon from the family residence, Bailieboro.

THE WEATHER.

250 Pilgrims were Burned to Death

Constantinople, Feb. 24.—The Turkish steamer Harriet, filled with 250 Moslem pilgrims, has been burned at sea and all on board met death, according to a report received here to-day.

The report was received by a Turkish newspaper and has not been officially confirmed.

12 Tuberculosis Cases in Present Month

Toronto, Feb. 24.—Miss L. L. Rogers, superintendent of school nurses, stated this morning that twelve cases of tuberculosis had been discovered among the children by the school nurses so far this month. Miss Rogers said that the children suffering from the disease were given over to the care of the Heather Club, an organization composed of graduate nurses of the Sick Children's Hospital. Here the children are well looked after and whenever possible are given a bed and room to themselves. In the summer the children are taken over to the Lakeside Hospital, where they occupy the villa, which was erected beside the hospital for them last year.

Miss Rogers said that three cases of contagious diseases had been located by the nurses which had escaped the attention of the parents.

Another interesting fact pointed cases of sickness and trouble, which could only be remedied by performing an operation, had been discovered by the school nurses amongst the poorer children, whose parents are unable to afford the money necessary for proper medical attention.

In many cases the parents are anxious to have their children attended to if they could be relieved of the expense. The nurses have sent so many children to the hospitals for treatment that they are overcrowded and have announced that they will be unable to accommodate any more of the children until April.

A Prosperous Year

Federal Life Assurance Company's Annual Meeting.

The financial statement of the Federal Life Assurance Company which we publish elsewhere in to-day's issue, speaks for itself. It shows this well managed and prosperous company to be making substantial progress all along the line. The annual meeting took place at the head office of the Company, Hamilton, on Tuesday last, 21st instant, when the report of the year's business, together with the financial statement was presented. The new business for the year amounted to 2643 applications for insurance, aggregating $3,897,933.01, of which 2527 applications for $3,726,436.21 were accepted. There was a most gratifying increase in income, the assets having reached $3,966,443.08, an increase of $332,499.56.

The Company's funds have been carefully invested in first class bonds, mortgages, securities and loans on the Company's policies.

The Company is represented in the Peterborough district by Mr. George Pope, 466 George street.

Mrs. Carrie Nation Loses Her Mind

Eureka Springs, Ark., Feb. 24.—Mrs. Carrie Nation who is in a sanitorium at Leavenworth, Ark., has lost her mind, according to messages received from physicians at the institution by friends of the drink crusader here.

Mrs. Nation has been ill for six weeks.

BRITISH UPROAR IN THE HOUSE

Washington, Feb. 24.—The lie direct was passed on the floor of the House of Representatives late yesterday. It came during a somewhat heated debate on a bill for the leasing of coal land in Alaska. James Wickersham, of Alaska, rushed at Frank W. Mondell, of Wyoming, and struck at him and for a few minutes a melee was imminent.

Angry words and threats were uttered by other members who took part in the affair. Several members hurled themselves on Mr. Wickersham others were struggling with Mr. Mondell, who was making for his assailant.

FATE OF PEACEMAKER.

Representative Foster, of Vermont, had taken Mr. Wickersham by the throat. This added to the uncontrolled anger of the delegate and for a moment diverted his attack towards the would-be peacemaker. Mr. Mondell endeavored to raise the chair in which he had been sitting to hurl it at his antagonist.

For the first time in four years the Sergeant-at-arms had to carry to the floor the mace, the emblem of authority to restore order.

Both members later apologized to the House and subsequently Representative Mondell's bill for the leasing of Alaskan coal lands was defeated.

G.T.R. GETS RIGHTS INTO CONNECTICUT.

Providence, R.I., Feb. 24.—The controlling interest in the Sea View Railroad, which operates the electric road between East Greenwich and Wakefield, by way of Wickford and Narragansett Pier, has been purchased, it was announced to-day, by a number of Providence men, headed by Duff F. Sherman, president of the Providence and Danielson (Conn.) Railroad. The control was secured by the having of a block of stock owned by Andrew Radel of Bridgeport, Conn., president of the Sea View Company.

Mr Sherman refused to say whether or not the Grand Trunk Railway, which has been given charter rights to East Greenwich, is interested in the purchase of the Sea View Railroad. It was pointed out to-day by a man interested in the railroad situation, that control of the properties represented by Mr. Sherman would give the Grand Trunk trackage right into Connecticut.

MRS. FRANK CHANCE.

Selects Oranges for Shipment.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 25.—(Special) — Included in the trainload of "Sunkist" oranges that left California for the eastern market is the produce from the Chance groves. Mrs. Frank Chance, wife of the "Peerless Leader" of Chicago's Cubs, personally helped in the grading of their crop. None but the most perfect specimens of the Chance fruit was allowed to be shipped in the trainload of "Sunkist".

These oranges are the finest grown in all California and those from the Chance groves, according to Mrs. Chance, are among the most perfect ever grown in Southern California.

The golden fruit was shipped in such a quantity that "orange week" will be an event in all towns that are fortunate enough to be on the route of the "Sunkist" Special."

TEACHING AVIATION BY MAIL

Many are the arts and trades over which mastery is promised by instruction given through correspondence. There are correspondence schools for illustrating, for plumbing and other difficult matters; but the latest and most difficult matter to be taught through the mails is the art of flying. A school of aviation has been established in Chicago and expects to turn out its first graduating class next summer.

Several of the most adroit of airmen, who learned their art through close and privileged attendance at the hangars and meets where a practical knowledge of aviation is best secured, have failed to keep themselves in the air, or even in this present world. It is doubtful whether "nightclasses" and instruction at long range by letter will insure greater safety for their successors. Theoretical knowledge is, of course, desirable and necessary, but too great a reliance upon it in the most tricky and treacherous of the arts can lead to little save disaster.

GERMANY'S EXAMPLE.

We have taken many excellent examples of social government and control from Germany and it would seem that the Teutonic Fatherland still has much to teach us. Take the matter of dealing with that class of ne'er-do-wellthat ill-treat their wives. In this country an offender in this respect, is found guilty, is locked up in jail and the poor wife that has been beaten and abused now has to suffer the loss of breadwinner of the family and has, herself, to make a living for her children while her husband stays in jail or the workhouse, the State or county getting whatever profit there may be in his enforced labor. Surely no greater obsurdity than this could be worked in the name of justice.

In Germany they have gone deeper into this matter than we, and wife-beaters instead of being locked up, they are made to go to work under police supervision and their wages are handed over to their families. This on work days. When holiday time arrives, that is Saturday afternoon and evening, the offender is taken by the police and locked up, to remain in jail until it is time to go to work on Monday morning. This sortof extended and continuing sentence lasts until the prisoner has served in jail the number of days appointed by the judge.

Surely this is a commonsense plan and one that should commend itself to our lawmakers. A weakness of all punishment for minor offences is that it is usually the family of the offender that has to bear the largest part ofthe punishment. Some such system as that inaugurated by Germany might well, we should think, be extended to other offenses than wife-beating, so that the innocent families of offenders against the laws should not be compelled, unjustly, to suffer part of the punishment.

SCHOOL SAVINGS.

In France, where the school savings bank system has been in operation since 1834, there is more than $3,000,000 of children's savings in the banks. Germany has had the system since 1846. Near home, Lowell children have placed more than $10,000 in the banks in the last few years. A Pittsburg bank has more than 26,000 children depositors, with $150,000 on deposit. At the beginning of last year eleven cities in the United States had school savings systems, and these showed 203,000 depositors with $870,696 deposited.

New Industry for Winnipeg.

Cobourg, Feb. 23.—It is stated that two well known and popular young citizens of Cobourg, Messrs. Lyle Crossen and Percy Clarke, have recently organized at Winnipeg, and received a charter for a company to be known as the Winnipeg Steel Granery and Culvert Co., Limited, capitalized at $100,000, with headquarters at Winnipeg, where the plant will be located, and a branch at Regina. The company will manufacture corrugated steel products of all kinds, chiefly for the use of railroad and municipalities. Mr. Lyle Crossen, who is a son of Mr. W. J. Crossen, president of the CrossenCar Co., is at present in Winnipeg. Mr. Percy Clarke is the oldest son of Mr. Sam. Clarke, M.P.P., for West Northumberland.

THE RED YEAR

—By—

LOUIS TRACY.

CONTINUED.

Campbell in the pending action, and Sir Hugh Rose in many a hard-fought battle in Central India, one and all were called on to attack and defeat ten times the number of sepoys.

But what fine troops they were who met the commander-in-chief's gaze as they stood marshaled there, on that dusty Indian maidan. Peel's sailors, with eight heavy guns, artillerymen standing by the cannon that had sounded the knell of Delhi from below the Ridge, the 9th Lancers, who held the right flank when the capture of Hindu Rao's house would have meant the collapse of the assault, the 8th and 75th Foot, the 2nd and 4th Punjabis—all these had followed the Lion of the Punjab when he stormed the Cashmere Bastion. Sikh Cavalry, too, and Hodson's wild horsemen, and many another gallant soldier, fresh from the immortal siege, returned the General's quiet scrutiny, as he rode past, and doubtless wondered how he would compare as a leader with the man whom they had left in the little cemetery at the foot of the Ridge.

It is on record that from the end of the line came a yell of welcome and recognition. The 93rd Highlanders remembered what Campbell had done in the Crimea, and their joyful slogan brought a flush to the bronzed face of the old war dog when he learned the significance of their greeting.

Next morning began a three days' battle. Perhaps there was never an action so spectacular, so thrilling, so amazingly in earnest, as the continuous fight which brought about the Second Relief of Lucknow. At the Alumbagh, at the Dilkusha and La Martiniere school, at the Secunder Bagh and the Shah Nujeef, were fought fiercely-contested combats that in other campaigns would have figured as independent battles, each highly important in the history of the time.

The taking of the Shah Nujeef alone was worthy of Homeric praise. It was a mosque that stood in a garden, bounded by a high and stout wall and protected by jungle and mud hovels. Its peculiar position, joined to the number of guns mounted on its walls and the thousands of sepoys who held it, made it impossible for a devoted artillery to create an effective breach. Yet, if the relieving force failed here, they failed altogether. So Sir Colin asked his men for a supreme effort. Riding forward himself, accompanied by his staff and Sir Adrian Hope, Colonel of the 93rd, he cheered on his loved Highlanders. Cannot one hear the skirl of the pipes amid that din of cannon and musketry? Cannot one see the shot-torn colors fluttering in the breeze, the plaids of the gallant Highland gentlemen who led the 93rd, vanishing in the smoke and dust? Middleton's battery of the Royal Artillery came dashing up, "the drivers waving their whips, the gunners their caps," unlimbered within forty yards of the wall, and opened fire with grape. Men and horses fell in scores, but somehow, anyhow, an entrance was gained and the Shah Nujeef was taken. Feeble must be the pulse that does not beat faster, dim the eye that does not kindle, as one hears how those Britons fought and died, but did not die in vain.

Next day Captain Garnet Wolseley led a storming party against the Motee Mahal, and the self-sacrificing heroism of the Shah Nujeef was displayed again here and with the same result.

And so the wild fight went on, till Outram and Havelock, Napier, Eyre, Havelock's son and four other officers ran from the Residency through a tempest of lead showered on them from the Kaiser Bagh, and Hope Grant, dashing forward from the van of Colin Campbell's force, shook hands with the hero of the First Relief.

Half an hour later Malcolm entered the Residency. At first sight it was an abode of sorrow. Death and ruin seemed to have combined there to wreak their spite on mankind and his belongings. Even the men and women whom he met were tear-laden, and it was not till he heard their happy voices that he knew they were weeping because of the overwhelming joy in their souls.

He hurried on, scanning each excited group for one face that he thought he would recognise were it fifty years instead of five months since their last meeting. He, of course, was even a finer-looking and better set-up soldier now than when he galloped along the flame-lit roads of Meerut on that never-to-be-forgotten Sunday night in May, and it is not to be wondered at if he failed to allow for the effect on Winifred of the ordeal she had gone through.

Perhaps his keen eyes were covered with a mist, perhaps the growing fear in his heart forbade his tongue to ask a question, because he dreaded the answer. Perhaps sheer agitation may have rendered him incapable of distinguishing one among so many. However that may be, he knew nothing, saw no one, until a wan, slim-figured woman, a woman clothed in tattered rags, down whose pallid cheeks streamed the divine tears of happiness, touched his arm and sobbed:

"Are you looking for me—dear?"

* * * * * * *

The Mutiny was by no means ended with the fall of Delhi and the Second Relief of Lucknow. North and south and east and west the rebels were hunted with untiring zeal. Sometimes in scattered bands, less often in formidable armies, they were pursued, encountered and annihilated. Quickly degenerating into mere robber hordes, they became a pest to the unhappy villagers in the remoter parts of the different provinces, and it was long ere the last embers of the fire that had raged so fiercely were stamped out. Nana Sahib perished miserably under the claws of a tiger in the Nepaul jungle, the Moulvie of Fyzabad and the Ranee of Jhansi fell in action, while Tantia Topi was hanged. But the end came, and on November 1, 1858, amid salvoes of artillery and to the accompaniment of festivities innumerable, Queen Victoria proclaimed the abolition of the East India Company, and assumed the sovereignty of the country. Her Majesty took no territory, confirmed all treaties, promised religious toleration and civil equality to all her Indian subjects, and gave full and complete pardon to every rebel who was not a murderer.

The Queen's gracious and peace-bringing words supplied a fitting close to India's Red Year. Europeans and natives alike tried to forget both the crime and its punishment. And that was a good thing in itself.

ASSETS OF THE COMPANY

$10,000,000 of stock still in the Treasury.

$10,000,000 pooled for 9 and 18 months.

500 acres of land; value, $3,000 per acre.

A subsidy obtained from the Municipality of North Vancouver of 5 per cent. for 15 years on $200,000, and freedom from taxation of our plant and 30 acres of land for 10 years.

A subsidy obtained from the Dominion of Canada, 3½ per cent. for 25 years on $1,214,000, for the purpose of building a dry dock of 15,000 tons at Roslyn, the Company's townsite.

A very valuable brick clay deposit has been discovered on the Company's property. This will be developed to its fullest capacity, as brick clay is very rare here, Vancouver even importing from Seattle millions of brick annually.

NOTE.—A shareholder participates in every asset of the Company.

LIABILITIES OF THE COMPANY

Amount yet owing on land, extending over a period of four years, $446,000.

REMARKS

MORE LANDS

The Company proposes to purchase lands surrounding their townsite, and to this end are securing options on about 250 acres, with about 2,500 feet of deep waterfrontage adjoining that which they now own.

MINES

They have also secured an option of purchase of a group of ten claims of very valuable iron deposits situated within twelve miles of their townsite. The Company believe, located as they are in a country which abounds with everything necessary to the smallest detail for turning out a perfect car, should go to nature's storehouse for their material, and with this end in view have secured the above group.

SHIPBUILDING

In addition to building the Imperial Sleeping Car, cars of every description will be contracted for, and just as soon as their dry dock is completed, the Company intend to use it to the greatest advantage in building ships of the largest tonnage. As there will be but three or four docks in the whole Dominion, they will encounter but very little competition in the building of the larger class of vessels.

SALE OF LANDS

The Company do not intend to sell any of its land until its dry dock, car works, sawmills and other industries are in operation, and in this way secure as nearly as possible all the profit derived from the establishment of these great works.

CLEARING OF LAND

The Municipality of North Vancouver have under consideration a proposition from the Company whereby the Company promise to clear their whole townsite on condition the Municipality will at once clear and grade all the streets, charging the cost of same to local improvement taxes. The Municipality view the Company's proposition with great favor. This plan would at least double the price of the Company's holdings.

PURCHASING STOCK

A small block of stock is now on the market and can be had on very easy terms of payment. This once sold, the Company will have no difficulty to borrow on their assets at from 4 to 5 per cent. any money they will require for improvement purchases, and in this case all stock will be withdrawn from the market.

THE FISHER'S PARADISE

BRITISH COLUMBIA SUPPLIES SPORT OR MONEY.

The Great Fretted Coast of the Pacific Province Has Everything From the Sardine to the Whale, and the Wealth That Swims Beneath the Waves Is Almost Incalculable—Fringe of Industry Not Touched.

"If it's sport you want, good fishin' and huntin', you'd best come back with me."

The speaker was a fisherman from British Columbia, a man who had his sport and earned his bread in a little fishing smack on the Fraser River and along the Pacific coast. He had come back east to see "the folks," and they had expected him to stay, but he would not, no, not yet. Maybe in a few years, when he was too old to fish, or do much of anything, he might come back, but he did not know. There was a something in the swish of the tide and the smell of the ocean and the rock of his little fishing smack out there that was a-calling to him, and he wanted to go.

Many a tourist who has visited the Pacific coast and who has been fortunate enough to see the fishing boats leave Steveston on a Sunday evening will understand the desire of the fishermen to return to the life that would always be a-calling him. Hundreds of boats gather in for the close time, which is from six o'clock Saturday morning until six o'clock Sunday evening, to allow the fish to get up the rivers to the spawning ground. Promptly at the hour of release the little white sailboats, like a flock of large birds, unfurl their wings and skim out over the water. At first they appear to be going together, but soon they are spread far and wide over the rolling waves, dancing gaily along north, south, east and west, until one by one they disappear, each careless little craft on a deadly purpose bent.

Although fishing is spoken of as one of the leading industries of British Columbia, and there are some twelve thousand men engaged in fishing and in the canneries, the fringe of the industry has not yet been cut. Some idea of where British Columbia will stand in this industry in the future may be gleaned from the fact that, although the average annual output for several years has been over six million dollars, 80 per cent. of this is credited to salmon alone, which, except halibut, is the only fish that has been taken in large quantities for commercial purposes.

The reason that the salmon has fallen such an easy victim to man is due to its habits, and, by the way, the name salmon does not properly belong to any fish in the Pacific. However, they have become the commercial salmon of the world. The so-called salmon is similar in form and habits to those found in the Atlantic, but their life history is different, that is, so far as it is known, which as yet is but slightly. But that slightly reveals what man would call a tragedy. Maybe in fish life it is not.

The Sock-eye or Blueback salmon is commercially the most important fish in British Columbia, and, like the other kinds of salmon, it generally deposits the spawn in lake fed or lake feeding streams, the first of the run pushing up to the extreme head waters. This run is where the tragedy begins. Every fourth year is called "the big year," the following year "the lean year." Why this is so no one can tell, although many theories have been offered. On this fourth year the run in the Fraser River has been known to be so great that the fish have crowded and shoved in their eagerness to get up until some have been left on the banks to die, and others have been bruised and battered in the crowd. But many fish reach the desired spawning grounds, and here is the fish tragedy. As soon as the spawn is deposited the fish die, both male and female. Some mad impulse urges them on until they fulfil their mission in life, and then maybe they hear the call to the "fishes' paradise" where men do not fish. Anyway, whatever happens, they die without a struggle. A peculiar feature of this large run every fourth year in the Fraser is that it has no marked counterpart in any other river in the province or on the coast.

No one has yet been able to tell the life history of the young. It is not known how long they live in the fresh water before going out to sea, nor is anything known of their feeding grounds in the salt water. It is believed they must live in the open sea, for they are never found in the bays and inlets, which are so numerous along the coast, nor is anything seen of them again until the fourth year, when there is another mad rush for the head waters, and after that dead fish line the shore or float, belly up, down the river.

Fishermen claim that fish have been marked in the big year when on their way back to the ocean and that the same fish have been caught the fourth year after. This, however, has not been authenticated.

A peculiar thing about the salmon is the distortion the heads of the males undergo when going up the rivers. The Dog salmon and the Humpback get their names because of this distortion. These, and also the Spring salmon and the Coho, are valuable commercially in British Columbia.

British Columbia cannot help having a large fishing industry for it has a coast line, including Vancouver Islands and the Queen Charlotte Islands, of 15,000 miles, protected from the ocean storms by thousands of islands and all the coast waters are teeming with life, life from the tiny sardine to the mighty whale. And the great advance made in salmon canning is but an instance of what may be expected in the future.

"Oh, I applauded at the wrong time, as usual; thought the orchestra tuning up was a classical number."—Kansas City Journal.

Easily Timed.

Read—Have you ever timed your automobile? Greene—Oh, yes! It stood perfectly still for forty-eight minutes on the road today.

Wanted His Money Back.

It is an old saying that "you cannot eat your cake and have it too." But a seasick person usually cares little for either side of the proposition. The captain of one of the steamships plying between this country and Italy, which arrived at New York with over 600 immigrants, tells a rather amusing story of a heated interview held between himself and one of them on the voyage across.

The vessel had been out a few days and had encountered some heavy seas. The first morning that calmer weather prevailed one of the steerage passengers appeared for the first time above deck and with a face as white as a sheet approached the captain.

"This has got to stop!" he said angrily.

"What has?" asked the captain, in surprise.

"This feeling of death. When I bought my ticket I was told it included meals, but I can't keep my food down. Now, it has got to stop, captain, or else I want my passage money back. You cannot break your contract in this fashion with me."

No Chance For the Truth.

"Be truthful," said the teacher.

"Always?" asked the boy.

"Always," answered the teacher.

"Never tell a lie?"

"Never."

"Not even a white lie?"

"Not even a white lie."

"Huh," ejaculated the lad scornfully, "it's a mighty good thing for you you ain't a boy with my dad for a father!"

"Why?" asked the teacher.

"Because," replied the boy, "if you was my dad's little boy, and you'd heard what he said about Aunt Eliza comin' to visit us with her children, and Aunt Eliza had asked you if you weren't all glad to see her, and you'd told the truth, like I did, you'd think there was a place where your trousers was mighty thin after dad had finished with you."

He went back to his desk, and as he sat down with great care there was an expression on his face that showed the great lesson of truth had been, at least in a measure, lost on him.—London Tit-Bits.

When Curates Were Wanted.

When one learns that curates are increasing so much more rapidly than benefices, wonder is excited as to the condition of affairs in the eighteenth century, when enterprising ladies offered livings to clergymen willing to marry them. An advertisement to this effect appeared in the London Chronicle in March, 1758. The lady was rather particular too. The curate was to be young, have a small fortune, be well recommended as to morals and good temper "and be firmly attached to the present happy establishment." The living was not rich—below £100 per annum—but the fair one was young and agreeable. There seems a touch of humility in the direction that answers "may be left at the bar of the Union Coffee House, Strand, directed to Z. Z." Confidence was created by the assurance that "the utmost secrecy and honor may be depended upon."—London Chronicle.

Synopsis of Canadian Northwest Land Regulations

ANY person who is the sole head of a family or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

XVIII.—Long Life in the Home

By EUGENE L. FISK, M. D.

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

Our care should not be so much to live long as to live well.—Seneca.

A WISE man said: "There appears to exist a greater desire to live long than to live well. Measure by man's desires, he can not live long enough; measure by his good deeds, and he has not lived long enough; measure by his evil deeds, and he has lived too long."

Mere length of days as measured by the calendar is but a poor thing to write about. The "filling" that goes into those days is the real measure of life.

To encourage a selfish and punctilious regard for the attainment of a phenomenal span of life is not in keeping with the higher ideal of philosophy or science.

In considering this problem we should bear in mind, however, that life is something that we hold in trust. At least that is the dictum of the best thought that has come to us through the ages. We have no right to handle this trust fund with careless speedthrift indifference; neither may we hoard it with such miserly care that it shall earn no interest in good deeds and human achievement. Society condemns the suicide in the same degree that it lauds the patriot or the hero who gives up his life in a good cause.

But some people lack a sense of proportion. The degree of their sacrifice is out of all proportion to the cause in which it is offered up and the possible evasion of higher responsibility, and the redex injury to others is often unrealized.

Barring the emergencies of war and accident, there are few circumstances that warrant the deliberate forfeiture of life or persistent neglect of health.

It is better that the worker, whether humble breadwinner or lofty statesman, should be spared to work long and under proper restraint and poise than that his life should be burned up prematurely in feverish and often misdirected effort.

(Golf, billiards, hill climbing, hunting, fishing, are all beneficial forms of exercise which may be indulged far into old age.)

The first step, therefore, in planning for long life in the higher meaning of the term is to acquire a sense of proportion.

What is Old Age?

Camilla said, "A man is as old as his arteries." True enough, but far from being a definition of old age. To define old age we must first define life.

Herbert Spencer tried to define life and succeeded admirably in some respects, but there is nothing in his definition that explains why the human clock runs down in less than a century instead of running for several centuries.

Preparing For Old Age.

Preparation should begin in youth. One original observer, Charles Sedgewick Minot, has advanced the seeming paradox that we grow old faster in infancy than in old age; that cell change is far slower in the sixth decade of life than in the first six months of babyhood. In a certain physiological sense this is true.

The hardened arteries at forty may be the result of poor feeding, lack of physical training, improper breathing habits and deficient oxygenation during childhood. Give the child a fair start in the race. This is far better than to devise drugs and potions for the relief of the maladies of maturity and old age.

The Effects of Life Strain.

It is true that long life is often a matter of the quality of one's "rubbing." The diseases that are supposed to be for the larger part of the death rate after middle life are of the degenerative class, involving the heart, blood vessels and kidneys. Indeed, where one of the conditions exists the others usually are present to a greater or lesser degree.

These conditions may be due to nerve strain affecting the heart and arteries or to the circulation in the blood of poisonous principles, the products of indigestion and insufficient combustion. In fact, these troubles are usually the result of intemperance in eating, drinking, working or playing.

Degenerative Diseases.

A most commendable and enthusiastic campaign is being waged against tuberculosis. But other infectious diseases, but deaths from heart disease, kidney trouble, paralysis, etc., excite no comment and are taken as a matter of course. The death rate from tuberculosis has been reduced about 50 per cent in the past thirty years, while during that same period the death rate in the United States registration area from diseases of heart, blood vessels and kidneys has increased 105 per cent.

This is a nut to crack for well meaning people who shut their eyes to all that is unpleasant and sinister in our civilization and beg the thought that the world is necessarily growing better every day.

The mean duration of life has undoubtedly greatly increased in the past century, but the increase is due to the lowering of the death rate among young people. After middle life there has been a decided increase in the death rate. At least the evidence available in this country warrants this belief. No such increase is shown by British statistics until the age of sixty-five is reached.

The "high cost of living" may be a factor in that the struggle for existence is harder and involves more strain. I am inclined to the belief, however, that too much prosperity is a much more potent cause of the high mortality at the advanced ages.

The amount of food that is wasted in the average American family is appalling, and this surplus of nutrition, combined with the strenuous life and intemperate habits fostered by our rapidly developing and complex civilization, may well account for the regrettable increase in the mortality from degenerative diseases.

Principles of Prevention.

As I have already suggested, a good start in childhood thrice arms a man against these degenerative affections. But the strongest constitution in maturity may yield to abuse, and the time is coming when the man who throws away the splendid asset of sound health will be looked upon as a social enemy. Since the degenerative affections that lead to premature old age are the result of intemperance, using the term in its broadest sense, temperance, also used in its widest significance, is the keynote of prevention.

Importance of Exercise.

As middle life approaches and there is a slowing down of the vital activities a distinction for exercise often develops. This is to a certain extent normal. The man of forty who attempts to keep up with football, baseball or even tennis is taking heavy chances. The strain on heart and arteries may lead to chronic changes more than counterbalancing the benefit from exercise. But with the abandonment of active sports and with neglect to exercise there is often an increase in the amount of food and stimulants taken, and with increasing business cares or social activities the "furnace becomes clogged."

It is important, therefore, to preserve a proper balance in these things. Slow down in the matter of strenuous competitive exercise, but get enough exercise to burn up your food and prevent the accumulation of fat and food poisons.

Slow down in the matter of diet and do not let the pleasures of the table tempt you to gradually increased indulgence in rich food as the more active pleasures of life are relinquished.

Golf, billiards, hill climbing, hunting, fishing, are all beneficial forms of exercise which may be indulged far into old age.

Alcohol in Old Age.

It used to be thought that wine was a good stimulant in old age, but the wisest physicians now pronounce against this view. There is no sound physiological reason why alcohol should be beneficial in old age, and in clinical practice it is found to be injurious. How the feeble tissues of the aged can be benefited by a coil poison like alcohol it is difficult to conceive.

Value of Bathing.

Regular bathing, preferably the cool shower or plunge, by keeping up a good skin action relieves the heart and kidneys of extra work and favors the maintenance of a normal tension in the blood vessels.

Danger of Constipation.

Metchnikoff believes that the absorption of toxic matter from the large intestines is an important influence in causing old age. He suggests the use of sour milk or a preparation of the bacilli which cause milk to become sour to combat the microbes that infest the large intestines.

Some painstaking experiments have been made along this line, but the results thus far are negative.

However, buttermilk and other sour milk preparations are healthful and may be tried, especially where there is constipation or intestinal fermentation. All natural means should be tried to prevent constipation by avoidance of concentrated meat diet and by the use of fruit, spinach or other green vegetables, water between meals, exercise of abdominal muscles, etc.

England's Old Common Field System.

A "common field" is quite distinct from a "common." It is a field belonging to numerous owners. The land consists of long narrow strips, perhaps not more than ten yards wide and running parallel with one another. What are the exact rules of cultivation that obtain in Kent today we do not know, but of old it was usual to have a regular rotation, such as wheat one year, barley or oats the second and fallow the third. When the crops were harvested, each member of the community putting his or her share, all could put in their cattle, which roamed over the whole field, feeding on the stubble, etc. And this was termed the "right of each." The "common field" system was gradually done away with by statutes in the reigns of George III. and William IV.—London Express.

A Famous Temple.

The most magnificent work of architecture in the world is the Taj Mahal, in Agra, Hindustan. It was erected by Shah Jehan to the memory of his favorite queen. It is octagonal in form, of pure white marble, inlaid with jasper, carnelian, turquoise, agate, amethyst and sapphire. The work took 22,000 men twenty years to complete, and, though there were free gifts and the labor was free, the cost is estimated at $50,000,000.—Exchange.

COMFORT IN OLD AGE.

The impression which some people have that the Canadian Government Annuities scheme is available only to persons over the age of 55 is quite erroneous, an impression arising, probably, from the fact that 55 is the earliest age, except for invalidity or disablement, at which an Annuity can begin. Naturally, the younger the person is when the purchase is begun, the smaller will be the payments which he or she will have to make to secure the same Annuity, and smaller will be the apparent cost. But any person over the age of 5 may purchase an Annuity. An account of the end ending of an old gentleman who had until recently lived all his life in a Canadian Province, but upon whom fortune for some reason had not smiled, was communicated a few days ago in a despatch from a U. S. city. He had gone to Michigan to stay with a son for the remainder of his days, but shortly after his arrival the son died leaving no means, and the father who preferred death rather than the poor house, to which he was to have been sent the following day, terminated his life. If the old gentleman had been provident in his younger days, and had laid aside but 10c a week, the amount accumulated at 3 per cent. compound interest which he would have had at his disposal at 80 would have purchased for him an Annuity of $180 a year, an income sufficient to have enabled him to have provided for himself for the remainder of his days. Had he had the opportunity at 20, as all residents of Canada have to-day, of paying in to the Government Annuities fund a sum of 10c a week, his income at 80 would have been over $535 instead of $180, and had he died at any time before attaining the age of 80 his heirs would have received every cent that he had paid in with 3 per cent. compound interest up to the date of his death. As the old gentleman reflected upon the past, it no doubt seemed but yesterday when he was a boy. Still, young men and women are disposed to spurn the thought that old age is inevitable. That the day will come when they themselves will be old, and that the poor house must be their ultimate destiny if they have not made provision against such a contingency. But it will be impossible for them to dodge the issue, and the system of saving which the Annuities Act affords them is positively the only means available by which they can make this provision with absolute certainty, and with the smallest outlay. Explanatory literature may be obtained at the Post Office, or will be supplied on application to the Superintendent of Annuities, Ottawa, to whom letters may be sent free of postage.

Prospective Homesteaders.

It is reported that there are thousands of prospective homesteaders, especially in the northwestern United States who have been waiting eagerly for the opening of the Peace River country to homesteading, and when the announcement reaches them there will be the greatest land rush into the Peace River and Grande Prairie country that has ever taken place to any section of Canada. The Grand Trunk Pacific is accordingly taking means to have an adequate transportation facilities between Winnipeg, Edmonton and Edson to provide for the very large traffic expected.

A Great Railway System.

Hardly a town, village or city in Ontario, that does not receive daily benefit from the operation of the Grand Trunk Railway System, and considering the net work of Branch line connections, it is wonderful with what regularity trains are run. Not only is a good service provided between points in Ontario, but this line also reaches nearly all the important cities of Michigan, viz: Detroit, Flint, Saginaw, Bay City, Lansing, Battle Creek, Jackson, Grand Rapids and Muskegon, South Bend, Ind., and the second city in America, viz: Chicago, Ill., the gateway to the North-west, West and South, bringing Ontario in close connection. On the East, the Grand Trunk connects Ontario with Montreal, Quebec, the Maritime Provinces and Boston, Mass.

"GIVE YOUR SON A DEED"

If, by way of illustration, you will review the history of the men in your town who have made money out of real estate, you will find that in each and every instance their profits were made from real estate acquired at ground floor prices.

More money can be made by those who acquire a realty interest in a town at its inception per dollar invested than from investments made after a period of years.

Do you know that you can purchase with $5 cash a full sized residential lot in Bow City, Alberta

the logical location for a great city, a city which is destined to be known, the world over, as a market place annually for hundreds of thousands of bushels of grain, grown on the vast irrigated fields surrounding Bow City, a shipping point for coal from the great Bow Centre Collieries, and a purchasing depot for hundreds of prosperous farmers resident throughout Southern Alberta.

To-day is your opportunity to acquire an interest in Bow City at the ground floor price.

It will be too late six months hence, to apply for a lot in Bow City at the present prices and on such easy terms as are offered you in this advertisement.

Why not follow Russell Sage's advice given in a letter published some years ago to the fathers in the Western States:—

"Buy your son a lot in a town being the "centre of a great agricultural country—when "he comes of age that lot will be worth consid- "erable money and will provide a handsome "stake for him in life; it is at least most sub- "stantial life insurance—sure and certain."

Buy your son a $50 lot in Bow City, the coming metropolis of the western prairies. In a very short time he can re-sell the same at a big increase, which money he will find advantageous in business pursuits or in a college course.

Bow City, the centre of the great granary of Southern Alberta has a future concerning which no sane business man or banker has any doubt.

When you are assured of the success of the city, when you have proven to you beyond the shadow of a doubt that Bow City will, in the very near future, be one of the most active, one of the most progressive towns on the Western prairies, you should not hesitate to acquire at least one $50 residential lot, when same is on sale on such easy terms as 10 per cent cash and the balance 10 per cent per month until paid—a deed at any time.

Bow City is in the heart of a famous irrigated farming belt whose farmers are assured of a crop every year. They are prosperous and their prosperity will naturally enhance the value of Bow City real estate.

The great coal mines of Bow City will furnish work for 1,000 to 1,500 miners daily, these miners will constitute a substantial basis for a successful city.

The present owners of Bow City have decided that no licenses shall be issued for the sale of spirituous liquors; they intend that this great mining and agricultural centre shall be free from any traffic in intoxicating drinks—it will be a clean city.

Bow City is the headquarters of a railway which taps a territory unparalleled for richness in crops and natural resources.

The Sale of Bow City Lots opened but a few days ago

If you are desirous of acquiring a $50 residential lot close in you should lose no time in making application by wire direct to the General Agents of the townsite, or to the nearest sub-agent.

Do not delay by sending your application by mail.

Wire at once your reservation for one or more lots. On receipt of wire your name will be placed on the closest-in unsold lot or lots and same will be held in your name, allowing you sufficient time for your cash payment, mailed same day you wire, to travel from your home to the head office.

You may find it to your advantage, if you are desirous of securing a business opening, or a business lot, to write for copy of the plans, booklets and descriptive matter concerning Bow City, all of which may be had on application, free of charge.

READ EVERY WORD OF THIS

It Will Be Money In Your Pocket To Do So

Everyone is anxious to make money. Everyone has an ambition to get rich. Some men DO get rich. Others remain poor. The difference is simply a difference of methods. Nearly all of us save some money, but we do not let these savings earn anything for us. THE MAN WHO SAVES HIS MONEY AND LETS THE SAVINGS EARN SOMETHING FOR HIM is making it do double duty. Take the history of all the very wealthy men of the country and learn how many of them made their fortunes by simply saving what they earned. Not one of them did. They saved but they immediately put their savings to work for them. YOU WANT TO GET TO THE TOP OF THE LADDER, YOU WANT TO ACCUMULATE SOMETHING FOR YOUR OLD AGE. THEN YOU HAD BETTER PUT YOUR SAVINGS TO WORK AND LET THEM HELP YOU DO IT.

In almost any ordinary investment a man cannot make his money earn over 8 per cent. Mining offers you greater opportunities. I am going to offer you an opportunity that has promise of earning for you 800 per cent or even more. I want to take you into partnership with me, in an enterprise that will probably make us all independent for the balance of our lives. YOU MUST TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THIS OFFERING. The Gold Queen Mining Company, of which I am president, has over 135 acres of rich mineral ground in one of the most prosperous mining districts of the world. We have already expended thousands of dollars in developing this property and we have struck ore that is very rich. We need a mill to extract the precious metal from this ore. We need a little help in building this mill. Are you willing to subscribe a portion of the amoont necessary to do it? In numbers there is strength, and even though your subscription be a very small one, we are willing to give you a part ownership in this great enterprise, in return for it. We are willing to take you in on an equal basis with us and give you the benefit of all your savings may earn for you. The men behind this proposition are all successful business men. They are in this business to make it pay and for every dollar they earn for themselves they will earn one for you. REMEMBER: THIS IS NOT A PROSPECT—IT IS A MINE WITH ORE IN IT. But a small amount of money is necessary to build our mill. We have decided to offer only a very limited number of shares at the present price, and as soon as this amount is secured the price will be advanced to a much greater figure. NOW IS THE TIME FOR YOU TO ACT. YOU ARE GETTING IN WITH THE ORGANIZERS OF THE COMPANY AT GROUND FLOOR PRICES. YOU ARE COMING INTO A BONA FIDE PARTNERSHIP WITH US AND WITH NO PARTNERSHIP RESPONSIBILITIES. Read what Mr, Van Wagenen, one of the foremost mining engineers of the country has to say: "I would advise the immediate erection of a ten-stamp mill with cyanide equipment, to treat your gold ores, and a separate concentrating plant to handle your copper pyrites, thus reducing the shipping weight 6 to 1, and eventually put in a smelter in connection with the mill, with a ten-stamp mill on your property and a daily production of 50 tons of ore. I CAN PROMISE YOU A NET EARNING OF $300.00 PER DAY or $109,500 per year and that can be increased to ten times as much as soon as tunnels A and B are finished, and added milling equipment is installed. The economical method is the best. Start with a ten-stamp mill and let your stockholders be content with 10 per cent per annum until you have increased your milling facilities, and install your smelting plant to treat your concentrates. THEN YOU CAN PAY THEM 400 TO 500 PER CENT DIVIDENDS PER YEAR FOR THE NEXT TEN YEARS ON THE PRESENT VALUATION OF YOUR STOCK, 5 CENTS PER SHARE, and this out of the new discovered vein alone." Now if you want to get in with us on this proposition you must act quickly, for the present allotment of shares will not last long. The man who buys now will get his shares at the very rock bottom price. The one who waits until later will without a doubt pay many times what it is being offered for now. Arrangements may be made to pay for your subscription on the easy payment plan. Write at once for full information and detailed literature explaining all about it. Write today. Do not wait another minute or you may be too late.

Canada Determined to Stay with the Empire

Ottawa, Feb. 24.—By a unanimous vote the Canadian House of Commons yesterday passed a resolution repudiating annexation and declaring Canada's intention to remain part of the British Empire. The resolution was moved by F. D. Monk, and was as follows:

"Before resuming the study of the conditions of the Customs arrangement concluded between the Government of Canada and the President of the United States, and to calm the uneasiness created in Canada by the comments made in the two countries relative to the political consequences of this arrangement, this House strongly affirms its resolution to maintain intact the bonds which unite Canada to the British Empire and the full liberty for our own people to control their fiscal policy and its internal autonomy.

Seattle, Feb. 22.—Available returns on the City Council election, held yesterday, indicated that the majority of the reform candidates were victorious. A large majority of the twenty-two thousand women who had registered voted yesterday. The percentage of men voting was smaller.

The candidates who gain the first 18 places in this election will be entitled to run for the final election of a council of nine, which is to rule the city under a modified form of government by commission.

CREATING PEERS TO GET MAJORITY

As the time draws near when it may possibly become necessary for the Government to create a large number of Liberal peers to give them a majority in the House of Lords, the details of the precedent of 1832 become very interesting. It was about May, 1832, that the Whig Ministers obtained from William IV. his consent to create the necessary number of peers to force the Reform bill through. The King's one condition was that the sons o living peers should be called on first. The idea is generally represented as a sudden inspiration in the mind of the reluctant King, but it seems to have been afloat for some time. Six months before—on January 7, 1832—the Manchester Guardian reproduced from a "pamphlet just published" a list of peers who might be created without permanently augmenting the peerage. That was before the day of "display" journalism. Important things were left to speak for themselves, and though the same issue of the paper has evidence in every column of the extreme tension of the public mind, this highly significant list, which would have added 39 votes at once to the Reform party in the House of Lords, is printed without comment, and is left to make its way for what itis worth.

The list is in two sections. In the first one the names of the eldest sons who might be called to the House of Lords at once in the "second baronies" of their fathers, just as the present Duke of Rutland was summoned in 1896, while his father was still alive, in his father's barony of Manners of Haddon. This accounted for 25 votes. In the second section are 14 heirs apparent or presumptive for whom no "second barony" was available, but whose summons to the Lords would be only a strategical anticipation of events, and the creation of another batch of "second baronies," which would eventually mean only one vote. The decisive majorities against the two Reform bills in the House of Lords were only about 40,so the list so demurely published in the Manchester Guardian would have almost done the trick. To-day a bigger majority has to be wiped out, and many Liberal peers like Lord Morley, Lord Armitstead, Lord Courtney, Lord Loebee and Kord MacDonell, have no heirs, while the heirs of others, like Lord Spencer, Lord Denman, Lord Nunburnholme, and Lord Farrer, are minors. It is curious that the name of Lord Saye andSele appears in the list of the peers who, in 1832, were favorable to reform. His descendant, the present Lord Saye and Sele, was at one of the Government dinners last Saturdaynight. The Spencer family also is true to its Liberal traditions, but six dukedoms which are in the list and the Lansdowne marquisate have changed their politics since 1832.

Montreal, Feb. 24.—The shareholders of the Bell Telephone met to-day. The receipts for the year were 5,510,685 against $4,949,197 in 1907, while the net revenue was $1,547,125, against $1,466,889 in 1907.

Interesting statistics were submitted in the annual statement as follows: "During the year, 19,175 subscribers have been added, the total number of instruments now earning rental being 133,910.

From the balance of revenue account, amounting to $672,202.26, $50,000 has been charged to depreciation of real estate, $25,000 of patent account, $97,507.12 has been carried to fire insurance reserve, $53,311.95 to accident reserve, $200 to depreciation reserve, and $125,000 added to the contingent account, leaving a balance of revenue account to be carroed to 1911 of $121,393.89.

The board of directors was re-elected as follows: C. F. Sise, Hon. Robt. Macay, Theo N. Vail, Robt. Archer, Mr. R. Driver, Hugh Paton, Chas. Cassils, H. B. Thayer, Y. B. McFarlane, Z. A. Lash, K.C.

Mr. Z. A. Lash, K.C., of Toronto, has been elected a director of the company.

Practicable Bearing of Companionableness

As a complete social understanding develops, and as the value of co-operation becomes better appreciated in endeavors toward a higher civic good the human quality of the individual receives a higher rating and the practical bearing of companionableness becomes more manifest. "Does he smoke?" asked a certain censor. "No." "Does he drink?" "No." "Then what does he do to smell like a man?"

A growing recognition is being given to the serviceability of a college education for the man who expects to make his mark in big business. Whatever the university may or may not teach men, it teaches all but the most hopeless among them how to co-operate with his fellows in working a thing out. A similar advantage is gained in their own neighborhood by the less privileged from the open opportunities extended by places of public entertainment and resort. Even the much reprobated "boys' gangs" serve, in their elementary fashion, a kindred purpose—that of trying out each member through the social friction and attrition in which all participate. "Is he a good mixer?" becomes a question of vital import all the way from the vacant lot playground to the board or committee meeting and to the hand-to-hand struggles through wards and precincts.

The the president of a great public utility corporation, when passing judgment on another large figure in the business world: "Yest I knew him in college, but I never thought much of him. He was not one of the kind to go into another fellow's room when he was away and take a pull at his pipe." In brief, that inept fellow was lacking—had always lacked—in companionableness, and therefore in serviceability and practical value.

When given as soon as the croupy cough appears Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will ward off an attack of croup and prevent all danger and cause of anxiety. Thousands of mothers use it successfully. Sold by all dealers.

Peterborough Talent Abroad.

At the firemen's concert held at Hastings a few days ago, the Star makes the following reference to the Peterborough talent which assisted: "Mr. Asa Huycke, an old Hastings boy, but now of Peterborough, was a surprise to all who had not heard him lately. His grand baritone voice in all his numbers showed how much he has improved since his last appearance here, stamped him as one of the coming vocalists of this country. Mr. Huycke has a grand full toned baritone voice and his rendering of his various numbers was a real treat. Miss Deane of Peterborough, the accompanist of the evening performed her arduous though generally unappreciated task in a manner that contributed no litbe to the success of the programme. She also gave the opening number, a piano solo which was heartily received."

Magdalen Islands, Quebec, Tell of Mrs. Cormier, a Sufferer for Six Years, Who Was Made a New Woman by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Amherst Island, Havre Aubert, Magdalen Islands, Que., Feb. 24.—(Special)—That suffering women in all corners of Canada are being restored to health by Dodd's Kidney Pills is shown in the press every day, and this island is not without its striking example. Mrs. Peter C. Cormier, a well known and estimable resident tells the following story of her cure:

"For six years I suffered with Rheumatism, Backache and Nervousness. I could not sleep nor eat, and I was always tired. My limbs were heavy, and I had a dragging sensation across the loins.

"Hearing of cures by Dodd's Kidney Pills I decided to try them. Seven boxes made a new woman of me."

For a score of years Dodd's Kidney Pills have been in use in Canada. They have been tried in thousands of cases and there is not on record a single case where they have failed to cure diseased Kidneys. Thousands of Canadian men and women will tell you they owe their good health to Dodd's Kidney pills.

THE SOVEREIGN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS.
For the Year Ending December 31st, 1910.

To the Shareholders and Policyholders of
The Sovereign Life Assurance Company of Canada:

Your board of Directors have much pleasure in submitting the Annual Cash Statement of The Sovereign Life Assurance Company of Canada for the year ending December 31st, 1910, accompanied with a Statement of the Assets and Liabilities as on that date.

Your Board is pleased to report that the splendid financial position which your Company occupies to-day, as exhibited by this Statement, should, with economical management, be a guarantee of the Company's future prosperity.

The income of the Company during the year from premiums and interest amounted to $138,856.61, being a considerable increase over last year. The INTEREST received in cash during the year amounted to $38,038.55, being $9,307.77 in excess of that received during the previous year.

Careful attention has been given to the investment of the Company's funds in first-class bonds, mortgage securities and on loans on the Company's policies, fully protected by the reserves. Through the able assistance of your Directors resident in the City of Winnipeg, Manitoba, your Board has invested during the year $175,450 in first mortgages in city property and improved farm lands in Western Canada at 7 per cent. and 8 per cent., and in no case has the money advanced been in excess of 50 per cent. of the appraiser's valuation. At the close of 1910 your Company held securities the book value of which amounts to $492,783.10. The par value of these debentures, however, is considerably in excess of the book value, being $507,142.40.

The total assets at the close of the year amounted to $785,283.04, being an increase over the previous year of $182,892.13.

It is gratifying to know that the death claims which matured during the year only amounted to $5,376, being but 23½ per cent. of the expected claims, demonstrating the great care that has been exercised by your Medical Referee.

An earnest endeavor has been made to confine the operating expenses to a reasonable limit consistent with due efforts for new business. The results show that a saving of $7,868.31 was effected during 1910 over 1909, or slightly over 7 per cent. of your premium income.

The agents throughout the field and the Head Office staff have demonstrated their loyalty throughout the year, and are entitled to much credit for their able efforts in furthering the Company's best interests.

A. E. DYMENT, President.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1911.

Is Hard Luck.

An Englishman, on his way to Peterborough, while changing cars on the C. P. R., had the misfortune to slip and fall, breaking his arm. He arrived here, a few days ago in rather bad shape, accompanied by his wife and young family, and is being looked after by Relief Officer Miller.

St. Paul's Mission Band.

The annual entertainment of St. Paul's Mission Band took place in the Lecture Room of the Church, and was a success. A good programme was presented, those taking part doing so in a very creditable manner.

Roman Catholic Doctrines.

On Sunday evening Rev. W. C. Riddiford, of the Park-street Baptist Church, will commence a series of sermons on the doctrines of the Roman Catholic Church. The subject of the sermon will be "Why Baptists do Not Believe in the Roman Catholic Mass."

Sullivan Will Recover.

The young man, Frank Sullivan, who is laid up in St. Joseph's Hospital, suffering from a severe injury to his head, is doing well and will recover. It will be remembered that he was injured in a lumber camp in Cavandish township, and it was thought for a time that he would not recover.

Lecture at The Normal.

Last night Prof. Alexander, of Toronto University delivered an interesting and instructive lecture at the Normal School on the subject of "Poetic Thought and Expression." There was a fair attendance, and the address was well received. A vote of thanks was tendered the speaker at the close.

Advertising Matter Galore.

The special police, mainly members of the local military organizations, of which Peterborough is so justly proud, in charge of the exhibits at the Armories yesterday, remarked to a Times' representative that every morning during the recent exhibition there would be bushels upon bushels of advertising matter to be swept out of the great hall of the Armory.

St. Paul's To-Morrow.

Rev. E. A. Armstrong, assistant secretary of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, will pay a visit to this city to-morrow. He will speak in St. Paul's church Sunday morning, at St. Andrew's in the afternoon and will address the Young People's Society at Knox church in the evening. Rev. Mr. Armstrong who is a strong speaker, is well known here, having visited this city in connection with the Young People's Institutes.

Exhibitor Got Sore Foot.

One of the exhibitors at the recent hardware exhibition, from constant standing on his feet found one of the members adorned (?) with a blister as big as a silver dollar. He was advised by a near-by competitor to procure some boracic acid and apply it to the foot. Another competitor, laughing at his fears, advised the injured one to "use no drug, but take a great big B. & S.," whatever that might be. The man with the sore foot, undecided between two contrary pieces of advice, concluded to follow both. He reported that the acid fixed his foot and the B. & S. fixed both his head and both feet.

A Popular Impersonator.

Last night the Conservatory of Music was well filled on the occasion of the appearance of Mr. Frederick H. Wilson, the talented impersonator and entertainer, who rendered a monologue the immortal drama "Damon and Pythias." The entertainment was given under the auspices of Marathon Lodge No. 39, Knights of Pythias.

Model of Panama Canal.

The Times has received from Mr. R. J. Munro, a very pretty souvenir, model of the Panama Canal. It is the most unique thing of the kind we have ever seen. Mr. Munro, who with his daughter is making an extended trip south, is visiting Panama, where the U.S. Government is building the famous canal, a work that will cost a billion dollars. The canal is only 50 miles long, and will connect the Atlantic with the Pacific, enabling the largest ocean vessels to pass from one ocean to the other.

The Devil in the Basement.

While the Methodist choir was leading the large congregation on Sabbath evening in singing, "Praise God from whom all blessings flow," and other gospel songs, the devil was in the basement going through the pockets of their coats and their muffs and pocketing everything of value, says the Tweed News. One girl is out a dollar and forty-five cents, another lady is minus a muff and others lost some other trifles.

Two Winners.

The C.P.R. contracted with the giant Russian wrestler, Hackenschmidt on Wednesday last for a special train and fast time between Detroit and Montreal in order that he might fill an engagement. A great Mogul engine and private car rolled through Peterborough at a 40-mile clip passing at 4 p.m. and reaching Montreal at 9.50 p.m., 10 minutes ahead of contract time, making the run from Tweed over an hour ahead of fastest express time. The train won and so did Hack.

Billing By Typewriter Saves Money

Every live manager and every live proprietor of every business enterprise wants to save time. Time is the scarcest and the most precious thing in the universe.

THE MONARCH

BILLING TYPEWRITER saves time — saves the manager's time because his records come to him clear and legible; saves the accountant's time because much of his work is done on the machine; saves the stenographer's time because the work progresses more rapidly. The accumulation of time saved means much in the course of a year.

Mr. W. W. Dunlop, system specialist, is exhibiting MONARCH BILLING MACHINES of every description at the Hardwaremen's Convention this week in the Armouries. Bring along your forms and tell your problems and he will gladly help you if he can. See these marvelous MONARCH Typewriters anyway.

The Federal Life Assurance Company of Canada

The Twenty-ninth Annual Meeting of The Federal Life Assurance Company of Canada, was held at the Company's Home Office in Hamilton, Tuesday, 21st February, 1911, at 2 p.m., Mr. David Dexter in the chair; Mr. W. H. Davis, acting secretary.

The Annual Report, as follows, was read and adopted, on motion of the President, Mr. Dexter, seconded by Dr. M. H. Aikins:—

Your Directors have the honor to present the Report and Financial Statement of the Company for the year which closed 31st December, 1910, duly vouched for by the Auditors.

The new business of the year consisted of two thousand six hundred and forty-three applications for insurance, aggregating $3,897,933.01, of which two thousand five hundred and twenty-seven applications for $3,720,436.21 were accepted.

As in previous years, the income of the Company shows a gratifying increase, and the assets of the Company have been increased by $352,493.55, and have now reached $3,996,443.06, exclusive of guarantee capital.

The security for Policy-holders, including guarantee capital, amounted at the close of the year to $4,866,443.06, and the liabilities for reserves and all outstanding claims, including $25,000 set aside as a special addition to policy reserves, amounted to $3,720,855.00, showing a surplus of $1,145,588.06. Exclusive of uncalled guarantee capital, the surplus to Policy-holders was $275,588.06.

Policies on one hundred and nine lives became claims through death, to the amount of $192,734.16.

Including Cash Dividends and Dividends applied to the reduction of premiums, with annuities, the total payment to Policy-holders amounted to $339,897.07.

Careful attention has been given to the investment of the Company's funds, in first-class bonds, mortgage securities, and loans on the Company's policies amply secured by re-serves. Our investments have yielded a very satisfactory rate of interest.

Expenses have been confined to a reasonable limit, consistent with due efforts for new business. The results of the year indicate a most gratifying progress. Compared with the preceding year, the figures submitted by the Directors for your approval show an advance of nearly ten per cent. in assets.

The assurances carried by the Company now amount to $22,309,929.42 upon which the Company holds reserves to the full amount required by law, and, in addition thereto, a considerable surplus.

The field officers and agents of the Company are intelligent and loyal, and are entitled to much credit for their able representation of the Company's interests. The members of the office staff have also proved faithful to the Company's service.

Your Directors are pleased to be able to state that the business of the Company for the current year has been of a very satisfactory character, and that the outlook for the future is most encouraging.

DAXID DEXTER, President and Managing Director.

AUDITORS' REPORT

To the President and Directors of The Federal Life Assurance Company:—

Gentlemen,—We have carefully audited the books and records of your Company for the year ending 31st December last and have certified to their accuracy.

The Cash and Journal Vouchers have been closely examined and agreed with the entries recorded.

The Debentures, Bonds, etc., in the possession of the Company have been inspected, whilst those deposited with the Government have been verified by certificate, the total agreeing with the amount as shown in the Statement of Assets.

The accompanying Statement, viz., Revenue and Expenditure, Assets and Liabilities, shows the result of the year's operations and also the financial position of the Company.

Respectfully submitted,

On Reconstitution of the House of Lords—The Government Likely to Win.

London, Feb. 25.—Mr. Balfour, Lord Lansdowne, Austen Chamberlain and other Unionist leaders are playing their game cleverly in the great trial of skill at Westminster, but the likelihood of their winning even a moral victory is diminishing fast.

The real crisis will come next week when the Lansdowne bill for a reconstitution of the House of Lords becomes public and Chamberlain moves the Unionist hostile amendment, declaring Asquith's programme to be one destined, even not designed, to invest in the commonwealth all legislative power.

Austen Chamberlain is regarded by the Irish with profound dislike. They look upon him, of course, as the spokesman of his father's anti-Irish policy, dating back to 1886.

But they are even more antagonistic because they see him the personification of a Chamberlain doctrine of much later origin—the policy of cutting down Ireland's parliamentary delegation forty per cent.

The round trip of the Olympic will cost the millionaires $600,000, but they will enjoy privacy as strict as though they were travelling upon their private yachts. Work upon the liner is being rushed so that she will be completed before June.

A Handsome Gift to All Saints' Church

Mrs. Fitzgerald Offers to Purchase St. John's Church Bell as a Gift to All Saints', Subject to Reasonable Conditions

At All Saints' Church yesterday, the Rector, H. R. Trumpour, read a letter from Mrs. Fitzgerald of Charlotte street, city, in which she announced that she purposed purchasing the bell of St. John's Church (to be displaced this coming summer by a set of chimes) as a gift to All Saints' Church, subject to the approval of its rector, the wardens and the congregation. This generous and very thoughtful donation is coupled with the following conditions: The bell is to be used permanently by All Saints' Church; a tablet is to be placed in the church setting forth the years said bell had seen service in St. John's Church tower; should a new bell be procured in future years for All Saints' then the ownership of this bell is to revert again to St. John's.

Rev. Mr. Trumpour personally expressed his high appreciation of Mrs. Fitzgerald's generous and timely gift, which he had no doubt would be gratefully accepted by the congregation. The conditions imposed he considered exceptionally reasonable, and easy of compliance with.

This handsome donation of Mrs. Fitzgerald is a graceful and considerate act that will afford much pleasure, not only to the congregation of All Saints', but also to that of St. John's. Much regret had been entertained of the possibility of St. John's old bell, associated with so many sad and joyful memories, being sold to an out of town purchaser.

Apart from its intrinsic value which is considerable, it is a connecting link between Peterboro's past, present and future, and general gratification will be felt towards Mrs. Fitzgerald for making it possible that this sweetly toned and historic old bell may continue in sacred duties for generations to come, from the tower of All Saints' handsome new church.

PROTESTANTS IN QUEBEC AROUSED

(Special to The Times.)

Montreal, Feb. 27.—The Protestants of Quebec have apparently at last been aroused to action in regard to the extraordinary privileges enjoyed by the Roman Catholic Church. The fierce arraignment of the Church last week at a public meeting of French Protestants has awakened widespread interest. It is said that the dawn of a better day is at hand, when equal rights to Protestants will be meted out, and the latter placed on the same footing as other denominations. In the meantime Protestants will organize and continue the agitation.

A COSTLY MISTAKE

King's Name Cost Montreal Firm $80.

Montreal, Feb. 27. — One wrong word cost the plaintiff $80 in court Friday, in the case of Henry Morgan & Co. vs. Verge. In the Practice Court Mr Martin Honan, representing the defendant, took exception to the form of action because the writ of summons had been made in the name of the late King Edward instead of King George. Mr Justice Weir immediately dismissed the case with costs.

Peterborough Lost Six of Seven Claims

Toronto, Feb. 25.—The Dominion Railway Commission yesterday afternoon considered applications of the City of Peterborough for further protection over seven C.P.R. crossings within the city limits. Six cases were dismissed and the city and the company are to come to some agreement in regard to the seventh, which is the Aylmer and Townsend streets crossings.

FARMERS' BANK MAY SUE MINISTER

Refusal to Appoint Commission of Inquiry Resented by the Ontario Farmers.

Toronto, February 27.—It is said in the inner circle of Farmers Bank shareholders that the answer to Hon. W. S. Fielding's statement that the Government does not see the necessity of appointing a commission of inquiry will be a civil action against the Minister of Finance by the shareholders, charging him and probably others in the department with negligence. The suit had been proposed some time ago, but was kept quiet, but now, in view of the refusal of the request of the delegation they sent to Ottawa, asking for an inquiry, the shareholders are determined to go ahead with the suit as a last resource.

They point out that the granting of a charter gave the bank powers to exploit the farmers of Halton county, and other places, ruining many of them, and point out that it has been shown that the bank was not legally entitled to its charter, and hence the Minister, they claim, should be held liable.

Girl Died in Dentist's Chair.

Montreal, Feb. 25.—While being placed under the influence of chloroform preparatory to having several of her teeth extracted, Florence Bird, a nineteen-year-old English girl, living at 1951 Pathenais street, died of heart failure yesterday, in the office of Dr. L. EXPORT BUSINESS TO GO ELSEWHERE—MILLERS WILL BE HANDICAPPED.

Nearly All Oat By-Product From the Canadian Mill Is Shipped Over to the United States.

(From The Toronto News.)

Mr. Robt. Stuart, of the Quaker Oats Company at Peterborough, says:

"The Canadian millers are going to be badly handicapped in competing with American millers in the export market. If grain is on the free list the Minneapolis, Buffalo and intermediate mills will be able to secure Canadian grains, mill them and reach the seaboard, at the same cost of transportation as Canadian mills. As a result of the above, American millers will have the following advantages:

BY-PRODUCTS.

"Statistics show that bran or wheat by-product for the past several years have sold at an average of $3 to $4 a ton more in the United States than in Canada. Nearly all of the oat by-product from our Peterborough mill, and a large percentage of the oat by-product from the other Canadian oatmeal mills, is shipped to the United States. This is done because the home market is not large enough to consume the production, and the products will sell for more money in the States. The proposed duty is 12½c per 100 lbs., or $2.50 per ton, the amount of by-product (bran, middlings, etc.) produced in making a barrel of flour is 70 lbs. to 80 lbs., the oat feed produced in making a barrel of rolled oats from 100 lbs. to 120 lbs.

A SERIOUS HANDICAP.

"This means the Canadian miller, regardless of the origin of the grain will be handicapped 8½c to 10c per barrel on flour, and 12½c to 15c per barrel on oatmeal. This handicap will be sufficient to allow the American miller to control the export market. As far as we are concerned, it will mean that the majority of our export business will be transferred from the Peterborough to our American mills."

Vote on Reciprocity will be on Party Lines

Ottawa, Feb. 25.—When it comes to a vote on reciprocity it is predicted that the party will divide largely on straight lines. Hon. Clifford Sifton and Mr. German of Welland are expected to vote against reciprocity, and Mr. Sealey of Wentworth, while being one of the strongest advocates of it on general principles wants fruit and vegetables exempted. Three quarters of his constituents are in business in that line. Some Western Conservatives are inclined to the belief that their constituents want free grain, but whether they will vote for it remains to be seen.

The breaks on either side will not exceed four or five.

Greatest Conspiracy of Modern Times

Viterbo, Italy, Feb. 25.—This historic town, called by ancient writers "The City of Handsome Fountains and Beautiful Women," has not been a centre of such interest as now since the thirteenth century, when the conclave which resulted in the election of Theodore Viscounts Gregory X. met in the episcopal palace here and continued in session for two years and nine months, during which time it was the scene of unending violence and bloodshed, among the murdered being the English Prince Henry.

At the present time it is a criminal trial instead of a conclave which attracts the interest of the whole world. The leaders of the dreaded Neapolitan Camorra are about to be judged and the case may rival in duration the conclave of 1271, with the difference that while then the people removed the roof of the episcopal palace to force the cardinals to come to a decision, there is now no way, according to Italian legislation, to shorten procedure of the courts.

BEGINS ON MARCH 11.

It is expected that the trial will occupy one year. Unless there is a postponement it will open on Mar. 11. Already throngs of interested ones are making arrangements for accommodations in town, and the authorities are busy preparing elaborate police and military precautions against interference on the part of thousands of friends of the fortyone prisoners, many of them desperate men. The testimony of 450 witnesses has been prepared by the State. No one knows what revelations this testimony may lead to or what ramifications in official life the exposure of the Camorra may lay bare.

A WONDERFUL DRAMA.

The voluminous documents in the case reveal a story more engaging than romance. It is the result of four years of police work. It shows that Gennarro Cuocolo, upon whose murder the case was built, was not only a notorious criminal, but a rival of Camorra of its alleged head, Enrico Alfano, also known as Grricono. His body, bearing many stab wounds, was found at Torre del Greco, a suburb of Naples, on June 7th, 1906. He appeared to have died in a duel, but there were no ashes on the dancing pumps of the handsome and well-dressed victim, though the Vesuvian ashes were knee-deep about the place. It was plain that the body had been brought to the place and so murder was established. Identification failed until a man recognized the body as that of his nephew, his brother's son.

A VICIOUS CAREER.

"He was bound to finish like this," the uncle exclaimed. "Ever since his boyhood he had given himself up to light loves and bad companions and was anything but an honor to his family. His father died of a broken heart. Gennarro soon dissipated his conspicuous fortune and almost ruined his younger brother. He was interdicted and given 300 francs a month, which should have enabled him to live decently, but he continued to follow his evil ways to a point of marrying a woman of doubtful character, Marie Cutinelli, who was a beauty of the people, called "The Beautiful Sorrento." It must be she who has involved him in some new infamy in which he has lost his life.

The body, horribly mutilated, of "the beautiful Sorrentino," was discovered in their pretty apartments a few steps from the royal palace. Then was begun a police inquiry that uncovered the greatest criminal conspiracy of modern times, and which led unquestionably to the assassination of the New York detective.

Senate Has No Power to Amend Reciprocity Bill

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 25.—In view of the suggestion that the Senate might be persuaded to amend or reject the reciprocity measure, it is interesting to learn that the Senate cannot amend money bills. It can reject in toto, but in view of the Liberal majority in the Upper House there is no indication of such a rejection. With the exception of the Mackenzie and Mann Yukon contract there has never yet been a case where the Canadian Senate has done otherwise that it was expected to do by the Government.

About forty years ago the Senate considered very seriously the question of rejecting or amending a tariff bill. Several members strongly upheld the right of the Senate to take such action, and said that it would degrade and weaken the Senate to surrender the right of revising tariff legislation. The stalwarts who wanted the Senate to assert itself were defeated by a very small majority—about four in a House of sixty. Of recent years the Senate has acquiesced in the view that the House of Commons has the sole control over taxation.

GOOD SCORES IN SHOOTING CONTEST

—Professional—

At 9.45 p.m., there was a four-hand tie at a score of 57 points, when Mr. H. Mackey broke the tie by a score of 59 points, and carried off the box of Tuckett's Marguerite cigars.

"Ships Mother" on the C. N. Steamers

London, Feb. 24.—A new rating is to be introduced to the Mercantile Marine.

The Canadian Northern Steamships will in future carry, besides the captain, first, second, third and the fourth officers, a lady officer with the rank of "ship's mother."

Mr. Thomas Howell, who arrived recently in London to organize the search for 5000 wives for Canada said that this new rank has been instituted so that 5000 brides will be properly looked after on their journey across the Atlantic.

"The ship's mother" will be an entirely new rank on board ship," said Mr. Howell. She will be an officer, taking her orders direct from the captain, and the next to him in rank.

"A special uniform is being designed for her with three gold-braid rings on her sleeves in the approved naval style. She will take her meals in the saloon at the captain's table and be in command of her own staff of assistants.

"The ladies who will fill these new positions have already been chosen, and their names have been submitted for the approval of the National Council of Canadian Women.

"The duty of the 'ship's mother' will be to see to everything affecting the comfort and well-being of the women passengers. She will have the fullest powers and be entitled to enter any woman's cabin at any hour of the day or night."

Mr. Howell is confident that he will recruit his 5000 brides for the bachelors of the great northwest in record time. It is anticipated that the census in April next will show a surplus of 2,000,000 women in Great Britain.

Parliament of Man Advocated by Apponyi

Toronto, Feb. 25.—A parliament in which all nations shall be represented and which will make laws binding upon all nations, just as national parliaments make laws binding on all citizens under its jurisdiction, was the ideal placed before his audience by Count Apponyi, the distinguished Hungarian statesman and Parliamentarian in the University of Toronto Convocation Hall this afternoon. It was not a Utopian dream he declared. The germs of the necessary institutions, he said, already existed.

"The Peace Problem" was the subject of the Count's address. The subject and the speaker had attracted a large audience in which the faculty and student body of the University were well represented. His Honor, the Lieutenant-Governor was present The distinguished speaker was accompanied on the platform by the President of the University in his official robes and Professor James Mavor.

"The head of every Government," said Count Apponyi, "recognized the peace problem. Every speech from the throne and the message of every president referred to the maintenance of peace as an achievement of which the Government had the right to be proud." But he did not wish to be understood as taking the peace problem to mean the maintenance of peace by the precarious way adopted to-day by the diplomatists and governments. That is, by the menace of war. He meant the maintenance of peace by means of the evolution of international institutions. In aboriginal days neighboring groups of savages might have been sufficient goodwill, the one to the other, to live together in peace, but one dissatisfied member of the group could break it. The world should move beyond that now. Through the evolution of national institutions the preservation of peace among individuals was no more dependent on individual goodwill, but was maintained by national laws and the national judiciary. This replacing by institutions of mere good will was almost complete in individual relations. The peace problem was to apply the same laws of evolution to the development of international institutions which would maintain peace among nations in the same way.

PREMIER ASQUITH STANDING PAT.

The British premier has reintroduced his anti-veto or parliament bill without the change of a word. This he has done deliberately, not in haste. He has yielded neither to the Tories, who have been urging compromise and concessions, nor to the ultra radicals and laborites, who demanded some time ago that he should drop the "preamble", which declares for the retention of a second chamber and promises well-considered proposals for the reorganization and demonstration of the upper house.

Mr. Asquith stands pat, because the electorate stood pat. He does not propose to wait indefinitely, and he will not attempt more radical action than the popular mandate justifies. The lords appealed to the constituencies and were beaten on the budget issue. Their known opposition to liberal measures necessitated another election on the issue of their "veto", and the electors approval of the Asquith proposals with regard to that veto. That, according to the government, settled the matter under the British constitution.

The anti-veto bill leaves the house of peers as it stands, but it deprives it of the power of rejecting a budget and of the power of "finally" rejecting any other measure that the commons has passed three times. The lords may delay and amend and secure deliberation and full discussion, but the maximum period of their control of any bill is fixed at two years.

The belief is growing in England that the lords will accept these proposals and render it unnecessary for the liberals to "advise" the king to create some 250 or more new peers in order to swamp the present tory majority. Certainly discretion is now the better part of valor. In democratic England the veto of a hereditary, privileged, one-sided body on legislation enacted by elected representatives at the demand of the people is an impossible anomaly. It is an anomaly that is doomed.

THE RED YEAR

—By—
LOUIS TRACY.

CONTINUED.

The great land of Hindustan has doubled its teeming population and increased its prosperity out of all comparable reckoning during the fifty years that have passed since the Mutiny. Many of the descendants of men who fought against the British Raj are now its trusted servants, and there is not in India to-day a native gentleman of any importance who would not assist the Government with his life and fortune to save his country from the lawless horrors of any similar outbreak.

But these are matters for the politician and the statesman. It is more fitting that this story of the lives and fortunes of a few of the actors in a great human drama should conclude with such particulars of their subsequent history as have filtered through time's close-woven meshes of half a century.

One day in February, not so long ago, a young officer of the Guides, who had come to Lucknow for "Cup" week, was standing in the porch of the Mohammed Bagh Club when he heard a young lady bewailing fate in the shape of a tikhagharry which had brought her there. Her "people" were at the Chutter Munzil Club, miles away, for Lucknow is a big place, and she was already late for tea.

Being a nice young man, the said officer of the Guides could not bear to see a nice young woman in distress. "My dogcart is just coming up," he said, "and I am going to the Chutter Munzil. Won't you let me drive you there?"

She blushed and hesitated and of course agreed.

On the way, to maintain a polite conversation, he pointed out several historic buildings.

"You are stationed here, I suppose?" she said

"No, indeed. My regiment is at Quetta, but I was reared on the records of Lucknow. My grandmother went through the whole of the siege, and my grandfather was with the Second Relief. It must have agreed with their health, for they were both out here two years since, and I went over the Mutiny ground with them."

"How interesting! Was that how they met?"

"No. They were engaged just before the Residency was invested. It is an awfully interesting yarn, and I should like some day to have a chance of telling it to you. There is a native princess in it, and a pearl necklace, which is worth quite a lot of money, and is believed to have been stolen by a sepoy before my grandfather obtained it, quite by accident. And the old chap—he was quite a young chap then, you know—had a remarkable native servant who did so well at the Mutiny that he became a nawab or something of the sort. Really the whole thing is more like a book than a chapter of real life."

"I had a grandmother in the Mutiny," said the girl, "but she had such a sad experience that she seldom mentioned it. Her maiden name was Keene, and her father was killed at Futtehpore—"

"Keene! Did she ever speak of a man named Malcolm, who saved her and her sister?"

"Oh, yes! You don't mean to say—"

"Yes, really, I'm his grandson. Now, isn't that the queerest thing? Just imagine the odds against my meeting you here under such conditions? Please tell me your name, and you'll let me call, won't you?"

The girl was somewhat breathless. Young Malcolm was looking at her as though he felt that a special dispensation of Providence had brought them together.

"I am sure my mother will be glad to meet you and hear all about those old days at Lucknow," she said shyly.

So it may be that the gray ruins of the Residency, over which the flag flies over that was kept there so resolutely by the men and women in '57, saw the beginning of another love idyll, destined to end as happily as that which had its being amidst the terrors and fury of the Mutiny.

The End.

POEMS YOU OUGHT TO KNOW

THE WOMAN WHO UNDERSTANDS

Somewhere she waits to make you win,
Your soul in her firm white hands—
Somewhere the gods have made for you
The woman who understands.

As the tide went out she found him
Lashed to a spar of despair—
The wreck of his ship around him,
The wreck of his dreams in the air;
Found him and loved him, and gathered
The soul of him to her heart—
The soul that had sailed an uncharted sea,
The soul that had sought to win and be free,
The soul of which she was part;
And there in the dusk she cried to the man,
"Win your battle—you can—you can!"

Helping and loving and guiding—
Urging when that was best—
Holding her fears in hiding
Deep in her quiet breast.
This is the woman who kept him
True to his standards lost—
When, tossed in the storm and stress and strife,
He thought himself through with the game of life
And ready to pay the cost—
Watching and guarding, whispering still,
"Win—you can—and I know you will!"

This is the story of ages—
This is the woman's way—
Wiser than seers or sages,
Lifting us day by day—
Facing all things with courage
Nothing can daunt or dim;
Treading life's path wherever it leads—
Lined with flowers or choked with weeds,
But over with him—with him;
Guardian, comrade, and golden spur,
The men who win are helped by her.

Somewhere she waits, strong in belief,
Your soul in her firm white hands!
Thank well the gods when she comes to you—
The woman who understands.

ASSETS OF THE COMPANY

$10,000,000 of stock still in the Treasury.

$10,000,000 pooled for 9 and 18 months.

500 acres of land; value, $3,000 per acre.

A subsidy obtained from the Municipality of North Vancouver of 5 per cent. for 15 years on $200,000, and freedom from taxation of our plant and 30 acres of land for 10 years.

A subsidy obtained from the Dominion of Canada, 3½ per cent. for 25 years on $1,214,000, for the purpose of building a dry dock of 15,000 tons at Roslyn, the Company's townsite.

A very valuable brick clay deposit has been discovered on the Company's property. This will be developed to its fullest capacity, as brick clay is very rare here, Vancouver even importing from Seattle millions of brick annually.

NOTE.—A shareholder participates in every asset of the Company.

LIABILITIES OF THE COMPANY

Amount yet owing on land, extending over a period of four years, $446,000.

REMARKS

MORE LANDS

The Company proposes to purchase lands surrounding their townsite, and to this end are securing options on about 250 acres, with about 2,800 feet of deep waterfrontage adjoining that which they now own.

MINES

They have also secured an optian of purchase of a group of ten claims of very valuable iron deposits situated within twelve miles of their townsite. The Company believe, located as they are in a country which abounds with everything necessary to the smallest detail for turning out a perfect car, or should go to nature's storehouse for their material, and with this end in view have secured the above group.

SHIPBUILDING

In addition to building the Imperial Sleeping Car, cars of every description will be contracted for, and just as soon as their dry dock is completed, the Company intend to use it to the greatest advantage in building ships of the largest tonnage. As there will be but three or four docks in the whole Dominion, they will encounter but very little competition in the building of the larger class of vessels.

SALE OF LANDS

The Company do not intend to sell any of its land until its dry dock, car works, sawmills and other industries are in operation, and in this way secure as nearly as possible all the profit derived from the establishment of these great works.

CLEARING OF LAND

The Municipality of North Vancouver have under consideration a proposition from the Company whereby the Company promise to clear their whole townsite on condition the Municipality will at once clear and grade all the streets, charging the cost of same to local improvement taxes. The Municipality view the Company's proposition with great favor. This plan would at least double the price of the Company's holdings.

PURCHASING STOCK

A small block of stock is now on the market and can be had on very easy terms of payment. This once sold, the Company will have no difficulty to borrow on their assets at from 4 to 5 per cent. any money they will require for improvement purchases, and in this case all stock will be withdrawn from the market.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Thinks Japan is Ready For War

Washington, February 24.—In an interview to-day Congressman Richmond Pearson Hobson said:

"I base my belief on an early war with Japan upon the motives which lead her to seek it and upon her preparedness to engage in it. The world does not keep up with Japan and does not know her condition with reference to war. Japan financed her fight with Russia while she fought, and realized then that these conditions placed her under a vast disadvantage. She determined never to fight that way again.

Immediately after conclusion of her war with Russia, Japan promptly seized upon the credit which her victory had given her with foreign nations and executed a loan of one billion a year, or five hundred million dollars, which she now has unexpended in her strong boxes, and can have for one purpose only under the sun."

Chinese Famine is Rapidly Spreading

Washington, February 27.—Advices from China indicate that conditions in the famine district are growing worse daily and that 2,500,000 will die for the want of bread if assistance is not rendered immediately. This number comprises nearly the entire population of the northern part of the provinces of Kiang-Su and Anhui.

The famine is the direct result of the great floods which inundated the provinces mentioned last summer, ruining the crops.

During the first days of the famine mothers endeavored to sell their babies to provide food for themselves and save the children from starvation. Now they are trying to give the children away in the hope that those to whom the babies are given will be able to feed them. Along the banks of the Grand Canal the victims of this terrible calamity are living in mud and water, with only shacks of matting over their heads.

President Taft, as president of the American Red Cross, has sent out an urgent appeal to people to aid China.

ENGLAND'S UPPER TEN GOING TO SEED

The Charteris-Manners wedding in London produced the same phenomena as the Decies-Gould wedding in New York. A big mob surrounded the church, and a determined force of constables and mounted police were necessary to keep order. Well may the English acknowledge that Americans has no monopoly of curiosity at the weddings of the wealthy and prominent.

In the London affair the bride was widely known—too widely known, it might be thought, for any single young woman, together with the comparative amount of endeavor made to secure this prominence, has lately been engaging attention in England. Says a leading London actress: "We don't know as much about it as they do. If I wanted to get my photograph in the papers I should have to find out how to do it from the dukes and lords and other titled people . . . You'll find more of their pictures in the papers that you will of ours."

A tabulation of the pictorial contents of several popular illustrated London weeklies confirms this statement. The number of titled people photographed in their own coverts, stable-yards, gardens and boudoirs—and taken in most cases necessarily, by their own friends—is far in excess of the number of pictures of stage favorites. They are printed for the double purpose of notoriety and of income; they are paid for, and editors who are not prompt in paying are dunned. "Harrieta" are met half-way by society. In fact every little aristocratic group seems to have a "Harriet" of its own.

It would seem that an "upper ten" so far gone to seed as to traffic thus in its own quality could scarcely be secure much longer in consideration of the lower million. But while many portents promise a new political England, it is not unlikely that long-established conventions will keep social England—including the over-pictured aristocracy—more or less where it is for some time to come.

A Great Railway System.

Hardly a town, village or city in Ontario, that does not receive daily benefit from the operation of the Grand Trunk Railway System, and considering the net work of Branch line connections, it is wonderful with what regularity trains are run. Not only is a good service provided between points in Ontario, but this line also reaches nearly all the important cities of Michigan, viz: Detroit, Flint, Saginaw, Bay City, Lansing, Battle Creek, Jackson, Grand Rapids and Muskegon, South Bend, Ind., and the second city in America, viz: Chicago, Ill., the gateway to the North-west, West and South, bringing Ontario in close connection. On the East, the Grand Trunk connects Ontario with Montreal, Quebec, the Maritime Provinces and Boston, Mass.

Mr. Thomas A. Edison, predicts that the time is not far distant when cloth buttons, thread, tissue paper, and pasteboard will be fed into one end of a machine and suits of clothing, packed in boxes, will come out of the other.

WAS GREETED WITH HEN FRUIT

WOMEN WEARING LATEST CREATION WAS HOOTED AND PELTED WITH EGGS.

Police Aid Her in Escape—Few of the New Nether Outfits Have Been Ordered—Are Women Adapted for Such Garments?

Paris, Feb. 24.—Incidents of public disturbance accompanying the appearance in the streets of women wearing the new trouser skirt occur daily. The Avenue de l'Opera was the scene of one of the more serious outbreaks. A woman having been surrounded by a laughing, jeering crowd, was unable to proceed, and a gentleman taking advantage of the situation, purchased a basket of eggs from a dealer in a side street and distributed them among the other gentlemen, who in order to show their disapproval of what they considered unladylike conduct, pelted the helpless wearer of the new garment until a squad of police intervened and aided the woman to escape in an auto.

DOUBTS ABOUT FUTURE.

Doubts appear to have arisen among the leading Paris dressmakers as to whether the skirt will be adopted by women as a general fashion Butfew have been ordered thus far, and these have gone chiefly to women from abroad who were shopping here and wished to take home the latest sensation.

The journals publish medical opinions on the new style. Some aver that the wide trousers afford the wearer freer movement in walking and furnishing less resistance to the winds, and are to be recommended from the standpoint of good health. Other opinions to the contrary are expressed by Professor Debore, formerly Dean of the Academy of Medicine who affirms in The Matin that women are not adapted for such garments.

Madrid, Feb. 24.—Two women belonging to the most exclusive society circle of the Capital appeared on the streets last evening, wearing the new Parisian trousers skirts, and were fairly mobbed. The crowd which grew rapidly to great proportions surrounded the exponents of advanced fashion, and after insulting cries threatened violence. A large force of police came to the protection of the women and cleared the streets. The police administration has dealt with several similar cases of disorder recently, and it is determined to put a stop to rowdyism.

The Peace River Country.

Owing to the development in that part of Western Canada west of Edmonton and the business impetus that is now going on in that territory, and in order to adequately take care of the trek into the Peace River country where 15,000 new homesteads will be offered for free entry by the Dominion Government this year, a daily except Sunday passenger train is now operated by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway between Edmonton and Edson, Alta.

From the latter point the new Government wagon road enables settlers with their effects to travel with ease and comparative comfort in about one week's time to the Grande Prairie as against the much longer and more expensive routes through gateways east of Edson, which occupy from a month and a half to two months.

The new train will leave Edmonton daily except Sunday at 6.30 a. m., arrive Edson (130 miles) at 1 p.m., returning leave Edson at 3.30 p.m., daily except Sunday, arrive Edmonton at 10:05 p.m.

Snow Very Deep.

Mr. George Chalmers has returned to the city after five months in the lumber woods in the vicinity of Wabigwood. He reports a depth of snow so great that the late fall freshets stated suspension of operations. He says much of this winter's cut cannot be got out this winter owing to the depth of the snow.

$55,000 in Deposits

Mr. R. Winslow, of Cavan, was in town on Saturday and dropped into the Times' Office. He said the people around Bethany, where a branch of the Farmers' Bank was located, were heavy sufferers, there being about $55,000 on deposit at that branch when the bank closed.

Special Sermon to Men.

By request of St. Andrew's Young Men's Guild, Rev. Mr. Rollins last night preached a special sermon. In order that all men faced the preacher, the choir was wholly composed of ladies. There was a large attendance and the sermon more than usually impressive.

Mrs. Kendry Delightful Hostess.

Mr. James Kendry entertained the members of the adult bible class of George street church on Friday evening last, in a delightful manner. Over 30 were present to enjoy the splendid hospitality of the charming hostess. The evening was spent in music and games.

A meeting of the Board of Trade will be held this evening in the Council Chamber, when the subject of the proposed trade agreement with the United States will be discussed. There should be a large attendance.

Hurt Stopping Runaway.

A young man named Joseph Cooper, residing on Stewart street south, risked his life yesterday to stop a team of runaway horses belonging to a farmer named Johnston. The horses took fright at a Grand Trunk train, and got beyond the control of the driver, and young Cooper got into the street and grasped the bridles. He was dragged for some distance before he succeeded in stopping the horses, being considerably bruised and severely shaken up in the effort.

$100 REWARD $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Billing By Typewriter Saves Money

Every live manager and every live proprietor of every business enterprise wants to save time. Time is the scarcest and the most precious thing in the universe.

THE MONARCH

BILLING TYPEWRITER saves time — saves the manager's time because his records come to him clear and legible; saves the accountant's time because much of his work is done on the machine; saves the stenographer's time because the work progresses more rapidly. The accumulation of time saved means much in the course of a year.

Mr. W. W. Dunlop, system specialist, is exhibiting MONARCH BILLING MACHINES of every description at the Hardwaremen's Convention this week in the Armouries. Bring along your forms and tell your problems and he will gladly help you if he can. See these marvelous MONARCH Typewriters anyway.

HYMEN IS LAZY IN LONDON

Is marriage growing in disfavor amongst Londoners? Is it becoming less and less popular? These are the questions suggested by the big annual report just issued by the medical officer of health for the County of London. The population of the Administrative County of London estimated to the middle of the year 1909 was 4,833,938. The number of marriages in 1909 was 33,176, giving an annual rate of 13.8 persons married per 1000 living. This is the lowest rate recorded in London since complete marriage statistics have been available. It has dropped slowly, but certainly, from 20.3 in the period between 1861 and 1870 to the present low rate. Naturally, the birth rate has been affected by this steady decline, and, as a consequent result, the birth rate for 1909 was likewise the lowest recorded rate. The number of births was 116,559, giving a birth rate of 24.2 per 1000 persons living per annum. Only six years ago it was 28.3. For the period 1871-80 it was 35-4, as it was also for the preceding ten years.

If it be any consolation, the decrease in birth rate apparent in London was shared by all the chief foreign capitals, and, certainly, the London birth rate compares not if favorably with their figures. This is how other capitals are: St. Petersburg, 27.8; Copenhagen, 27.3; New York, 26.9; Rome, 22.7; Vienna, 22.1; Berlin, 21.6; Paris, 17.7; Brussels, 16.8.

The number of deaths in 1909 was 67,662, giving an annual death rate of 14 per 1000 of the estimated population. London had a lower death rate than any other big town or city in England, with the exception of Bristol and Leicester. As regards foreign capitals, it was lower than that of any except Brussels and Amsterdam. St. Petersburg was as high as 24.6. London's death rate, it is gratifying to know, is pretty steadily on the decrease.

OBITUARY

THE LATE JOHN SCOLLARD.

On Saturday morning last there passed away in the township of Ennismore, one of the oldest and most respected residents in that locality, in the person of Mr. John Scollard, at the ripe old age of 80 years. Born in 1831, and when yet a child, the late Mr. Scollard with his parents took up their residence in Ennismore. When a young man, he married Catherine O'Connor, who survives him. He leaves a wife, three sons and five daughters. The sons are Rt. Rev. Bishop Scollard, of Sault Ste. Marie, Mr. W. J. Scollard, who resides on the farm at Ennismore and Mr. P. J. Scollard, postmaster and merchant of Ennismore. The daughters are Mrs. (Dr.) Moloney, of Cornwall, Miss Katie Scollard of the Good Shepherd's Convent, Toronto, and Miss Lizzie Scollard, of Cornwall.

The deceased gentleman during his long life in the township, made scores of friends, who esteemed him for his high and manly qualities.

The funeral will take place this morning at nine o'clock from the late residence, lot 9, concession 5, Ennismore, to St. Martin's church, and thence to St. Martin's cemetery.

MRS. ANDREW McKEE.

Mrs. Andrew McKee, an esteemed and highly respected resident of Lakefield, passed away at her home in that village, on Thursday last, at the age of 58 years. She was the mother of Mr. Geo. McKee, caretaker of the Collegiate Institute building. She is survived by five sons and five daughters. The funeral took place Saturday afternoon and was largely attended.

BENJAMIN McDONALD.

The death occurred on Saturday morning, of Mr. Benjamin McDonald, of the township of Smith. He resides at lot 22, concession 4.

READ EVERY WORD OF THIS

It Will Be Money In Your Pocket To Do So

Everyone is anxious to make money. Everyone has an ambition to get rich. Some men DO get rich. Others remain poor. The difference is simply a difference of methods. Nearly all of us save some money, but we do not let these savings earn anything for us. THE MAN WHO SAVES HIS MONEY AND LETS THE SAVINGS EARN SOMETHING FOR HIM is making it do double duty. Take the history of all the very wealthy men of the country and learn how many of them made their fortunes by simply saving what they earned. Not one of them did. They saved but they immediately put their savings to work for them. YOU WANT TO GET TO THE TOP OF THE LADDER, YOU WANT TO ACCUMULATE SOMETHING FOR YOUR OLD AGE. THEN YOU HAD BETTER PUT YOUR SAVINGS TO WORK AND LET THEM HELP YOU DO IT.

In almost any ordinary investment a man cannot make his money earn over 8 per cent. Mining offers you greater opportunities. I am going to offer you an opportunity that has promise of earning for you 800 per cent or even more. I want to take you into partnership with me, in an enterprise that will probably make us all independent for the balance of our lives. YOU MUST TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THIS OFFERING. The Gold Queen Mining Company, of which I am president, has over 135 acres of rich mineral ground in one of the most prospepous mining districts of the world. We have already expended thousands of dollars in developing this property and we have struck ore that is very rich. We need a mill to extract the precious metal from this ore. We need a little help in building this mill. Are you willing to subscribe a portion of the amoont necessary to do it? In numbers there is strength, and even though your subscription be a very small one, we are willing to give you a part ownership in this great enterprise, in return for it. We are willing to take you in on an equal basis with us and give you the benefit of all your savings may earn for you. The men behind this proposition are all successful business men. They are in this business to make it pay and for every dollar they earn for themselves they will earn one for you. REMEMBER: THIS IS NOT A PROSPECT—IT IS A MINE WITH ORE IN IT. But a small amount of money is necessary to build our mill. We have decided to offer only a very limited number of shares at the present price, and as soon as this amount is secured the price will be advanced to a much greater figure. NOW IS THE TIME FOR YOU TO ACT. YOU ARE GETTING IN WITH THE ORGANIZERS OF THE COMPANY AT GROUND FLOOR PRICES. YOU ARE COMING INTO A BONA FIDE PARTNERSHIP WITH US AND WITH NO PARTNERSHIP RESPONSIBILITIES. Read what Mr, Van Wagenen, one of the foremost mining engineers of the country has to say: "I would advise the immediate erection of a ten-stamp mill with cyanide equipment, to treat your gold ores, and a separate concentrating plant to handle your copper pyrites, thus reducing the shipping weight 6 to 1, and eventually put in a smelter in connection with the mill, with a ten-stamp mill on your property and a daily production of 50 tons of ore. I CAN PROMISE YOU A NET EARNING OF $300.00 PER DAY or $109,500 per year and that can be increased to ten times as much as soon as tunnels A and B are finished, and added milling equipment is installed. The economical method is the best. Start with a ten-stamp mill and let your stockholders be content with 10 per cent per annum until you have increased your milling facilities, and install your smelting plant to treat your concentrates. THEN YOU CAN PAY THEM 400 TO 500 PER CENT DIVIDENDS PER YEAR FOR THE NEXT TEN YEARS ON THE PRESENT VALUATION OF YOUR STOCK, 5 CENTS PER SHARE, and this out of the new discovered vein alone." Now if you want to get in with us on this proposition you must act quickly, for the present allotment of shares will not last long. The man who buys now will get his shares at the very rock bottom price. The one who waits until later will without a doubt pay many times what it is being offered for now. Arrangements may be made to pay for your subscription on the easy payment plan. Write at once for full information and detailed literature explaining all about it. Write today. Do not wait another minute or you may be too late.

VOL XXXIV NO. 49 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, TUESDAY FEBRUARY 28, 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

DEFENDS BISHOP FALLON'S STAND

BILINGUAL SCHOOLS—HAINSTONE PRIEST WILL NOT ACT PART OF A CHAINED DOG.

Father McCabe Declares the Bishop Has Been Deeply Insulted and Denounced by French-Canadians—English Language is the One to Prevail.

Windsor, Ont., Feb. 27.—Rev. Father McCabe, the parish priest of St. Mary's Church, Maidstone village, 12 miles from Windsor, delivered a sermon against Essex County French priests and the St. Jean Baptiste society yesterday morning.

TIME TO SPEAK OUT.

He declared he would act the part of a chained dog no longer and he decided to speak his mind, as not one priest had risen in his pulpit in defence of Bishop Fallon, whom Father McCabe said, had been deeply insulted and denounced by the French-Canadians of his diocese.

THE FRICTION AT OTTAWA.

He said he had determined to speak after reading the action taken by the Essex County branch of the St. Jean Baptiste Society a week ago in supporting Ottawa French-Canadians in connection with friction at the recent enthronement of Archbishop Gauthier.

SUPPRESS ENGLISH TONGUE.

The Maidstone priest declared that the English language was the one to prevail and blamed disloyal priests and scheming politicians for all recent trouble.

Father McCabe's Church in Maidstone is the centre of a strong and influential Irish Catholic population.

Detroit, Feb. 27.—At the funeral of William H. Faxon, Owosso, a phonograph reproduced sacred songs and the Lord's Prayer from records taken of his own voice years before. It produced a profound effect on those present.

WOMAN LOST HAT CLUB SENT $50

She Returned $40 Saying That She Did Not Wear Such Expensive Millinery.

Chicago, Feb. 27.—When Miss Jane Addams, of Hullhouse, attended a banquet given in honor of Col. Theodore Roosevelt at the Union League Club here last week, she lost her hat. Miss Addams checked her hat in the cloak room, but when the banquet was over it was not to belound andshe went home bareheaded. After a thorough search the club decided to enclose a cheque for $50 to the lady with a note of apology. Miss Addams promptly returned the cheque with the information that she was not accustomed to wear $50 hats and that the one she lost cost only ten. The missing hat was found yesterday and will be returned to Miss Addams to-day.

Thirty Frozen Men Found on Derelict

London, Feb. 27.—A news despatch from Odessa says that a tragedy of the sea was revealed in the discovery in the Caspian Sea, a few miles off Astrakhan, of a derelict vessel, in which the whole crew of thirty had been frozen to death.

The ship was a mass of ice.

Greeks and Bulgarians in a Fierce Fight

Toronto, Feb. 27.—Pick axes, hatchets, hammers, and sticks of firewood were the missiles freely used in an early morning row in which about thirty Macedonians took part at their homes, 103 and 105 Walnut avenue. The attacking party were said to have come from 103, and the house next door, the scene of the heaviest part of the conflict, is now in a most dilapitated condition. Windows are smashed, doors broken, stove upset, and chimney pipes down was what the police found when they arrived on the scene about seven o'clock.

In all about thirty Macedonians are supposed to have taken part in the affray. The fight seems to have been a result of a religious feud between Greek and Bulgarian Macedonians. Spoiro Dimitri, a Bulgarian Macedonian, at 103 Walnut, claims that when he was going to his work this morning at about 6.45 a number of his next door neighbors of the Greek persuasion set upon him with picks and shovels and soon brought him to the ground. In a few minutes the inmates of both houses were on the streets, and the Bulgarian tribe were soon augmented by several of their number who live in Niagara street.

The fight was then carried into the house of the Greek Macedonians at 105. Spoiro Dimitri is now in St. Michael's Hospital, where he was taken in a city ambulance. He has two bad scalp wounds, each about five inches long, in which it was necessary to insert ten stitches.

Shortly after 8 o'clock, the scene at No. 3 Police Station was more like a hospital than anything else. Six of the members of both houses were taken to the station, and their wounds, which were mostly of the scalp variety, were there dressed by Dr. George Smith. Their faces were all covered with blood. Pandro Norle evidently received a sharp crack over the head with a shovel, and sustained a gash about eight inches long from the front to the back of the head, and had ten stiches put in the wound. Radi Drigo had six stitches in a wound inflicted with the broad side of a pick axe. Keiro Norle had a similar wound, but only two stitches were necessary.

The row started on Saturday night when the seventeen Bulgarian Macedonians were having a supper at 103, and were disturbed by the Greeks from next door. Nothing serious happened at the time, and it is believed that the trouble only came to a head with this morning's affray.

Five hours after the conflict, eight of those who took an active part were lined up in the Police Court before Magistrate Denison. Five were charged with wounding, and three with vagrancy. All were remanded until March 3.

GARRISON MUTINIED.

Fear That Outbreak May Extend to Entire Turkish Army.

Vienna, Feb. 27.—A news agency despatch from Constantinople reports that the Yildiz Kiosk garrison at the Turkish capital mutinied today when ordered to Yemen, Arabia, to crush the native revolt. The despatch added that the mutineers, reinforced by a battery of artillery, were besieged in the Palace barracks by loyal troops and that a fight was expected at any time. Grave fears are felt that the mutiny will extend to the entire Turkish army.

"There's a Reason"

Will Ask Government to Give People an Opportunity of Voting For or Against Reciprocity

THIS WAS THE RESULT OF LAST NIGHT'S BOARD OF TRADE MEETING

D. W. Dumble, K.C., Favors the Reciprocity Pact ---Dr. Morrison and T. F. Matthews Strongly Oppose the Measure

Dr. Morrison moved, seconded by Mr. T. F. Matthews,—That in view of the great change in the fiscal system of this country that would be brought about by putting into force the reciprocity pact between Canada and the United States,

Be it resolved that this Board of Trade memorialise the Government not to put the measure into effect until the people have had an opportunity of expressing their views on it at the polls.

And that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Government at Ottawa and to Peterborough's representative in the House of Commons.

The above is a resolution carried at the Board of Trade meeting last night, by a vote of 8 to 5 out of an attendance of exactly 13 members, according to the responses to the roll call.

The meeting was a burlesque so far as representation was concerned, but the proverbial unlucky number of thirteen qualified Board of Trade members out of a membership of some 60 or 70 putting in an appearance. Some 50 or 60 citizens, apart from members of the Association, responded to the advertised invitation to be present.

Deep interest, however, was manifested in the momentous question under consideration, and considerable disappointment evident that Mr. Matthew's resolution that the gathering be resolved into a citizens' meeting so as to get a concensus of opinion of those present in the shape of a resolution was not allowed.

Mr. F. D. Kerr opposed this resolution on the grounds that it would stultify the Board of Trade, and produce an effect that is neither an honest one nor a fair representation of the city's stand on the important question of reciprocity.

Mr. W. D. Dumble, K.C., concurred in Mr. Kerr's opinion and visiting citizens left somewhat unceremoniously while Mr. Matthews was expressing his conviction that as the Board of Trade had invited citizens to be present, they should be permitted an expression of opinion and a part in the discussion.

The City Board of Trade met in special session last night to discuss the reciprocity pact between Canada and the United States.

The proceedings were marked by strongly expressed opposition to the trade agreement at present agitating this country and its neighbors across the line, on the part of Dr. Morrison and Mr. T. F. Matthews, and equally earnest contentions that the pact is one in this country's best interests from Mr. D. W. Dumble, K.C., and Mr. John Riddel.

Secretary T. Q. Quartermaine being ill, Industrial Commissioner Duggan was appointed to act in his place.

The minutes of the preceding meeting were taken as read.

DECOMPOSED EGGS.

A communication asking that legislation be sought to prohibit the sale of badly decomposed and tainted eggs unfit for food, received the endorsation of the Board, and Mr. Dumble moved, seconded by Mr. Morris, that this Board petition the Government to enact legislation on this question, and that a copy of this resolution be sent to the honourable Minister of Agriculture for his active sympathy along these lines.—Carried.

A STRANGE PROCEDURE.

The reciprocity pact was here taken up and Mr. T. F. Matthews spoke with considerable diffidence on the subject, he being one whose business operations would be seriously injured and curtailed were the measure enforced. He thought it a strange procedure on the part of the Liberal administration to send two men to a foreign executive, empowered to produce a trade agreement that must be passed in its entirety without amendment, or rejected. He did not doubt that the Honourable Messrs. Fielding and Patterson went down to Washington without any preconceived ideas, and acted honestly in their conviction that the pact was one in the best interests of Canada. But they visited America's capital ill prepared, without, as at other times, an intelligent knowledge of the concensus of opinion of the House of Commons, to say nothing of that of other important public bodies in Canada. No one would take objection if the party had even been considered, and an appeal made to the country.

Mr. Matthews concluded that the reciprocity agreement would disastrously injure the business in which he and other are engaged.

DOES NOT TEND TO ANNEXATION

Mr. Dumble could not understand the opposition to this measure. He remembered well when reciprocity was in force in 1865, the prosperity enjoyed at that time, and the period of depression that followed its abrogation.

Reciprocity means short carriage and quick returns. He was astonished that some people think that this pact would eventually lead to annexation. When Lord Elgin on the part of the British Government, engineered the reciprocity agreement between Canada and the States in 1854, he did so with a view to creating a feeling of contentment with a quick market on the part of Canadians, and to erect a barrier against the annexation agitation then prevalent. And since that treaty's abrogation in 1866, every succeeding Government, Liberal and Conservative alike, have expressed a desire to return to reciprocal trade relations with the States.

Why call men traitors for doing their best to get this measure that both Reform and Conservative parties have agitated for? Both countries recognize the desirability of reciprocity, at the last American election the Republicans promised to take down the barriers that kept Canadian produce out of the States. They have not kept their promises in this respect, and consequently are being turned out of office by the Democrats.

If the duty on Canadian goods were removed, we should have a ready and profitable market. We buy more from the Americans than they buy from us, and their products suit us better than do those of England.

Continuing, Mr. Dumble asked, how can reciprocity hurt the manufacturer of pork, when he is now competing with the States on the British markets? He did not like the raising of such false issues as annexation and disloyalty to the mother country in connection with this matter. We had reciprocity fourteen and a half years and were not in danger of annexation, nor was our loyalty to the British flag questioned. With a return to reciprocity we shall enjoy increased prosperity. When tariff barriers are removed the flow of commerce between Canada and the States will correspondingly increase. Of course, a man in his own trade will have an intelligent conception of the results of the measure to him. He believed Mr. Matthews honest in his opinions, as far as a man's feelings will let him be honest in a question of that kind. (Laughter). But it is evident that increased wealth for the farmer would benefit all classes of the community, as we are all dependent upon the land, directly or indirectly. The question is one that should be threshed out from a commercial standpoint wholly and solely, and should be discussed by commercial men who are familiar with the facts.

CANADIAN MARKETS BEST.

Mr. T. F. Matthews replied that Canadian pork packers did not depend upon the Liverpool market, but upon the Canadian. Competition for hogs in Ontario and Montreal is strong and a higher average price prevails than Americans pay for their pork. Reciprocity means that prices will be based upon Buffalo and Detroit; should Canadian buyers put their prices up above those bases, drovers would take their hogs across the line. And Buffalo prices run from 40 to 50 cents a hundred higher than those of Chicago. The Canadian farmer cannot breed swine as cheaply as the American, because of the difference in cost and method of feeding. But the Americans mainly want our markets for their manufactures, and by this pact they would take in food without duty from Canada, and from no place else. Canada, to the contrary, would import butter, eggs and live stock from all countries. Last year 180,000 lbs. of Australian butter came into Canada with but a duty of 4c upon it. If this reciprocity agreement is enforced millions of pounds will flood our market, to say nothing of eggs, which are selling to-day in New York at 22c a dozen. During the reciprocity era, Mr. Dumble speaks of Canada did not enjoy the tremendous intercolonial trade she has to-day developed by the means of increased transportation routes at the cost of millions of dollars.

To Mr. Kerr, Mr. Matthews replied that Canada's pork trade with England is limited, and this trade has been considerably reduced owing to the limitation of Canadian hogs. There is an ever-increasing market in England, which is taken advantage of by Denmark and other European countries. He would not like to say that by cultivating the British market he could manage to exist on limited profits; there is not an industry in Peterborough in which the margin of profit is so small as upon pork.

RECIPROCITY DEFEATED.

Dr. Morrison pointed out that in 1891, when Sir Wilfrid Laurier made reciprocity a plank in his election platform it was defeated and since that time the reciprocity issue has not been before the people. Last summer, when touring West Sir Wilfrid promised the farmers three things—the admission of Agricultural implements free, the control of elevators by the government, the operation of the Hudson Bay Railway by the Government. He said nothing of reciprocity, which has, it appears to me developed entirely in the mind of President Taft to strengthen his position in the face of Democratic gains on their platform of reciprocal trade with Canada. The doctor believed our government in a quandary in connection with the reciprocity pact, which will wink itself out. Our best market is at home, and the Canadian people are spending more per capita in developing their country than any other nation in the world. Then with everything so prosperous and promising in this Dominion, why should the government wish to disturb existing conditions? Our government and people would be foolish to take such a leap in the dark. Wading into figures as to exports and productions the doctor continued, altogether our people consumed $314,511,576 worth of their own products—66 per cent of all produced—and that is the market the government is going to throw open to the States. This pact will ruin our fruit industries. Peaches ripen in New York State a week or ten days earlier than in Ontario, and the New York growers could flood our market; by the time ours ripen they would be a drug upon the market. The States want our raw material; our lumber, our lambs, our hogs, and our farmer would not have a steady market, but a fluctuating one, dependent upon our neighbors. The Americans wish to destroy the high grade individuality of our number one manitoba hard wheat by mixing it with their inferior product in order to produce a better flour. And Western farmers should be the last to look for benefits from this reciprocity agreement at the Expense of Eastern Canada, which has spent millions in affording transportation facilities for their convenience.

Dr. Morrison here went on to say that the interests of Canadian cities and towns must enter into the question. Reciprocity would give a market for American manufactured goods whereas now they are in some cases forced to establish branch factories in Canada for Canadian markets. Within the past few years $300,000,000 of American money was invested here in branch American industries, which policy would not be necessary under reciprocity. It would seriously injure two big Peterborough industries—the Quaker Oats Co. and the George Matthews Co.—employing a large number of hands—and any measure that destroys or curtails such operations reflects upon the interests of our people. There is no country in the world in which artisans are better paid and better off than those in the States—the consequence of a high tariff—and as a rule Canadian artisans are similarly conditioned as a result of Canada's tariff. Then our duty is clearly to impress upon the government the advisability of presenting a mandate to the people upon this question, and not to rush things along without a clear knowledge of the results. It is a good policy to go slow and be sure of our ground.

CANADIANS SMART.

Mr. Dumble took exception to the doctor's contention that the reciprocity pact is "a leap in the dark." Canadians are smart, he said, and usually know what they are after. When our representatives went East on the fisheries business, they came back with five millions; they also came out ahead in The Hague treaty, and on other occasions. As to fruit, British Columbia, with her railways, should be able to hold her own; Ontario peaches can get a late and profitable market in New York; our apples would also find a ready market. When we had reciprocity, Canadian farmers grew millions of bushels of barley, with its abrogation the Americans put on a duty of 30c a bushel, and the whole growth disappeared. We want that market again for barley and for No. one hard wheat. In conclusion, Mr. Dumble never understood that a burden of freight and long hauls was a benefit.

BENEFIT THE FARMERS.

Mr. John Riddel believed in the reciprocity pact, because it would mean bigger prices for farmers with the American markets thrown open. He quoted prices on dairy products in New York and Boston in advance of those in Canada.

NO ANNEXATION SENTIMENT.

Mr. W. C. Austin apparently believes in reciprocity; it would raise the price of land in the West and elsewhere. But there is not any annexation sentiment in this country and never will be.

NOTED HANGMAN PASSED AWAY

RADCLIVE GONE TO HIS REWARD AFTER A PROTRACTED ILLNESS AT HIS HOME.

Family is in England—First Recorded Execution is That of Birchall at Woodstock—Was Official Hangman.

He died yesterday afternoon at his home, 54 Fern Avenue, after a protracted illness from dropsy, in his 55th year. At the time of his death the only relation beside him was his mother, with whom he lived for some time, his wife and children residing in England.

Radclive was a native of England, and came to Canada some twenty-five years ago. A peculiar coincidence in his career is that he was born in the same city as Mansfield, the chief English hangman and Arthur Ellis, his Canadian successor.

START OF HIS "CAREER."

On his arrival in Toronto, Radclive took the position as caretaker in the Sunnyside Canoe Club. In this year the famous case of Reginald Birchell was first called to the public notice, and in November 1890, when Birchall was to pay the extreme penalty for his crime, there was great difficulty in securing an executioner.

Radclive volunteered his services as hangman, and executed Birchall. The identity of the hangman was kept a close secret, but finally leaked out, and Radclive was discharged from the services of the club. He then secured the official position of hangman for Canada and received a fee of $100 an execution, and an annual salary of $500, as well as all expenses.

WAS A BUSY MAN.

In this capacity Radclive travelled from coast to coast executing murderers. In many places he conducted double executions, while in Victoria three years ago he hanged three people at once. In his career he was only called upon to hang a woman once, however.

Towards the last he became very nervous, and on December 23rd, 1909, he executed his last man. That was in Toronto jail, when the negro Boyd died for killing a fellow negro on York street.

In this execution his loss of nerve was plainly visible. He placed the dreaded black cap on his victim's head with a hand so shaky that the first attempt was unsuccessful.

FAVOR SEPARATION

Queen's University Graduates Vote On Important Question.

Kingston, Feb. 27.—The vote of graduates of Queen's University upon the question of separation from the Presbyterian Church is rolling up and it is now said to be 900 to 50 in favor of the proposition. This should go far in settling the matter in the General Assembly.

PRESIDENT WAS ASKED TO PROMISE NOT TO CALL EXTRA SESSION IF BILL WAS BEATEN.

Taft Was Very Emphatic—Will Not Be Frightened or Bought Off From His Position.

Washington, Feb. 27.—Although anxious to avoid a special session of Congress, President Taft to-day emphatically turned down a scheme to defeat his reciprocity agreement in the Senate and wind up the whole matter.

A group of Democratic Senators sought to have him agree that if they brought reciprocity to a vote in the Senate and defeated it, he would not call an extra session. If he would agree to this, they would be able to muster enough votes to defeat it, with the excuse that its defeat was the only way to prevent a prolonged business disturbance during an extra session. Several Democratic Senators, they said, would vote against the bill with this excuse.

The President, however, said that not even to avoid an extra session, would he cease his active support of reciprocity.

RUIN TO SEATTLE.

Washington, Feb. 27.—A telegram was read in the Senate to-day at the request of Senator Jones, Republican Washington, urging him to support the pending reciprocity agreement. It was signed by several lumber and logging firms at Seattle.

Another telegram signed by nearly all the banking concerns in Seattle protested vigorously against the compact, saying it would ruin the industries involved, and entreated Jones to oppose it.

MAY BE A STRIKE.

Local Building Trades Said to Be "Uneasy."

The Times is informed that there is likely to be some trouble in the building trades this spring, as several of the unions are likely to seek higher wages. We understand that bricklayers, painters and carpenters are among the number.

An employing contractor told The Times yesterday, when spoken to about the matter, that wages could not be advanced. There were plenty of men and the building operations this year, so far as Peterborough is concerned, is not likely to be overly brisk.

CONVERSION OF JEWS.

Montreal Herald Protests Against Proselytism.

Montreal, Feb. 28.—The Canadian Jewish Times, of Montreal, contains a strong article headed, "Protest Against Proselytising the Jews," and reproduces with great satisfaction a recent article from the Montreal Herald protesting against the effort being made in that city to convert Jews to Christianity. The Herald refers to the fact that there are 80,000 Jews in Montreal and asks why Protestants or Catholics should offend their natural susceptibilities. It pays a tribute to the Jewish faith, describing it as "a faith which forms the basis of the Christian's belief. Then there was other and better work for the Christian churches to do? Why should they seek to draw men from one religion to another when there were countless souls without other creed than that of might and selfishness?

NERVOUS DEBILITY
OUR NEW METHOD TREATMENT will save you and make a man of you. Under its influence the brain becomes active, the blood purified so that all pimples, blotches and ulcers heal up; the nerves become strong as steel, so that sleeplessness, headaches and despondency disappear; the eyes become bright, the face full and clear, energy returned to the body, and the mental, physical and moral systems are invigorated; all drains cease—no more vital waste from the system. You feel yourself a man and know marriage cannot be a failure. Don't be quacked and fakired out of your hard earned dollars.

THREATENED WITH PARALYSIS
Peter E. Summers relates his experience:
"I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and excesses in youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me pointed my course. Sometimes dreams at night would so unnerve me—my hair started, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, nerves were shaky, eyes blurred, hair rocks, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers led me to think the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, were an elastic belt for three months, but received little benefit. I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I eagerly grasped the New Method Treatment and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through the nerves. I was cured mentally and physically. I have sent them many patients and continue to do so.

NEW LINE OF INSURANCE.

The Imperial Government hopes at the coming session of parliament to pass the bill for compulsory insurance against unemployment. This will be put into effect next January, and it will be experimental, to be applied to 2,500,000 skilled and unskilled workmen in the building, shipping and engineering trades, and administered through the labor exchanges. The men are to contribute approximately sixpence weekly, the employers and the state contributing the same amount. Unemployed persons will receive about ten shillings a week.

MR. BALFOUR'S POSITION.

Ready writers of Free Trade sympathies have armed at length—and not without being wearisome—to show that Mr. Balfour would have nothing to do with Tariff Reform. We have been assured that the policy is dead and that the British Unionist Party would never attempt to revive it. In view of this flood of misrepresentation, the latest speech of Mr. Balfour is particularly interesting. Mr. F. E. Smith, K.C., gave a dinner recently at the Constitutional Club in honor of the new Unionist member of Parliament. On that occasion Mr. Balfour said: "If the question of Fiscal Reform has so far failed to carry with it a clear majority of our countrymen, do not believe that that state of things is going to last, and do not be discouraged by by temporary signs." Continuing he dealt with the Referendum proposal and then asserted that he spoke as a Tariff Reformer and he held that view strongly.

Concerning Canadian reciprocity with the United States Mr. Balfour said that he was not disposed to blame the Canadians for turning their eyes southward. The responsibility must rest on the British Liberal Party which had declined to give a preference to Canada in return for the preference Canada had extended to Great Britain.

But in the circumstances the Unionist Party would not haul down its flag and give up in despair the battle for Inter-Imperial Preference. "The party in Canada which maintains what has been the Canadian policy of all parties for 60 years is still great and still strong. It may be the greatest and the strongest." In the meantime Mr. Balfour added, the Unionists held with undiminished strength the true fiscal faith, the true Imperial belief. "Let all those," he said, "who agree with us on the other side of the Atlantic, know that our faith is unwavering and unchanged." Inter-Imperial preference is still a vital and definite policy in the Unionist programme.

SOCIALISTS PREPARE REVOLT.

Think Withdrawal of Czar's Troops From Russian Poland Offers Chance.

Warsaw, Russian Poland, Feb. 28.—The socialists are very busy here, preparing to revolt, as they seem to think war between Russia and China is inevitable.

All the Russian troops have been withdrawn from Russian Poland, so the socialists think they would have an excellent chance.

The Polish patriot party gives no countenance to this movement, because it thinks such a revolt would only place them at the mercy of the government.

KILLS MAN AFTER SUING.

Farmer City Husband Shoots Alleged Wisner of Wife's Affections.

Bloomington, Ill., Feb. 28.—U. S. G. Kendall was shot and killed at Farmer City late this afternoon by Arthur Jones.

The killing was the sequel to a suit for $10,000 damages filed last week by Jones against Kendall, alleging the alienation of his wife's affections. This afternoon Kendall went to Jones' house during the latter's absence. As Kendall came out Jones arrived and the shooting followed. Jones gave himself up.

Claims Title to Montreal.

Ottawa, Feb. 28.—A. J. Lemagdeline of Waukegan is one of 190 plaintiffs in a big lawsuit now being tried here, to decide the title to the land on which the city of Montreal is situated, valued at many millions. He claims to be a descendant of General Dilisbuth, a courtier and favorite of Louis XIV. of France, whom the king at his own request made third governor general of Canada about 1617.

EQUITY FIRE INSURANCE CO.

Another Successful Year — Company in A Flourishing Condition.

Elsewhere will be found the financial statement of the Equity Fire Insurance Company of Canada, which was submitted to the annual meeting on 22nd inst.

During the year the fire losses were excessive, amounting to $177,074.83, being twice that of the previous year. It is gratifying to report that every adjusted loss had been paid. The following clause in the Directors' report speaks for itself:

"The Directors' reported at the annual meeting of the Equity Fire Insurance Company a year ago, that a special bill had been secured from the Dominion Parliament, incorporating the Equity Fire Insurance Company of Canada, under which it was proposed to continue the business of the former Company. The action of the Board was agreed to by the Shareholders, and your Directors now beg to report that the Insurance Department at Ottawa issued a License to the Equity Fire Insurance Company of Canada, December 1st, 1910, under which we are now operating."

The Company is represented in the Peterborough district by Mr. W. H. Hill.

RICH SMITH FAMILY NOW NAMED CLINTON.

Commonness of Name Embarrassing, and Mother Offered Money to Have it Changed.

San Francisco, Feb. 28.—Washington would have its hands and imagination full if all the Smiths through out the United States should decide to follow the example set by the very wealthy Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Smith and demanded a new name. The Delmar Smiths are no more, but in their stead are the Delmar Smith Clintons. They reside in Mill Nalley and are socially prominent in this city.

Clinton is Smith's mother's maiden name. It was she who suggested the change during his recent visit to Washington. Mrs. Smith, sr., who is prominently connected with the temperance movement in the capital, is nothing if not original.

"There are so many Smiths in the world," she said, "it is really quite confusing. Now is a good time to put a stop to it; let us decrease the number by becoming Clintons."

And forthwith she offered to give $10,000 to each of her five children if the change were made.

The Clintons, who enjoy an enviable social position in Washington and San Francisco, were married about five years ago in Manilla. Mrs. Clinton before her marriage was Miss Helen Davis and with her brother, Duncan Davis, made her home in this city.

CATCH CONUNDRUMS

Where did Noah strike the first nail in the ark?—On the head.

Which is the coldest seat on a tramway car?—The one next the (trolley) pole

Which is the strongest day in the week?—Sunday, because the rest are weak (weak) days.

What tree pinches the Jews?—The juniper (Jewnipper).

Why is the letter "A" like twelve o'clock?—Because it is in the middle of day.

How many weeks are in a year?—Forty-six; the other six are only Lent.

Why is a waiter like a racehorse?—Because he often runs for a plate.

What is to be?—Why, a verb.

Why is a fly one of the tallest of insects?—Because it stands over six feet without shoes or stockings.

Why must a little man be an early riser?—Because he can never lie long in bed.

LOVE'S TEST

"Do you love me?" asked the maiden, as around the room they sped, 'neath the decorations laden with bright berries, white and red. "Do you love me?" she repeated. "Yes, I love you!" he replied, with a fervor warm and heated. "Ah, but prove it, dear!" she cried. "Listen, then," the young man told her, as around that room they danced; and his loving eyes grew bolder as into hers they glanced. "When I called last night, my dearest, though the hours did lonely chime, and the clock to me was nearest, why, I never knew the time!" "That is nothing!" quoth she, pouting. "Let me hear some nobler test." He replied: "If you're still doubting if my love is real or jest, hark to this: Your sweet dog, Toussi, when I kissed your lips last night, bit big bunches from my trousers—but I never felt the bite!"

HAT PIN PERIL

Contingent upon many complaints of the enormous length of the hat-pins worn by the ladies of Vienna, the Burgomaster, at a meeting of the Vienna Municipal Council, has suggested that the police will be instructed to proceed more actively against the evil. The Burgomaster suggested that the pins should be sheathed.

ASSETS OF THE COMPANY

$10,000,000 of stock still in the Treasury.

$10,000,000 pooled for 9 and 18 months.

500 acres of land; value, $3,000 per acre.

A subsidy obtained from the Municipality of North Vancouver of 5 per cent. for 15 years on $800,000, and freedom from taxation of our plant and 20 acres of land for 10 years.

A subsidy obtained from the Dominion of Canada, 3½ per cent. for 25 years on $1,214,000, for the purpose of building a dry dock of 15,000 tons at Roche Lyn, the Company's townsite.

A very valuable brick clay deposit has been discovered on the Company's property. This will be developed to its fullest capacity, as brick clay is very rare here, Vancouver even importing from Seattle millions of brick annually.

NOTE.—A shareholder participates in every asset of the Company.

LIABILITIES OF THE COMPANY

Amount yet owing on land, extending over a period of four years, $446,600.

REMARKS

MORE LAND

The Company proposes to purchase lands surrounding their townsite, and to this end are securing options on about 250 acres, with about 2,800 feet of deep waterfrontage adjoining that which they now own.

MINES

They have also secured an option of purchase of a group of ten claims of very valuable iron deposits situated within twelve miles of their townsite. The Company believe, located as they are in a country which abounds with everything necessary to the smallest detail for turning out a perfect car, should go to nature's storehouse for their material, and with this end in view have secured the above group.

SHIPBUILDING

In addition to building the Imperial Sleeping Car, cars of every description will be contracted for, and just as soon as their dry dock is completed, the Company intend to use it to the greatest advantage in building ships of the largest tonnage. As there will be but three or four docks in the whole Dominion, they will encounter but very little competition in the building of the larger class of vessels.

SALE OF LANDS

The Company do not intend to sell any of its land until its dry dock, car works, sawmills and other industries are in operation, and in this way secure as nearly as possible all the profit derived from the establishment of these great works.

CLEARING OF LAND

The Municipality of North Vancouver have under consideration a proposition from the Company whereby the Company promise to clear their whole townsite on condition the Municipality will at once clear and grade all the streets, charging the cost of same to local improvement taxes. The Municipality view the Company's proposition with great favor. This plan would at least double the price of the Company's holdings.

PURCHASING STOCK

A small block of stock is now on the market and can be had on very easy terms of payment. This once sold, the Company will have no difficulty to borrow on their assets at from 4 to 5 per cent. any money they will require for improvement purchases, and in this case all stock will be withdrawn from the market.

WILL GO 100 YEARS

Burton Jeweler Makes Clock Which Only Needs Winding Once in a Century

A clock which is said to go far towards solving the problem of "perpetual motion," was exhibited at the Burton-on-Trent Flower Show. The maker, a local watch and clock maker named Bentley, claimed originally that the mechanism would go, without winding or other interference, for fifty years, but now he says that it can be trusted to run uninterruptedly for a century. An important feature is an electric current obtained by means of two wires inserted in the earth and connected with the clock. Mr. Bentley is no novice in this direction. He already holds a gold medal, and has in his possession a clock which was started ten years ago, and has never since been wound. A feature of the flower show was the bridging of the Trent at its widest part, nearly sixty yards across, by the Burton Territorials, who employed eight piers of eight barrels, pontoon fashion, for the crowds to pass over.

OUTWITTED BY A BEAR

Dr. White Sends an Interesting Story From Wabigoon

Dr. White, of Wabigoon, Ont., writing to his home, expresses the wish that his father had been with him during the present spring, "to help him carry rotten eggs, vegetables, muskrats and pork to a bear." It appears, says Rod and Gun, as though he has on hand a job for all summer in keeping the animal fed.

Noting the bear's tracks, the Doctor took two barrels, made rope snares, which he placed over their mouths, and fixed a big lifting pole to the barrels. The bear put them off just as fast as he could set them up. The doctor and his wife came to the conclusion that the bear must take the bait out with his paw and never put his head in the barrel.

When visiting the trap on one occasion the Doctor and his wife saw a moose standing by the river. The moose allowed them to approach within thirty yards when he walked slowly into the water, crossed to the other side and went into the bush, still with the same deliberate action.

On reaching the trap the snares were found as usual. They were replaced and rebaited and on the following day as the bow of the canoe poked up the shore Mrs. White exclaimed: "Got him!" The bear merely remarked "Woof, woof!" which must have meant in this particular instance "Not yet!" for he jumped into the thicket before the Doctor could work his big revolver. On examining the place they found that the bear had been merely having a meal.

Refixing the snares and making a drop with about five hundred pounds on top they started home, one hundred yards down stream. This time they approached within twenty yards of the moose and then stopped, waiting for about ten minutes while the animal took a drink and began to feed, when he wandered back out of sight. On the next day the rifle was taken along, not for the moose of course, but for the bear. Once more the snare was off, and refixed with the noose made very small so that it would certainly catch him. On starting to float down home there was a crackle, and a careful scrutiny discovered Teddy in the brush, not twenty yards off. The doctor snatched up the rifle and fired quickly, fearing that the bear would jump away at once "but say, he is tough—I can't kill mine!"

The deadfall was down again next day, but there were a few hairs on it, looking as though the bear had allowed it to rest on his back till he had finished eating and then carelessly walked away. Once again it was refixed, with a load two hundred pounds heavier this time and a row of sharp stake placed in front. Next day there was quite a pinch of hair but that was all. A further two hundred pounds were added, more stakes were fixed, and all preparations for trapping him made once more. The Doctor made so sure of his bear this time that he was up at four o'clock in the morning and with gun, camera and skinning knife, went for his skin. When the Doctor and his wife arrived at the deadfall they stood looking at the debris without saying anything! The bait was eaten, the barrel broken up, and the heavy weights thrown about! Before they had recovered from their surprise a crunching noise was heard in the thicket—not forty yards away.

The Doctor crept carefully in, but the brush was too thick for him to see clearly. Within twenty yards of the animal the bear slipped by him and he went on to see what he was eating, finding a big log just torn open for ants.

The deadfall was rebuilt and a weight of one thousand pounds placed upon it.

The Doctor adds: If that weight doesn't kill him I think I shall feed him for the rest of the summer and not punish him so much. The last drop must have hurt him a little, for there was a lot of hair and some blood on the logs. Evidently he was caught too far back, and having good use of his front feet, was able to extricate himself.

The trout fishing is good, but I have been too busy feeding Teddy in my spare time to go out and get any.

GUNNERY RECORD

A gunnery record with her 9.2 guns is claimed by the flagship Minotaur, now of the China Station. The fore-turret scored seven hits in eight rounds at 1,500 yards target, the ship steaming twelve knots and the time being 1 minute 31⅕ seconds.

THE HIGHEST SOPRANO

The Maritime Provinces have produced a young singer in the person of Miss Katherine Fleming, of Halifax, who is said to be the highest soprano yet discovered. She is a sister of T. F. Fleming of the St. John Street Railway.

ENGINE DRAWS HEARSE

A Strange Scene at a Showman's Funeral—Happened in Wales

It is quite a common thing for deceased persons to be followed to the last resting-place by some emblem of their occupation during life, but the scene witnessed at the recent funeral of a showman at Cardiff was indeed out of the ordinary. On his deathbed, the man expressed the wish that the huge traction-engine used by the showman in his business should draw the hearse containing his coffin to the cemetery, and this request was fulfilled.

On the day of the funeral, the streets of Cardiff were crowded with people assembled to see the unusual sight. The hearse was attached to the traction-engine, and thus taken to the cemetery gates, where the cortege halted. The coffin was then carried from the hearse to the graveside by mourners.

The showman's engine was beautifully decorated with flowers. A large floral heart, with a centre design of the Prince of Wales's feathers in white flowers, adorned the front, and the wheels were draped with crape.

ONE USE OF CHALK

Illustrated by a Billiard Story from Columbus

Harry Laughlin the billiard expert, told at an exhibition game in Toledo, a billiard story.

"Once, when I had my own parlor, in Columbus," he said, "I was a good deal disturbed by the loss of chalk. Chalk disappeared at a tremendous rate, and I said to my helper, 'Keep a better eye on the chalk, Jim. I'm no millionaire.'

"'I know the pests wot pockets the chalk, Mr. Laughlin,' Jim said; 'but they're regular customers. I guess you wouldn't want to offend 'em, would you?'

"'Well, no,' said I, 'I wouldn't. You might give them a gentle hint though. Use your diplomacy.'

"Jim, I found out later, used his diplomacy that night. He walked up to one of my best patrons who had just pocketed a piece of chalk, and he said:

"'You're in the milk business, ain't you, sir?'

"'Yes, why?' the patron asked.

"'I thought so,' said Jim, 'from the amount of chalk you carry away. The boss likes enterprise, and he told me to tell you if you wanted a bucket of water now and then you could have one and welcome.'"

PUZZLES IN WEIGHTS

The weights and measures used in England are confusing to very many more than foreign visitors. Home men are frequently at a loss in making up their reckoning when they chance to be considerably afield in a strange district.

Some butchers and cattle-dealers of the old school still calculate by the Dutch stone of 17½ lbs. London men keep by the stone of 8 lbs., but in many parts of England, notably in the southern counties, the score of 20 lbs. is adhered to in making out weights of farm animals.

The cental of 100 lbs. is still kept to the coast side for wheat-weighing. Inland, wheat goes at Mark Lane, for instance, at the quarter containing 480 lbs. In East Anglia the coomb of four bushels is used. Newcastle, Carlisle, and Darlington hold by the boll of three bushels. Berwick, Duns, Kelso, and several other places buy and sell wheat as a rule on the basis of a boll of six bushels. Chesteer, Shrewsbury, Nantwich, and one or two other centres reckon the bushel of wheat at 75 lbs. At Monmouth, however, it is 80 lbs., but it is down to 65 lbs. at Aberystwyth, this being 2 lbs. over what some are inclined to reckon the Scottish standard. Old Preston men have their windle of 220 lbs., while their friends in Denbigh argue over a hobbet of 168 lbs.

The Peace River Country.

Owing to the development in that part of Western Canada west of Edmonton and the business impetus that is now going on in that territory, and in order to adequately take care of the trek into the Peace River country where 15,000 new homesteads will be offered for free entry by the Dominion Government this year, a daily except Sunday passenger train is now operated by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway between Edmonton and Edson, Alta.

From the latter point the new Government wagon road enables settlers with their effects to travel with ease and comparative comfort in about one week's time to the Grande Prairie as against the much longer and more expensive routes through gateways east of Edson, which occupy from a month and a half to two months.

The new train will leave Edmonton daily except Sunday at 6.30 a. m., arrive Edson (130 miles) at 1 p.m., returning leave Edson at 3.30 p.m., daily except Sunday, arrive Edmonton at 10.05 p.m.

Synopsis of Canadian Northwest Land Regulations

ANY person who is the sole head of a family or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

CHINA SET IN WISTARIA PATTERN.

The bedroom of the present day has not only its draperies, bed cover, cushions and upholstery carried out in some color scheme, but the bureau and dressing table come in for their share, creating a harmonious whole. Silver or the French celluloid sets are always in good taste, says the Woman's Home Companion, but not within every one's means. But there is a very charming substitute in painted china which, when the design is not too difficult of execution, can easily be made by the beginner in ceramics.

Such a design is the one illustrated on this page of a conventionalized wistaria border. The set includes a brush and comb tray, pin tray, hairpin holder, hair receiver, puff box, ring stand, hairpin box and candlestick, and in selecting the pieces shapes that can be easily duplicated were chosen, and the design for each piece was so made that it can be fitted upon a similar piece, even though the dimensions are not identical.

The Latest in Large Hats.

One of the most amusing developments in connection with the large size of ladies' hats is just recorded by the Week End of London. A clergyman has applied to the ecclesiastical commission for permission to throw back his altar rails eighteen inches into the chancel. His reason was that the extreme size of the hats of the ladies who were communing pushed him back to the altar wall so that he was not able becomingly to move about while administering the holy eucharist.

He said he did not dare ask the ladies to wear smaller hats, so he was obliged to enlarge the altar space.

The commissioners reported sympathetically and granted him the permission be required.

narrow without in the least exaggerating the "hobble" effect. A plain fitted panel and fitted skirt flounce are the new fall features of the suit.

If You Wear Ready Made Blouses.

Have the collars properly before wearing. Trim, well fitting collars add so much!

The sleeves are pretty sure to be too large, the cuffs too wide. Take a little seam in each sleeve to make it taper to fit your arm.

Usually they are too long waisted, and that means bunchiness at the waist line, which is a crime in this day of the slim, lithsome maiden. Simply cut off the "tail" to the length you want it and then hem it up on the machine.

Yes, this will take a few minutes' time, but your appearance will justify the expenditure.

THE DIFFICULTIES OF OUR AIRMEN

Some of the Troubles They Have to Overcome—Why the Flying Machines Fly

The question that most naturally occurs to you in considering the aeroplane is—Why, seeing that it is heavier than air, does it not fall? Why does it stay aloft? It is considerably heavier than air, and on the hand [illegible] that iron will not swim you would naturally expect that it would refuse to soar. It is the air pressure beneath the plane that keeps it up. A balloon can remain stationary over a given spot in a calm, but an aeroplane must constantly move if it is to remain in the air. The monoplanes and biplanes on which our foremost aviators have been making and breaking so many records of late are somewhat in the same position as a skater on thin ice. The skater must move fast enough to reach a new section of ice before he falls; the aeroplanes must move fast enough to reach a new section of air before it falls. Hence the aeroplane is constantly struggling with gravitation.

The simplest and most familiar example of an aeroplane is the kite of our boyhood days. We all remember how we kept it aloft by holding it against the wind or by running with it if there happened to be only a gentle breeze. When the wind died down or the string broke the kite fell. Above all things, it was necessary to hold the kite's surface toward the wind—an end which we sometimes accomplished with a string. The eagle is an animated kite without the string, but it keeps its outstretched wings to the wind by muscular power. If we can find a substitute for the string, some device, in other words, which will enable us to hold the kite in the proper direction, we have invented a flying machine. The pull or the thrust of an engine-driven propellor is the accepted substitute for the string of a kite or the muscles of an eagle. The propeller creates an artificial wind, as it were, to keep the aeroplane up.

Maintaining Balance

Of course, as you will readily understand, there are many other things to be considered besides mere propelling machinery. Of these the first in importance is certainly the very difficult art of balancing the plane so that it will glide on an even keel. As a matter of fact, even birds find it hard to maintain their balance. In the constant endeavor to balance himself a hawk sways from side to side as he soars like an acrobat on a tight rope. Occasionally, as you may have noticed, a bird will catch the wind on the top of his wing, with the result that he will capsize and fall some distance before he can recover himself. If the living aeroplanes of nature find the feat of balancing so difficult, is it any wonder that men have been killed in endeavoring to discover their secret?

The whole art of maintaining the side-to-side balance of an aeroplane consists in keeping the centre of gravity and the centre of air pressure on the same vertical line. If the two should not at least approximately coincide the aeroplane is capsized.

There are obviously two ways of maintaining side-to-side balance—one by constantly shifting the centre of gravity, the other by constantly shifting the centre of air-pressure. The first method involves ceaseless flashlike movement on the part of the aviator; for by shifting his body he shifts the centre of gravity.

The aeroplane must be balanced not only from side to side, but fore and aft as well. The same necessity exists in the old-fashioned single-surface kite. To give it the necessary fore-and-aft stability we used to adorn it with a long tail of knotted strips of paper or rags. If the tail was not heavy enough the kite dived erratically, and sometimes met its destruction by colliding with a tree. To ensure longitudinal stability many aeroplane flying machines are similarly provided with a tail, which consists generally of one or more plane surfaces. Some aeroplanes are, however, tailless, but usually they are less stable than the tailed variety.

Commencing a Flight

In order to fly an aeroplane, like a kite or a soaring bird, must rise in the very teeth of the wind. What is more, it must be in motion before it can fly. How this preliminary motion was to be obtained was a problem that long baffled the flying machine inventor. Eagles, vultures, and other soaring birds launch themselves either by leaping from the limb of a tree, or the edge of a cliff, or by running along the ground with wings outspread until they have acquired sufficient speed.

From this we can readily understand why a vulture can be confined in a small cage which is entirely open at the top.

To get up preliminary speed many methods have been adopted. One of the earliest was by running the machine down an inclined track. Many aviators, however, mount their aeroplanes on bicycle wheels, and, like the eagle, run along the ground for a short distance. Just as a soaring bird uses his legs in leaping in the air or running on the ground to start his flight, and also in alighting, so most aeroplanes alight with the bicycle wheels that serve them during the brief moments of launching. Sometimes, however, special alighting devices are provided.

The problem of steering an aeroplane when it is launched is solved by two sets of rudders. A steamboat is a vehicle that travels in two directions only, hence it requires only a single vertical rudder, which serves to guide it from side to side. An aeroplane moves not only from side to side, but up and down as well. Hence, it is equipped with a vertical rudder similar to that of a steamboat, and also with a horizontal rudder, which serves to alter its course up or down, and which is becoming more widely known as an elevator. Fore-and-aft stability is attained in tailless machines by manipulation of this elevator. Even in tailed machines its use for that purpose is almost imperative.

DEPOPULATING IRELAND

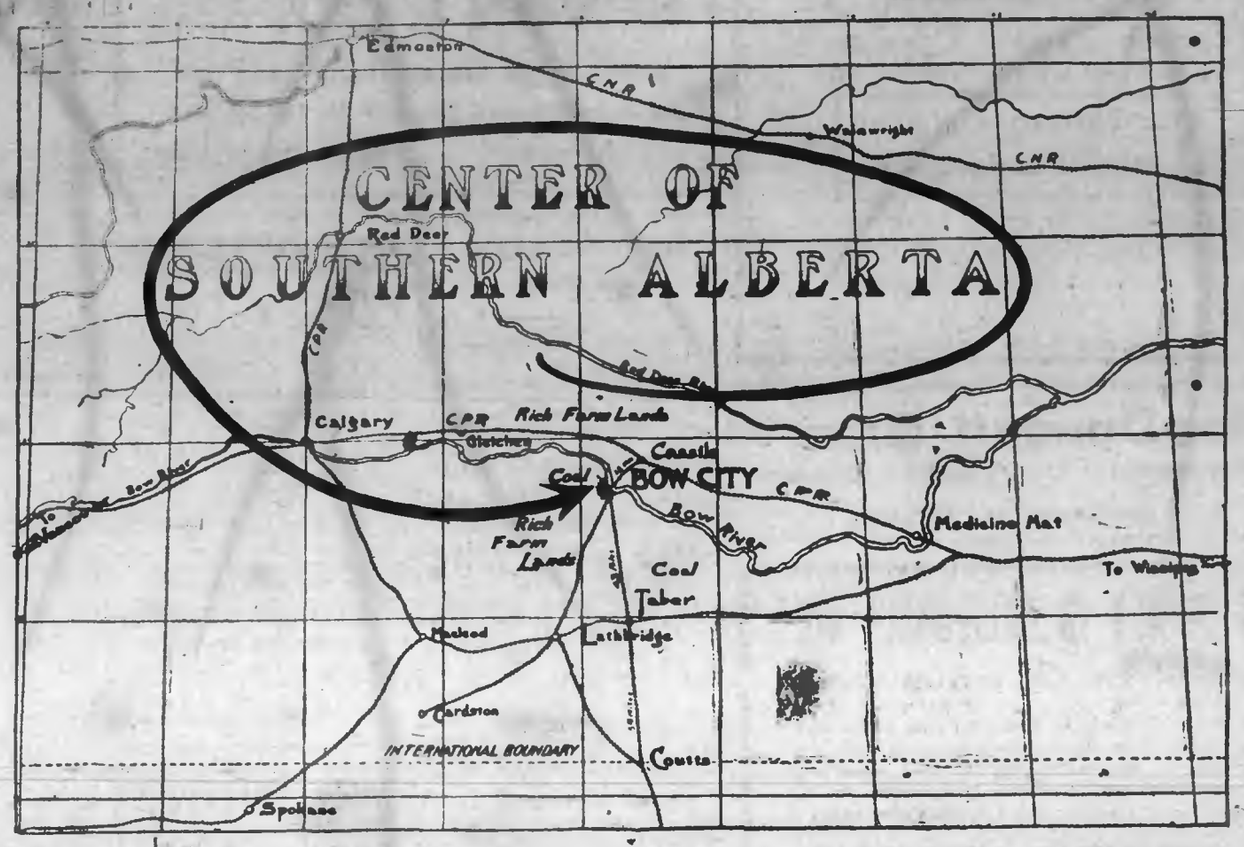
The Number of Those Leaving Erin Still Exceeding the Births

The report of the Registrar-General on the population of Ireland in 1909 shows that during the year a decrease took place in the country of 890 persons. There was a natural increase o fpopulation of 37,786, but 38,676 persons emigrated during the period.

Births numbered 108,759, deaths 74,973, and marriages 23,050. Of the last, 16,697 were between Roman Catholics.

The marriages of bachelors with spinsters constituted 80.5 per cent. of the total, those of widowers and spinsters were 6.5 per cent., marriages of bachelors and widows were 2.4 per cent., and those of widowers and widows formed 1.5 per cent. of the total marriages. Thus of the men married 8.1 per cent. were widowers, and of the women 8.9 per cent. were widows, so that in twelve instances in over 100 marriages one or both of the contracting parties had been in the married state before. Of the 23,050 men who married, the number undergo was 337, or 1.67 per cent., and of the women 1,550 or 6.84 per cent. Of the 108,759 births, 52,726 were boys and 50,033 girls. Fourteen hundred and four of the former were illegitimate, and 1,252 of the latter. There were in 1909 1,021 twin births, and seventeen cases of triplets.

"GIVE YOUR SON A DEED"



If, by way of illustration, you will review the history of the men in your town who have made money out of real estate, you will find that in each and every instance their profits were made from real estate acquired at ground floor prices.

More money can be made by those who acquire a realty interest in a town at its inception per dollar invested than from investments made after a period of years.

Do you know that you can purchase with $5 cash a full sized residential lot in Bow City, Alberta

the logical location for a great city, a city which is destined to be known, the world over, as a market place annually for hundreds of thousands of bushels of grain, grown on the vast irrigated fields surrounding Bow City, a shipping point for coal from the great Bow Centre Collieries, and a purchasing depot for hundreds of prosperous farmers resident throughout Southern Alberta.

To-day is your opportunity to acquire an interest in Bow City at the ground floor price.

It will be too late six months hence, to apply for a lot in Bow City at the present prices and on such easy terms as are offered you in this advertisement.

Why not follow Russell Sage's advice given in a letter published some years ago to the fathers in the Western States:—

"Buy your son a lot in a town being the "centre of a great agricultural country—when "he comes of age that lot will be worth consid-"erable money and will provide a handsome "stake for him in life; it is at least most sub-"stantial life insurance—sure and certain."

Buy your son a $50 lot in Bow City, the coming metropolis of the western prairies. In a very short time he can re-sell the same at a big increase, which money he will find advantageous in business pursuits or in a college course.

Bow City, the centre of the great granary of Southern Albert has a future concerning which no sane business man or banker has any doubt.

When you are assured of the success of the city, when you have proven to you beyond the shadow of a doubt that Bow City will, in the very near future, be one of the most active, one of the most progressive towns on the Western prairies, you should not hesitate to acquire at least one $50 residential lot, when same is on sale on such easy terms as 10 per cent cash and the balance 10 per cent per month until paid—a deed at any time.

Bow City is in the heart of a famous irrigated farming belt whose farmers are assured of a crop every year. They are prosperous and their prosperity will naturally enhance the value of Bow City real estate.

The great coal mines of Bow City will furnish work for 1,000 to 1,500 miners daily, these miners will constitute a substantial basis for a successful city.

The present owners of Bow City have decided that no licenses shall be issued for the sale of spirituous liquors; they intend that this great mining and agricultural centre shall be free from any traffic in intoxicating drinks—it will be a clean city.

Bow City is the headquarters of a railway which taps a territory unparalleled for richness in crops and natural resources.

The Sale of Bow City Lots opened but a few days ago

If you are desirous of acquiring a $50 residential lot close in you should lose no time in making application by wire direct to the General Agents of the townsite, or to the nearest sub-agent.

Do not delay by sending your application by mail.

Wire at once your reservation for one or more lots. On receipt of wire your name will be placed on the closest-in unsold lot or lots and same will be held in your name, allowing you sufficient time for your cash payment, mailed same day you wire, to travel from your home to the head office.

You may find it to your advantage, if you are desirous of securing a business opening, or a business lot, to write for copy of the plans, booklets and descriptive matter concerning Bow City, all of which may be had on application, free of charge.

GERMANY'S EXAMPLE.

We have taken many excellent examples of social government and control from Germany and it would seem that the Teutonic Fatherland still has much to teach us. Take the matter of dealing with that class of no'er-do-wellthat ill-treat their wives. In this country an offender in this respect, is found guilty, is locked up in jail and the poor wife that has been beaten and abused now has to suffer the loss of breadwinner of the family and has, herself, to make a living for her children while her husband stays in jail or the workhouse, the State or county getting whatever profit there may be in the enforced labor. Surely no greater absurdity than this could be worked in the name of justice.

In Germany they have gone deeper into this matter than we, and wife-beaters instead of being locked up, they are made to go to work under police supervision and their wages are handed over to their families. This on work days. When holiday time arrives, that is Saturday afternoon and evening, the offender is taken by the police and locked up, to remain in jail until it is time to go to work on Monday morning. This sortof extended and continuing sentence lasts until the prisoner has served in jail the number of days appointed by the judge.

Surely this is a commonsense plan and one that should commend itself to our lawmakers. A weakness of all punishment for minor offences is that it is usually the family of the offender that has to bear the largest part ofthe punishment. Some such system as that inaugurated by Germany might well, we should think, be extended to other offenses than wife-beating, so that the innocent families of offenders against the laws should not be compelled, unjustly, to suffer part of the punishment.

A VARIED CAREER

Sir F. Lugard Hob-nobbed With Rough Italian Sailors

Sir Frederick Lugard, the Governor and Commander-in-Chief of Hong Kong, has had a singularly varied and interesting career. The story of his adventures in Africa alone reads like a romance, his method of entering the dark continent for the first time being, to say the least, most unorthodox. With $250 in his belt and practically no outfit except an old rifle, paid for in India by shooting a man-eating tiger with a price on its head, Sir Frederick boarded a tramp steamer at Gibraltar, where he happened to be stationed at the time, and sailed away for Massowah with the intention of joining the Italians who were at that time fighting the Abyssinians. Funds giving out at Suez he was compelled to ship as a deck passenger on a timber boat, and hob-nob with the rough Italian sailors who manned it. Sir Frederick has told a good story of a fiery old colonel's visit to a village barber. The officer pounced into the shop, placed his sword beside a chair and said, "Shave me, sir, and beware; if you cut me I will cut your head off." This threat was too much for the man in charge, and he called an assistant, telling him to shave the gentleman, and informing him of what to expect should the razor not act properly. The boy promptly got to business, and when the operation had been satisfactorily performed the colonel inquired, "Weren't you frightened at all?" The boy replied in the negative, and, asked his reason, he responded, "Well, it's like this, sir. If I had cut you at all, I should have had first chance. I should have finished you off for safety."

READ EVERY WORD OF THIS

It Will Be Money In Your Pocket To Do So

Everyone is anxious to make money. Everyone has an ambition to get rich. Some men DO get rich. Others remain poor. The difference is simply a difference of methods. Nearly all of us save some money, but we do not let these savings earn anything for us. THE MAN WHO SAVES HIS MONEY AND LETS THE SAVINGS EARN SOMETHING FOR HIM is making it do double duty. Take the history of all the very wealthy men of the country and learn how many of them made their fortunes by simply saving what they earned. Not one of them did. They saved but they immediately put their savings to work for them. YOU WANT TO GET TO THE TOP OF THE LADDER, YOU WANT TO ACCUMULATE SOMETHING FOR YOUR OLD AGE. THEN YOU HAD BETTER PUT YOUR SAVINGS TO WORK AND LET THEM HELP YOU DO IT.

In almost any ordinary investment a man cannot make his money earn over 8 per cent. Mining offers you greater opportunities. I am going to offer you an opportunity that has promise ocarning for you 800 per cent or even more. I want to take you into partnership with me, in an enterprise that will probably make us all independent for the balance of our lives. YOU MUST TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THIS OFFERING. The Gold Queen Mining Company, of which I am president, has over 135 acres of rich mineral ground in one of the most prosperous mining districts of the world. We have already expended thousands of dollars in developing this property and we have struck ore that is very rich. We need a mill to extract the precious metal from this ore. We need a little help in building this mill. Are you willing to subscribe a portion of the amount necessary to do it? In numbers there is strength, and even though your subscription be a very small one, we are willing to give you a part ownership in this great enterprise, in return for it. We are willing to take you in on an equal basis with us and give you the benefit of all your savings may earn for you. The men behind this proposition are all successful business men. They are in this business to make it pay and for every dollar they earn for themselves they will earn one for you. REMEMBER: THIS IS NOT A PROSPECT—IT IS A MINE WITH ORE IN IT. But a small amount of money is necessary to build our mill. We have decided to offer only a very limited number of shares at the present price, and as soon as this amount is secured the price will be advanced to a much greater figure. NOW IS THE TIME FOR YOU TO ACT. YOU ARE GETTING IN WITH THE ORGANIZERS OF THE COMPANY AT GROUND FLOOR PRICES. YOU ARE COMING INTO A BONA FIDE PARTNERSHIP WITH US AND WITH NO PARTNERSHIP RESPONSIBILITIES. Read what Mr. Van Wagoner, one of the foremost mining engineers of the country has to say: "I would advise the immediate erection of a ten-stamp mill with cyanide equipment, to treat your gold ores, and a separate concentrating plant to handle your copper pyrites, thus reducing the shipping weight 6 to 1, and eventually put in a smelter in connection with the mill, with a ten-stamp mill on your property and a daily production of 50 tons of ore. I CAN PROMISE YOU A NET EARNING OF $300.00 PER DAY or $109,500 per year and that can be increased to ten times as much as soon as tunnels A and B are finished, and added milling equipment is installed. The economical method is the best. Start with a ten-stamp mill and let your stockholders be content with 10 per cent per annum until you have increased your milling facilities, and install your smelting plant to treat your concentrates. THEN YOU CAN PAY THEM 400 TO 500 PER CENT DIVIDENDS PER YEAR FOR THE NEXT TEN YEARS ON THE PRESENT VALUATION OF YOUR STOCK, 5 CENTS PER SHARE, and this out of the new discovered vein alone." Now if you want to get in with us on this proposition you must act quickly, for the present allotment of shares will not last long. The man who buys now will get his shares at the very rock bottom price. The one who waits until later will without a doubt pay many times what it is being offered for now. Arrangements may be made to pay for your subscription on the easy payment plan. Write at once for full information and detailed literature explaining all about it. Write today. Do not wait another minute or you may be too late.

Bourassa Opposes Battle Memorial

Quebec, Feb. 25.—Speaking to-day of a Government bill to give to the National Battlefields Commission a certain piece of land surrounding the Quebec jail, which land will form part of the proposed battlefields park, Mr. Henri Bourassa strongly protested against the construction of this park which will commemorate a defeat of the French by the Anglo-Saxons.

"If we are to commemorate some battles which occurred on the Canadian soil," he said, "let us commemorate the glorious days where French and English-Canadians joined and fought together against the American invasion in 1775 and in 1812. This will be more patriotic than to commemorate battles where French and English bore themselves."

In reply Hon. Mr. Taschereau, Minister of Public Works, remarked the strangeness of Mr. Bourassa's attitude on this question, while the bill had the approval of the National French-Canadian Association of Quebec, called St. Jean Baptiste.

MARRIAGES THAT ARE NOT MARRIAGES.

Vienna, Feb. 27.—One hundred thousand men and women living together in common law marriages, have petitioned Parliament to recognize their unions as legitimate. These are divorced people, whose divorce is unrecognized by the State, because one of the parties to the marriage belonged to the Catholic faith.

The Briand Ministry Resigned Yesterday

Paris, Feb. 27.—The French Cabinet organized by M. Briand on November 3rd last, resigned this afternoon.

The abdication of the Briand Ministry leaves the Socialists in power, at least temprarily. Louis Malvey and Paul Meunier, leaders of the Radicals, were jubilant at the success of their campaign against the Premier.

Paris, Feb. 25.—The Briand Ministry will resign Monday as a consequence of an attack upon it last night in the Chamber of Deputies, and the small majority of the vote of confidence returned. The present Cabinet was formed by Premier Briand on November 3rd, last.

Paris, Feb. 25.—Premier Briand for the first time his brilliant career as the controlling influence in the Government of France, finds himself on shifting sand. It is quite possible that the resignation of the Cabinet will be presented to President Fallieres on Monday.

If this course is not adopted it will be more because of the urgency of personal friends and the fact that no other strong leader appears available than because of any desire on the part of the Premier to continue the fight against the Radical Socialists and anti-clericals.

The Premier's friends described him to-day as "sick of it all. Worn out physically, and weary in spirit, over the bickering and petty distractions." Only a broad sense of duty will hold him if he remains at his post.

But beyond the matter of his personal inclinations there is the unquestioned weakening of the Premier's power and of confidence in his ministry. The leader who has before survived grave crisis and come off with a triumphant vote of the Chamber of Deputies last night escaped censure of the Government by a rare majority of 16 votes.

The Socialists who have never forgiven the Premier for modifying the extreme Socialistic views which he championed when he first entered public life, have attacked him persistently and at last night's session all but forced his immediate retirement. Recently Briand was assailed jointly by the Clericals and Socialists. Last night he was charged with Clericalism. The discussion arose through interpellations blaming the Government for not having applied the laws against religious bodies with proper severity.

Vienna Holds the Suicide Record

Vienna, Feb. 25.—Figures just published of the suicides during the past year show that the Viennese killed themselves at the rate of four a day—the highest ever recorded. In addition there were 891 attempted suicides.

The police have discovered the existence of four suicide clubs, the members of one of them being boys and girls. Of the successful suicides more than 100 were of children under 18 years of age.

The men suicides outnumber the women three to one. The majority of the victims of the mania for self-destruction hanged themselves. The oldest victim was a man of 90, the youngest a boy of 12.

Lovetroubles were the motive for most of the suicides, and after these came family differences, medical orders, sickness, poverty, and the general weariness of life.

The Salvation Army has been appealed to to establish an anti-suicide bureau in Vienna, as it has done in other cities, and the public school teachers have instructions to impress upon the children the wickedness and cowardice of self-destruction.

DOCTORED WATER KILLING THE FISH.

The Government Losing Heavy by The Treating of Ottawa's Water Supply.

Ottawa, Feb. 25.—As a result of the hypochlorite injected into the city's water supply on account of the typhoidepidemic the Government fish hatchery station at Ottawa has suffered the loss of a number of valuable fish and may lose thousands more, if as feared, the hypo affects the eggs. It is thought that the eggs will be either rendered sterile or so weak that the young fish will be vitiated at birth. John Walker, superintendent of fish culture, states that soon after the hypo treatment was inaugurated several of the valuable species of fish succumbed. If the treatment is continued much longer, Walker is afraid that several thousand dollars' loss will ensue to the Government. Whether the Government will have any chance of recovery from the city is a question that is engaging the mind of the City Solicitor.

Mark Twain and the Muck-Raker.

The MS. of Mark Twain's short story "The Man That Corrupted Hadleyburg," which was sold for nine hundred dollars in the second day of the auction of Mark Twain's books, manuscripts, and personal possessions in New York, brought the highest price of the whole sale. The spirited bidding, may, perhaps, be explained not only by the excellent state of preservation of the MS., which was written on notepaper of a hotel in Vienna, but by the fact that "The Man That Corrupted Hadleyburg" is one of Mark Twain's most characteristic stories. Anticipating the "muck-raking tendencies of a later generation, Mark Twain showed in this story how a humorous philosopher may discover the latent crookedness in human nature quite as clearly as the writer of the now popular "fact story." It is to be said for Mark Twain that he did not lose sight of the fundamental honesty of his fellow-countrymen. A story on a similar theme, "The $30,000 Bequest," brought four hundred dollars.

WESTERN RAILWAYS TO MEET NEXT WEEK.

To Discuss Taking Action on the Freight Rates Ruling by Commission.

Chicago, Feb. 25.—The meeting of the high executive officials and chief attorneys for the Western railroads to discuss action to be taken on the Interstate Commerce Commission's ruling against the advance of freight rates will probably be held early next week. The attorneys desire time to read the full decision of the Commission.

Indications are strong that the Western roads will accept the decision without legal battle, hoping later to obtain some increases in revenue by filing tariffs covering a few specific rates which are admittedly too low.

The concensus of opinion among high railroad men seems to-day to be that the roads made a great mistake in asking permission to advance so many rates at one time, thus centering the public eye so strongly upon the commission.

A Great Railway System.

Hardly a town, village or city in Ontario, that does not receive daily benefit from the operation of the Grand Trunk Railway System, and considering the net work of Branch line connections, it is wonderful with what regularity trains are run. Not only is a good service provided between points in Ontario, but the Grand Trunk reaches nearly all the important cities of Michigan, viz: Detroit, Flint, Saginaw, Bay City, Lansing, Battle Creek, Jackson, Grand Rapids and Muskegon, South Bend, Ind., and the second city in America, viz: Chicago, Ill., the gateway to the North-west, West and South, bringing Ontario in close connection. On the East, the Grand Trunk connects Ontario with Montreal, Quebec, the Maritime Provinces and Boston, Mass.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Through The Milky Way.

Something was wrong with the engine, for the comet-like speed of the airship had slackened.

"Good heavens" cried the skipper. "We shall be a half a second late! What makes her go so slow?"

"Why, sir," replied the engineer, "we're passing through the Milky Way, an' the propeller's full o' butter."—Tit-Bits.

A New Wagon Road.

A new wagon road has been constructed, partly by the Government and partly by the merchants of Edson, Alta., through to the Grande Prairie country, a distance of 165 miles from Edson, which is all practically completed and is reported to be remarkably level, with no heavy hills, and over which heavy loads may be drawn with ease. Road houses have also been established along this wagon road and settlers will be able to travel in comparative ease and at slight expense from Edson on the Grand Trunk Pacific this year in the course of a week where the former routes via Edmonton and Lesser Slave Lake occupied several months and very great cost. The whole distance to be traversed being over four times as long as the new route.

How to cure a cold is a question in which many are interested just now. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has won its great reputation and immense sale by its remarkable cure of colds. It can always be depended upon. For sale by all dealers.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

The Morning Times
PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1911.

Madrigal Club.

The Conservatory Madrigal Club will meet for rehearsal this evening. After the rehearsal an important meeting will be held and a full attendance is urgently requested.

Lecture on Newfoundland.

The St. John's Young People's Association met last night in the school room, when a lecture, illustrated with slides, was delivered on "Newfoundland," by the Rev. Chas. Carpenter.

More Light on George St.

A fine new Flex Loom sign has been put up over the Peterboro Cigar store and Billiard parlours on George street, by Messrs. J. J. Turner, at a cost of $400. Messrs. J. J. Turner claims that this will be the best illuminating sign in the city and it certainly looks the part.

Astronomical Society Meeting.

The regular meeting of the local centre of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, will be held in the physics room of the Collegiate Institute this evening. Dr. Marsh will give an illustrated lecture on the parent Saturn. The illustrations will be comprehensive and the meeting one of instruction and interest. The public is cordially invited.

Family Gathering.

Mr. William Dawson, of East City, celebrated his 88th birthday on Sunday last, by a family gathering. Mr. Dawson was born in Otonabee in 1833 and was married in 1853. The Times joins his many friends in wishing him many happy returns.

Lecture in Knox Church.

An interesting lecture was delivered last night in Knox Church on the "Early Life of the Universe." The address was illustrated with very attractive views. The Mission Circle of the Church met in the brotherhood room previous to the lecture, and transacted some routine business.

A fire broke out at the Grand Hotel, George street., yesterday morning about 7 o'clock, which did damage to the extent of about $50.00. The fire started from the kitchen range which stood close against a wooden petition. The firemen were prompt on hand and the blaze was soon extinguished.

Social Evening.

A very delightful evening was spent last night by the members of All Saints' Choir, who partook of the hospitality of Mrs. E. J. Peace, 387 Walton Street. The hostess entertained her guests in a charming manner. Music and games were indulged in, after which dainty refreshments were served.

Leap Year Privileges.

Posted everywhere about the city are "dodgers," advertising a company of lady minstrels, that the bills say are to show here on "Feb. 27th, 28th and 29th." Now February of this year has only 28 days, but the ladies must have been thinking of Leap Year privileges when they inserted another day in this month.

George Street Changes.

Some months ago the Royal Bank purchased the building occupied by Mr. J. D. Tulley, on the corner of George and Hunter streets, and also the adjoining premises occupied by the Bank of Ottawa and Mr. Adam Hall. Mr. Hall has now vacated the store, and extensive alterations are being made in that part of the block. The Tulley Drug Co. are to move in as soon as these are completed, and the Bank, it is understood, will occupy the corner as soon as it is overhauled. The Bank of Ottawa has a lease on their portion of the block for several years, and they will probably remain where they are until the lease expires.

Hand Injured in Stable.

Yesterday morning the porter at the Windsor Hotel discovered that one of the horses attached to a sleigh in the shed had decided that it would take a rest and had laid down, although attached by harness to the shafts. Mr. Kidd at once tried to raise the recumbent gee-gee. The animal evidently considering that its rest should not be disturbed raised a forcible objection. As a result the shafts of the rig were smashed and the porter had a large space of skin scraped off his left hand, by pressure against the side of the wall. An outward application of "spiritus frumenti" to the wound saved all fear of infection.

CHILDREN'S SCALP SORES ARE HEALED BY ZAM-BUK.

Mothers are well aware how frequently children contract scalp sores, ringworm, etc., at school. Some little sufferer is sent to school with a sore of this nature. At play, the children change caps, and right there the infection is spread—the damage done.

Some children are particularly liable to scalp sores, etc., and often these break out with annoying frequency. Such a case was that of the daughter of Mrs. Albert Gaedike, of 485 Amherst St., Montreal. Mrs. Gaedike says: "My little three year old daughter suffered frequently from scalp disease, and try as we would, we could not rid the little one of this. We tried everything we could think of, but failed to effect a cure, until we were advised to try Zam-Buk. This balm seemed entirely different to anything we had ever tried before, and from first applying it there was a marked improvement. The sores became less inflamed and less irritable. After a few days, they ceased to trouble the child; and in less than a fortnight from first commencing with Zam-Buk, they were completely healed. In view of these facts I feel it my duty to let mothers know how beneficial Zam-Buk is."

There is no doubt that for scalp sores, ringworm, ulcers, abscesses, cold cracks, chapped hands, frost bite and similar sores, Zam-Buk is absolutely without equal. It is just as good for piles, varicose sores, poisoned wounds, cuts, burns and scalds. Rubbed well in over the affected part, it cures rheumatism, sciatica, etc., etc., and rubbed into the chest it relieves the tightness and feeling of sickness due to contracting a bad cold. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse imitations.

Departmental Exams.

The department of education at Toronto has issued the time table for July examinations. For entrance to Normal schools, the exams. will begin on July 3 and last till July 7. For entrance to faculties of education, pass matriculation and honor and scholarship matriculation, the exams will all begin on June 29 and last till July 12, except the latter test, which will continue one day longer. The commercial specialist examination for 1911 will be held on August 8, 9, 10 and 11 at the department of education after the close of the summer school at the University of Toronto.

OBITUARY

MRS. GEORGE SCOTT.

There passed away in St. Catharines, on Sunday morning last, Annettia Lewis, beloved wife of Mr. George Scott, formerly of this city, aged 31 years. The deceased lady was leader of the choir of St. Peter's Cathedral when a resident of Peterboro. Heart disease was the cause of her death.

The body was brought here yesterday on the C.P.R.. Surviving her are her husband, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Lewis, the latter living at Fort George, B.C.; one sister, Mrs. M. J. Costello, 274 Thomas street, and one brother Stanley, of St. Catharines.

Many beautiful floral wreaths have been received from Mr. Scott's fellow employees of the Canadian Crocker-Wheeler Company, of St. Catharines.

The funeral will take place this morning at nine o'clock to St. Peter's cemetery, from the residence of Mr. M. J. Costello, Thomas street.

SOCIETY EVENTS

The Times will be pleased to receive notices of Weddings, Social Events, Personal Announcements, which will be published in this column free of charge.

Mrs. W. H. Denham will not receive to-day.

Mr. and Mrs. F. DeLong and baby of Toronto were visiting relatives of this city yesterday.

Mr. J. D. Armstrong, has returned from a business trip West and reports trade good.

A most delightful dance and bridge party was given last night by Mr. J. Olmstead Burrows, Stewart-street. The different rooms were handsomely decorated with flags, bunting, palms and flowers. A well-balanced orchestra furnished music.

Mr. T. P. Doyle of the Bank of Toronto, Toronto, has been appointed accountant of Peterboro' branch of that institution and leaves Toronto to take up his new duties on March 1st.

The many friends of Miss Hazel Sanderson, B. A., who started on a trip to visit friends in Oregon, will be pleased to learn that she arrived safely at her destination. She will remain in the west for several months.

Mr. J. J. Kearns of Toronto, formerly of Peterborough, son of Mr. W. J. Kearns of this city, has accepted a responsible position with a large established firm in New York. Mr. Kearns will travel for this firm in Northern and Western New York State, where no doubt he will develop a successful business.

OWEN SOUND'S EXPERIENCE.

Splendid Results From Using Oil on Streets.

An Owen Sound paper says: The sandy lake shore soil, upon which Owen Sound is located, results in very dusty streets. No matter how much rain falls, or how water is sprinkled on the streets, in an hour thereafter the dust becomes a nuisance and a menace to health. To overcome this, the municipal authorities, early in the spring, experimented with oil, which proved such a success that now all the principal streets in the centre of the town are oiled. These thoroughfares are macadamized and, as a preparation for oiling, are first swept clean, and oil put on immediately after with the sprinkler.

The objection at first was that the odor from the crude oil was offensive, but in a day or two this disappeared and the change for the better to dustless streets was recognized by all. The first application of oil lasted six weeks, and the second application was put on the other day, and what were some of the dustiest streets are now perfectly dustless.

The town officials state that it will be an annual saving of $2,000 over the old water system, and at the same time give much better results. It did another good thing in banishing mosquitoes, heretofore a great annoyance, none being now in evidence where the streets are oiled.

Coronation Stamps.

It may be interesting to Peterborough stamp collectors to learn that a special issue of stamps would be made in honor of the Coronation. The designs are expected to arrive from England at an early date.

Some Newspaper Law.

If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrearages or the publishers may continue to send it until payment is made, and collect the whole amount whether the paper is taken from the office or not. There can be no legal discontinuance until payment is made.

Any person who takes a paper from the post office, whether directed to his name or another, or into his house, or whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the pay. This proceeds upon the ground that a man must pay for what he uses.

The courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers and periodicals from the post office, removing and leaving them uncalled for is prima facia evidence of intentional fraud.

FIRST SNOW SEEN IN LAST 20 YEARS.

VOL XXXIV NO. 50 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY MARCH 1, 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

HON. CLIFFORD SIFTON BREAKS WITH PARTY

FORMER MINISTER OF THE INTERIOR DENOUNCES RECIPROCITY AGREEMENT.

Man Who Has Stirred Pride of Canadians in Speeches on Conservation of Natural Resources Strong in His Convictions.

Ottawa, Feb. 28.—Mr. Sifton rose to speak at 3.15 o'clock amid highly modified applause. After a reference to the importance of the measure under discussion his investigation had led him to the conclusion he could not follow the leader of the party with which he had been associated all his lifetime.

Such a difference could not but be extremely painful. He had been on good terms with the members of the Government politically and socially. Many of his constituents would find it hard to understand why he had left his party.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

Twenty years ago the Liberal party had confessed unrestricted reciprocity, and he had helped in the campaign. Almost before the campaign was over he had succeeded in convincing himself that the policy was wrong, and his views have undergone a gradual and steady change.

SATISFIED WITH TARIFF OF 1897

The tariff of 1897 satisfied him. He had steadily turned against reciprocity; he recalled that two years ago he had opposed reciprocity before a somewhat hostile audience. His conviction was not spasmodic, but matured, and the result of 20 years' contact with the affairs of Canada. Mr. Sifton denied that he had made any mystery of his views, or that he had intrigued with the Liberals behind the back of the Ministers.

In Canada, parties are strong, he continued, and men do not leave their party except for very strong reasons. None the less men adhere to a party because they think that it represents the policy necessary to the country.

ONLY ONE COURSE.

Once a man felt that that condition no longer applied there was only one course for a man to follow and retain his self respect. (Conservative applause.)

Proceeding, Mr. Sifton criticized the handling of the debate by the Government. This was the most important change in the tariff since 1879 When tariff changes were made careful investigations were usually made. The Germans employed 20,000 experts in their last Russian tariff. The Government should have given full information and clear exposition.

300 WERE DROWNED.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 28.—One hundred and twenty survivors of the 500 swept away on an ice floe in the Gulf of Finland several days ago were rescued to-day. All the others, 380, men, women and children, were drowned when the ice floe was shattered.

FIGHT WITH INDIANS

Fierce Battle Between Redskin Band and Nevada Policemen.

Reno, Nev., March 1.—In a battle yesterday, 60 miles west of Tuscarora, eight Indians and one policeman were killed, and the other members of the Indian band were captured. The battle took place at Kelly Creek, Humboldt county, 25 miles from Goleonda, in a northerly direction.

The Rush is On

Five Hundred Settlers Arrived at Moosejaw.

(Special to The Times.)

Moosejaw, March 1.—Moose Jaw is experiencing the busiest season the city has ever had, which is saying much. There has been a big movement in real estate, a Winnipeg syndicate having bought heavily of Moose Jaw realty for investment purposes. A new Land Titles Office will be opened in Moose Jaw on the 6th of March, which will mean that the department at this Saskatchewan point will have new and commodious quarters and a very much larger staff than before.

WAR WILL CEASE

But It Will Not Be for Thirty Years to Come, Says Gen. French.

London, March 1.—General French told Wm. T. Stead a few days ago he was following with keen interest, the American experiments with aeroplanes, which arise from the water. He admits fully that the aeroplane, when perfected, will make an end of all existing apparatus of war, but he puts the date of such perfected aeroplanes thirty years hence.

Mr. Stead says the British Government is building a submarine that by consuming solidified oil, will be enabled to cross the Atlantic without touching port or refilling bunkers.

Owner of Sign at Brock St. Rink Must Comply with By-Law

The Legal Committee of the City Council met last night.

There were present the Mayor, chairman Ald. Graham, and Aldermen Edgar and Anderson.

The City Solicitor wrote that the sign at the Broock street rink is infringing on the by-law in that it projects too far over the walk. The projection of the sign could be readily reduced, and had written Mr. Mehary to that effect, but the latter had taken no action in the matter.

City Solicitor E. H. D. Hall, was present. "It is a pity," he said, "that such infringment of the sign by-law should exist—the only case in town—and the responsible man a policeman, too!"

The Solicitor was instructed to see that legal action is instituted to compel the proprietor of the rink to comply with the by-law.

The Committee decided to pay Dr. Scotts bill of $12 for attendance upon Mrs. C. Warner, who has sustained a sprained wrist by falling upon a deficient sidewalk on August 14th, 1910.

R. N. Scott still insists in his title to damages as a result of his traction engine breaking through the Park street bridge, East City, last year. The Solicitor reported otherwise, however, and consequently no action was taken.

Messrs. Bennett & Goodwill wrote that they had been instructed to take action against the city for $1500 damages in consequence of certain lands belonging to the Dickson Co. having been injuriously effected by the closing of Quaker street, which the city conveyed to Peterborough Hydraulic Power Co., last year.

The closing of Quaker street was advertised for weeks, and in an interview between the City Board of Works and representatives of the Dickson Company at the time of the proposed closing of Quaker street, no objection was made to the proposition. In fact the Solicitor and Committee declare that the Dickson Co. had acquiesced in the passing of the by-law. Hence no action was taken in this matter, and Messrs. Bennett & Goodwill will be communicated with to this effect.

Firemen Get an Increase to Date from April 1st

Wage Schedule is Now $525, $575 and $600---The Vote Was Unanimous---Improved Fire Protection Asked for by South End Factory

The City Fire, Water and Light Committee decided last night to increase the firemen's pay, the increase to take effect April 1. The following is the new schedule of wages.

First Year	$525
Second Year	575
Third Year	600

The old schedule was $500, $550 and $575.

There were present at the meeting Mayor Morrow, chairman Ald. Morgan, Aldermen Edgar, Graham and Metheral.

Ald. Graham opened the question by suggesting an increase of $25 for second and third year men, leaving the first year wages as it is. He went on to say that after figuring the matter carefully out and closely, he had concluded that carpenters don't average more than $550 a year out of which they have to furnish their own tools, to say nothing of clothes.

Chief Howard urged an increase for the first year men to be of special importance, as he found it difficult to secure new hands under the first year wage.

Whilst Ald. Metheral liked to see men getting a fair wage, he had objected to the increase proposed by the Chief on principle. When the permanent Brigade was organized, Chief Howard had suggested the present schedule as a fair wage.

Chief Howard here remarked that his first proposition for a wage schedule ran up to $700. But on being assured by then Alderman Neill that labor in Peterborough was cheap and easy of acquisition, he had agreed to existing schedule. Especially as Mr. Neill had suggested that it be tried for a month or two.

Ald. Metheral here continued, "at the incipiency of this permanent brigade, Chief Howard assured us that the new system would not cost the city any more than the volunteer organization. Well, last year the Fire Department's appropriation was $12,500, which was exceeded by $300, making a total of $12,800 for fire protection." Ald. Metheral thought that expenditure in this connection should be kept within a reasonable limit, and not permitted to increase too rapidly. He did not wish to oppose men getting a reasonable wage, but offered for consideration that, whilst the press had reported that men working on the streets were being paid better than firemen, he had noticed that some of these self-same men, and others also supposed to be drawing bigger salaries than those on the brigade, had engaged as firemen. "When one figures up a laboring man's lost time," concluded the speaker, "and cost of clothing, it will be found that he is not earning more, if as much, as members of the brigade."

Ald. Graham, at this juncture, suggested that the brigade's schedule be $500, $575 and $600 a year; this would give first year men something to look forward to.

The Chief—"I believe it would help me get good men and keep them, if the first year wage were increased."

The Mayor suggested that the schedule be increased to $525, $575 and $600 the third year.

Ald. Graham moved, seconded by Ald. Edgar—That the salaries of the firemen be $525 for the first year, $575 the second year and $600 the third year; the increases to commence on April first.—Carried.

The vote was unanimous.

FACTORY PROTECTION.

Representatives of the Brinton Carpet Company were present, and asked for a fire alarm box down at their factory for better protection. The present box is on the street, 800 or 900 feet distant, and takes several minutes to reach. In case of fire this would mean a delay that might prove disastrous, as telephone alarms are not altogether satisfactory. The company have been improving their plant recently in the way of fire equipment and thus reduces the fire risk considerably; an alarm box at the factory would render the company's fire protection equipment pretty perfect.

Chief Howard suggested a special alarm system for factories, much in use these days. This consists of a box at the factory, connected with smaller boxes in each department of the works. Such an alarm box would cost $125. The Carpet Company would be willing to instal the connecting boxes.

City Clerk Armstrong here pointed out that the city has carried out its agreement with the old company to the letter in regard to fire protection.

Chief Howard suggested that Box No. 12, which is nearest the factory, might be replaced by a factory alarm box and the former installed somewhere else. The factory alarm box would also answer public purposes. Under contract, the city is allowed all new boxes at $75 as against $100 for boxes bought at the incipiency of the present fire alarm system. The new factory alarm boxes cost, the Chief thought, $125, and as new boxes are needed elsewhere, the proposed substitution would mean that one new box is bought, and the company afforded adequate fire protection at a cost to the city of but $50.

The representatives of the company again agreed to install the box and connections if the city supply the box in question.

The Committee practically agreed to the foregoing proposition, but on motion of Alderman Metheral, the chairman was authorized to enquire into the price of the improved factory alarm box, and report to committee.

The chairman was authorized to procure flooring for the attic of the fire hall.

Reflooring a portion of the apparatus room of the fire hall was left over for further enquiry. It is thought that this floor can be purchased to advantage.

The chairman and Ald. Graham were saddled with the responsibility of purchasing new blinds for the fire hall, with power to act.

ACUTE FEELING IS STIRRED UP

RED HOT, SIZZLING SERMON OF FATHER McCABE FANS RACIAL BREEZE.

Two Factions of Church—French-Canadians Will "Come Back" as Soon as They Have Recovered From the Blow of Maidstone Priest.

Windsor, Feb. 28.—It is a well-known fact that the feeling between French-Canadians and Irish Catholics in Windsor and in Essex County has been very much strained ever since the commencement of the by-linguage school trouble, but the red hot sizzling sermon from Rev. Father McCabe Parish Priest of Maidstone, in the centre of a large Irish Catholic community, in which, that Priest flayed the French-Canadians of Essex County and throughout London diocese for heaping insults upon Bishop Fallon, has stirred matters up, and intensified the feeling between the two factions in the Catholic Church.

It is confidently expected that Essex County French Canadians, and the St. Jean Baptiste Society will "come back" as soon as they have recovered from the upper cut blow of the Maidstone Parish Priest, and some libely doings are looked for. Feeling between the two factions of the Church has reached such a state in Windsor that the C.M.B.A. of this city may make a move to throw St. Jean Baptiste Society out of their hall in the Davis Building.

The local branch of the St. Jean Baptiste Society has the use of the C.M.B.A. Hall in the Davis Block for the purpose of holding their meetings, and the feeling has reached such a state that several prominent C.M.B.A. members are urging that the St. Jean Baptiste Society be told to find other quarters.

IT IS REPORTED THAT 118 OUT OF 120 PERSONS WERE EATEN ALIVE.

Cowardice Was Shocking—Women and Children, and Bride and Groom Thrown to Hungry Brutes.

Vienna, Feb. 28.—One hundred and eighteen members of a wedding party of 120, including the bride and groom, were devoured by wolves while travelling by sledges from Obtipoff to Tashkend in Asiatic Russia, a distance of twenty miles.

To-day Zeit declares that the two survivors reached Tashkend in a half crazed condition after having at the last stages of the journey thrown their bride and groom to the ravenous packs of wolves. These four occupied the same sled. The survivors demanded that the husband abandon his wife to lighten the sled but he refused. In their rage the survivors threw both the husband and his wife from the sled, thus appeasing the hunger of the wolves until the sled reached the edge of Tashkend.

The women and children of the party were the first to be thrown to the wolves, according to the survivors. They say the party started from Obtipoff in thirty-two horse sledges, and that a few miles out hundreds of hungry wolves attacked them.

FILIBUSTER IS AGAIN RESUMED

Washington, Feb. 28.—With a short respite for the vote on the resolution for the election of Senators and a little miscellaneous business the filibuster to prevent a vote on the Lorimer case, having rounded out 24 hours at noon, was resumed full blast in the Senate this afternoon, with no cessation in sight. A tremendous lot of business, all to be done in four days, remains untouched.

At the moment the resolution to unseat Wm. Lorimer became the order of the day, Senator Stone (Democratic, Missouri) unlimbered an attack on the Illinois sitting member. Prompt action was necessary, because Bailey, (Democratic, Texas) had set a hair trigger on the resolution. Its parliamentary situation was such that if the Opposition left the floor unoccupied for ten seconds, or even less, Vice-President Sherman could start a roll call and explode the filibuster.

Senator Owen (Democratic, Oklahoma) was ready to follow Stone, and Senator Bristow (Republican, Kansas) was on the programme to resume his speech of the morning when Owen concluded.

Bread Riots in the Plague Stricken Area

St. Petersburg, Feb. 28.—Pei Chuan-lintze, about fifty miles north of Harbin, is being ravaged by the plague. The deaths there are reported to number 2,000 daily.

The disease is raging at Kirin Hulanchecon, opposite Harbin, and at Bodune, 100 miles southeast of Harbin.

Bread riots have occurred throughout the stricken district. The foreign consuls are preparing to leave. Troops have refused to march into the plague places, and martial law has been established.

The Chinese Emperor has reprimanded the Manchurian authorities for not having dealt more energetically with the situation. The far Eastern press is filled with apprehensions of a recrudescence of Boxerism.

NO SUCCESSOR TO RADCLIVE.

Sheriffs Will Have to Execute Any Death Penalties or Pay For Substitute.

Ottawa, Feb. 28.—It was announced at the Department of Justice this morning that no successor would be appointed to Radclive, the public executioner, who died at Toronto yesterday. This means that sheriffs in the different counties throughout the Dominion will be called on to mete out the death penalty themselves or else pay out of their own pockets for a substitute.

The First Step From Britain Towards U. S.

Montreal, March 1.—Mr. C. A. Morsing, who has been instrumental in directing the investment of millions of pounds of British capital in mining enterprises the world over, is in Montreal.

Mr. Moreing has sacrificed time, money and health in the interests of tariff reform and when Mr. Chamberlain first announced his great propaganda for the advancement of tariff reform and the policy of welding the Empire closer together Mr. Moreing put himself and his resources at Mr. Chamberlain's disposal.

That Mr. Morsing is deeply grieved at the Fielding-Taft bargain is putting it mildly. In it, he sees, like many others, Canada's first step towards the United States and away from England.

"I am in favor of reciprocity," he said, "but reciprocity with England, not with the States. Are you impatient because we have made no response to the preference you have given us in your tariff? Well, give us time. England moves slowly, but slowly and surely, we are moving towards the policy of preferential trade within the Empire.

"When we first went to the country on tariff reform the Unionist party was almost obliterated, but it is recovering and is gaining strength. Eventually it will win and then we will see the fruits from the seeds which Mr. Chamberlain has sown.

"His was no small policy framed to solve England's own difficulties but a broad, comprehensive policy advanced with the idea of ultimately drawing into closer relations, the Mother Country, the Dominion of Canada, the Commonwealth of Australia, India and the Union of South Africa. What an inspiring project!"

"Do you believe," Mr. Morsing, "if Canada makes this bargain with the States that England will modify its increasingly friendly attitude towards our investments?"

"Yes," he replied, "I do. There is much sentiment in business, and it is sentiment to some extent which causes Canadian securities to sell so much higher in London than the securities of foreign countries. As I said when I was here before we like to follow the flag and invest our money within the Empire.

"As for the States, there is such a scandalous manipulation of even their gilt-edged securities that we are looking upon their stocks and bonds with increasing distrust."

RENO REJOICES

Residence in the Divorce Colony Will Not be Extended to a Year.

Reno, Nev., Feb. 28.—There is rejoicing throughout Reno to-day on the part of many of the divorce colony, over the news from the capital of the killing of the proposed new divorce bill pending before the Legislature. The measure extended the required residence in Nevada to one year, in cases wherein the cause of action occurred outside this state, a death blow to Easterners living here for the purpose of securing divorce after a residence of six months.

OLD BILL MINER IS IN CUSTODY

PINKERTONS SAY HE IS ONE OF THE TRAIN ROBBERS CAUGHT IN GEORGIA.

He Is a Famous "Bad Man"—Escaped From British Columbia Jail After Professing Christianity.

Chicago, Feb. 28.—That "Old Bill" Miner, second only to Jesse James in notoriety as a train robber, was one of the White Sulphur, Ga., bandits arrested at Gainsville, Ga., on Thursday last, was asserted at the Bureau of Identification of the Pinkerton National Detective Agency here yesterday.

The train robbery occurred at White Sulphur on Feb. 18, and several thousand dollars were secured by the bandits. Five days later three alleged robbers were arrested, among them, it is stated, "Old Bill."

Miner was famous for a decade as one of the "Bad Men" of the North-West. He was sentenced to life imprisonment several years ago at Vancouver, B.C., for robbery of the Dominion Express of the Canadian Pacific. A year ago last August, with two others he escaped by digging through the wall surrounding the prison bridewell. He had pretended that he had become a Christian and wanted to lead a new life.

ISOLATION HOSPITAL OPEN TO VISITORS ON FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

Ald. Duncan, chairman of the City Property Committee, advises this journal that the new Isolation Hospital will be thrown open to the public for inspection on Friday and Saturday of this week from 9 to 5 each day. It is to be hoped that the public will take this opportunity of going through this new institution before any patients are admitted. As after the building is opened for service it will be practically closed to visitors for obvious reasons.

The Hospital is admirably equipped in every way, and reflects considerable credit upon the Council and its Property Committee, who undertook, by vote of the people, to provide a permanent building in which to isolate and properly care for contagious cases.

To Spend Millions

Calgary Will Be a Boom Town This Season.

(Special to The Times.)

Calgary, March 1.—Despite the decision of its city council not to allow the spending of $15,000 for publicity purposes, Calgary keeps pretty well in the limelight—locally, at least. The Canadian Pacific are to spend about $5,000,000, in, and adjacent to Calgary, a million of this going into a fine new hotel. The railway station—new only two years ago—is to be greatly enlarged and a new office building is another of the details of the C.P.R's. plans for Calgary. Harrod's, of London, England, are to build a big store at Calgary, and the city hopes to get the big new Hudson's Bay store which is to be built in the West.

DATES FOR MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

It is to be regretted, says the Kingston Standard, that the Ontario Legislature made no attempt to meet the request of the various municipalities asking for a change in the date of the municipal elections. The members from the rural constituencies opposed any change on the ground that the Christmas holidays suited them. They have a perfect right to their opinion; but would it not have been possible to make such a change in the statutes as would enable rural municipalities to continue under the present system and at the same time give to cities and towns the right to hold their elections on a different date?

In the mean time the Kingston City Council has preferred a request through W. F. Nickle, M. P. P., to have its elections held in January, even if it requires a special act to have that done. The defeat of the general bill does not necessarily prevent Kingston's request from being favorably treated.

AN EXODUS.

The ousting of George J. Gould from the control of the Missouri Pacific may be followed, if surmises are correct, by the withdrawal of Mr. Gould and his family from American and American life. There is the report that a syndicate has been formed to take over the Gould holdings in railroad stocks and that the Goulds, following this financial abdication on the part of their head, may leave the United States to live abroad.

After the fracas, the frolic. After life's realities, life's decorations. While the wealthy and the highly connected may find plenty of people in America to work with and to fight with, they can find but few to play with. Show on a grand scale, diversion according to an established ritual, returns commensurate with the effort and the expense, and the satisfactions that follow upon holding a conspicuous place in a glittering order—all these, as it would seem, can best be secured on the other side, where social success is a career in itself. The athlete turns courtier. If the people of Georgian Court leave us for Europe, we hope their career there may be as pleasant, successful and creditable as that of some of their predecessors of the same stock.

The King's Privileges.

The King has other legal privileges besides exemption from personal appearance in cases to which he is a party. He is entitled to appropriate all "waifs and strays," in his domains. Waif, in strictly legal definition, means "such stolen goods as are thrown away by the thief in his flight, for fear of being apprehended, these being due to the King as a punishment upon the holder for not himself pursuing the felon and taking the goods away from him." Strays are defined as "all kinds of animals except dogs, cats, bears, and wolves" which may be found wandering on the King's highway. If they have no claimants they become the property of the King at the end of a year and a day.

RAISED MONEY ORDERS IN SEVERAL TOWNS.

Man Sent Down for Five Years Puts Blame on the American Navy.

Ingersoll, Feb. 28.—After expressing his willingness "to take his medicine right away," William Bradshaw who was arrested in London, Ont., Saturday morning by local detectives on a charge of raising a Canadian Express Company money order, received a sentence of five years in the Kingston Penitentiary.

Before Bradshaw received sentence he signed his name to a statement in which he confessed that under the guise of being an agent for a Bible firm, he raised money orders at a score of places in Ontario, and at a number in New York State and Michigan. The navy of the United States was blamed by him as the cause of his downfall. Against the petty officers of Uncle Sam's ships of war the prisoner laid his education in ways that are dark. He made the statement that it was common practice in the navy to raise vouchers and pay orders, and, to put in his own words, the entire department was "rotten with graft."

Bradshaw has been operating in various parts of Ontario for some time. The total amount of his frauds is said to have reached no great amount—just enought to keep him going.

Among the Ontario points he visited were Niagara Falls, St. Catharines, Hamilton, Toronto, Parkdale, Listowel, Palmerston, Woodstock, Ingersoll and other places.

EQUITY FIRE INSURANCE CO.

Another Successful Year — Company in a Flourishing Condition.

Elsewhere will be found the financial statement of the Equity Fire Insurance Company of Canada, which was submitted to the annual meeting on 22nd inst.

During the year the fire losses were excessive, amounting to $177,074.83, being twice that of the previous year. It is gratifying to report that every adjusted loss had been paid. The following clause in the Directors' report speaks for itself:

"The Directors' reported at the annual meeting of the Equity Fire Insurance Company a year ago, that a special bill had been secured from the Dominion Parliament, incorporating the Equity Fire Insurance Company of Canada, under which it was proposed to continue the business of the former Company. The action of the Board was agreed to by the Shareholders, and your Directors now beg to report that the Insurance Department at Ottawa issued a License to the Equity Fire Insurance Company of Canada, December 1st, 1910, under which we are now operating."

The Company is represented in the Peterborough district by Mr. W. H. Hill.

KEENE SONS OF REST.

A meeting of the Sons of Rest was held in the Hall of Wisdom on Saturday night last. At precisely 8 o'clock Tom Decackey, District Organizer, walked in and took the chair. After calling the brethren to order he rose, and in a very presumptive tone of voice, informed the brethren that the object of the meeting was to elect a President, as the chair as present, was vacant. Bob-tailed Tue rose up and nominated Positive Legget. Tony Moore then nominated Byhern Doris. The organizer then ordered Hosier Roach to distribute the ballot papers. After counting the ballots, Decackey rose and gave the result as follows:—Positive Legget, 999; Byhern Doris, 2. He then declared Positive Legget elected by the sweeping majority of 997. After the clapping of hands ceased Decackey installed Positive into office with a warning to be true to his obligation and a keen observer of the rules and laws of the society.

Positive then rose to his feet and after wiping the sweat from his face, addressed the brethren as follows:—Brethren—I am so excited over my victory that I consider it would be presumption on my part to attempt to make a speech, but I ask you to accept my heartfelt thanks for your support and confidence in me by electing me to the honorable position of President. I have always taken a deep interest in the work of this Society, and as I now have the reins in my own hands it is my intention to be very strict. It is not my desire or intention to cast reflections on the management of this society in the past, but I consider I am justified in saying that it was managed in a slip-shod manner, but I warn you to watch your P's and Q's in the future for I certainly will punish all who break the rules. I will say no more at present. The meeting is now open for business.

Fatty Drummond rose and laid a charge against John B. Doris for snoring and talking in his sleep. He said that you could hear the snorts for a mile away, and that the works were all shook out of his watch.

The President was very indignant, and imposed a fine of $20 to be paid in one hour or thirty days in jail. John B. paid the fine.

The president hit the desk with his fist and upset the lamp and in a second's time the hall was in a blaze. Timely aid arrived and in a short time the fire was extinguished. The President fined George $100, to be paid in 2 days or 4 months in jail. He said this had to be cut out and boiled out at once.

Ponty Mac rose to his feet and laid a charge against Financier Ogg for travelling in such a zig-zag direction Sunday nights. Positive fined him $80 and five cents to be paid in one week or 3 years in Central prison.

Fiddler Lane rose and said that he had a charge to lay against Chittery Gall for speeding his horse on the street. Chickery was fined 17 cents to be spot cash. He paid the fine.

The President now rose and said it was time to close and asked brother Philips and Elliot to sing the closing ode. They sang in right good style. The meeting was then closed until next Saturday night at 8 o'clock.

NOTE.—A shareholder participates in every asset of the Company.

LIABILITIES OF THE COMPANY

Amount yet owing on land, extending over a period of four years, $446,000.

REMARKS

MORE LAND

The Company proposes to purchase lands surrounding their townsite, and to this end are securing options on about 200 acres, with about 2,500 feet of deep waterfrontage adjoining that which they now own.

MINES

They have also secured an option of purchase of a group of ten claims of very valuable iron deposits situated within twelve miles of their townsite. The Company believe, located as they are in a country which abounds with everything necessary to the smallest detail for turning out a perfect car, should go to nature's storehouse for their material, and with this end in view have secured the above group.

SHIPBUILDING

In addition to building the Imperial Sleeping Car, cars of every description will be contracted for, and just as soon as their dry dock is completed, the Company intend to use it to the greatest advantage in building ships of the largest tonnage. As there will be but three or four docks in the whole Dominion, they will encounter but very little competition in the building of the larger class of vessels.

SALE OF LANDS

The Company do not intend to sell any of its land until its dry dock, car works, sawmills and other industries are in operation, and in this way secure as nearly as possible all the profit derived from the establishment of these great works.

CLEARING OF LAND

The Municipality of North Vancouver have under consideration a proposition from the Company whereby the Company promise to clear their whole townsite on condition the Municipality will at once clear and grade all the streets, charging the cost of same to local improvement taxes. The Municipality view the Company's proposition with great favor. This plan would at least double the price of the Company's holdings.

PURCHASING STOCK

A small block of stock is now on the market and can be had on very easy terms of payment. This once sold, the Company will have no difficulty to borrow on their assets at from 4 to 5 per cent. any money they will require for improvement purposes, and in this case all stock will be withdrawn from the market.

AMERICA WANTS ERIN.

Strange Ambitions—Another Is Reported to be Anxious to Contract a Disease

The secret ambition of the queer sort is usually the thing that is farthest removed from what the ambitioner is accustomed to. Thus some men who toil from morning to night think and plan a great time of rest. One man who is of this mind confesses that for years he has had an ambition to be ill enough to go into a hospital and remain in bed for three or four months. He has even planned out a suitable illness and taken steps to catch it, for he knows that unless he were really ill he would get up and go out after the first hour. He rather relies on scarlet fever, but he can't seem to get hold of it—or, rather, it won't get hold of him. He is a great contractor by trade, but he can't contract a disease to save his life. Even if he was successful he is not sure that scarlet fever would be the thing, but he thinks a broken leg might hold him.

Of all the wild ambitions that ever came into the head of men, that of an American politician is probably the wildest. He has it in his mind to buy Ireland. This is the subject of his dreams. Having made it his, he would proceed to lay out, peg, plan, and otherwise specify the Emerald Isle according to the way in which he thinks it should go. It is extremely doubtful if this dream will ever be realised. It is too American.

BRITAIN'S AIR FLEET.

New Ideas to be Incorporated in the Construction of Dirigibles

A very busy time awaits the officers and men of the Army Balloon School at Farnborough, England, this winter. In addition to the work of testing and completely overhauling the "Clement Bayard II.," the air corps will have ready the large gas bag began a few weeks ago for the "Gamma," and at the same time start on the construction of the "Delta," another air-ship which the War Office has just decided to add to the present aerial fleet.

The "Delta" will be much larger than the two sister ships, "Beta" and "Gamma." Its envelope is to be made from a new fabric which, it is said, is far superior to any other on the market. By subjecting the material to a special treatment, of which the Army experts alone know the secret, the percentage of leakage will be reduced to an infinitesimal quantity. Reversible propellers and heavy six-cylinder engines are among the other new constructional details of the air-ship. The "Delta" is to be completed by the beginning of next spring, when the large admiralty dirigible now being built at Barrow-in-Furness will also be ready for active service.

The winter months at the Balloon School will further be occupied in training some 300 additional men to handle air-ships, so as to bring up the number of the corps to a total of 400.

GIRLS SELL LUNCHES

Parisians Now Talk of "Five O'Clock Tea," and Nibble Sandwiches

It is only within the last year or so that the words "five" (pronounced feeve), "o'clock" and "tea" have been incorporated into the modern Anglicised French language. "Gouter" (to taste), was, and is yet, the term employed by the conservative class for the five o'clock afternoon light meal, which all classes, high and low, in France, indulge in.

One enterprising young man who is the head of one of the most popular of the smaller hotels in the Tuileries quarter, has cleverly and successfully introduced the custom of having girls wait on customers during the "rush" hours each afternoon. These young women wear black frocks and white aprons and black bows in place of a head covering when they go out to serve ham, cheese chocolate, sandwiches, and other light food, at banks and similar large establishments during luncheon time. Carrying large baskets they visit the places named in the neighborhood. Many of these girls sell 500 sandwiches in half an hour, while the sale of eatables at the luncheon rooms runs into hundreds of francs during the busiest hours.

KEEPS TAB ON THE AUTOS

France Knows Just Where to Get Cars for War Purposes if Needed

"In time of peace prepare for war," is a saying which France intends placing in active and immediate execution.

Beginning with the first of the year a general census of automobiles in France is to be made. The description of every machine is to be recorded, with the name, etc., of the chauffeurs. This will be done with the double view of enabling the Government to use the machines in time of war and also to call on the chauffeurs for military service. Strange to say, dozens of wealthy women, patriotically inclined, who own autos, have not waited until the Government calls on them for the information, but have supplied it to the proper officials. Their willingness to aid the Government in the manner indicated before having been approached on the subject is a matter of much satisfaction to officials high in authority.

PASSES AS A MONK

After passing eighteen years as a man in a monastery, where she was known as Brother Arsene, a woman of great beauty, the Countess Klusinska, has been arrested, and an extraordinary story revealed. Years ago a duel was fought between her lover and her husband, ending fatally for the latter. The lover, conscience-stricken, retired to a monastery, and the countess, unable to bear the separation, disguised herself, and to be near her lover gained access to the same convent, where she lived unsuspected for eighteen years.

POSSIBILITIES OF DAIRYING

The Dairy Cow Can be Made to Produce $100 Revenue Annually

There are great possibilities of increasing our national wealth from the dairy cow. Increased wealth must come from the increased production and it is possible to increase the annual production of wealth at least 30 per cent. by improved methods in feeding and breeding dairy cows and without increasing the number of cows kept.

A Nova Scotia dairyman estimates if the average production of the dairy cow in Nova Scotia could be increased from $40 to $100 a year it would mean an added income of $7,000,000 annually for that province. This would mean an increase in the total annual production of the province from all sources of 30 per cent., and in the agricultural products of [illegible] cent.

The dairy cow can be made to produce $100 gross revenue annually. This has been proven by hundreds of good dairymen in various parts of the Dominion. In no other line of industry is it possible to increase the efficiency of plants by 60 per cent. through better methods of management. No other industry offers such opportunities of increasing our national wealth as does the improvement of agriculture, and particularly of dairying. A few thousand dollars spent on agricultural education and in promoting the work of cow testing associations, would do more for this country than the millions of dollars which are now being spent in building up urban industries some of which are able to run only because of government aid and are not real addition to the wealth-producing power of the country. Governments both federal and provincial, should not hesitate to spend money on agricultural education where the possible results are so great.—The Island Farmer.

PORK FROM CHINA

Pacific Ports in United States are Receiving Frozen Porkers

Pork from the Orient is now finding a place on Pacific coast markets in America. The scarcity of the domestic supply and attendant high prices have made possible such importation. Frozen porkers from China are an innovation in American pork markets, but are said to possess profit possibilities for the importer under present conditions. One can easily understand how pork production in the Celestial empire can be conducted at a minimum of expense. Cheap production accounts for the possible competition with the American producer. It is not likely, however, that this new source of pork supply will have any noticeable effect on domestic conditions, relative to either market supply or prices.—The Farmers' Review.

AN OPEN-AIR BARBER

Paris, like Pekin, has its ambulant barber. Armed with a little box, containing the necessary apparatus—razor, badger brush, soap, scissors, and serviette—he exercises his calling on the banks of the Seine. All the bargees, navvies and quay laborers are his clients. "Figaro" seats his patient on the pavement, covers his knees with a newspaper, and for a sou shaves, cuts his hair, and gives a human appearance to the tramps and others who entrust themselves to his care. But the wet season has not been favorable to the peripatetic barber, and with a sad countenance he avers that he has [illegible] time.

The Peace River Country.

Owing to the development in that part of Western Canada west of Edmonton and the business impetus that is now going on in that territory, and in order to adequately take care of the trek into the Peace River country where 15,000 new homesteads will be offered for free entry by the Dominion Government this year, a daily except Sunday passenger train is now operated by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway between Edmonton and Edson, Alta.

From the latter point the new Government wagon road enables settlers with their effects to travel with ease and comparative comfort in about one week's time to the Grande Prairie as against the much longer and more expensive routes through gateways east of Edson, which occupy from a month and a half to two months.

The new train will leave Edmonton daily except Sunday at 6.30 a. m., arrive Edson (130 miles) at 1 p.m., returning leave Edson at 3.30 p.m., daily except Sunday, arrive Edmonton at 10.05 p.m.

A MONKEY'S FUNERAL

The Animal Lay in State in the Best Room and Cards Were Printed

Extraordinary grief at the death of her pet monkey is shown by a Cardiff woman, who has made elaborate arrangements for its burial. The body has been enclosed in a handsome coffin, with shining plate, on which is the inscription:—

"In loving memory of my dear Jenny, who died August 21, 1910."

Mourning cards have been printed, the coffin, covered by a shroud, has been placed in the chief room of the house, and the grief-stricken owner is applying to the Corporation for permission to have her pet buried in her mistress's favorite spot near a fountain in Victoria Park. Meanwhile, York Street, Canton, Cardiff, where "Jenny" breathed her last, is in mourning, and her owner, Mrs. Karinago, is only solaced in her bereavement by the sympathy of the neighbors, all the blinds being drawn down in the street. "Jenny" succumbed after a brave struggle to pull through an attack of pneumonia, following upon a chill. She had been one of the household for ten years, being originally brought from some land across the seas by Mr. Karinago, who was a mariner. During her period of illness "Jenny" was attended by four doctors, but all to no purpose. "Jenny" received extraordinary kindness, being regaled with all sorts of delicacies and fruit in abundance. She was rather fastidious in her tastes latterly, showing a marked liking for William pears and Jaffa oranges. Before being taken ill she was allowed the free run of the house, and in the middle room a little step-ladder, a table, and a mirror were provided for her exclusive benefit. Then when she was tired she could rest on the cushioned couch, or, for that matter, go to her own bedroom and lie down on her feather bed. "Jenny" lived a life of ease and comfort, if not of luxury. Dr. J. R. Smith, one of the four medical men attending "Jenny" professionally, said to an interviewer:—

"I had known the monkey for years, but I cannot say that she was endowed with more than ordinary simian intelligence. She was certainly well cared for, and I prescribed for her after having ascertained that she was suffering from bronchial catarrh and consumption. Mrs. Karinago was very anxious to apply hot poultices to "Jenny's" diaphragm, but I pointed out that her thick coat of fur was sufficient protection under the circumstances."

Passers-by in York Street, however, have noticed that "Jenny," although not poulticed, had to wear a thick chest-protector back and front whenever she wanted to sit by the window. "She was very obstreperous against taking ordinary medicine," added the doctor, in a tone of deep concern, "and I had to make it very sweet indeed. However, human aid failed, and 'Jenny' is no more." Since "Jenny" died there has been much excitement in York Street. One afternoon a police constable was called to the street to disperse a crowd of about 300 people who were clamoring to see "Jenny" in her oaken casket. When a correspondent knocked at the house he was answered by a solemn-visaged lady, and admitted, in company with three of the nursing staff from the Treborth Home in Crowbridge Road, who had come to offer their sympathy to the bereaved Mrs. Karinago. The front room is a delightfully furnished apartment, and on the couch, wrapped in a spotless shroud, in an oaken coffin supplied by one of the city's chief funeral furnishers, lay all that remained of poor "Jenny." She bore a peaceful expression, and on her body was laid the loveliest of little wreaths. Referring to her deceased favorite, Mrs. Karinago said:—

"Jenny was a dear creature, so intelligent that she seemed almost human. She understood every word I said to her. A month ago she was taken ill with bronchial catarrh that turned into rapid consumption. A doctor attended her for three weeks. She did not at first like his stethoscope, but she grew accustomed to it, and summitted to treatment. I used to keep her in the bedroom window upstairs, so that she could have the benefit of fresh air. She grew worse, however, and after screeching three times she died on the 21st. It nearly broke my heart. I think that people who like myself, are passionately fond of their pets, should be allowed to bury them in one of the public parks."

The Lord Mayor of Cardiff, in reply to a question put to him, said that no application had been made for permission to bury "Jenny" in Victoria Park. He suggested, however, that the remains should be cremated in their splendid crematorium for dumb animals. As an alternative to cremation, the lady can bury "Jenny" in Victoria Park by merely asking for permission of the parks superintendent.

76 YEARS IN ONE PULPIT

Death of the Oldest Clergyman in Scotland

The oldest clergyman in Scotland, the Rev. Dr. Frew, died at Stirling in his 98th year. He was pastor of St. Ninian's United Free Church, Stirling, for seventy-six years, this being his first and only charge. He had celebrated three ministerial jubilees and had seen three generations come and go amongst his flock.

GRAIN FOR DAIRY COWS

It Pays to Buy Feed for Cattle That are Good

There are plenty of people who would feed grain to their dairy cows if they had it. They will not buy it, however. They would not think of working the horse without grain, but they think it does not matter so much with the cow.

When the pasture starts to get short and cows need grain the most is just the time they are without it. Good cows under these conditions will milk all the surplus flesh from their bodies. When they get better feed they are not in shape to respond to it.

The man who feeds his cows a heavy grain ration six months of the year and lets them shift for themselves the other six months is the man who is feeding his cows grain at a loss. On the other hand the man who feeds his cows a good liberal ration twelve months of the year and keeps his cows in shape all the time is the man who is investing his money where it will bring him liberal returns.

The key to successful dairying is to breed better to feed better, and to handle the heardsm.

FOR THE KITCHEN

Useful Recipes for the Preparation of Plain Dishes

How to Boil an Egg.

It seems simple enough, but it is not every person that can make a success of it.

Half fill a saucepan with water and put it on the fire until the water is actually boiling.

Put in about half a teaspoonful of salt, which will prevent the shell cracking.

Put in the egg and leave it to boil for five minutes. At the end of this time the yolk will be not quite hard.

If you prefer the egg quite soft boiled, three to four minutes will be sufficient.

Poached Eggs.

Break the egg into a cup cracking the shell on the rim and emptying the contents in carefully, so as to keep the yolk unbroken.

Pour some boiling water into a clean saucepan with a little vinegar, (about a teaspoonful to a pint of water).

When this boils again, slip in the egg and keep the cup turned over it for half a minute so that the white may be kept compact.

As soon as the egg is put in, place the pan over a gentle fire, or turn down the gas slightly if you use gas and keep the water just simmering till the white of the egg is set, when it is ready to be served.

Eggs and Bacon.

Put into a frying-pan enough butter dripping or fat to cover the bottom when melted.

Break the eggs separately into a cup, and drop them into the pan, covering them with the cup until the whites are set.

When the eggs and bacon are properly cooked, take them out of the pan and put them on a hot dish or plate.

Scrambled Eggs.

Take eggs according to the quantity required—about three for two persons or two for one person—and break them separately into a cup, to make sure that none are bad.

Turn them out into a saucepan containing about an ounce of butter to every two eggs. Add pepper and salt to taste.

Beat the mixture up with a fork. Hold the pan over the fire until the mixture sets, stirring it all the time.

Turn out of the saucepan on to pieces of toast.

If these have previously been spread with butter the result is most appetising.

Sardines on Toast.

Fry some narrow strips of bread in dripping, lard, or butter, and put them on a piece of paper to drain.

Put the sardines on a plate in the oven to heat.

Mix, in a small pan, one dessertspoonful of vinegar, half a teaspoonful of mustard and half a teaspoonful of butter.

Heat the mixture over the fire, stirring well, and then drop in the yolk of an egg. Add a pinch of salt and a pinch of cayenne pepper.

Put the sardines on the toast, and the sauce over the sardines, and heat the whole dish in the oven.

Ordinary buttered toast may take the place of the fried bread and the sauce may be omitted.

Sausages and Tomatoes.

Place enough butter in the frying-pan to cover the bottom when melted, and put the pan on the stove or fire.

Put in the sausages as soon as the butter is melted, pricking them well with a fork to prevent their bursting.

Turn them at intervals to ensure their being well cooked on both sides.

Steak and Onions.

Get a good thick piece of steak. A thin, wafer-like one contains no nutriment and none of the juices which go to form the gravy.

When the steak is ready—and it needs no further preparation than a beating with a wooden spoon or some such instrument—make the frying-pan and the butter or fat very hot, and put in the steak, together with an onion sliced up and dusted with flour. The flour makes it brown more quickly.

Brown both sides of the steak and then shift the pan to the side of the range or turn down the gas and allow the meat to cook thoroughly.

Another method of cooking a steak, which makes it more tender, is to grill it over a clear fire, either on a gridiron or, failing anything better, on a toasting fork.

To stew steak, put it in a saucepan with a lid, and add an onion cut small a few thin slices of carrot, a teaspoonful of barley or rice, and a little salt.

Just cover it with water, and simmer or boil slowly for two hours or longer.

How to Cook Potatoes.

Even the boiling of potatoes can be done rightly or wrongly.

Having washed them well, put them in an iron saucepan on the fire with enough cold water to cover them.

When the water begins to boil put in some salt and a cupful of cold water. This stops the boiling for a little, and prevents the potato from bursting before it is cooked.

When you find, by means of a fork, that the potatoes are done, pour off the water and set the saucepan, without its lid, on the fire for a few moments.

SCALES ARE TESTED

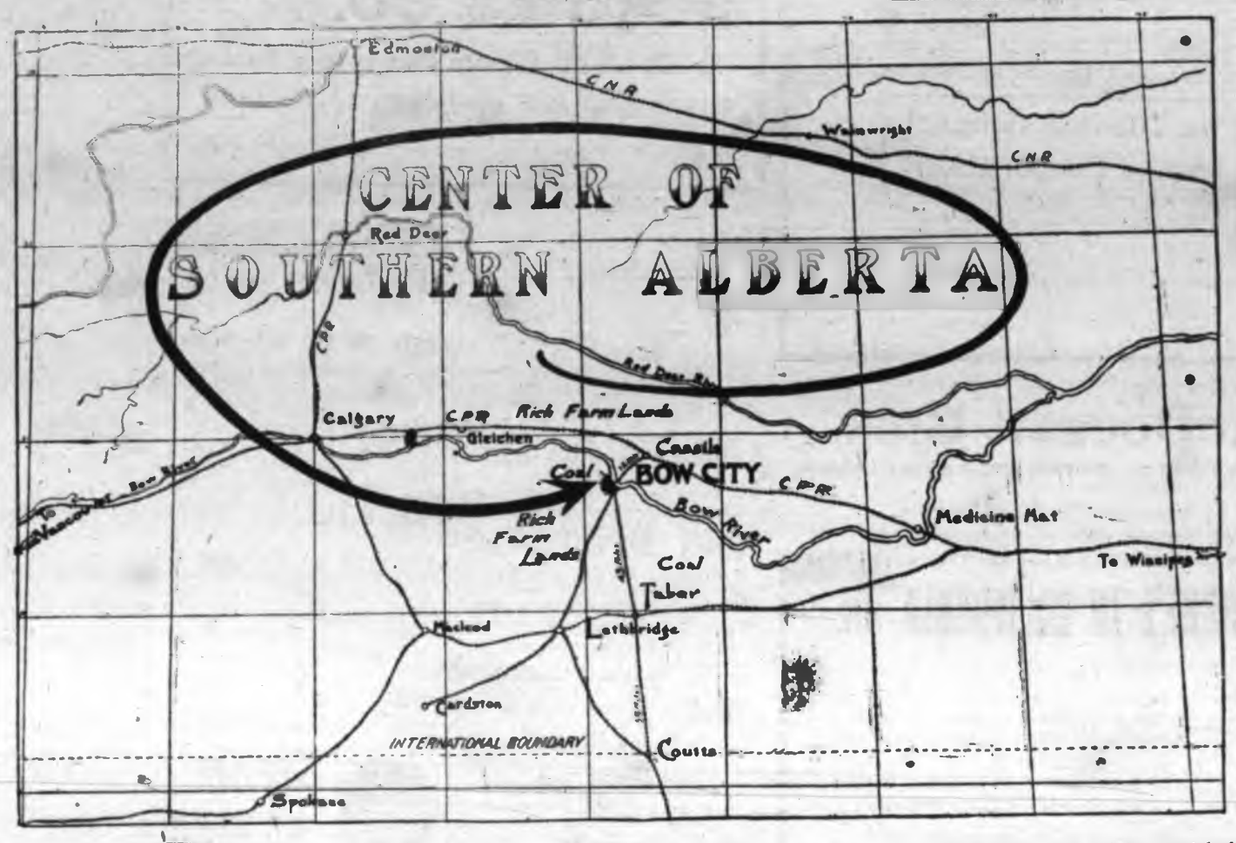
All factory scales, and scales of commerce are tested once a year by the government. If patrons become suspicious of any scale and wish to have it re-tested, they may do so by paying the expenses incurred by the inspector while performing the work of inspection. In a particular case where many patrons are dissatisfied, the government might send an inspector free of expense, on petition of the dissatisfied patrons to the Department of Weights and Measures.

DEAD AT MADRID

Is the Last Descendant of Christopher Columbus

The Duke of Veragua, the last descendant of Christopher Columbus, has died at Madrid, after a long illness, aged 72. He was formerly Minister of Public Works, and also held the post of Minister of Marine. He went to America in 1892 as the official representative of Spain at the celebrations in commemoration of the discovery of the country by his illustrious ancestor.

"GIVE YOUR SON A DEED"



If, by way of illustration, you will review the history of the men in your town who have made money out of real estate, you will find that in each and every instance their profits were made from real estate acquired at ground floor prices.

More money can be made by those who acquire a realty interest in a town at its inception per dollar invested than from investments made after a period of years.

Do you know that you can purchase with $5 cash a full sized residential lot in Bow City, Alberta

the logical location for a great city, a city which is destined to be known, the world over, as a market place annually for hundreds of thousands of bushels of grain, grown on the vast irrigated fields surrounding Bow City, a shipping point for coal from the great Bow Centre Collieries, and a purchasing depot for hundreds of prosperous farmers resident throughout Southern Alberta.

To-day is your opportunity to acquire an interest in Bow City at the ground floor price.

It will be too late six months hence, to apply for a lot in Bow City at the present prices and on such easy terms as are offered you in this advertisement.

Why not follow Russell Sage's advice given in a letter published some years ago to the fathers in the Western States:—

"Buy your son a lot in a town being the "centre of a great agricultural country—when "he comes of age that lot will be worth consid-"erable money and will provide a handsome "stake for him in life; it is at least most sub-"stantial life insurance—sure and certain."

Buy your son a $50 lot in Bow City, the coming metropolis of the western prairies. In a very short time he can re-sell the same at a big increase, which money he will find advantageous in business pursuits or in a college course.

Bow City, the centre of the great granary of Southern Albert has a future concerning which no sane business man or banker has any doubt.

When you are assured of the success of the city, when you have proven to you beyond the shadow of a doubt that Bow City will, in the very near future, be one of the most active, one of the most progressive towns on the Western prairies, you should not hesitate to acquire at least one $50 residential lot, when same is on sale on such easy terms as 10 per cent cash and the balance 10 per cent per month until paid—a deed at any time.

Bow City is in the heart of a famous irrigated farming belt whose farmers are assured of a crop every year. They are prosperous and their prosperity will naturally enhance the value of Bow City real estate.

The great coal mines of Bow City will furnish work for 1,000 to 1,500 miners daily, these miners will constitute a substantial basis for a successful city.

The present owners of Bow City have decided that no licenses shall be issued for the sale of spirituous liquors; they intend that this great mining and agricultural centre shall be free from any traffic in intoxicating drinks—it will be a clean city.

Bow City is the headquarters of a railway which taps a territory unparalleled for richness in crops and natural resources.

The Sale of Bow City Lots opened but a few days ago

If you are desirous of acquiring a $50 residential lot close in you should lose no time in making application by wire direct to the General Agents of the townsite, or to the nearest sub-agent.

Do not delay by sending your application by mail.

Wire at once your reservation for one or more lots. On receipt of wire your name will be placed on the closest-in unsold lot or lots and same will be held in your name, allowing you sufficient time for your cash payment, mailed same day you wire, to travel from your home to the head office.

You may find it to your advantage, if you are desirous of securing a business opening, or a business lot, to write for copy of the plans, booklets and descriptive matter concerning Bow City, all of which may be had on application, free of charge.

GERMANY'S EXAMPLE.

We have taken many excellent examples of social government and control from Germany and it would seem that the Teutonic Fatherland still has much to teach us. Take the matter of dealing with that class of no'er-do-wellthat ill-treat their wives. In this country an offender in this respect, is found guilty, is locked up in jail and the poor wife that has been beaten and abused now has to suffer the loss of breadwinner of the family and has, herself, to make a living for her children while her husband stays in jail or the workhouse, the State or county getting whatever profit there may be in his enforced labor. Surely no greater absurdity than this could be worked in the name of justice.

In Germany they have gone deeper into this matter than we, and wife-beaters instead of being locked up, they are made to go to work under police supervision and their wages are handed over to their families. This on work days. When holiday time arrives, that is Saturday afternoon and evening, the offender is taken by the police and locked up, to remain in jail until it is time to go to work on Monday morning. This sortof extended and continuing sentence lasts until the prisoner has served in jail the number of days appointed by the judge.

Surely this is a commonsense plan and one that should commend itself to our lawmakers. A weakness of all punishment for minor offences is that it is usually the family of the offender that has to bear the largest part ofthe punishment. Some such system as that inaugurated by Germany might well, we should think, be extended to other offences than wife-beating, so that the innocent families of offenders against the laws should not be compelled, unjustly, to suffer part of the punishment.

BI-LINGUAL SCHOOLS

Much Interest Will be Associated with Legislation on the Subject

While several subjects of importance will keep public attention directed to the Legislative buildings during the session, legislation on the bi-lingual question will probably be followed with more than ordinary interest, though it may not be in the limelight for some weeks after the opening.

Following a keen controversy on the subject, particularly as it related to the schools in the French section of Essex and Kent, the Government appointed F. W. Merchant, M.A., to visit the English-French schools, public and separate, in those counties, and find out if there was any departure from the Public and Separate Schools Act, or from any of the departmental regulations and circulars, and if so, to what extent. Part of his instructions read as follows: "As the school law is intended to provide all pupils with a thorough training in English, it is desirable that you ascertain whether and if so to what extent, the means to attain this end are adequate or defective."

It is thought that Mr. Merchant's report will not be ready before February is well advanced. In the mean time, however, reports have been made to the Government showing that some of the French-English schools in the eastern part of the Province have not been complying to the letter with the School Act.

LICENSING DOCTORS

READ EVERY WORD OF THIS

It Will Be Money In Your Pocket To Do So

Everyone is anxious to make money. Everyone has an ambition to get rich. Some men DO get rich. Others remain poor. The difference is simply a difference of methods. Nearly all of us save some money, but we do not let these savings earn anything for us. THE MAN WHO SAVES HIS MONEY AND LETS THE SAVINGS EARN SOMETHING FOR HIM is making it do double duty. Take the history of all the very wealthy men of the country and learn how many of them made their fortunes by simply saving what they earned. Not one of them did. They saved but they immediately put their savings to work for them. YOU WANT TO GET TO THE TOP OF THE LADDER, YOU WANT TO ACCUMULATE SOMETHING FOR YOUR OLD AGE. THEN YOU HAD BETTER PUT YOUR SAVINGS TO WORK AND LET THEM HELP YOU DO IT.

In almost any ordinary investment a man cannot make his money earn over 8 per cent. Mining offers you greater opportunities. I am going to offer you an opportunity that has promise earning for you 300 per cent or even more. I want to take you into partnership with me, in an enterprise that will probably make us all independent for the balance of our lives. YOU MUST TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THIS OFFERING. The Gold Queen Mining Company, of which I am president, has over 135 acres of rich mineral ground in one of the most prosperous mining districts of the world. We have already expended thousands of dollars in developing this property and we have struck ore that is very rich. We need a mill to extract the precious metal from this ore. We need a little help in building this mill. Are you willing to subscribe a portion of the amount necessary to do it? In numbers there is strength, and even though your subscription be a very small one, we are willing to give you a part ownership in this great enterprise, in return for it. We are willing to take you in on an equal basis with us and give you the benefit of all your savings may earn for you. The men behind this proposition are all successful business men. They are in this business to make it pay and for every dollar they earn for themselves they will earn one for you. REMEMBER: THIS IS NOT A PROSPECT—IT IS A MINE WITH ORE IN IT. But a small amount of money is necessary to build our mill. We have decided to offer only a very limited number of shares at the present price, and as soon as this amount is secured the price will be advanced to a much greater figure. NOW IS THE TIME FOR YOU TO ACT. YOU ARE GETTING IN WITH THE ORGANIZERS OF THE COMPANY AT GROUND FLOOR PRICES. YOU ARE COMING INTO A BONA FIDE PARTNERSHIP WITH US AND WITH NO PARTNERSHIP RESPONSIBILITIES. Read what Mr. Van Wagenen, one of the foremost mining engineers of the country has to say: "I would advise the immediate erection of a ten-stamp mill with cyanide equipment, to treat your gold ores, and a separate concentrating plant to handle your copper pyrites, thus reducing the shipping weight 6 to 1, and eventually put in a smelter in connection with the mill, with a ten-stamp mill on your property and a daily production of 50 tons of ore. I CAN PROMISE YOU A NET EARNING OF $500.00 PER DAY or $180,500 per year and that can be increased to ten times as much as soon as tunnels A and B are finished, and added milling equipment is installed. The economical method is the best. Start with a ten-stamp mill and let your stockholders be content with 10 per cent per annum until you have increased your milling facilities, and install your smelting plant to treat your concentrates. THEN YOU CAN PAY THEM 400 TO 500 PER CENT DIVIDENDS PER YEAR FOR THE NEXT TEN YEARS ON THE PRESENT VALUATION OF YOUR STOCK, 5 CENTS PER SHARE, and this out of the new discovered vein alone." Now if you want to get in with us on this proposition you must act quickly, for the present allotment of shares will not last long. The man who buys now will get his shares at the very rock bottom price. The one who waits until later will without a doubt pay many times what it is being offered for now. Arrangements may be made to pay for your subscription on the easy payment plan. Write at once for full information and detailed literature explaining all about it. Write today. Do not wait another minute or you may be too late.

Montreal Making a Desperate Struggle

Montreal, Feb. 28.—Without a division and with but few words, the City Council Saturday afternoon concurred in the findings of the controllers, and accordingly decided to use every means in its power to protest against obnoxious clauses in the tramways bill at present before the Legislature. Every endeavor will be made to have the autonomy of the city safeguarded in the matter, and to this end a delegation, composed of the Mayor, the aldermen, the controllers, as well as of representatives of the Chambre de Commerce, the Real Estate Association, the Trades and Industrial Association, the Central Trades and Labor Council, and of all other kindred associations, willing to participate in the opposition to the tramways bill, was called upon to be present before the railway commission of the Lower House when the question comes up.

BUILDING CRUISERS FOR S. AMERICA

The Germans are sending their newest, largest and swiftest cruiser, the Van der Tann, to South American ports. It is to serve as an example of what Germany is capable of in naval construction and as a hint that what she can do for herself she can do as well for another country. The dispatch of a single cruiser across the Atlantic is not impressive when compared with the cruise of sixteen battle ships of the United States around the world. In fact, one of the chief governments which Germany aims to influence—namely, Argentina—has already succumbed to the stronger American argument. A private yard in the East is now constructing for her a pair of battle ships equal to anything that is building for the United States government itself.

The question has come up, however, as to whether this important order was not secured by improper means. The charge is made that the American State Department, through the American minister at Buenos Ayres, influenced the negotiations between the Argentine officials and the New England contractors by the guarantee of up-to-date ships through the use of secret devices in equipment, which are employed in the construction of vessels for their own navy. It is conceivable—and is so conceived by Senator La Follette—that too high a price may have been paid for the chance to build for South America.

Still, more may be made of the matter than circumstances justify. The president of the company that is constructing the two battleships was until recent years, the chief constructor of the United States Navy Department. It might be presumed that he knows most of what there is to know without much aid in the way of official prompting. However, the resolution from the U. S. Senate directing the Secretary of State to send to the Senate any communications between officials of his department and representatives of the Argentine government relative to the matter, ought to help clear the situation from doubt.

Move to Put Coal on the Free List

Washington, D.C., Feb. 28.—In the Senate this morning, Senator Clarence D. Watson, of West Virginia, introduced an amendment to the reciprocity bill proposing to put coal on the free list.

This move on Senator Watson's part has caused considerable comment, as he is perhaps the one man in the United States who could be expected to put up the strongest opposition to the placing of coal on the free list. He is said to be the biggest owner of coal mines in the country. This is his first motion before the Senate, in which he took his seat only a few weeks ago. His motive apparently is to cause still more discussion and so subject the bill to even more delay.

BILL INTRODUCED FOR 8-HOUR-DAY

ALLAN STUDHOLME HAS PREPARED AN EMPHATIC MEASURE FOR WORKINGMEN.

Few Exceptions Possible—Can't Work Overtime Except in Cases of Extraordinary Emergencies.

An eight-hour day and a minimum wage of twenty cents an hour are the chief provisions of a bill which Allan Studholme, M.P.P., labor member, has prepared for introduction into the legislature. In all social and economic questions Mr. Studholme takes an advanced position, and the present bill is no exception to that rule. The clause in relation to the eight-hour day is a particularly emphatic one. It would not only make an eight-hour day a legal working day, but would prohibit employers from requiring or permitting their workmen to work more than eight hours, except in cases of extraordinary emergency.

The clause reads: "Eight hours a day shall constitute a legal day's work for all workmen employed within the meaning of this Act, and no workmen shall be required or permitted to work more than eight hours in any one calendar day, except in cases of extraordinary emergency caused by fire, flood, or danger to life and property.

Another clause declares that a man working more than 48 hours a week shall be deemed to be working overtime and shall be paid at least one and a half times the rate per hour at which he is engaged.

20c AN HOUR MINIMUM.

"Notwithstanding any agreement or understanding to the contrary, made by a working man with his employer," says another clause, "no workman shall be employed and paid at less than twenty cents per hour, irrespective of any amount earned at overtime."

No male under eighteen, or female under twenty-one should, according to Mr. Studholme, be allowed to work overtime. A saving clause is placed in the bill to except agricultural labor and cases where all the persons employed are members of the employer's family. Other clauses would make the measure apply especially to any contracts made by the Government, and would void such contracts if the provisions of the Act were not carried out.—Toronto News.

JAPAN'S CAVALRY TESTS ENDURANCE

Eleventh Regiment, Stationed in Manchuria, Makes a Very Remarkable Record.

Tokio, February 28.—The Eleventh regiment of Japanese cavalry, stationed in Manchuria, has been undergoing an endurance test which Japanese newspapers describe as unique. The test took the form of a long distance ride from Lairen to Kungchuling, a distance of five hundred miles.

According to one Japanese authority, the only previous cavalry feat at all comparable with this was the ride of Austrian troopers between Vienna and Berlin; but in the latter case not only was the distance shorter, but the climatic conditions rendered the test infinitely milder than that to which the Japanese horsemen have just been subjected.

Fifteen men were chosen and divided into three detachments of five each commanded by lieutenants. The detachments set out on three successive days from Fushimi Park, Dairen, carrying with them an ample supply of ammunition for fear of attack from mounted bandits.

According to Japanese reports, this precaution was justified, for one of the detachments was ambushed by desperadoes near the Shaho River, but after a brisk exchange of fire succeeded in putting the enemy to flight. The same detachment on the second day out strayed into a swampy ground near Kaiping, and spent four hours in covering two miles. On the third day the second detachment overtook the first, and together they indulged in a rest of seven hours, for they had slept, on an average, only one hour a day during the first three days, and were on the point of breaking down. On the fourth day the two detachments crossed the Hun River and rode into Mukden amid loud shouts of "Banzai" from their compatriots.

Exclusive of the time devoted to rest, the winning detachment spent five days, four hours and forty-five minutes in reaching Kungchuling, and the slowest six days, one hour and thirty-five minutes.

A Great Railway System.

Hardly a town, village or city in Ontario, that does not receive daily benefit from the operation of the Grand Trunk Railway System, and considering the net work of Branch line connections, it is wonderful with what regularity trains are run. Not only is a good service provided between points in Ontario, but this line also reaches nearly all the important cities of Michigan, viz: Detroit, Flint, Saginaw, Bay City, Lansing, Battle Creek, Jackson, Grand Rapids and Muskegon, South Bend, Ind., and the second city in America, viz: Chicago, Ill., the gateway to the North-west, West and South, bringing Ontario in close connection. On the East, the Grand Trunk connects Ontario with Montreal, Quebec, the Maritime Provinces and Boston, Mass.

A new wagon road has been constructed, partly by the Government and partly by the merchants of Edson, Alta., through to the Grande Prairie country, a distance of 165 miles from Edson, which is all practically completed and is reported to be remarkably level, with no heavy hills, and over which heavy loads may be drawn with ease. Road houses have also been established along this wagon road and settlers will be able to travel in comparative ease and at slight expense from Edson on the Grand Trunk Pacific this year in the course of a week where the former routes via Edmonton and Lesser Slave Lake occupied several months and very great cost. The whole distance to be traversed being over four times as long as the new route.

Miss Lillian Hugill, of Norwood, is the guest of Mrs. Benjamin Shortly, 540 Aylmer street.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Cressman, who have been spending a few weeks in Florida, are expected home on Saturday.

Stewart Fraser, of the Bank of Toronto, leaves on the first of March to spend a month at his home in Lakefield, previous to accepting a position with the Bank in British Columbia.

It is with sincere regret that we are obliged to announce the serious illness of Mr. John Garbutt, of Smith, who is a guest at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Manson Comstock, Sherbrooke street. Mr. Garbutt, who for many years had been a sufferer from rheumatism, was taken ill with a violent headache. This continued for some time, notwithstanding the efforts of his physicians. Finally, it left the head and appeared to affect the Kidneys, where the disease is now seated. There is little hope held out for his recovery.

OBITUARY

THE LATE MRS. ALEXANDER.

On Monday evening last there passed away in this city probably the oldest resident in the person of Isabella Alexander, relict of the late Pennington Alexander. The deceased lady was born in Scotland in 1816, and came to this country in 1834 with her family. In those days the trip across the ocean occupied several months. Reaching Cobourg, the family travelled by ox teams to Peterborough.

During her long life, Mrs. Alexander was an active member of the Presbyterian Church, and took a leading part in Church work. She retained her mental powers up to the last.

The survivors are, one brother, James Petrie, who is 91 years of age, two sons, John of Lethbridge, and Pennington, of the firm of Alexander & Miller, Peterborough, and five daughters, Mrs. J. Young, Bridgenorth; Mrs. Argue, Yarm, Ont.; Mrs. Walter Evans, Peterborough; Mrs. Winch, Laredo, Texas, and Mrs. J. Hopkins, Monaghan.

The funeral will take place this afternoon at two o'clock from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. W. Evans, 304 Boswell Avenue, to Little Lake cemetery for interment. Rev. H. J. Keith will officiate at the house and at the grave.

SO DECLARES EDITOR OF GLOBE IN A SPEECH IN CALIFORNIA.

No War Between the Two—Frontiers Should Not Be Lines of Suspicion and Hate, Says Jordan.

Riverside, Cal., Feb. 28.—"Canada will never be annexed to the United States," said Dr. Jas. A. Macdonald, of Toronto, at the World's Peace Foundation yesterday. "Neither will Canada and the United States ever oppose each other in war. The peace that has lasted between our two nations for a century past will last through all the centuries to come."

The conference was attended by several persons of international reputation, including Dr. David Starr Jordan, who presided; Chas. W. Fairbanks, former vice-president of the United States; John Burroughs the naturalist; Bishop Lawrence, of Massachusetts; George Wilder, of Everybody's Magazine; Geo. Thompson, owner of the St. Paul "Pioneers;" Dr. Robert J. Burdette, of Mississippi; Ida Tarbell, the magazine writer, and Albert K. and Daniel Smiley, the Lake Mohonk peace conference evangelists.

Dr. Jordan, as chief trustee of the world's peace foundation, in opening the session, said:

"International peace means mutual respect and mutual trust, a condition in which the boundary line between States is not a line of suspicion and hate. There is nothing of which the two great North American nations have a greater right to be proud than this boundary of trust and confidence."

A Food Expert

In making the world-famed food—

Grape-Nuts

Combined whole wheat and barley in such a way that it is partly digested before being eaten.

The diastase in the barley, in the presence of heat and moisture; changes the more or less indigestible starch part of the grain into an easily digested form of sugar—just as the organs of the body change it if they operate properly.

VOL XXXIV NO. 51 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, THURSDAY MARCH 2, 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

AN EXTRA SESSION IS INEVITABLE

NO VOTE IS EXPECTED ON RECIPROCITY PACT BY THIS CONGRESS.

Difference of Opinion—New York Herald Says Vote Is Scheduled for the Closing Hours of the Existing Session.

Washington, D.C., Mar. 1.—The validity of the seat of Wm. Lorimer, junior Senator from Illinois, will be affirmed; there is every likelihood of a vote upon the bill establishing a permanent tariff board at this session; there will be no vote, it is believed, on the United States-Canadian reciprocity pact at this session and an extraordinary session of congress is inevitable.

This was the way the Senatorial legislative program shaped up to-day as a result of a compromise between the Lorimer filibusters and the friends of Mr. Lorimer in the Senate. There will be a vote on the Lorimer case at 1.30 o'clock this afternoon to be followed by consideration of the tariff board bill as unfinished business.

When the Senate convened this morning, with only three and one-half more legislative days in which to finish up the session's business, which includes among other things, eleven important appropriation bills, it was not believed that the vote on reciprocity would be possible during this session. However, some who believe in miracles, said it was within the range of possibilities.

PERMANENT TARIFF BOARD.

The bill to create a permanent board is now the unfinished business without a time set for a vote, but with a "gentlemen's agreement." It was recorded that a vote shall be had upon it before adjournment.

No reference is made in the agreement to the reciprocity treaty, which is to be permitted to go over to the extra session, if there is one, although extra session, if there is one, a few senators believe the situation now develops some hope that matter may be chopped off.

After a day of constant search for a basis of agreement, amid a scene of extraordinary intensity of interest and evident mutual suspension, the pro-Lorimer Senators (most of them opposed to the Tariff Board), and the pro-Tariff Board Senators (most of them opposed to Lorimer), "got together" in a modus vivendi which cleared the situation and obviated the impending danger of another protracted night session.

The Tariff Board proposition is at least a materially important position. A vote of 53 to 21, by which it was made, the unfinished business, would indicate that should it come to a vote the bill would be passed by a substantial majority. Some say it will receive the entire Republican vote.

ORGANIZING A REVOLUTION.

St. Petersburg, March 1.—To-day's Retcha says that revolution against the Manchu dynasty in China, fraught with the greater danger to foreigners, is being organized in Pekin.

DECLARES THE TAX A HOLD-UP

PRESIDENT HAZZARD OF HOTELMEN'S ASSOCIATION SAYS IT IS FAR FROM FAIR.

May See the Government—Executive May Protest to the Lawmakers Against Proposed Measure.

Toronto, Mar. 1.—William Hazzard, proprietor of the Hazzard Hotel, on Teraulay street, opposite the City Hall, and also president of the Toronto Hotelmen's Association, does not appear to be favorably impressed with the new proposed act which is being ground through the local legislation mills in Queen's Park, and which the Provincial Secretary states is to equalize the license rates paid by large and small hotelmen, according to the receipts taken in over their bars.

"It is a hold up," was the brief, but expressive manner in which Mr. Hazzard described the proposed legislation.

"It is far from fair. They come into our places and ask for our largest, our smallest, and our daily average bar receipts. They were freely given them, but they did not go further, and ask for an estimate of our expenses during the same period. How is the Government to know how much help and other expenses we are up against?

"Well, they say there will be $40 exempt from the proposed five per cent. taxation in addition to the regular flat rate of $1,600. I will just tell you right here there are a good many of the smaller hotels in this city that do not take in much more than that amount."

"Will there be any move on the part of the local hotelmen to place your side of the question before the Government?" the president was asked.

"So far we have not decided on any move. It is altogether likely, however, that our executive will be asked to go to the Government and speak against such an unfair arrangement."

Women Heavy Drinkers

American Women Equal English in Drinking.

New York, March 2.—American women drink as much as, if not more than English women, according to Dr. John D. Quackenbos, who has made a study of the question. Unlike Dr. Murray Leslie, a London physician, who asserts that there is far more secret drinking among women than is generally known, Dr Quackenbos says that in America women make no effort to conceal their drinking, but proclaim their overfondness for high balls, cocktails and champagne by indulging to excess in public cafes, restaurants and the big hotels. Smoking, too, he says, is a vice coupled with the drink habit that is working havoc among women as well as girls.

Dr. Quackenbos is preparing a paper to be read in Baltimore before the Society for the Study of Alcoholic Beverages and Narcotic Drugs.

"The women of the middle classes in America drink beer, but not to excess, as a rule," he said. "It is a custom to have beer with dinners, and if the stuff was pure the harm would be less than what it is.

"But tobacco is doing just as much harm as alcohol, for the two go together, and I know that too much tobacco leads to too much alcohol.

"American women in doing anything good or bad generally go to extremes and my experience in New York shows it is very difficult to control the drink habit among them because of their unwillingness to make any social sacrifices.

"For instance, they keep going to social functions where punch and other alcoholic drinks are served, and they give wine dinners themselves. They play with fire and tempt providence continually. And the most unfortunate thing about it is that the habit is developing among young girls and debutantes at their luncheons and dinners, coupled with smoking cigarettes and playing games of chance for money."

Government Will Tax Bar Receipts in Excess of $40 Per Day

GOVERNMENT ADOPTS NEW PLAN OF INCREASING THE LICENSE FEE ON HOTELS OF THE PROVINCE.

New Regulations of Great Importance Introduced in the Legislature by Hon. W. J. Hanna—Chemists If Found Guilty of Selling Liquor Will be Deprived of their License to Practice.

Toronto, March 1.—Two of the most important bills in connection with the liquor situation in the Province of Ontario which have been introduced in the Legislature for many years were given their first reading yesterday, after an explanation by the Hon. W. J. Hanna, Provincial Secretary. The first bill is one to amend the Liquor License Act, and the second to regulate the sale of liquor by chemists. The principal proposal in the former bill is a stipulation that every bar in the province must pay to the Provincial Secretary's Department five per cent. of all bar receipts over and above $40 per day. The second Act, with respect to chemists, provides that when a chemist is convicted of keeping liquor on his premises for sale, and charged with a second offence, he shall be handed over to the Ontario College of Pharmacy, which shall cancel his license to practice as a chemist.

In introducing the bills the Hon. Mr. Hanna stated that the Government had departed somewhat from the present principles applied to the imposing a license. The plan, he said, was that the Government proposed to leave intact the clauses of the License Act under which licenses had been issued for the last three or four years, but it was proposed to impose a license fee in addition, over and above the regular license fee, of five per cent. on the sales in excess of $40 per day. This amount is to be paid during the first ten days following the month, and sent to the department at Toronto. The extra tax would be imposed on the bar receipts from whatever source. It will not include cigar stands outside the bar, and will not interfere with the other part of the house receipts, but when the actual bar receipts exceed $40 per day the Government would take five per cent. "It is thought that the house that is doing a trade in excess of $40 per day in the bar can afford to pay five per cent. in addition to the regular license," said Mr. Hanna.

A MONTHLY RETURN.

Continuing, Hr. Hanna stated that the proprietors of hotels would be compelled to make a monthly return. In most cases a cash register was on every bar, and it would entail no extra book-keeping to keep track of the amount taken in each day. It was proposed, however, that a proper account should be kept. The Government would have access to whatever extent necessary in order to disclose the business done by the proprietor of any hotel. It was proposed in short, to do what any Inland Revenue Act would give them power to do, although the bill was not a revenue Act.

"Since the value of license is increased every time there is a reduction in the number of licenses," said the Provincial Secretary, "additional value is created for the remaining licenses in every municipality, and there is no reason in the world why the Province of Ontario should not get considerable of the unearned increment, which is the result of the protection of the public, instead of it going to the landlord."

MAKE PROPER RETURNS.

"It will be found on reading the clause of the bill," he continued, "that it will be very much in the interests of those whose duty it will be to make returns, to make proper returns."

Another important amendment to the existing law is a clause extending the right of the Minister's veto taken with regard to unorganized districts some years ago. Under this provision the Minister has the power to veto any license granted in unorganized territory. The new clause gives the Minister the right to veto any license in any part of the province. "We have extended this power for reasons," said Mr. Hanna. "It is naturally more or less irksome at present, as complaints have come in from unorganized districts that, if the veto power was used there, it should be extended to all parts of the province.

HIS PAPER OPPOSED TO HIS COURSE

WINNIPEG FREE PRESS, OWNED BY HON. CLIFFORD SIFTON, SAYS OPPOSITION IS PLANNED.

Blames the Toronto News and Telegram and the Leaders of the Conservative Party.

Winnipeg, March 1.—The Free Press, owned by Hon. Clifford Sifton, says editorially to-day:

"This is a free country, and every citizen has a right to make himself heard when a departure, such as is involved in the acceptance of the reciprocity agreement, is proposed. Nevertheless there are grounds for wondering whether some of the principal objectors have calculated all the possible consequences of their line of action.

"Without doubt there is a very considerable volume of independent and disinterested opposition to the agreement. A blind man can see that the agitation, to a large degree, is not spontaneous. It is being planned, nursed, stage-managed, financed, and advertised. Who are the men on the job? First, of course, the leaders of the Conservative party who, living up to the full opportunities of their positions, are opposing the Government with all resources at their command. The Toronto machinery of the party is adept at forming "raging and tearing" propaganda. Kindly recall Dundonald, the school question, and the naval controversy. Each of these agitations started off at a terrific clip with the News and the Telegram pounding on the big war drums, and working up the marching hosts to a frenzy. Then mostly petered out, it will be recalled, and nobody was a bit worse for all the terrific cursing in which Bren Willison et al indulged.

"If the Toronto Conservatives think this the time and opportunity for another spasm, let them have it. Possibly they need one about so often to relieve the pressure.

"But it is quite clear that party zeal is being powerfully supplemented. Behind this agitation, which starting in Toronto, is involving the industrial and commercial centre of Ontario, and is acting and reacting all over Canada, are other and more effective powers. Beyond doubt organized and powerful business interests have thrown the full weight of their enormous influence into the fray to prevent if possible the ratification of the agreement. The interests are not difficult to identify. They are chiefly the manufacturers of Ontario. Scratch a manufacturer and you find almost invariably an inveterate foe of reciprocity."

AIDING THEM TO CANADA.

London, Mar. 1.—Norton Griffiths, M.P., has given a further thousand pounds towards the emigrating of distressed families to Canada.

Arabs are Routed by Turkish Troops

Tribesmen Who Revolted in Yemen and Besieged Two Cities Are Defeated by Colonel Riza Bey.

Washington, March 2.—Cable advices to the Turkish Embassy from Constantinople to-day, announced the subjugation of the Arab tribes in the province of Yemen, who, under the leadership of Sheik Yahya and Iben Edriss, took up arms against the government and succeeded in interrupting communication between the port of Hodeida and the cities of Sena and Menaha, the two latter cities being beseiged.

Imperial troops have arrived at Hodeida, and under command of Colonel Riza Bey defeated the insurgent forces, joined the forces at Sena and Menaha and re-established communication throughout the country.

WEDDING BELLS.

On Tuesday last the home of Mr. John Patton, Monaghan, was the scene of a very pretty event, when his youngest daughter, Miss Margaret Isabel, was united in marriage to Mr. Wm Andrews, oldest son of Wm. Andrews, Esq., of the same township. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. Mr. Pogue, of St. Paul's Church, in the presence of a number of friends of the contracting parties. The ceremony took place under a beautiful arch, the room being handsomely decorated for the occasion. The bride was given away by her father.

The bride was dressed in cream silk, and the bridesmaid in pink silk, while the bride's travelling suit was of blue broadcloth. The bride was assisted by Miss May Lamb of Lindsay, a cousin of the bride, while Mr. Norman Patton, brother of the bride acted as best man. The Mendelssohn wedding march was played by Miss Loretto McClelland, of Toronto, a niece of the bride.

The groom's present to the bride was a sunburst of pearls and one also to the bridesmaid and pianist, while ta the groomsman he gave a tie pin.

The wedding dinner was served at four o'clock, after which Mr. and Mrs. Andrews left on the 5.30 G.T.R. train for Toronto and other points

SPAIN TO BREAK WITH THE VATICAN

Madrid, Feb. 28.—The political situation is rapidly approaching a most critical stage, and it looks as though there would shortly be a complete rupture of the relations between the Government and the Vatican. The King will preside to-morrow at a Council of the Minister, at which the question of the religious orders and other matter affecting the church will be taken up and momentous results are anticipated. The keenest interest in the outcome is being displayed by all the parties and the opponents of the Government hope the Ministry is riding for a fall.

The Vatican maintains its attitude of refusing to consent that any legislation providing for the expulsion of the religious orders from Spain, or dealing with other cardinal matters affecting the church, shall be discussed by the Cortes without its first having been carefully considered and passed upon by the church authorities.

Senor Castillo, Minister of the Interior, in discussing the situation, declared that the Vatican is desirous of breaking off relations with Spain, but prefers to attain this end by playing the role of a victim. He added: "We cannot share our sovereignty with Rome."

It is feared that the Cabinet will be left in the crisis without the support of the Extremist parties, which it has been making efforts to secure in its with the church. Many believe that if a rupture with the Vatican occurs it will be followed by the enforced retirement of the Canalejas Cabinet.

An Immense Legacy

Presbyterian Church Gets Legacy of Large Amount.

New York, March 2.—Gilt-edged securities of the Northern Pacific, Union Pacific and other railroads, together with $500,000 in gold, the total legacy of approximately $2,300,000 given to the board of foreign missions of the Presbyterian church by the late John S. Kennedy, banker and railroad builder, who died on Oct. 31, 1909, was received by the finance committee of the board of foreign missions to-day. When Mr. Kennedy died he left an estate estimated at $60,000,000, which was divided into sixty-four equal parts. His widow received sixteen sixty-fourths. One-half was given to charity.

SUIT FOR $30,000.

Action Against New York Central For This Amount.

New York, March 2.—Mrs. Cora Heeren of Indianapolis, was a witness to-day in the Brooklyn Supreme Court in a suit for $30,000 against the New York Central Railroad for damages caused by her arrest on a train on May 9, 1908, when, she alleges, she and her mother were torn from her berth by detectives who were seeking Mrs. Belle Guinness and subjected to both mental and physical indignities. Several days will probably be taken up in the hearing of the testimony on both sides.

Aylesworth Resigns His Seat in North York

Toronto, Mar. 1.—The report that Hon. A. B. Aylesworth had announced his intention of retiring from North York and from politics at the end of the present Parliament was confirmed this morning by his son, Mr. Featherstone Aylesworth. "He asked that a committee be appointed to choose a new candidate, and a convention will be held to nominate my father's successor, between the first and fifteenth of June," said Mr. Aylesworth.

North York is looking to Mr. Robinette to be their candidate with the idea that he may secure a Cabinet position before the elections, as they have been represented by a Minister since 1896.

Human Corpses Are Used as Targets

Berlin, Mar. 1.—The Socialists to-day attacked the Government in the Reichstag, alleging it had caused soldiers at the Spandau ranges to fire at human corpses for the purpose of accustoming them to aim at human beings. The Government admitted the fact, but denied the purpose. The experiments, it was declared, were made long ago on bodies destined for dissection at the hospitals to test the results of rifle fire. They were necessary in the interests of humanity to enable surgeons to study wounds. The bodies in every case were covered. The soldiers saw only the coverings.

The speakers of all parties except the Socialists approved the Governments' action.

Britain May Construct Forty Dreadnaughts

London, March 1.—Alarmed by the naval activity of Germany and other powers and the agitation among other powers for greater marine armaments, British Imperialists are formulating the most imposing program for battleship construction introduced in Parliament in a decade.

Despite the grave constitutional crisis and momentous national questions before Parliament the Imperialists are fully prepared to push vigorously their measures for the construction of perhaps forty Dreadnoughts within the next six years. The exponents for the greater sea power want to give England supremacy even at the expense of $50,000,000.

Leaders in the ranks of the Imperialists ask for the letting of six contracts within the next year, pointing out that both Austria and Russia are enlarging their navies, while in the far East Japan is building more battleships and China is negotiating contracts.

"Give us forty Dreadnoughts in the next six years," has become the slogan of the English Navy League.

Rear-Admiral Sir Sydney Eardley-Wilmot, one of the ablest officers in English naval circles, is strenuously working in behalf of the vast program, speaking and writing in favor of more Dreadnoughts.

"England must retain her naval prestige to retain her position," declares Sir Sydney. "The other great world powers are increasing their navies steadily. We must give way unless we undertake this program as gigantic as it seems."

King George is said to favor the policy of navy augmentations.

Just One Woman in Thousands

WHO CAN SAY "DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS MADE ME WELL!"

Mrs. Louis Delorme Who Was Always Tired and Nervous and Suffered From Backache, Tells How She Found a Cure.

St. Rose du Lac, Man., March 1—(Special)—The story of Mrs. Louis Delorme, a well known and highly respected resident of this place, is identical with that of thousands of other women in Canada. It is all the more interesting on that account. She was tired, nervous and worn out. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured her.

"I suffered for five years from Backache and too frequent urination, which destroyed my sleep," Mrs. Delorme states. "My head would ache and I was always tired and nervous. My limbs were heavy, and I had a dragging sensation across the loins. Dodd's Kidney Pills made me well. I used in all ten boxes, but they fixed me up."

Thousands of other Canadian women who have not used Dodd's Kidney Pills are in just the condition Mrs. Delorme was in before she used them. Thousands of others who were in that condition and who used Dodd's Kidney Pills, are now well and strong.

We learn from the experiences of others, and those experiences teach us that the weary and worn women of Canada can find relief in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

When a child is in danger a woman will risk her life to protect it. No great act of heroism or risk of life is necessary to protect a child from croup. Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and all danger is avoided. For sale by all dealers.

Was Lightest Sentence Ever Given for Murder

Boston, Mass., Mar. 1.—For killing his chum, James H. Lawson, a Tennessean, James F. Farrall, a former resident of Toronto, was sentenced to the State Prison at Charleston for two and a half years.

The testimony of Mrs. Lawson, the wife of the murdered man, who said she thought Farrall a fine man, and that he was justified in killing her husband, and that of the aged mother of Farrall, who lives in O'Hara avenue, Toronto, helped to make the sentence the lightest ever given for a crime of the sort.

The prisoner was just married last Saturday. His bride will remain by him and comfort him until he is released, when he will undoubtedly return to Canada.

The crime was committed in a south end Boston lodging house on July 19, 1910. Farrall had been in Boston but a few months. He was a lodger in the house of the murdered man.

A dispute arose in which a number of women present took part, and ended with the killing of Lawson. Farrall fired twice at Lawson after he had been knocked down.

CORONATION WILL BE VERY GORGEOUS

London, February 28.—Everything points to the coronation ceremony being a gorgeous spectacle, in some ways more so than the last occasion. It seems possible, for instance, that peers who are Knights of St. Patrick or of the Thistle will wear robes of the order to which they belong instead of the usual coronation robe, and this should give a greater wealth of variety and color.

At the coronation of the late King only the Knights of the Garter and peers taking part in the procession wore the robes of their orders. Besides making for picturesqueness, the new departure would be a compliment to Ireland and Scotland by placing the members of the orders of St. Patrick and the Thistle on the same footing as the Knights of the Garter.

After several assertions and denials there is now official authority for the announcement that the King and Queen will visit Ireland in the season. Their majesties' visit will lend a stimulus to the Dublin season, which it at present badly needs, and will thereby conduce to the prosperity of the country, among every section of the population. Furthermore, there is every reason to expect that if the visit proves the success that is anticipated it will be repeated and will tend to become, when their majesties' arrangements allow, a regular institution in future years.

Dublin appears to be in a whirl of excitement over the promised royal visit, and the brilliance of the functions during their majesties' stay in the Irish capital will be some compensation for the dullness of most "seasons" in Ireland. Dublin will be full to overflowing during the royal visit.

THE LORDS' POSITION.

The position of the Lords is stronger than might appear on its face, for the coalition majority in the House of Commons is equal to that in the last Parliament But popular vote for the Liberal party fell off greatly in the recent election and it is the contention of the Conservatives that another contest would swamp the Liberal party entirely." Whether true or not, that is at least some warrant for refusing to accept the bill sent up by the Commons.

It is the fact, further, that the majority in the House of Commons is not an English majority, but one made up of elements from all three kingdoms and, testing it by the English vote, which is much the larger part of the electorate, the Conservatives have rather the better of the situation.

Yet it cannot be denied that Ireland and Wales and Scotland are as much a part of the United Kingdom as England itself, though not so large a part, and if the Irish vote sees fit to unite with the Liberals for the sake of making a majority, and of dishing the Lords, in return for an express promise of home rule, with an independent Irish Parliament, and an executive responsible solely to that Parliament, no one is going to blame the Irish contingent for fighting under the Asquith banner.

THE FALL OF THE BRIAND MINISTRY.

France is still the country of political surprises; it is still the unexpected which happens there. Briand, "the strong man," the "man of the hour," the advocate of great and sound political reforms, has been compelled to resign. Last week his majority in the chamber all but disappeared on a question with which he has been peculiarly identified. The loss of the support of two "bloc" groups rendered his position untenable.

What irony of fate there is in the situation! Not many months ago the moderates and conservatives feared that Briand was too radical; they were not sure they could trust a socialist and a former agitator and advocate of the general strike as a means of economic and political reform. Now Briand is driven from power by socialists and radical socialists, so-called, because of his "clericalism" and "conservatism." The formal charge against him is that he lacked vigor in enforcing the law against the monastic orders. It is probable that the charge was insincere. At any rate, Briand's defence was manly and creditable. "It cannot be expected," he told the chamber, "that the great institutions which during centuries have thrown their roots deep into our soil will disappear merely because a new law exists." The separation of church and state being an accomplished fact, Briand did not consider it necessary to persecute the disestablished church. The intrigues and conspiracies against him brought him much moral support from moderate Frenchmen, but he could not govern without the old "bloc."

He has deserved well of the republic. He weathered several storms and crises; he defied the revolutionary elements and brought a disastrous railroad strike to a sudden collapse. He proposed and backed several vital reforms. It is a criticism upon French parliamentary life that he retires a weary, disappointed man. His successor will make a grave blunder if he shall attempt to rule the conservatives with an iron hand and display excessive zeal in his "anti-clerical" measures. Briand, like Clemenceau, has represented sane radicalism and reasonable progressive statesmanship. To attempt more is to court failure and reaction.

POWER FOR CORONERS.

Power similar to that enjoyed by a High Court judge in summoning witnesses is conferred on coroners by the revised statute respecting coroners which Hon. J. J. Foy has before the House. This defect in the old act was prominently revealed during the Kinrade inquest at Hamilton, when the coroner was unable to summon as witnesses members of the Kinrade family who at the time were in Toronto. The bill, which has just been distributed among the members, provides that coroners have the power to summon witnesses from any part of the province and compel their attendance.

CHEESE IS VINDICATED.

The value of cheese as a food is perpetually challenged but chiefly by those who contend that it is not digestible. With a view to determining that point the U. S. government has conducted a series of experiments and it will gratify the heart of the cheese-maker and of the farmer who sells milk to the creamery, to be told after careful study of the whole question that cheese is quite as digestible as any other staple food and much more so than many that are popular on that account.

It is probably a surprise to find as the result of digestion experiments that age of cheese has practically nothing to do with its food value or ease of digestion. Whether it be one day or half a year is of little moment, so that the cream curd is kept as any food should be under sanitary conditions. In these experiments cheese was used more as a food than as an appetizer, or digestor, for it is among the curiosities of food that many take a little cheese for digestion, while many also insist that cheese itself is not digestible.

Experiments on the same subject have been carried on in Minnesota, the test being broadened out there to include cold storage cheese, even that which had been kept a year and a half in the cooler, and very favorable reports come from that, also from the value of skim milk cheese which can be made up so as to be agreeable to taste and yet sold cheaply.

It is recited that many people eat cheese as an article of diet. The subject is of interest and of importance in this part of the world because New York is the foremost cheese making State in the Union and Southern tier counties are notably favorable for dairy farming.

A New Reform Scheme for Lords

London, Mar. 1.—A section of the Unionist party has been agitating to induce their leaders to adopt the purely elective principle in reforming the House of Lords. The leaders, however, insisted that membership in the House must be partly hereditary, and have imposed their views upon objectors. A meeting of the party held to-day unanimously resolved to accept the outlines of a reform scheme privately communicated to those attending by a party whip. This scheme is known to contain a provision for a considerable representation of the hereditary peerage, although a majority of the members of the House will be elected on a Democratic System.

This scheme will be embodied in Lord Lansdowne's forthcoming bill.

ASSETS OF THE COMPANY

$10,000,000 of stock still in the Treasury.

$10,000,000 pooled for 9 and 18 months.

500 acres of land; value, $3,000 per acre.

A subsidy obtained from the Municipality of North Vancouver of 5 per cent. for 15 years on $200,000, and freedom from taxation of our plant and 30 acres of land for 10 years.

A subsidy obtained from the Dominion of Canada, 3½ per cent. for 25 years on $1,214,000, for the purpose of building a dry dock of 15,000 tons at Roslyn, the Company's townsite.

A very valuable brick clay deposit has been discovered on the Company's property. This will be developed to its fullest capacity, as brick clay is very rare here, Vancouver even importing from Seattle millions of brick annually.

NOTE.—A shareholder participates in every asset of the Company.

LIABILITIES OF THE COMPANY

Amount yet owing on land, extending over a period of four years, $446,000.

REMARKS

MORE LANDS

The Company proposes to purchase lands surrounding their townsite, and to this end are securing options on about 250 acres, with about 2,800 feet of deep waterfrontage adjoining that which they now own.

MINES

They have also secured an optian of purchase of a group of ten claims of very valuable iron deposits situated within twelve miles of their townsite. The Company believe, located as they are in a country which abounds with everything necessary to the smallest detail for turning out a perfect car, should go to nature's storehouse for their material, and with this end in view have secured the above group.

SHIPBUILDING

In addition to building the Imperial Sleeping Car, cars of every description will be contracted for, and just as soon as their dry dock is completed, the Company intend to use it to the greatest advantage in building ships of the largest tonnage. As there will be but three or four docks in the whole Dominion, they will encounter but very little competition in the building of the larger class of vessels.

SALE OF LANDS

The Company do not intend to sell any of its land until its dry dock, car works, sawmills and other industries are in operation, and in this way secure as nearly as possible all the profit derived from the establishment of these great works.

CLEARING OF LAND

The Municipality of North Vancouver have under consideration a proposition from the Company whereby the Company promise to clear their whole townsite on condition the Municipality will at once clear and grade all the streets, charging the cost of same to local improvement taxes. The Municipality view the Company's proposition with great favor. This plan would at least double the price of the Company's holdings.

PURCHASING STOCK

A small block of stock is now on the market and can be had on very easy terms of payment. This once sold, the Company will have no difficulty to borrow on their assets at from 4 to 5 per cent. any money they will require for improvement purchases, and in this case all stock will be withdrawn from the market.

Has Myers' Cave Been Discovered?

"Lost" Mine of Fabulous Wealth Refound.

Many Peterborough people are interested in Myers' Cave, as it is called. Some years ago a large amount of money was raised here, and was spent in a fruitless search for the alleged bonanza, which is supposed to be situated about half way between this city and Belleville. Luck appears to have fallen to the lot of two Napaneeans, in the past few months. Older citizens will recall the many stories afloat about Myer's cave in the extreme rear of the County of Lennox and Addington, and the great wealth it was supposed to contain. The story dates back about one hundred years ago, when Belleville was the trading place for furs from the Indians. Mr. Myers was a storekeeper in Belleville in those days and his son, visiting the Indians discovered a cave filled with solid metal in great quantities. Returning home, he died suddenly but a minister named Frank Van Tassell who was called took from him a description of the location of the cave. Several searches were made for it, but without success.

Last fall during the visit of "Ita" the mind reader, to Napanee, S. E. Scott went to her and asked her if he was going to be successful in his quest for a mine. She answered him "Yes." Inside of four weeks she said he would find the mine, which was only about three quarters of a mile from where he was hunting for it. Later, Mr. L. Scott accompanied by his cousin, M. W. Sills, left for Missanaga Lake, and while looking about Mr. Scott saw at his feet what resembled a piece of iron, and upon kicking it up found it to be an old time hatchet, such as was used one hundred years ago, bearing the letter "M." rudely cut into it. As Myers had said in his story he left his hatchet stuck in a spruce tree, they were sure that this was the spot. They located the owners of the property and from them secured a lease and options and at once incorporated a joint stock company, capitalized at $180,000.

Has Ordered Inquiry Into Alleged Combine

Ottawa, Feb. 28.—The Hon. Mackenzie King, Minister of Labor, has received from Mr. Justice L. J. Cannon, of the Superior Court, Quebec, an order directing the establishment of a board of investigation under the Combines Investigations Act to enquire into the existence of an alleged combine on the part of the United Shoe Machinery Company in respect of the manufacture and sale of machinery for the manufacture of boots and shoes. The application to Judge Cannon in this matter was made in the city of Quebec, November last.

Hon. Mr. King, on receipt of the Judge's order, has taken steps to establish a board of investigation as directed, and the parties concerned, namely, the applicants on the one hand, and the United Shoe Machinery Company on the other, have been requested to recommend persons for appointment to the board under the provisions of the Combine Act. The act allows seven days during which the recommendation may be received. This will be the first board to be actually established under the Act of last session.

Mr. Justice Cannon in his report states that a clear case has been made out against the company which practically controls all the boot and shoe machinery now in use in Canada and in the United States, and for the use of which the general public has to pay tolls.

EARL PERCY WAS TAKEN FOR HOBO

Ottawa, Feb. 28.—Half dead with cold and after having been turned out at one point on the road as a hobo, the Earl of Percy, eldest son of the Duke of Northumberland, former under-Secretary of State for India, arrived in Ottawa last night after completing a trip from Montreal on foot, winning a wager, the amount of which has not been revealed. It is understood, however, that it was for a considerable sum. The trip was made unattended and along the track of the C.P.R.

Earl Percy was one of the ushers at the wedding of Lord Decies, held recently in New York. It is possible that the present "stunt" was prompted by a desire to emulate the fame gained by Hon. Robt. Beresford in connection with the same wedding, by his prize fight with Drexel.

The wager, it is understood was made last week. The conditions were that he should start from Montreal at any time, and complete the trio within three days, or to be in time for the Paardeburg dinner, which was held here last night at Government House. He started from Montreal before seven o'clock on Saturday morning with only a friend or two to see him off away. Stopping places had been arranged for at different places along the route where fresh shoes and supplies were left. The distance is 111¼ miles, exactly.

HE KEPT ON GOING.

On Sunday the weather was fine, and not too cold, but on Sunday night the temperature began to fall, and all day yesterday there was a cold wind blowing. The aristocrat, however, kept pluckily on his way.

It was at Plantagenet that he had his most disagreeable experience. It was amusing. He went to the place where his boots and supplies had been left.

"I'm the Earl Percy," he said, "and I want my boots."

"Quit your kidding," said the man in charge, and shut the door in his face. Nor could any persuasion compel him to open it again.

Earl Percy arrived here in time for the dinner, and sat down with the rest of the guests. He was the hero of the evening. To-day the Earl refused to be seen, but the wager and the result of it formed the whole topic of conversation at Rideau Hall this evening.

GREEK SOLDIERS SLAIN BY TURKS

Shot Down While Crossing Boundary, Though Bearing Passes From the Shah's Officers.

Madrid, March 2.—It is feared that the shooting down of Greek soldiers forced to go into Turkish territory in order to go from one blockhouse to another on account of the nature of the boundary line may lead to serious consequences.

The bad faith of the Turks is evident as Greek soldiers supplied with the necessary passes by Turkish officers have been shot.

The present situation is blamed on the declarations made by Shefket Pacha, who forced the Ottoman Chamber two months ago to vote a supplementary army credit, giving as his reasons that Turkey must fight Greece and Bulgaria this spring.

Incitement of this trouble and the frontier incidents of the last week are the direct result of Shefket Pacha's necessity to justify his demand for the credits.

If he is successful trouble is bound to follow, because the Greek government is determined not to permit the dishonorable murder of its soldiers.

Definite orders have been given to the Greek force in the territory involved. The troops there are considered to be sufficient to cope with the situation at the present time.

Reciprocity to the Fore

Winnipeg Not in Favor of Proposed Treaty.

Special to The Times.

Winnipeg, Man., March 1.—Reciprocity continues to hold the front of the stage as a matter for public discussion in Western Canada, the vast majority being opposed to the treaty, but business is not at all disturbed by the stream of talk which naturally flows from this source, and is opening up with a rush that is much helped by phenomenal winter weather—warm, clear and bright. Excepting last year, there has not been such warm spring-like weather in many years as the West has had during the latter part of this month. The street department of Winnipeg has had its hands full clearing gutters and streets for water to flow, and there are reports of geese flying over the city already—weeks in advance of the usual time.

BOILER SAILED IN AIR LIKE A BALLOON.

And Landed on An Apartment House Half a Square Away—No One Injured.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 28.—A steam-boiler, weighing 1,500 pounds, exploded in a laundry in Verona, a suburb, to-day, tore through the roof of the boiler house, and then sailed through the air like a dirigible balloon, landing on an apartment house half a square away, in which lived seven families. The huge cylinder tore through the building to the lower floor without injuring any of the occupants.

When the boiler let go, the workers in the laundry were thrown to the floor, but the only one injured was the engineer, who was scalded about the face and hands. The explosion was due to low water.

St. David's Day.

Yesterday the flags on the public buildings were flying in honor of St. David, the patron Saint of Wales.

Donation of $5.

The Children's Aid Society beg to acknowledge receipt of five dollars from the Presbyterian Sabbath school Lakefield.

At West Indies.

The Times is in receipt of papers from Jamaica, West Indies, sent us by Mr. R. J. Munro, who is on an extended trip south, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Irene.

Commencement Exercises.

The annual commencement exercises in connection with the Collegiate Institute will be held in the Assembly Hall to-morrow evening, at 8 o'clock. A good programme will be given and the public are cordially invited. No admission charged.

Customs Receipts.

The returns of the local customs house for the past month of February were $33,366.07, an increase of $3,210.44 over the same month of last year when the figures were $29,154.63.

Walking and Sleighing Bad.

The ice covered streets are full of danger to pedestrians as well as to horses. The walks are very slippery and many a good citizen suddenly finds himself down, without notice. Yesterday a horse and rig in attempting to turn the corner of Murray and George streets, slewed so much that the horse fell and broke a shaft.

A Dangerous Man.

John James, an Englishman, appeared at the Police Court yesterday charged with being insane. The prisoner asserted that his memory is a blank, and has been ever since he left Winnipeg some time ago. He called on Dr. Morgan and told him that he was afraid he might do some harm. Mr. Geo. H. Howson offered to place him with a farmer, a proposal that we think is hardly fair to the farmer.

Open To-morrow and Saturday.

The new Isolation Hospital has been completed, and will be open to the public to-morrow and Saturday, from nine until five o'clock. Ald. Duncan, chairman of the Property Committee, has intimated that he would like to have the citizens inspect the new building, which will not be possible after contagious diseases are admitted.

To Use Telephones.

Yesterday the C. P. R. began the operation of another section of telephone line for train despatching. This time it is a section between London and Toronto. Each train will be supplied with a collapsible pole, and telephone equipment, so that if necessary it can be connected with headquarters from any point along the line. The advantage will be, if a train gets stalled from any cause whatever, report can be sent in to the nearest station. The Toronto-Ottawa section will, we understand, be equipped soon.

A Libel on Mr. Dumble.

We received a letter for publication which was written in reply to an article and letter in The Review of Tuesday last, and which does not bear the signature of the writer, and therefore, cannot appear. The writer objects to the strong language used against Mr. Dumble. Abuse is no argument, and the abuse which our worthy police magistrate received in the article referred to is the best possible proof that his remarks at the Board of Trade meeting are unanswerable.

Ice From Little Lake.

Yesterday a citizen called at The Times office to say that the ice which is being taken from the Little Lake, is unfit for domestic use. He said that the water of the lake could not be otherwise than impure, as the amount of unclean matter that was emptied into the river between the water works dam and the lake was very great. He therefore felt that some action should be taken by the Board of Health in order to protect the people. The Times is advised that the ice taken from the Little Lake is not used for drinking purposes, but is only used in refrigerators.

Fatal Accident at Havelock.

A lad, 9 years of age, son of Mr. Geo. Varty, who resides close to Havelock, was kicked by a horse last Friday, was so severely injured that he died on Monday. It appears that the little fellow had been out with his father getting wood, and followed one of the horses home. Upon the way the horse kicked him in the stomach rendering him unconscious. Although promptly attended to by Dr. Kindred, he passed away as above.

Drove Old Woman Around the Country

Chatham, March 1.—Sarah McNaughton, the indigent imbecile, literally buffeted from pillar to post by penurious townships, who refused to keep her, had another fast ride last night.

Just who ordered it is not known, but a taxi whirled up to the home for the friendless, and the McNaughton woman was taken out into Chatham Township at a rate that defied all the speed laws ever made. She was dumped on reeve Abraham's doorstep.

Reeve Abraham hitched up his trusty driver, bundled the woman into the democrat, and half an hour later he escorted her to a seat on the doorstep before the office of Mayor Brackin, of Chatham.

This unseemly treatment of this poor old penniless woman has caused a lot of talk. Though she formerly lived in Chatham Township, that municipality refuses to make provision for her keep, and she was found starving in Chatham city.

READ EVERY WORD OF THIS
It Will Be Money In Your Pocket To Do So

Everyone is anxious to make money. Everyone has an ambition to get rich. Some men DO get rich. Others remain poor. The difference is simply a difference of methods. Nearly all of us save some money, but we do not let these savings earn anything for us. THE MAN WHO SAVES HIS MONEY AND LETS THE SAVINGS EARN SOMETHING FOR HIM is making it do double duty. Take the history of all the very wealthy men of the country and learn how many of them made their fortunes by simply saving what they earned. Not one of them did. They saved but they immediately put their savings to work for them. YOU WANT TO GET TO THE TOP OF THE LADDER, YOU WANT TO ACCUMULATE SOMETHING FOR YOUR OLD AGE. THEN YOU HAD BETTER PUT YOUR SAVINGS TO WORK AND LET THEM HELP YOU DO IT.

In almost any ordinary investment a man cannot make his money earn over 8 per cent. Mining offers you greater opportunities. I am going to offer you an opportunity that has promise of earning for you 800 per cent or even more. I want to take you into partnership with me, in an enterprise that will probably make us all independent for the balance of our lives. YOU MUST TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THIS OFFERING. The Gold Queen Mining Company, of which I am president, has over 135 acres of rich mineral ground in one of the most prosperous mining districts of the world. We have already expended thousands of dollars in developing this property and we have struck ore that is very rich. We need a mill to extract the precious metal from this ore. We need a little help in building this mill. Are you willing to subscribe a portion of the amoont necessary to do it? In numbers there is strength, and even though your subscription be a very small one, we are willing to give you a part ownership in this great enterprise, in return for it. We are willing to take you in on an equal basis with us and give you the benefit of all your savings may earn for you. The men behind this proposition are all successful business men. They are in this business to make it pay and for every dollar they earn for themselves they will earn one for you. REMEMBER: THIS IS NOT A PROSPECT—IT IS A MINE WITH ORE IN IT. But a small amount of money is necessary to build our mill. We have decided to offer only a very limited number of shares at the present price, and as soon as this amount is secured the price will be advanced to a much greater figure. NOW IS THE TIME FOR YOU TO ACT. YOU ARE GETTING IN WITH THE ORGANIZERS OF THE COMPANY AT GROUND FLOOR PRICES. YOU ARE COMING INTO A BONA FIDE PARTNERSHIP WITH US AND WITH NO PARTNERSHIP RESPONSIBILITIES. Read what Mr. Van Wagenen, one of the foremost mining engineers of the country has to say: "I would advise the immediate erection of a ten-stamp mill with cyanide equipment, to treat your gold ores, and a separate concentrating plant to handle your copper pyrites, thus reducing the shipping weight 6 to 1, and eventually put in a smelter in connection with the mill, with a ten-stamp mill on your property and a daily production of 50 tons of ore. I CAN PROMISE YOU A NET EARNING OF $300.00 PER DAY or $109,500 per year and that can be increased to ten times as much as soon as tunnels A and B are finished, and added milling equipment is installed. The economical method is the best. Start with a ten-stamp mill and let your stockholders be content with 10 per cent per annum until you have increased your milling facilities, and install your smelting plant to treat your concentrates. THEN YOU CAN PAY THEM 400 TO 500 PER CENT DIVIDENDS PER YEAR FOR THE NEXT TEN YEARS ON THE PRESENT VALUATION OF YOUR STOCK, 5 CENTS PER SHARE, and this out of the new discovered vein alone." Now if you want to get in with us on this proposition you must act quickly, for the present allotment of shares will not last long. The man who buys now will get his shares at the very rock bottom price. The one who waits until later will without a doubt pay many times what it is being offered for now. Arrangements may be made to pay for your subscription on the easy payment plan. Write at once for full information and detailed literature explaining all about it. Write today. Do not wait another minute or you may be too late.

Where Was The Officer?

On Tuesday night a man approached a Times' representative at the Grand Trunk station, and enquired if he knew where Mr. Geo. H. Howson, local immigration agent, was to be found. He said that he came from England with his wife and young child and expected to be met at the station, but no one was there to direct him where to go or what to do. His wife and baby were cold, weary, ill and hungry. Our reporter directed the unfortunate family to a boarding house, where he might be kept over night. This case, we are pleased to say, has been reported to the immigration authorities at Ottawa.

Possible Vote Thursday—German, the Liberal M.P., to Speak—Two Tories May Bolt.

Ottawa, Mar. 2.—When the reciprocity talk is renewed in the Commons this afternoon W. M. German, Liberal member for Welland, will cut adrift from his party. He will be followed by M. S. Schell of South Oxford, who will support the Government, and there will be probably two other speakers, one of whom may be F. B. Carvell of Carleton.

There is a rumor going round the lobbies this morning that the defection of Messrs. German and Scully will be offset by those of Andrew Broder of Dundas and of Dr. Edwards of Frontenac, both of whom are Conservatives, but each of whom is in receipt of vigorous demands from their farming constituencies that they should support reciprocity. And there may be others. The Liberals say that the leaven is working, and that the longer the talk is kept up the greater will be the spirit in the Opposition ranks when the time comes for the vote.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier is not likely to speak until Tuesday or Wednesday next, and it is just possible that a vote may be taken this day week, though this is problematical in view of the large number of members who want to speak.

Ontario Has 430 Public Libraries.

Guelph, Mar. 1.—The Public Library Institute of this district is attended by representatives of thirty-four Public Libraries of various municipalities. Mr. Walter R. Nursery, Government Inspector of Public Libraries for Ontario, said there was 430 public libraries in the province

NO TRUTH IN THIS REPORT.

Ottawa, Marrh 2.—There is no truth in the report that two members, Mr. Andrew Broder, of Dundas, and Dr. Edwards, of Frontenac, will support the reciprocity agreement. Nor has Hon. Clifford Sifton the least thought of entering British politics.

RELEASED IN TIME TO SEE WIFE DIE

Bogus Cheque Man Just Finished a Term in Jail as Wife Expired in Hospital.

Toronto, March 2.—The sad story of a man released from jail but half an hour before his wife died, was revealed to-day when the funeral took place of Mrs. Herbert Young, of 128 Augusta avenue.

Young was arrested by Detective Turner in January for passing bogus cheques. He was convicted and sentenced to 30 days in jail by Magistrate Denison. At the time the detective made the plea for as lenient a sentence as possible owing to the poor health of Young's wife.

While in custody the woman was taken ill, and went to the General Hospital. On Tuesday last she gave birth to a child, and 30 minutes later died.

Meanwhile the jail authorities were notified. It was the day the sentence terminated and every facility was given the grief stricken man to get beside his wife before she succumbed. He was rushed from the jail to the hospital, and barely reached her side before the end came.

SURROUNDED AND BURNED 500 MEN

Victoria, B.C., Mar. 2.—Rendered desperate by hunger, hands of hundreds of starving refugees are roving through the famine stricken area of China, plundering and killing, and a reign of terror prevails, according to persons who arrived here on the Tamba Maru, which reached port from the Orient yesterday.

At Kunshan, a walled village within fifty miles of Shanghai, the villagers after a desperate raid in which stores were looted and many killed, meted out punishment peculiarly Chinese in its callousness to the raiding refugees. A band of more than 500 are reported to have been surrounded in a compound and burned to death.

The refugees had taken possession of Kunshan and for two days ransacked the stores of everything eatable, killing or wounding all who resisted.

Many villagers were slain and others were taken prisoners and held for ransom. When the raiders moved on to plunder the next village the Kunshan people held a council of war and offered to pursue the fugitives. They come up with them in a small village and surrounded the houses. The gates wre locked and the houses fired.

The refugees brought five prisoners into the compound in view of the besiegers and threatened to kill them unless the siege was raised, and on the villagers pressing them back to the burning buildings, they slowly thacked the five men to death. Three other prisoners were tied to stakes in the burning building and were burned with the captors.

Candidates Triumphed Over Party Machines

During the Primaries—Only One Man Killed in Chicago, Which Was Something Unusual.

Chicago, Ill., Mar. 1.—Carter H. Harrison, Democrat, and Chas. E. Merriam, Republican, are to-day the nominees of their parties for mayor of Chicago after one of the hardest fought primary campaigns on record. The notable thing about the elections was that both men won over the combined influence of party machines.

Politicians to-day asserted that the campaign for the election in April would be the closest in years.

The election yesterday passed off with little trouble. Only one man was killed—something unusual—and the score or more smaller disturbances were quickly suppressed by the police.

MAIL ROBBERY ON A PACIFIC LINER

QUANTITY OF REGISTERED MATTER REPORTED MISSING AT VANCOUVER.

No Clue to the Thieves—Theft Was Not Discovered Till Arrival of Vessel From Skagway.

Vancouver, B.C., Mar. 1.—The mysterious disappearance of a large sum of money from the registered mail on board the steamer Princess Beatrice was reported to-day upon the arrival of that vessel here. The Princess Beatrice left Skagway last Thursday night, and during the time intervening between then and the arrival of the boat in Vancouver the registered mail was plundered and the contents stolen.

No clue has been obtained to the robbers and no information could be obtained of the exact time the robbery was committed.

It was only when the mail was received at the post-office at Vancouver that the theft was revealed.

Australia's War on Monopolies

Premier Proposes to Nationalize Certain Lines, If Necessary.

Melbourne, Australia, Mar. 1.—The Premier of the Commonwealth, Andrew Fisher, in opening the campaign to-day in support of the proposed changes in the constitution, said it was essential to obtain adequate powers to deal with monopolies, which he added "can skin the consumers alive if they choose."

The Premier, therefore, proposed to nationalize certain lines of business wherever necessary to the public interest. He cited the United States as a warning to Australia, saying that there are one per cent. of the people owned fifty per cent. of the wealth, and fifty per cent. of the people owned nothing.

BLIND PIG FOUND IN POTATO BIN

And the Man Who Kept It at Owen Sound Was Fined Fifty Dollars.

Owen Sound, Mar. 1.—A charge against Joseph Crowe of the Central Hotel in the Police Court to-day was the result of a sensational discovery by License Inspector Breckett a few days ago. The liquor was hidden in a concealed compartment in a bin of potatoes in the cellar of the hotel. The inspector siezed 164 bottles of beer, and 2½ gallons of whiskey. Crowe was found guilty of keeping liquor for sale, and was fined $50 and costs.

BLAMED ENGLISH FOR BOER WAR

SIR WILLIAM BULLER SAID FINANCIAL INTERESTS TRIED TO BRING ON TROUBLE.

Government Not Ready—Even When War Was Imminent It Refused to Get Ready, Said General.

London? March 2.—That the Boer War was brought about by the machinations of English interests in South Africa is the charge made in an autobiography of the late Sir William Butler, which appeared to-day.

Butler was military commander in South Africa just preceding the war. He declares that he repeatedly warned his Government of the imminence of war, but his suggestions were not only disregarded, but were resented because he insisted in holding the English responsible for the trouble. He attributes his recall to his refusal to co-operate in a plan to force the Boers to fight.

On arriving in South Africa Butler says he found that the local English interests were striving to infuriate the Boers to the point of an outbreak. These interests attempted unsuccessfully to get him to send false reports back to England to inflame the English mind against the Boers.

Even when it knew it was facing war, the English Government, Butler charges, refused to prepare for the struggle, but curtailed the strength and equipment of her troops in South Africa.

The publication is expected to force replies from Minister Joseph Chamberlain, who was Colonial Secretary at the time, and Lord Lansdowne, former Secretary of War. A tremendous scandal is feared.

FIRST AERIAL BATTALION.

Special Army Order Issued Arranging for Unique Branch of Army.

London, March 3.—A special army order has been issued creating an aerial battalion. Eligibles must be under thirty years of age, possess an aviation pilot's license, be good sailors, with an aptitude for mechanics, a knowledge of foreign languages and not weigh more than one hundred and sixty pounds.

CHINESE GIVE $10,000.

San Francisco, Cal. Mar. 2.—The Chinese of San Francisco have sent more than $10,000 to their countrymen who are suffering in the famine districts. Yesterday's donations sent by cable, consisted of $10,000 from the Chinese Six Companies, a benevolent association, and $1,600 from the Young China newspaper. The newspaper raised the money by organizing Chinese entertainments in the city.

Senator Brandegee Wires It Won't Pass

CONNECTICUT MAN SAYS IT IS BELIEVED AGREEMENT WILL NOT BE ACTED UPON.

Maine Opposes Tariff—Committee of State House Divided Six to Three Against It.

New Haven, Conn. Mar. 2.—No reciprocity this session was the brief expressed by Senator Brandegee, of Connecticut, in a telegram from Washington, received here to-day. The message said:

"Opinion here is that Canadian trade agreement cannot be acted upon at this session. Do not know what the President will do concerning extra session in that event.

"(Signed) Frank J. Brandegee."

FEAR CANADIAN FRUIT.

Beamsville, March 2.—A number of very able addresses were delivered yesterday afternoon and evening at the first day's session of the annual Niagara Peninsula Fruit-Growers Association meeting that took place at Grimsby.

In the afternoon Mr. Stancliffe Hale son of the Georgia "peach king," Glastonbury, Conn., spoke. He said the reciprocity business was raising the dickens in his State, and all the pronological and agricultural societies had petitioned against it. He felt they had much to lose and little to gain by it. The only yellow-fleshed peach that can be grown at all down Mr. Hale's way, is the Elberta.

MAINE AGAINST IT.

Augusta, Me., March 2.—Two reports on a resolution favoring reciprocity with Canada were made in the House of Representatives to-day by the Committee on Federal Relations, which divided six to three against the proposed agreement between the two countries. The minority report favored the passage of the resolution in a new draft which does not differ materially from the original.

STORMY SCENE IN IMPERIAL HOUSE

London, Eng., March 2.—Wild tumult was precipitated in the House of Commons this afternoon when Hon. A. J. Balfour, leader of the Opposition, accused the Government of fraud, and made an appeal that, instead of curtailing the power of the House of Peers, greater powers be delegated to the second chamber.

There were cries of "withdraw" and "cease talking," and the excitement become so great that Speaker Lowther was appealed to for a ruling. He declared that Mr. Balfour was within his rights in making the charge of fraud against the Liberal party.

When Mr. Balfour resumed his speech there were further interruptions, until the Speaker appealed to the House to allow the former Prime Minister to continue.

Premier Asquith replied to Mr. Balfour, denying on behalf of the Liberal party that the Government was guilty of fraud.

"We now know the real motive that inspired the Tories to take up the reform of the second chamber," said he. "That motive is to make it stronger against the chosen representatives of the people.

"Preceding the charge of fraud, the (veto bill) was first moved in 1907 when the Liberal majority was not only independent of the Irish, but exceeded all other parties as well."

A bill instituting the referendum in England in order to allow the people to decide all questions of national moment, was introduced in the House of Peers this afternoon by Lord Balfour of Burleigh. The bill provides "for a poll of electors on all important questions," and is patterned after the Swiss referendum.

WHAT CAUSED TROUBLE.

The statement by Balfour which caused all the trouble was as follows —The Government is approaching this question as though it were independent instead of being coerced by the Irish alliance. If there had been no alliance there would have been no Home Rule. The result will prove disastrous to the country. The Government openly asserts that they are going to force their proposals through the House by coercion, just as they imposed those same proposals on the country by fraud."

COMMONS MUST DOMINATE.

Premier Asquith stood firm by the Government guns, saying: "The Commons must be dominant in legislation. The second chamber must only have functions of consultation and revision. The body, not resting on a hereditary basis, must not be governed by partisanship in its origin and composition in its attitude toward affairs. It is because the other House is our master at present that we have brought these proposals and we mean to carry them into law. The bill provides abundantly against stealthy, unconsidered and precipitate changes."

Lord Hugh Cecil, a Unionist, charged the Liberals with playing politics.

"What the Government is doing now," he said, "is injurious to both Liberals and the country at large. They are dealing with this constitutional question merely with a view to present party exigencies."

A Horace Greeley Story.

A gushing youth once wrote to him assuming that among his "literary treasurers" he had preserved "several autographs of our country's late lamented poet, Edgar A. Poe," and asking him to send him one of them. Greely promptly responded: "Among my literary treasurs there happens to be exactly one autograph of our country's late lamented poet, Edgar A. Poe. It is a note of hand for fifty dollars, with my endorsement across the back. It cost me exactly $50.75 (including protest) and you may have it for half that amount." Mr. Greely remarked many years afterwards that that autograph still remained on his hands, and was still for sale at first cost, "despite the lapse of time and the depreciation of our currency."

Papal Ablegate will Arrive on March 25th

Ottawa, March 2.—Mgr. Stagni, the newly-appointed papal ablegate to Canada, will arrive in Ottawa on the 25th of this month. He will bring with him the decrees formulated by the Plenary Council at Quebec two years ago, and which has just been approved by the Vatican.

The papal ablegate will sail from Naples on March 10th. The decrees of the Council were taken to Rome by Mgr. Sbaretti and were very lengthy in nature taking a great amount of time to examine and approve.

A reception to Mgr. Stagni is being arranged.

Beautiful Princess Murdered in Italy

Rome, March 2.—Princess di Trigona, a young and beautiful lady-in-waiting to Queen Helena, was murdered to-day at a small hotel in this city by Lieut. Paterno, an officer in the Italian cavalry.

The tragedy has caused a sensation. The cause of the murder, and the details of the story that led up to it, are thus far unknown, or suppressed.

The authorities, however, state that the lieutenant strangled the princess, and then shot her.

MR. GUTHRIE TO CABINET.

Ottawa, March 2.—The coming vacancy in the Dominion Cabinet consequent upon the prospective retirement of Sir Allan Aylesworth, will in all possibility be filled by Mr. Hugh Guthrie, of South Wellington.

No immediate change is anticipated, but Mr. Guthrie is conceded as having the first call.

BRITISH CAPTURE NOTORIOUS OUTLAW

Peshawur, British India, March 1 The notorious outlaw, Hakim Khan who has been for years a thorn in the side of the Northwest frontier force, was surprised to-day with thirty of his followers in a cave by a British force under the command of Lieut.-Col. Sir George Roos-Keppell, chief commissioner and agent to the Governor-General of the Northwest frontier Province.

Hakim Khan refused to surrender, and a machine gun hailed lead into his den and five of the party were killed.

OTTAWA NOTIFIED OF MINER'S CAPTURE.

No Doubt Now as to the Identity of Train Robber Arrested in Georgia.

Ottawa, Mar. 1.—Commissioner Sherwood, of the Dominion Police, to-day received official notification from the Pinkerton Detective Agency that the identity of the train robber under arrest at Gainsville, Ga., had been established beyond doubt as that of Bill Miner, the outlaw, who escaped from New Westminster Penitentiary, where he was undergoing life sentence for holding up a C.P.R. express train.

Pending the outcome of Miner's trial on the Gainsville charge, the Canadian authorities will take no action. If convicted, he will have to serve out his sentence before being returned to New Westminster. If acquitted he will be immediately claimed and brought back to the Dominion police.

STORMY VOYAGE FOR FRENCH CABINET

GERMANY GRUMBLES OVER THE APPOINTMENT OF DELCASSE.

Socialists in Control—In Paris It Is Thought That State Faces a Serious Crisis—Four Radicals Selected.

Paris, March 2.—The new French Cabinet finds its hands full of trouble even before it is fully formed. With the real power vested in the hands of the Socialists and with Germany grumbling with dissatisfaction over the appointment of M. Theophile Delcasse to a post in the portfolio the state faces a political crisis much more serious than that which led to the downfall of Premier Briand and his ministry.

The attitude of the Monis Cabinet as indicated to-day with at least two places in doubt, is most forcefully shown in the presence of four of the Radicals within the portfolio. They are M. Berteaux Minister of War who led the interpellation which caused M. Briand's downfall; M. Sette, Minister of Public Instruction M. Wissel Minister of Agriculture and M. Messimy, Minister of the Colonies.

The reliance with which M. Antoine Monis, the new premier, has implicitly placed in the new War Minister in making his Cabinet selections augurs a stormy voyage for the French ship of state for a time at least.

Paris heard to-day that Germany is preparing to protest against the appointment of M. Delcasse, Minister of Marine, because of his activity against Germany in Morocco, six years ago. At that time, Delcasse who was Minister of Foreign Affairs was dropped on pressure from Germany.

A Socialist programme for the Chamber is already outlined.

AN EARL DUDLEY RUMOR.

Report That Governor-General of Australia Will Resign.

Melbourne, March 3.—The children of the Earl and the Countess of Dudley are sailing for England in April. Their departure has revived the rumor several times current in the British and Australian press recently, that the Governor-General intends to resign in June. It has been already announced that Lord Dudley will not attend the Coronation.

Chloroformed Woman and Then Robbed Her

Toronto, March 2.—After an all-night search about town for two men recently in from Montreal, Detective Cronin and Mitchell placed Earl Epstein and Charles Sandy under arrest this morning on charges of using chloroform and robbing a woman. Epstein was taken at the Union station shortly before the New York train pulled out and it was thought that the two men were heading in that direction.

By the use of chloroform the men obtained $5 in money, a revolver and a Persian lamb coat, valued at $100, from the house of Lena Miller at 1 Plymouth avenue, having previously taken a dress owned by Blanche Heller, at 112 Parliament street.

"The two men are just in from Montreal, as shown by their suit cases," stated Detective Cronin. Sandy had been rooming at 112 Parliament street. About midnight he left their taking with him a dress owned by Blanche Heller. He must have met Epstein, for the two men went to the house in Plymouth avenue, and there offered to sell the dress to Lena Miller. She says that she went into a room to try it on, and as soon as she came out one of the men placed a handkerchief over her mouth. Her face is burned showing the marks of the drug. Then they got away with the money, and the coat."

As soon as the officers heard the complaint they started out on a tour of the lodging houses and hotels in the downtown district, and two of three men from the Parliament street house started out in the same search.

These men found Sandy on the street downtown and immediately turned him over to Constable Garbe. The officers took the woman who made the complaint along with them and headed for the Union station. Here she identified Epstein as the man who had gone to her house, and while the detectives were still out searching the town she siezed Epstein and turned him over to the attention of Constable Hunt. All the articles have been recovered.

Brought before Magistrate Denison, Epstein readily admitted that he was the one who had used the chloroform upon Lena Miller's face. The girl's lips were burned and swollen, and she was still weak this morning from the misuse to which she had been subjected.

Both young men were well dressed and of good appearance, though in the dock they showed signs of uneasiness. They are around 25 years of age.

"We went to the house with the dress all right," stated Epstein, who had asked for a chance to say something. "I just held the handkerchief before her nose. It couldn't have been there five seconds, for she put up her hands, and then rubbed the chloroform over her face, and buried herself. Sandy grabbed her and struggled with her on the floor, and jumped on her like a football. I did not take the things. Then out on the street a man named Dave came along and said 'you're arrested.' Sandy slipped me the money, but he was caught there."

"Who bought the chloroform?" demanded the magistrate.

Sandy admitted the purchase, and went on to say that his family in Montreal were in the best of circumstances.

"I didn't realize what we were doing," he stated. "I plead guilty of being an accomplice. We went there to take her the dress, but I never saw her before."

"How about the theft of the dress from the woman on Parliament street?" asked the magistrate.

Sandy, who was charged on this alone, denied the charge.

"What was your idea in administering the chloroform anyway?" asked the Crown.

"I guess it was to overpower her," he finally remarked.

Epstein hesitated.

The wording of the charge was robbery with violence and administering chloroform. Here considerable discussion followed as to the possible sentence in such a case. The Crown Attorney remarked that the possible sentence was life imprisonment and whipping on the latter charge.

KEEP THEM ALL YEAR.

The farm help problem is made worse by the farmers themselves, and perhaps the farmer's wives are most to blame. They refuse to have a hired man around the house during the winter months. Then in the Spring there is a general scramble for men.

In Toronto recently a young man was found exhausted after going fifty-six hours without food. He said he had worked all summer for a farmer who refused to keep the man during the winter even for his board. There are thousands of men in Toronto and some in every city and town who were forced off the farm. Naturally they sour on farm work and will not return in the Spring because of the prospect of another winter of idleness.

An exchange says that supposing printers were only given work for six or seven months in a year, how many would be printers? Besides, they would want a year's pay for seven month's work, and rightly so.

Hundreds of bright young immigrants worked all summer on farms for ten dollars and were then sent off to shift for themselves during a long winter. Perhaps that might be all many of them are worth, but they must live and where is there employment in winter for all the men who work on the farm in summer?

Besides, one experience of such a means of earning a living is not invited a second time, and the worker is driven off the farm. Some work, even for his board should be found for the hired man in winter.

THE COMBINES LAW.

Until the other day no attempt was made to investigate a combine under the provisions of the King bill, passed in 1910. Proceedings have now been taken in the case of the United Shoe Machinery Company. It is charged that this company compels all manufacturers of boots and shoes requiring its machines to buy from it not only machinery, but other supplies. It forbids them to buy machinery that would do similar or better work from other manufacturers. It thus places them at the mercy of the company and increases the cost of production. It also prevents the establishment in Canada of factories for the making of machinery for the manufacture of boots and shoes, and checks invention and enterprise.

Judge Cannon, of Quebec, has decided that there is a case for investigation, and the matter is now in the hands of the Minister of Labor. It is to be hoped that the inquiry will be searching and thorough. If it appears that there is any weakness, this practical test will lead the way to making of amendments.

Working along similar lines, Mr. Meighen, member for Portage la Prairie, has obtained an order for a return of all papers relating to the methods of trusts and combines in the methods of trusts and combines in the United States. He believes that the Canadian mergers are usually the children of organization in the United States. Wherever they may originate, our Parliament and Government must use the utmost vigilance to prevent their making headway in Canada.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

25 THE P...

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

THE FRENCH ANGLER

He Takes Sport Seriously and Reads Up in Advance

The Frenchman out on a sporting expedition is, says a writer in the Country Gentleman, like a schoolboy out on a holiday. He is enthusiastic over all he does, and is most anxious to look and act the part he is playing. "Le sport" is a serious business, and must be undertaken in as serious a spirit as a holiday will permit. And so the Frenchman follows whatever sport he takes up according to the proper rules and regulations.

The average French sportsman announces himself and his business long before he has spoken to you, for he invariably dresses the part. He has read up the subject in advance, and he knows what to do and how to do it. The first item is dress; every sport has its proper uniform, and no Frenchman worthy the name would think of starting out in inappropriate garb.

Most anglers attire themselves in gaiters or wading boots, and carry a mackintosh and a sou'-wester hat, even though they may be going to the tiniest stream in the finest of weather. They carry a weird assortment of rods and bait-cans and landing-nets, and have a habit of leaving some of their property behind. Having arrived at their favorite spot, they laboriously unlimber, and carefully arrange their paraphernalia around them. They will chatter gaily to any one with them, and if you are a friend will relate all their sporting adventures. If the fish refuse to bite they will contentedly go to sleep on the bank. Then, if they have caught nothing, they will, guilelessly as a child, purchase some fish in order to show their wives. Of course, there are other anglers as well, men who know as much about the sport as any Englishman, but the traveller in France will see about twenty of the former to one of the latter.

WHEN A MAN IS "DOWN"

Difficulties Which Beset the Path of an Ex-Convict

How difficult it is for an ex-convict to get honest employment was illustrated at Marylebone Police Court when a man who had served a term of imprisonment applied to Mr. Paul Taylor for assistance. The applicant has an invalid wife and five children under fifteen years of age, four of whom are in a Roman Catholic home. He had tried to get work, but had failed. In the meantime, the applicant added, he and his wife had pawned almost everything they possessed, with the result that they had a load of pawntickets, and he had nothing staring him in the face but to plunge into crime again. Mr. Paul Taylor referred him to Mr. Alfred Kirby, the missionary, to see what could be done for him, adding that he preferred to assist old convicts rather than young ones, as they often had less chance in life.

LOCKJAW FROM A CUT

The danger in little accidents was illustrated at a London court. Mr. F. Danford Thomas held an inquest upon Arthur Pittman, four years of age, son of a potato salesman. The child was playing in the garden with his brother, a few years older, and saw a worm and got excited about it. The elder boy took up a fork and dug around the worm, but accidentally struck his baby brother with one of the prongs between the ankle and the toes of the left foot, making a slight wound. The child was at first treated at home, but signs of lockjaw appearing, he was removed to Guy's Hospital, where he died.

FATHER OF TWENTY-FIVE

A man whose son was sent from the police Lynn Police Court to an industrial school was said to be the father of twenty-five children.

WAGES IN GLASGOW

Municipal Employes Beg for an Increase in the Minimum

At a mass meeting of Glasgow Corporation employes, Mr. Richard Davies, general secretary, said the wages paid to municipal employes in Glasgow, the conditions under which they worked, and the treatment they received from those in authority could not be compared to what prevailed in a town like Leicester. The London County Council's minimum wage for employes was $6.75 per week, yet in Glasgow, where the cost of living was greater, they were still begging for a rise from a minimum of $5.25 to $6.25. There ought not to be a public servant in Glasgow in receipt of a lower wage than would guarantee him the means of living a reasonable and comfortable life, and he thought $6.25 a week was the lowest possible amount on which a man and his family could live on comfortably in the city of Glasgow. The greatest evil of the Corporation servants in Glasgow to-day was bureaucracy. What they had got to fight for was the right of appeal to the committees before being punished or dismissed, and the mere guarantee of that privilege by the Council to its employes would remove three parts of the grievances from which they had suffered.

WHERE WAS LANDSEER?

Among the interested spectators at an art exhibition in New York were two young fellows, evidently of rural origin, whose attention seemed to be especially attracted to a canvas entitled, "Two Dogs; after Landseer."

As the two studied the painting they seemed perplexed as to one particular. Said one young man.

"Bill, I kin see the two dogs, but where is Landseer?"

Whereupon the other continued his close scrutiny of the painting.

"Tom," said he, finally, "I get it. This is one of them puzzle pictures I hears so much about."—Harper's Weekly.

SCHOOL SAVINGS.

In France, where the school savings bank system has been in operation since 1834, there is more than $3,000,000 of children's savings in the banks. Germany has had the system since 1846. Near home, Lowell children have placed more than $10,000 in the banks in the last few years. A Pittsburg bank has more than 20,000 children depositors, with $150,000 on deposit. At the beginning of last year eleven cities in the United States had school savings systems and these showed 203,000 depositors with $870,606 deposited.

Is This Wholesale Poisoning?

Helena, Ark., Mar. 1.—Four children of William Ray, a timber man of Elaine, are dead, and his wife and two other children are in the hospital as a result of poisoning. Whether the family was intentionally poisoned or accidentally infected by ptomaine has not been determined. Pending investigation, Will Cray, a negro cook, is detained.

ASSETS OF THE COMPANY

$10,000,000 of stock still in the Treasury.

$10,000,000 pooled for 9 and 18 months.

500 acres of land; value, $3,000 per acre.

154 patent improvements obtained over the present most modern sleeping car as shown by patent rights and model and approved by railway experts.

A subsidy obtained from the Municipality of North Vancouver of 5 per cent. for 15 years on $200,000, and freedom from taxation of our plant and 30 acres of land for 10 years.

A subsidy obtained from the Dominion of Canada, 3½ per cent. for 25 years on $1,214,000, for the purpose of building a dry dock of 15,000 tons at Roslyn, the Company's townsite.

A very valuable brick clay deposit has been discovered on the Company's property. This will be developed to its fullest capacity, as brick clay is very rare here, Vancouver even importing from Seattle millions of brick annually.

NOTE.—A shareholder participates in every asset of the Company.

LIABILITIES OF THE COMPANY

Amount yet owing on land, extending over a period of four years, $446,000.

REMARKS

MORE LANDS

The Company proposes to purchase lands surrounding their townsite, and to this end are securing options on about 250 acres, with about 2,800 feet of deep waterfrontage adjoining that which they now own.

MINES

They have also secured an option of purchase of a group of ten claims of very valuable iron deposits situated within twelve miles of their townsite. The Company believe, located as they are in a country which abounds with everything necessary to the smallest detail for turning out a perfect car, e should go to nature's storehouse for their material, and with this end in view have secured the above group.

SHIPBUILDING

In addition to building the Imperial Sleeping Car, cars of every description will be contracted for, and just as soon as their dry dock is completed, the Company intend to use it to the greatest advantage in building ships of the largest tonnage. As there will be but three or four docks in the whole Dominion, they will encounter but very little competition in the building of the larger class of vessels.

SALE OF LANDS

The Company do not intend to sell any of its land until its dry dock, car works, sawmills and other industries are in operation, and in this way secure as nearly as possible all the profit derived from the establishment of these great works.

CLEARING OF LAND

The Municipality of North Vancouver have under consideration a proposition from the Company whereby the Company promise to clear their whole townsite on condition the Municipality will at once clear and grade all the streets, charging the cost of same to local improvement taxes. The Municipality view the Company's proposition with great favor. This plan would at least double the price of the Company's holdings.

PURCHASING STOCK

A small block of stock is now on the market and can be had on very easy terms of payment. This once sold, the Company will have no difficulty to borrow on their assets at from 4 to 5 per cent. any money they will require for improvement purchases, and in this case all stock will be withdrawn from the market.

Britain Alarmed Over Spread of the Plague

English experts do not generally share in the hopeful view expressed by physicians in the Orient, to the effect that there is little danger of the spread of the present plague epidemic from Manchuria to the Occident.

With the advent of warm weather, at the latest the majority of British authorities agree, it will be a miracle if the disease does not appear in Siberia. Once it gains a foothold there, in view of Russia's primitive methods of quarantine and sanitation they consider it certain to break out quickly in the European portion of the Czar's realm, and from there they doubt if all the efforts of the authorities of neighboring countries can prevent it from reaching Western Europe.

The English viewpoint is especially pessimistic from the fact that there were four undoubted cases of pneumonia plague—the type now prevalent in Manchuria, from which there are said to be absolutely no recoveries—in Eastern Anglia last Autumn, and that the epidemic of the same disease among rats, rabbits, and hares, is spreading all over the Island. Dr. Sambon, lecturer to the London School of Tropical Medicine, goes even farther than other English authorities, pointing out that modern sanitation, so effective in the prevention of most other diseases, hardly ever checks plague. "The vehicles of the plague germs," he explains, "are not sewage or drinking water, but rats and fleas, and wherever they are to be found, there the conditions necessary for a plague epidemic exists."

"The claims of the plague upon the world's attention," says the London Morning News, commenting gloomily upon Dr. Sambon's utterances, "are unhappily not diminishing as the winter advances, although all previous experience shows that the winter is far less favorable to its spread than the summer. At this moment Manchuria with a winter climate much like that of Canada, is experiencing an appalling visitation with scarcely any more scientific resistance to the disease's progress than could be attempted in Europe in the middle ages."

Preferential Side of Chamberlain Plan Goes

London, Eng., Mar. 1.—Most of the monthly reviews contain articles on the reciprocity agreement. In the English Review, Sir Alfred Mond writes entirely favorably, considering the agreement a great step towards universal Free Trade. Sidney Low in the same journal writes that even if the Washington Convention is unconsummated, no reliance can be placed on Canada in any chance of Imperial Commercial Union. Without Canada, he adds, there is small chance for an Imperial Tariff Union so that the preferential side of the Chamberlain plan goes.

35,000 MEN WANTED FOR THE WEST.

Winnipeg, March 1.—Estimates prepared here from information furnished by railway and immigration officials indicate that at least 35,000 laborers will be required in the West this year. Each of three big railway companies will be looking for about 5,000 men, and more than 20,000 experienced and inexperienced will be needed on farms.

New Reform Scheme for House of Lords

London, Mar. 1.—A section of the Unionist party has been agitating to induce their leaders to adopt the purely elective principle in reforming the House of Lords. The leaders, however, insisted that membership in the House must be partly hereditary, and have imposed their views upon objectors. A meeting of the party held to-day unanimously resolved to accept the outlines of a reform scheme privately communicated to those attending by a party whip. This scheme is known to contain a provision for a considerable representation of the hereditary peerage, although a majority of the members of the House will be elected on a Democratic system.

Another Suit to Worry Bowmanville

Toronto, Mar. 1.—Eight or nine different legal firms are now said to be involved in the dispute over the McGill Building in Washington which was willed to the town of Bowmanville. Another writ has just been issued by R. Preston Shealey, to recover from the town $3,000 for legal services, and the attachment of the bill in default of payment.

It will be remembered that the town has no legal power to accept the gift, and is seeking power from the Legislature, while the McGill family contest the bequest. It looks however, that if no settlement is soon reached the legal fraternity will get the major part of the property's value.

Brothers were Divided by American Civil War

New York, March 1.—A Chicago despatch to The World says: "Two brothers Charles T. Markham, president of the Illinois Central Railroad, and John T. Markham, bricklayer and plasterer, at Hopkinsville, Ky., were united to-day after a separation caused by the Civil war, nearly fifty years ago.

"I had searched for my brother for years," said President Markham, "but gave up a long time ago and accepted the theory that he was dead. He, too, had searched for me. When he learned that Charles T. Markham was recently made president of the Illinois Central he determined to communicate with me. He did so, but I could scarcely believe it was my brother. To-day I called him up on the telephone, and verified the fact that he was my brother."

The story of the separation of the two brothers is one of the many pathetic incidents furnished by the bitter differences of opinion in Civil War times.

AMERICAN WARSHIP GOING.

United States Will Send Battleship for Coronation Pageant.

Washington, D. C., March 3.—The British Government has invited the United States to join in the naval pageant which will be an incident of the coronation of King George. The ships will be assembled at Spithead for review, and the American navy will be represented by one of the best warships of the United States. The selection of the ship is now under consideration by Secretary of the Navy Meyer.

The special embassy to the coronation, in addition to John Hays Hammond, will consist of a secretary, a naval attache and a military attache. These members will be selected by the President. The naval attache will be a rear-admiral, and the military attache will be a major-general of the army.

MANITOBA HAS SURPLUS.

The Treasurer Makes Budget Speech in Legislature.

Winnipeg, March 3.—Hon. Hugh Armstrong, provincial treasurer, presented the budget statement in the Legislature yesterday, announcing a surplus of $612,380. The total revenue was $3,647,320. He referred to the high financial standing of the province, stock selling at the record price of 103 last year. The telephone system, he added, is a growing asset, and gave a surplus of $110,000. The revenue this year from telephone be put at $1,300,000. He stated that the system has had a wonderful growth since taken over by the Government; the long distance lines were increased 63 per cent.; rural lines had increased over 300 per cent., the number of rural subscribers jumping from 1,523 to 7,030.

Ladies' Aid Society.

The Ladies' Aid Society of St. Andrew's Church will meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Library Board.

A meeting of the Library Board was held last night, when routine business was transacted.

Improving the Station.

A gang of men are at work putting down hardwood floors in the C.P.R. station, and otherwise improving the building. When the improvements are completed they will add greatly to the appearance of the station.

Lenten Services.

Lenten services were held last night under the auspices of All Saints' church at Mrs. Harris' 168 Lock street. As in former years, all south end people were invited, and there was a good attendance.

Inspecting the Crossings.

The General Road Master of the Grand Trunk was in the city on Wednesday and inspected the diamond crossing and yards. It is understood that he found everything in good order.

Fine Skating on Canal.

Just now the skating on the canal above the lift lock is very fine, the ice being as smooth as glass. The Little Lake is also well patronized by skaters.

Poultry Association.

A regular meeting of the Peterborough Poultry Association was held last night in their hall, Simcoe-street at which some routine business was transacted. Some very fine specimens were brought to the meeting by the breeders who are members of the Association.

Police Court.

James Boald, who was up on remand, with indecent exposure, was discharged by Police Magistrate Dumble yesterday. His Worship advised him to leave liquor alone, as it was evidently the root of all his trouble. Boald has a wife and family in England, to whom he is said to make money remittances regularly.

Basket Social To-Night

A basket social will be held in the town hall, North Monaghan, this evening, under the auspices of the Girls' Mission Band of the Springville Presbyterian church. An excellent programme will be given, consisting of dialogues, recitations and songs. The orchestra will also provide suitable music. An enjoyable time is promised to all who attend. Doors open at 7 o'clock and program commences at eight.

For Sweet Charity's Sake.

The proceeds at the Crystal Theatre, this afternoon, will be given by Mr. Edwards to the Dorcas Society, which has been doing such splendid work in the city. The public can assist the society very greatly by their attendance. Much work must be done and the members of the society are willing to give their services. At present the funds are very low.

Commencement Exercises To-Night.

The annual commencement exercises in connection with the Collegiate Institute will be held in the Assembly Hall of the Collegiate this evening A most interesting programme has been arranged including the presentation of the Nicholls' Scholarships, the athletic prizes and the Canadian Club history contest prizes, the latter by Dr. Cameron, the president of the Club. Mr. John Crane, chairman of the Board of Education, will be chairman. A musical and literary programme will be provided and the public is cordially invited to attend. There will be no admission charge.

No 12th of July Flag.

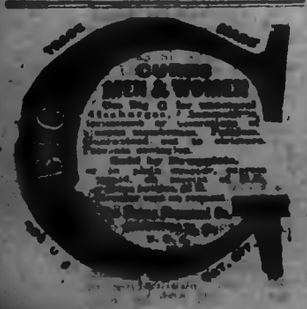
In the list of days on which flags are to fly on public buildings, is included St. Patrick's day, March 17th and St. Jean Baptiste day. But the 12th of July, which is the anniversary of the battle of the Boyne, is omitted from the list. Many will object to this, and we believe not without reason, for they realize that when King James went under on that memorable occasion the liberty which we all now enjoy was then secured, which applies to our Roman Catholic fellow citizens as well as to Protestants.

Fell From Pole.

Last Monday afternoon Mr. Geo. Pickett, formerly of Peterborough, a lineman working on the erection of the new copper lines of the Bell telephone system, fell from a pole while at his work about seven miles from town. Mr. Pickett was about twenty feet from the ground when he fell and alighted on his head and shoulder. He was taken to a farm house nearby suffering from the severe shock. Later he was brought to Lindsay and was able to resume his duties yesterday.

Injured in Saw Mill.

Frederick Fitzgerald, of Young's Point, was brought to St. Joseph's hospital suffering from painful injuries received in a saw mill at that place. It appears that the cable which moves the carriage in the mill came off the pulley, and Fitzgerald, in replacing it, was struck on the bridge of the nose and knocked back against the carriage. He was brought to the city, and Comstock's ambulance conveyed him to St. Joseph's Hospital, where his injuries were attended to by Dr. Gallivan. He is doing as well as can be expected.



Will Hon. Mr. Sifton Leave Liberal Party?

Statements He Made Yesterday Seem to Indicate He Must.

Ottawa, March 3.—The clean break away from the Liberal party which Hon. Clifford Sifton, ex-minister of the Interior, made in his speech against the reciprocity agreement in the Commons, is still the chief topic of conversation on Parliament Hill.

Mr. Sifton stated clearly and emphatically that, while a man might differ from his party on small issues and still remain a member of it, on a large issue of national importance, the whole policy of the country being involved, a man must, if he differed from his party, detach himself from it in order to preserve his self respect.

The member for Brandon said that was the position in which he found himself. He differed from the Liberal party on this large issue, and so he had to sever himself from his former associates. He did so, he said, with great pain.

In Canada party ties were strong and men did not cut loose from a party for small reasons, because it built a bridge or even a railroad which they did not consider necessary at the time. Loyalty to party was, in Mr. Sifton's opinion, a good thing and contributed to the stability of government.

"But," added Mr. Sifton, amid Opposition cheering, "when one's party are led to apply principles which are of fundamental and far-reaching importance, affecting the whole national structure, and one feels he cannot conscientiously adopt or follow these principles, then his party allegiance is necessarily dissolved, and if he desires to retain his self-respect it becomes absolutely necessary for him to decline to follow that of which he does not approve. That is the position in which I find myself to-day, and however painful the process may be, I take the only course which I can take and retain my self-respect."

The question discussed to-day is what will be Mr. Sifton's political future. Will he retain his seat on the front bench of the Government? Will he cross to the Opposition side of the House? Will he resign his seat for Brandon? Will he get out of politics altogether?

Mr. Sifton, since he resigned his port folio, has been an infrequent attendant of the debates in the House, and it is concluded, therefore, that his interest in politics has diminished. If that is so, the possibility is that Mr. Sifton may retire from political life.

Two More Added to the Police Force

Yesterday the Police Commissioners met and selected two men out of about 35 applicants for positions on the police force. Messrs. John Brown and W. J. Middleton are the lucky men who were chosen. Both are residents of the city, and are a pair of timehusky fellows. The Commissioners are Judge Huycke, Police Magistrate Dumble and Mayor Morrow.

Canon Davidson in Toronto.

Mail and Empire:—The general mission was begun in St. Cyprian's Toronto, on Wednesday evening, this being the first church to hold regular missions. There was a large attendance, and the augmented choir was further strengthened by an orchestra. The bishop for the diocese was present, and was welcomed by the rector. The services, which were of an informal, simple, missionary character, were conducted by Rev. Canon Davidson, of Peterborough. His theme was: "Is it well with thee; is it well with thy husband; is it well with thy child?" The Bishop also delivered a strong address. At the conclusion of the service an organization meeting was held.

SOCIETY EVENTS

The Times will be pleased to receive notices of Weddings, Social Events, Personal Announcements, which will be published in this column free of charge.

Mr. David Carlisle, of East city, was in Toronto yesterday.

Mr. James Reid and wife and child of Banff, Alta., are in the city, called here by the serious illness of Mr. Reid's mother.

MEHARRY—ROELISH

A very pretty home wedding took place on Wednesday evening at the residence of Mr. John Black, 326 Rubidge street, when Miss Lillian Ethel Roelish was united in wedlock to Mr. John Meharry, in the presence of a number of friends of the contracting parties. The nuptial knot was tied by the Rev. J. G. Brown, of St. James' Methodist church. The bride was assisted by Miss Ethel Sloane, while Mr. Roy Hendren supported the groom. The bride was attired in cream silk and carried a handsome bouquet of roses, while the bridesmaid wore a mauve silk. After the ceremony a dainty dejuner was partaken of, after which a delightful evening was spent in music and games Mr. and Mrs. Meharry will reside in the city.

COWAN—DWYER.

On Monday last Miss Lucy M. Dwyer, youngest daughter of the late John Dwyer, was united in marriage to Mr. George N. Cowan, of this city. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father McCaulay. The bride was assisted by her sister, Miss Lizzie Dwyer, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Heffernan. The young couple have many friends who wish them a long and happy married life. Mr. and Mrs. Cowan will reside on Albert street.

SAW-OFF SERIES.

Galt Must Play Port Hope for Right to Challenge for Stanley Cup.

Ottawa, March 2.—Port Hope, claiming the championship of the Eastern section of the Ontario Professional Hockey League, has challenged for the Stanley Cup and has asked Trustee Wm. Forn that they be allowed to saw-off with Galt for the right to play Ottawa for the trophy. Mr. Forn is in accord with the suggestion and will order Galt to confer with the Port Hope management at once with a view to arranging a saw-off series.

READ EVERY WORD OF THIS
It Will Be Money In Your Pocket To Do So

Everyone is anxious to make money. Everyone has an ambition to get rich. Some men DO get rich. Others remain poor. The difference is simply a difference of methods. Nearly all of us save some money, but we do not let these savings earn anything for us. THE MAN WHO SAVES HIS MONEY AND LETS THE SAVINGS EARN SOMETHING FOR HIM is making it do double duty. Take the history of all the very wealthy men of the country and learn how many of them made their fortunes by simply saving what they earned. Not one of them did. They saved but they immediately put their savings to work for them. YOU WANT TO GET TO THE TOP OF THE LADDER, YOU WANT TO ACCUMULATE SOMETHING FOR YOUR OLD AGE. THEN YOU HAD BETTER PUT YOUR SAVINGS TO WORK AND LET THEM HELP YOU DO IT.

In almost any ordinary investment a man cannot make his money earn over 8 per cent. Mining offers you greater opportunities. I am going to offer you an opportunity that has promise of earning for you 800 per cent or even more. I want to take you into partnership with me, in an enterprise that will probably make us all independent for the balance of our lives. YOU MUST TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THIS OFFERING. The Gold Queen Mining Company, of which I am president, has over 135 acres of rich mineral ground in one of the most prosperous mining districts of the world. We have already expended thousands of dollars in developing this property and we have struck ore that is very rich. We need a mill to extract the precious metal from this ore. We need a little help in building this mill. Are you willing to subscribe a portion of the amoont necessary to do it? In numbers there is strength, and even though your subscription be a very small one, we are willing to give you a part ownership in this great enterprise, in return for it. We are willing to take you in on an equal basis with us and give you the benefit of all your savings may earn for you. The men behind this proposition are all successful business men. They are in this business to make it pay and for every dollar they earn for themselves they will earn one for you. REMEMBER: THIS IS NOT A PROSPECT—IT IS A MINE WITH ORE IN IT. But a small amount of money is necessary to build our mill. We have decided to offer only a very limited number of shares at the present price, and as soon as this amount is secured the price will be advanced to a much greater figure. NOW IS THE TIME FOR YOU TO ACT. YOU ARE GETTING IN WITH THE ORGANIZERS OF THE COMPANY AT GROUND FLOOR PRICES. YOU ARE COMING INTO A BONA FIDE PARTNERSHIP WITH US AND WITH NO PARTNERSHIP RESPONSIBILITIES. Read what Mr, Van Wagenen, one of the foremost mining engineers of the country has to say: "I would advise the immediate erection of a ten-stamp mill with cyanide equipment, to treat your gold ores, and a separate concentrating plant to handle your copper pyrites, thus reducing the shipping weight 6 to 1, and eventually put in a smelter in connection with the mill, with a ten-stamp mill on your property and a daily production of 50 tons of ore. I CAN PROMISE YOU A NET EARNING OF $300.00 PER DAY or $109,500 per year and that can be increased to ten times as much as soon as tunnels A and B are finished, and added milling equipment is installed. The economical method is the best. Start with a ten-stamp mill and let your stockholders be content with 10 per cent per annum until you have increased your milling facilities, and install your smelting plant to treat your concentrates. THEN YOU CAN PAY THEM 400 TO 500 PER CENT DIVIDENDS PER YEAR FOR THE NEXT TEN YEARS ON THE PRESENT VALUATION OF YOUR STOCK, 5 CENTS PER SHARE, and this out of the new discovered vein alone." Now if you want to get in with us on this proposition you must act quickly, for the present allotment of shares will not last long. The man who buys now will get his shares at the very rock bottom price. The one who waits until later will without a doubt pay many times what it is being offered for now. Arrangements may be made to pay for your subscription on the easy payment plan. Write at once for full information and detailed literature explaining all about it. Write today. Do not wait another minute or you may be too late.

HOGS MORE IMPORTANT.

At the Expense of His Colleagues in Legislature—Says They Lead.

Toronto, March 3.—Hogs are considered more important than children."

This was the statement made by [illegible] Studholme, M.P.P., in support of child labor to the Federated Building Trades, at the Labor Temple last night. He claimed that in certain Eastern townships children who ought to be in school were working in canning factories.

In attacking the recent increase in the salaries of members of the Legislature from $1,000 to $1,400, Mr. Studholme said:

"I am one of the aristocracy. I have to work only five days a week, and some times for only twenty minutes a day. It makes no matter, when you are a member of the Legislature, whether you attend the sessions daily or stay away two weeks. All you do is sign a cheque and you get your pay."

When he touched on reciprocity, he claimed that the manufacturers wanted free trade in labor, and high protection on their products. Italians and other European immigrants were allowed to pour in and keep down the standard of wages for working men. This was not economic. The records of the Toronto Post-Office showed that $13,000,000 had been sent to Italy from Canada last year.

Others speaking were Messrs. John Bruce, W. A. Douglas, and W. Nettleship.

AN EXTRA SESSION CALLED FOR MAR. 15

PRESIDENT TAFT WILL CALL AN EXTRA SESSION FOR THAT DATE—DEMOCRATS ARE OPPOSED.

Consul-General Foster Summoned to Washington from Ottawa to Offer Advice to Executive.

Washington, D.C., Mar. 3.—The Canadian reciprocity agreement having been side-tracked and the present session of Congress ending at noon to-morrow, President Taft has under consideration to-day various dates suggested for the calling of an extra session. Even the most optimistic legislators declare that an extra session is assured. It probably will convene March 20.

April 4 was tentatively agreed upon last week by the President and Messrs. Clark and Underwood, who will be the Democrat leaders of the next house.

HIS FIRST INTENTION.

The President's first intention was to issue the call for March 14, but he was appealed to by the men who will be the next speaker and chairman of the Ways and Means defer it six weeks beyond the termination of the present session.

When he demurred to this suggestion, they proposed April 4th and the President took that date under advisement.

Since then he has been consulting Republican members of the Senate and House and they have expressed a decided preference for a much earlier date, and for this reason March 20th is now practically certain to be the time set.

The President is still working for the reciprocity agreement, John G. Foster, U.S. Consul General of Ottawa, has arrived here on a summons from the President, and a member of the Canadian Cabinet was reported to be on his way here for a conference. Senators and representatives said that the result of this conference would determine the President in his stand for an extra session.

WHITE PAPER ON U. S. TARIFF DEAL

BRITISH GOVERNMENT DECIDES TO MAKE AN OFFICIAL STATEMENT OF SUBJECT.

What Bryce Really Did—Will Show Asquith Didn't Try to Spike the Guns of Tariff Reformers.

London, March 3.—So persistent have been the attempts of the tariff reformers in the House of Commons to ascertain how far the British Government and Ambassador Bryce were involved in the Canadian-American reciprocity negotiations, that the Government has decided to issue soon a "white paper" on the subject, including the Ambassador's report of the whole matter.

The tariff party charge that the British Government engineered Canadian consent to reciprocity with United States in order to spike the guns of the Imperial preference.

Another batch of questions was made at to-day's session, but beyond saying that the action of the ambassador at Washington had the approval of the Government, Sir Edward Grey refused to discuss the subject piecemeal. The Foreign Secretary proposed, he said, to defer further statements until the "white paper" had been issued.

Farmers Ask That Pollution of the Otonabee River Cease

ASSERTS THAT MILK REFUSED BY CHEESE FACTORIES ON ACCOUNT OF SEWAGE-TAINTED PASTURE IS SENT IN REGULARLY TO PETERBOROUGH.

A Deputation From Otonabee and the Monaghans Interviewed the Council Last Night.

A committee from the Townships of Otonabee and North and South Monaghan waited upon the City Fathers in committee of the whole last night, with a view to having Peterborough's sewage undergo a septic tank treatment before being discharged into the Otonabee. The chairman of this committee, Mr. Porter, of Otonabee, was not present, neither was its secretary, Mr. Porter, Clerk of South Monaghan.

The remarks of the visiting farmers left upon their audience the impression that milk which is refused by a certain cheese factory because of the sewage tainted quality of the pasture upon which one farmer's cattle feed is purchased regularly by the Peterborough creamery; and that fish are becoming scarce and the surviving finnie denizens of our waters developing unhealthy sores upon their backs by reason of the oil and grease and sewage ingredients freely mixed with their natural food, as a result of Peterborough's growth and assumption of twentieth century conveniences. The deputation offered that they were supported by the Provincial Board of Health in their demand upon Peterborough city for a radical change in the disposal of its sewage, in the interests not only of townships represented, but this city itself. And Mr. Clark sarcastically referred to what he called Peterborough's inconsistency in objecting to sewage being emptied into the lakes above this city by a few cottagers, and industriously pursuing a policy of discharging its refuse into the Otonabee, detrimental to the interests of residents in Otonabee and North and South Monaghan.

Mr. Waterman, Reeve of South Monaghan, said the river is nothing but a cesspool for ten miles below Peterborough.

Mr. Clark arraigned Superintendent McClellan, of the Trent Valley Canal, for not permitting the escape of the spring freshets. The sewage-contaminated waters back up and flood the pastures, a disease fungus thus gathers on the grass, which cattle eat later on. He had lost a cow by this means. Sewage water, and pasture that has lain under it for weeks cannot be healthy for cattle, he contended. During April, May and June, every year, he added, a large portion of his pasture is covered with stagnant water, and he could not see that Mr. McClellan is justified in holding the river to abnormally high level, not even in the interests of navigation. There may be seen in the water enough dirty, greasy and oily stuff from the carpet factory, dye works, Matthew's pork packing house and the Edison works to poison all the cattle in the townships affected. Returning to his complaint that the river is held at too high a level, he offered that this was done in the interests of Hastings.

To the Mayor, Mr. Clark admitted that he had secured damages from the Government after fighting fourteen years for redress, commencing with a Conservative Government.

Mr. Wm. Doyell had lost four of his horses a year ago, in the fall and early winter; they contracted a sort of spinal disease that produced paralysis of the throat and tongue, the result, he contended, of their drinking the Otonabee's sewage-contaminated water. He had been advised to this effect by an expert vetinary. His farm is 8¼ miles below Peterborough and half a mile beyond Hall's Bridge. During the spring months the odor from the marshes is simply unbearable. The water backs in over 10 or 15 acres of his pasture, and when it recedes millions of flies swarm about the decaded refuse deposited there from Peterborough's outfall sewer. And fish are being killed off, he concluded; there is not one to every hundred we had before Peterborough's sewerage system was installed.

Mr Higgins, who farms on the banks of the Otonabee, offered that his milk had been refused by the cheese factory who notified him that it would not be accepted whilst his cows fed off the river marsh pasture. He had no compunction, however, in stating that his cows still fed on this pasture and he sent their milk to the Peterborough creamery. He had not lost any cattle, but four calves went blind; they received their sight, however. He attributed his misfortunes to Peterborough's sewage.

Mr. Breckenridge was another farmer who couldn't see the consistency in Peterborough dumping its sewage into the river and cutting ice therefrom for domestic use. He had noticed many fish with large sores on them in consequence of their contact with Peterborough's refuse. He lives ten miles from the city, and had no stock die, although a considerable portion of his land had been flooded at times. He also had enjoyed damages from the Government. His cattle feed off the river marsh pasture, and their milk he sends to Mr. Gillespie of the Peterborough creamery, who had never complained.

Ald. Duncan contended that the farmers were justified in their complaint. The river, he said, is in a disgraceful condition: the words are full of sewage matter and a menace not only to farmers, but also to pleasure seekers. One will find crawfish covered with oil and grease from Matthew's packing house and the gas works. He advised the installation of septic tanks, and did not think a sewage farm would work satisfactorily on account of frost.

Ald. Graham replied that he knew from experience that no refuse is dumped into the river from the Matthews packing house.

Ald. Metheral—"We ought to have the water analysed to a distance of ten miles down the river, at different seasons of the year, to see how the water is affected by our sewerage system."

His Worship thought this a good suggestion.

Ald. Graham contended that if discharging oil and grease into the river was stopped there would be no complaint forthcoming.

Ald. Buller, said that horses that had never seen the river were from the same complaint as mentioned by Mr. Deyell. This was the result of a chill. And it is a common occurrence for cattle and horses to go blind. Those things come along in regard to horses and cattle that never drank the Otonabee's water at all.

Mr. Deyell replied that unless grass is scarce his horses will not pasture along the river. Before the sewage went into the Otonabee they ate readily enough of the grass contingent to it.

The Mayor promised the deputation due investigation into their complaint. This, however, will take time, as it will be necessary to analyze the water at different periods, to a distance of ten miles below Peterborough.

After the deputation had retired a resolution, requesting the Peterborough Light & Power Co. to see that the gas works discontinues discharging its refuse into the river, was passed.

The Medical Health Officer will also be instructed to procure samples of water from the river to a distance of ten miles below the city, at such times as he thinks advantageous and examine same himself, and send samples to the Provincial Laboratory for examination.

ISOLATION HOSPITAL.

Ald. Graham moved, seconded by Ald. Metheral,—That the Board of Management of the Isolation Hospital be authorized to engage nurses and other help as may be needed.—Carried.

The Board of Management will probably consist of the Mayor, Chairman of the Property Committee and a member appointed by the medical association.

CLEAN-MOUTH LEAGUE HAS BEEN ORGANIZED.

Kingston, March 3.—The Clean Mouth League has just been organized at Kemptville, and it is hoped it will spread to all parts of the Dominion. The purpose is to clean language from profane ejaculations and impure expressions. Members pledge themselves to avoid these and to use their influence for pure speech. It is hoped to train the conscience of the rising generation to better things and to put away profanity, coarseness, and vulgarity, which too often stands for smartness.

Quebec Elections Likely Before Another Session

Quebec, March 4.—Several caucuses of different groups of Liberal members have been held recently, and as an outcome, there is a consensus of opinion that the present session is the last of the Provincial Legislature as now constituted, and that the Provincial elections will take place in the autumn or winter next.

The idea is to hold the provincial elections before the general elections of the Dominion take place.

Woman Pardoned in Infanticide Case

Mrs. Robinson, Who Was Driven to Crime by Disgrace, Is Set at Liberty.

Kingston, March 3.—Mrs. Robinson sentenced for the death of children, born to her daughter, her husband being the father, was released from the penitentiary this morning. She was pardoned. She left for Sudbury near which place she lived.

Ever since she entered the penitentiary in October, 1909, the women of Canada have been working for her release.

Mrs. Robinson swore she was driven to the crime in an attempt to cover up the family disgrace.

Her husband is spending twenty years in prison.

She Imposed on Lord Strathcona

Wrote Him Letters Begging for Assistance and Was Finally Charged With Fraud.

London, March 3.—Emily St. Leger who defrauded Lord Strathcona through begging letters, was sentenced to three months imprisonment to-day.

A FATAL ACCIDENT.

A very sad accident occurred at the C.G.E. Works on Thursday afternoon which resulted in the death of a young man named James Borland. It appears that the deceased in some way became entangled in a coil of wire and was thrown against a revolving wheel. Before the machinery could be stopped his leg was broken in two places and he was otherwise badly injured. Dr. Young was at once called, and had the sufferer removed to Nicholls Hospital, where he was operated on and his wounds dressed. For a time he seemed to be doing well, but early yesterday morning his heart ceased to beat and he passed away.

The deceased was about 40 years of age, and lived with his widowed mother on Victoria street, for whom there is much sympathy.

Besides his mother, the survivors are three brothers, Alfred, of Kansack, Sask.; Lewis, of Calgary, and Gilbert of Peterborough.

Starving Chinese Killed In Fight for Bread

Hankow, China, March 3.—Twenty-one persons were trampled to death at Sha Yang, Hupeh Province, to-day, when a horde of starving Chinese fought for the food which the missionaries were attempting to distribute. A great many others were injured.

The work of relief is attended with some peril to those who have taken supplies into the famine districts, as the natives in many instances are mad with deprivation.

To-day a considerable amount of foodstuffs was received by the missionaries, who immediately planned a systematic distribution. Their work was hardly begun when thousands of desperate men, women and children, who had learned that there was a chance of their hunger being half-satisfied, swooped down upon the supply depot.

An uncontrollable riot followed. Each fought for himself, and the weaker went down and were ruthlessly trampled. The fighting continued as long as there were eatable to fight for.

The missionaries were helpless.

Dr. Samuel Cochran, engaged in the work of relief, has written to Peking saying that 1,000,000 persons will die before the next crop is harvested.

The finals for the target shooting contest, for professionals and amateurs, will be shot off to-night at the Peterboro Cigar Store and Billiard Parlors. There will be three prizes this week—two for amateur and one for professional, and are well worth contesting for.

MR. LLOYD HARRIS BREAKS FROM PARTY

THE AMERICAN-JAPANESE TREATY IS RATIFIED.

Tokio, March 3.—Official announcement was made to-day of the ratification of American-Japanese treaty by the Imperial Government.

An accompanying note says: "The Government is convinced that the treaty will consolidate the bonds of true international friendship between the two countries."

Man and His Wife Brutally Treated

Four Young Farmers Accused and Two of Them Under Arrest.

Bowmanville, Mar. 3.—Just east of Orona, in Clarke Township, on Sunday night, four men attacked Thomas Bradley and his wife, and brutally treated them both. Bradley was held helpless and unable to do anything to protect his wife.

Two bachelor farmers living near Newtonville, in Clarke Township, were arrested yesterday, the names given being Luther Brown and Wilson McManus, aged 21 and 27, respectively. These men are in the lock-up here. Two other young men are supposed to be accomplices, and are likely to be apprehended soon.

Great excitement prevails throughout the district, as all the persons mentioned are respectably connected.

The prisoners appeared before the Police Magistrate, Mr. Horsley, and were charged with assault on Bradley and his wife. County Crown Attorney W. F. Kerr, of Cobourg, being unable to attend, the prisoners were not allowed to plead, but were remanded till Tuesday next.

ANOTHER LIBERAL HAS BROKEN AWAY FROM HIS PARTY ON RECIPROCITY PACT.

Will Speak Next Week Against the Measure—The Fourth Break on the Agreement.

Ottawa, March 3.—Against the Government proposals of reciprocity another bolter is recorded to-day. It is Lloyd Harris, M.P., for Brantford.

It was known all along that he did not like the agreement and in caucus is said to have complained of not having been consulted, but it was not doubted he would line up with the party. It was noticed that when Mr. German, of Welland, was attacking the agreement yesterday afternoon, Mr. Harris was inclined to applaud.

MAKES POSITION CLEAR.

This morning he made his position clear. "I am against reciprocity," he said, "and I intend to speak and vote against it."

"What will be your line of argument," was asked. "I will speak next week, and I prefer to reserve till then my reasons for breaking with the party," he replied.

Mr. Harris has always been regarded as one of the strong men of the Liberal party, whose views carry weight. His defection is the fourth from the ranks of the Liberals on reciprocity, the others are Mr. Sifton, Mr. German and Mr. Sealey. The last mentioned makes his position plain, "I intend," he said, "to speak as soon as I can get on the list and moveau amendment to exclude fruit and vegetables from the agreement, otherwise I am against it."

The other three members are out-and outers in opposition to the whole business.

Three Lives Blotted Out by an Explosion

THIRTY THOUSAND DEAD FROM PLAGUE.

Peking, March 3.—Famine and the plague are sweeping over China. The known deaths from the plague number 30,000, and according to the official statements the death rate averages 200 daily. But the officials have little knowledge of the conditions in the interior.

A TERRIBLE ACCIDENT AT THE ONTARIO POWER PLANT AT NIAGARA FALLS.

Three Men Were Sent to Their Death by a Terrible Explosion Yesterday Morning.

Niagara Falls, Ont., March 3.—A terrific explosion that could be heard for miles around sent three men to their death this morning shortly after 8 o'clock. The dead are all residents of New York State, while the two fatally injured are Ontario men. The explosion took place in the wheel pit between the eighth and ninth machines of the Ontario Power Company below the bank on the Canadian side. A large gang of men were at work, having been on duty about an hour. They were nearly all carpenters doing repair jobs. The accident occurred apparently without the slightest warning, the bodies being suddenly hurled high into the air or mangled beyond recognition against the sides of the pit.

How the horrible catastrophe happened is not yet known. There are three theories advanced; one that a vein of natural gas was struck; another that a quantity of oxygen such as is used in fusing, exploded, and a third that a stick of dynamite had been left unexploded in the pit some of the tools coming in contact with it.

An investigation is being carried on.

STAMPED HEEL UPON HER FACE

TITLED MURDERER STABS AND KICKS VICTIM AFTER SHOOTING THE PRINCESS.

Rome, March 3.—Queen Helena is prostrated with grief over the tragedy of love and jealousy which yesterday cost the life of her favorite lady-in-waiting, Princess Dragona, who was shot and killed by Baron Vincenzo Paterno, a dashing young Italian cavalry officer.

The police stated this morning that Baron Paterno had died from the wounds he inflicted upon himself after murdering the beautiful court lady in the obscure hotel Ristocchion, but another report was that he had been secretly immured in one of the Royal fortresses.

The body of the slain noblewoman was still lying at the hotel to-day, pending the result of an official investigation of the crime. It will be taken back to Sicily for burial by her brother, Prince Tasco di Cato, a Socialist Deputy in Parliament.

Though a court scandal has for some time connected the names of the Baron and the Princess, this was obligated to-day in court circles by the grief felt over the death of the beautiful woman, who had been a universal favorite.

That the Princess was murdered because she had decided to end a love affair with the Baron is the general belief. Her husband had already brought suit for a separation and for some time Queen Helena had been trying to effect a reconciliation.

It is even said to-day that the Princess had consulted the Queen as to the advisability of a final meeting with Paterno and had been warned not to go to the hotel to meet him.

Physicians who were called to the hotel after the tragedy described the murder as one of the most brutal that had ever come under their observation. After the Baron had shot her, following an attempt to escape from the room, he stabbed her body three times and then stamped with his heel upon her face. The physicians said that the wounds show that the beautiful victim was already dead when she was stabbed and kicked.

OUR LATENT FUEL DEPOSITS.

The resources of fuel in the peat bogs of the central Provinces of Canada are enormous, says Dr. Eugene Haanel, Director of Mines, Ottawa. He estimates that there is contained in the known bogs, covering 12,000 square miles, fuel sufficient to supply over 5,000,000 families for 100 years. A peat-fuel plant, such as is used in Sweden and Russia, has been erected on a bog near Alfred, Ontario, which last season manufactured 1,600 tons of peat fuel in fifty days. The cost of this fuel on the field should not be more than $1.50 per ton.

THE NEW MINISTRY IN FRANCE.

There is little doubt that the new French cabinet will adhere to the Briand programme and policies in all essentials, just as the late premier continued the policies of Clemenceau. The objections to the "strong" and aggressive Briand were apparently personal; he alienated certain supporters of the "bloc" or majority by his "arbitrary manner" rather than by the things he actually did or proposed.

The new premier is respectable and conciliatory. He will make fewer enemies, although he will arouse little enthusiasm. He has experience and knowledge of public life and public affairs, and more brilliant and forceful men are willing to take office under him because they know they will enjoy considerable freedom and autonomy. It was said of Clemenceau and Briand that they were "the government," the other ministers being mere clerks. In contemporary France, we have been frequently told by good observers, the too powerful politician excites too much jealousy and apprehension.

So long as the chamber remains what it is, and the majority is made up of the same groups and alliances, a change of premiers and cabinets can involve no departure from the ideas of the last decade. Socially and politically the French Republic "stands pat."

CIVIL SERVICE SALARIES.

Judson C. Welliver, in an article in Munsey's Magazine, says there are two hundred thousand people serving the United States Government for salaries ranging from twenty dollars a month upward, who, if they worked for almost any other employer, would be on a strike, and that the strikers would win. The writer combats with energy the prevalent notion that civil service employes are underworked and overfed, and are holding "political snaps."

Probably this notion grew up in the earlier years of the Republic, when living was comparatively cheap, and wages and salaries in other occupations comparatively low. The cost of living has greatly increased in recent years, and, at the same time, the growth of huge corporations, railways, industrial and commercial concerns, have given rise to salaries far in excess of those paid in the civil service. To a certain extent, we have had a similar experience in Canada.

In spite of its disadvantages "a Government job" does possess a fascination for a good many people. There is an idea that it is more secure and comfortable than employment in a privately-owned concern. And this inducement may be especially strong in the United States, where business life is extremely strenuous, and where there is a certain ruthlessness in dispensing with employes who do not keep up in the race.

For this reason a Government is in a position to obtain efficient service at salaries considerably lower than those paid by private employers. But this advantage ought not to be abused, and a plea such as that put forward by Mr. Welliver ought to have a fair hearing.

DEAD MAN OPENS EYES.

Relapses Again Into Peculiar Coma After few Seconds.

South Norwalk, Conn., March 4.—William Shirdhorn, who has been described as being scientifically dead, but physically alive, for the last seven days, and whose case is exciting much attention among physicians, rallied for a few seconds to-day, opening his eyes and seeming to recognize the members of his family. He then relapsed into his peculiar coma, in which no respiration or pulse is distinguishable.

Life can only be detected by use of needles or electricity. Physicians think that there still is a chance of the patient's living should he emerge from his present state of coma.

TO HOLD OPIUM TRADE OF INDIA WITH CHINA.

Lormer Will Not Sacrifice Large Revenues Without Some Benefit ing Nation.

Calcutta, March 4.—Discussing the opium question at a meeting of the viceroy's council, Sir Guy F. Wilson, after referring to the large surplus in revenue from opium, said he could not consent that India should suffer losses which brought no corresponding benefit, for the cause of reforms in China, and the government should therefore safeguard India's legitimate interests so long as India's trade exists.

Later he again referred to the large opium revenue as a cause of anxiety, and intimated that in the course of time the Indian people would be called upon to make sacrifices in the cause of humanity. He prophesied India would not shrink from bearing her share of the burden of uplifting a sister nation.

The budget came up for consideration at to-day's meeting of the council. Sir Guy introduced a bill reducing the import tax on tobacco, cigars and cigarettes by one-third.

BUILDING OPERATIONS.

List of Permits Taken Out for the Month of February.

During the past month of February seven permits were taken out for an estimated expenditure of $5,500, and the list is as follows:—

E. Wand, 332 Burnham street — Enlarge dwelling, $300.

Peterborough Lock Co.—Alteration at factory, $200.

J. C. Turnbull Co.—Alterations at store, $200.

Canadian Chicle Co.—Erect factory, $3,650.

C. M. Moncier—Alterations to store on George street, $300.

W. J. Taylor—Alterations to stores at 311-315 George street, $500, and the same work at 303-305 George St. $400.

The permit of the Chicle Company is rather belated, the building being erected.

Chicago Millionaire Committed Suicide

Chicago, March 3.—Fred —, Maus, millionaire director of the Scully Steel and Iron Co. shot and killed himself at his home yesterday.

The body was not found until late last night, when the police, called by Maus' servants, broke open the door of his bedroom, and found the body in a chair, a revolver clutched in his right hand. He had fired a bullet into his brain.

Mr. Maus had been dispondent since the death of his wife several years ago. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. George Duquette of Chicago, and Mrs. W. H. O'Brien of New York city.

SHOULD CHURCHES TRANSGRESS.

Bobcaygeon Independent:—Several newspapers have been touched for fines and costs through overlooking the law regarding lotteries. Section 139 of the Criminal code is to the effect that any person who makes or printscards, advertises, or is in any way responsible for any plan or scheme for lending, giving, selling, or in any way disposing of any property by lots, cards, tickets, or any mode of chance whatever, or who sells or otherwise disposes by other means to the same purposes, or who conducts any lottery or scheme is liable to two years imprisonment and a fine of $2,000.

Exception is made in the case of bazaars for charitable or religious objects where raffles for prizes of a value less than $50 may take place, provided permission is obtained from the Mayor or Reeve where the Bazaar is held, and the article raffled for has first been offered for sale.

It is well that raffles, lotteries and games of chance should be suppressed but it is difficult to understand why churches above everything else should be permitted to do that which is admittedly destructive to public morality.

Is This Wholesale Poisoning?

Helena, Ark., Mar. 1.—Four children of William Ray, a timber man of Elaine, are dead, and his wife and two other children are in the hospital suffering from ptomaine poisoning, or the family will probably be poisoned or accidentally infested by ptomaine has not been determined. Pending investigation, Will Crag, a negro cook, is detained.

ASSETS OF THE COMPANY

$10,000,000 of stock still in the Treasury.

$10,000,000 pooled for 9 and 18 months.

500 acres of land; value, $3,000 per acre.

6,500 feet deep waterfrontage; value, $200 per front foot.

154 patent improvements obtained over the present most modern sleeping car as shown by patent rights and model and approved by railway experts.

A subsidy obtained from the Municipality of North Vancouver of 5 per cent. for 15 years on $200,000, and freedom from taxation of our plant and 30 acres of land for 10 years.

A subsidy obtained from the Dominion of Canada, 4½ per cent. for 25 years on $1,214,000, for the purpose of building a dry dock of 15,000 tons at Roslyn, the Company's townsite.

A very valuable brick clay deposit has been discovered on the Company's property. This will be developed to its fullest capacity, as brick clay is very rare here, Vancouver even importing from Seattle millions of brick annually.

NOTE.—A shareholder participates in every asset of the Company.

LIABILITIES OF THE COMPANY

Amount yet owing on land, extending over a period of four years, $446,000.

REMARKS

MORE LANDS

The Company proposes to purchase lands surrounding their townsite, and to this end are securing options on about 250 acres, with about 2,800 feet of deep waterfrontage adjoining that which they now own.

MINES

They have also secured an optian of purchase of a group of ten claims of very valuable iron deposits situated within twelve miles of their townsite. The Company believe, located as they are in a country which abounds with everything necessary to the smallest detail for turning out a perfect car, should go to nature's storehouse for their material, and with this end in view have secured the above group.

SHIPBUILDING

In addition to building the Imperial Sleeping Car, cars of every description will be contracted for, and just as soon as their dry dock is completed, the Company intend to use it to the greatest advantage in building ships of the largest tonnage. As there will be but three or four docks in the whole Dominion, they will encounter but very little competition in the building of the larger class of vessels.

SALE OF LANDS

The Company do not intend to sell any of its land until its dry dock, car works, sawmills and other industries are in operation, and in this way secure as nearly as possible all the profit derived from the establishment of these great works.

CLEARING OF LAND

The Municipality of North Vancouver have under consideration a proposition from the Company whereby the Company promise to clear their whole townsite on condition the Municipality will at once clear and grade all the streets, charging the cost of same to local improvement taxes. The Municipality view the Company's proposition with great favor. This plan would at least double the price of the Company's holdings.

PURCHASING STOCK

A small block of stock is now on the market and can be had on very easy terms of payment. This once sold, the Company will have no difficulty to borrow on their assets at from 4 to 5 per cent. any money they will require for improvement purchases, and in this case all stock will be withdrawn from the market.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

AN OLD PROSPECTOR

Around the British Empire in the Hunt For Gold

Brown visaged, with keen, observant eyes and an active form, Mr. Robert P. Banner, one of the men who have prospected for and mined gold in most parts of the Empire, is now in London.

"I had a good deal to do with the natives," Mr. Banner says, "especially those from Lake Mitsaui and Nyassaland. They told me of a people who were there in the days of their forefathers, with whom, as their legends declare, they fought a great war. They say they were not white people, and from their general description I should think they were Arabs.

"We found many curious things, indicating beyond dispute an ancient civilization. For instance, at one place where I was prospecting we broke into gold workings that must have been thousands of years old. There were great masses of slag, also, such as one finds in the neighborhood of iron foundries, and huge crucibles which had been used for separating gold from dross. Apparently they had worked in a similar manner to ourselves, for there were lumps of slag, the shape of the crucibles, from which the metal had been abstracted by precipitation. Our crucibles are no improvement on those I found there, which were practically indestructible."

Mr. Banner had some exciting experiences in the wilder parts of the American continent, and on Christmas Eve in 1883 witnessed a murder and lynching at Durango, which was then a township of La Plata, Colorado, chiefly inhabited by men of the toughest kind.

"On Christmas Eve, 1883, at Durango," he said, "everything was going on very pleasantly, when suddenly a shot was heard, and a man from Lake City fell dead. The murderer walked coolly out of the door unmolested, but the Marshall shouted, 'A hundred dollars reward for the man who arrests the murderer—Big Charlie is the man.'

"It was not long before Big Charlie was clapped into the calaboose, or jail, with a couple of men, armed with Winchesters, to keep him safe.

"Then the dead man was rolled into a corner of the saloon, covered with a cloth from the billiard table, and five minutes afterwards the floor manager yelled, 'Gentlemen, please select your partners for a quadrille.' And the ball went on as merrily as if the man had not been killed.

"Next evening forty or fifty of the Vigilance Committee, headed by Judge Lynch, took Big Charlie from the jail, led him to a pine tree, and made him mount three boxes that had been placed under the boughs.

"'You're going to die,' said the captain of the Vigilance Committee, 'for killing a man without giving him a chance to defend himself. Have you anything to say?'

"'Yes,' replied the doomed man. 'I will give you the address of my mother and sister in Ohio. Tell them what happened, and say whisky was the cause of the whole thing.'

"'Time's up,' said the captain. 'Do you prefer to jump from the boxes like a man, or shall we shoot you off?' A rope noose had been placed around his neck, and as there was but little slack either alternative meant strangulation. Big Charlie was game enough, and leaped into eternity."

From the United States Mr. Banner went prospecting in British Columbia, and learned more of its possibilities as a mineral yielding area than most of us know even now.

Next he went to Australia, prospecting and mining in every part of Australasia. There he has gone to the edge of the great deserts, has suffered semi-starvation and the torture of thirst, as well as lesser evils. "The natives," he explains, "would not tell the whites where the water was to be found. So they used to tie them up until they got so thirsty that immediately upon being released they would rush to the water."

Mr. Banner, in spite of his hard experiences is anxious to get off again, and is at present inclined towards British Columbia, or the unexplored parts of Canada.

AS AN ERRAND BOY

Sir Baden-Powell Tells an Interesting Story of Sir Thomas Lipton

Major-General Sir Robert Baden-Powell, addressing the boys of the Mercers' School, Holborn, London, at the annual prize-giving the other day, told an interesting story of the early life of Sir Thomas Lipton, with whom he had been staying.

Sir Thomas, he said, started work as an errand boy. He afterwards went to America as a cabin-boy, and on arrival a hotel agent touted among the passengers. Seeing the boy forlorn, and hearing he hadn't a penny, the agent offered him ten days' free board and lodging if he could bring twelve emigrants to his hotel. Lipton brightened up at once, because he had become very friendly with the emigrants through writing their letters, he being the only one in the steerage who could read or write. The emigrants were quite willing to go to the hotel, and the boy got his free board and time to look around for a berth.

G.T.P. WILL CARRY GRAIN

The Grand Trunk Pacific line between Fort William and Winnipeg is completed and it is expected that it will be handed over to the G.T.P. by the contractors in October. The road will be hauling grain the latter part of October, and expects to handle as much as over the western lines last fall, which was 7,000,000 bushels.

WIFE KEPT IN CHAINS

M. Parat, the chemist of the Rue Vaugirard, Paris, who some months ago was arrested for brutally ill-treating his wife, and was sent to an asylum for the insane, has been discharged as cured. Parat kept his wife in a dark room chained by the hands and ankles. Parat had gone to Belgium, and is bringing a suit against his wife to obtain the custody of his children.

LOVE'S TEST

"Do you love me?" asked the maiden, as around the room they sped, 'neath the decorations laden with bright berries, white and red. "Do you love me?" she repeated. "Yes, I love you!" he replied, with a fervor warm and heated. "Ah, but prove it, dear!" she cried. "Listen, then," the young man told her, as around that room they danced; and his loving eyes grew bolder as into hers they glanced. "When I called last night, my dearest, though the hours did loudly chime, and the clock to me was nearest, why, I never knew the time!" "That is nothing!" quoth she, pouting. "Let me hear some nobler test." He replied: "If you're still doubting if my love is real or jest, hark to this: Your sweet dog, Touser, when I kissed your lips last night, bit big bunches from my trousers—but I never felt the bite!"

A piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Liniment and bound on to the affected parts is superior to any plaster. When troubled with lame back or pains in the side or chest give it a trial and you are certain to be more than pleased with the prompt relief which it affords. Sold by all dealers.

VIOLET ASQUITH

Her Speech to Salvation Army Cadets

"On behalf of my father, I wish for the Salvation Army cadets that inspiration and strength may not fail them, and that their splendid campaign against disease and ignorance and pain may be crowned with success." With this message Miss Violet Asquith, daughter of the Prime Minister, concluded a touching and pretty speech which she made after delivering certificates in domestic hygiene to 272 Salvation Army cadets in England.

Mrs. Lloyd George spoke of the necessity of good food and pure air in the making of a healthy race. As a nation we suffered from bad food and too much drink, although she understood that people were drinking less since the tax was put on whiskey. (Laughter.) Poor people did not get enough and rich people got too much good food and drink. Thing were very unevenly divided, but we wanted a strong and healthy nation, and, above all, a moral and sober nation. (Hear, hear.) Sir J. D. Crichton-Browne, in his opening address, said he believed that the great white plague, tuberculosis, which was carrying off 70,000 of our people every year, and crippling and disabling 300,000, might be extinguished in less than thirty years if we would only use the means at our disposal, and these means were mainly sanitary.

HANGED FOR CURIOSITY

His Head Swelled and the Hole Got Smaller

Once, when working on the Midland Railway, I had to go from Birmingham to Wolverhampton, says a correspondent. I was in a compartment alone, when I soon discovered that my mate had failed to put the lamp in at the top. Thinking he had just put it outside the aperture and forgotten it, I placed my box end-up on the seat, and, standing on it, squeezed my head through the hole to seek the lamp. Immediately my eyes were filled with smuts from the engine, and I tried to get my head back. Alas! my head seemed to have swollen, and the hole to have shrunk! In making desperate efforts to liberate myself, I succeeded in kicking my box over, and there I was, hanging from the roof, with my feet a good yard from the floor.

I kicked, yelled, groaned, and screamed for what seemed hours, and at last succeeded in attracting the attention of passengers in the next compartment, when the train was stopped and I was extricated, just as I thought all was up.

Although I nearly met my death from hanging, the company reprimanded me, and suspended me from work for a week.

JUGGLING WITH HER LIFE

A Woman's Desperate Method of Frightening Husband

Desperate measures were taken by Kate Heil, Halifax, England, to frighten her husband. Seeing a candle burning in a cellar window, P. C. Stevenson stopped on his beat shortly after midnight, and peered down into the basement. In the dim light he could see a woman in the cellar with a cord round her neck, suspended from a washing machine. She was shouting, "John," and her husband then appeared at the bottom of the cellar steps, and with a knife cut her down. The constable knocked at the door, and asked what the woman had been trying to do. She told him that her husband had threatened to leave her and that she had pretended to hang herself to frighten him. At the police court, Mrs. Wade was charged with attempting to commit suicide, and she was discharged on promising not to be so foolish again.

WILL GO 100 YEARS

Burton Jeweler Makes Clock Which Only Needs Winding Once in a Century

A clock which is said to go far towards solving the problem of "perpetual motion," was exhibited at the Burton-on-Trent Flower Show. The maker, a local watch and clock maker named Bentley, claimed originally that the mechanism would go, without winding or other interference, for fifty years, but now he says that it can be trusted to run uninterruptedly for a century. An important feature is an electric current obtained by means of two wires inserted in the earth and connected with the clock. Mr. Bentley is no novice in this direction. He already holds a gold medal, and has in his possession a clock which was started ten years ago, and has never since been wound. A feature of the flower show was the bridging of the Trent at its widest part, nearly sixty yards across, by the Burton Territorials, who employed eight piers of eight barrels, pontoon fashion, for the crowds to pass over.

OUTWITTED BY A BEAR

Dr. White Sends an Interesting Story From Wabigoon

Dr. White, of Wabigoon, Ont., writing to his home, expresses the wish that his father had been with him during the present spring, "to help him carry rotten eggs, vegetables, muskrats and pork to a bear." It appears, says Rod and Gun, as though he has on hand a job for all summer in keeping the animal fed.

Noting the bear's tracks, the Doctor took two barrels, made rope snares, which he placed over their mouths, and fixed a big lifting pole to the barrels. The bear put them off just as fast as he could set them up. The doctor and his wife came to the conclusion that the bear must take the bait out with his paw and never put his head in the barrel.

When visiting the trap on one occasion the Doctor and his wife saw a moose standing by the river. The moose allowed them to approach within thirty yards when he walked slowly into the water, crossed to the other side and went into the bush, still with the same deliberate action.

On reaching the trap the snares were found as usual. They were replaced and rebaited and on the following day as the bow of the canoe poked up the shore Mrs. White exclaimed: "Got him?" The bear merely remarked "Woof, woof!" which must have meant in this particular instance "Not yet!" for he jumped into the thicket before the Doctor could work his big revolver. On examining the place they found that the bear had been merely having a meal.

Refixing the snares and making a drop with about five hundred pounds on top they started home, one hundred yards down stream. This time they approached within twenty yards of the moose and then stopped, waiting for about ten minutes while the animal took a drink and began to feed, when he wandered back out of sight. On the next day the rifle was taken along, not for the moose of course, but for the bear. Once more the snare was off, and refixed with the noose made very small so that it would certainly catch him. On starting to float down home there was a crackle, and a careful scrutiny discovered Teddy in the brush, not twenty yards off. The doctor snatched up the rifle and fired quickly, fearing that the bear would jump away at once "but, say, he is tough—I can't kill him!"

The deadfall was down again next day, but there were a few hairs on it, looking as though the bear had allowed it to rest on his back till he had finished eating and then carelessly walked away. Once again it was refixed, with a load two hundred pounds heavier this time and a row of sharp stake placed in front. Next day there was quite a pinch of hair but that was all. A further two hundred pounds were added, more stakes were fixed and all preparations for trapping him made once more. The Doctor made sure of his bear this time that he was up at four o'clock in the morning and with gun, camera and skinning knife, went for his skin. When the Doctor and his wife arrived at the deadfall they stood looking at the debris without saying anything! The bait was eaten, the barrel broken up, and the heavy weights thrown about! Before they had recovered from their surprise a crunching noise was heard in the thicket—not forty yards away.

The Doctor crept carefully in, but the brush was too thick for him to see clearly. Within twenty yards of the animal the bear slipped by him and he went on to see what he was doing, finding a big log just torn open for ants.

The deadfall was rebuilt and a weight of one thousand pounds placed upon it.

The Doctor adds: If that weight doesn't kill him I think I shall feed him for the rest of the summer and not punish him so much. The last drop must have hurt him a little, for there was a lot of hair and some blood on the logs. Evidently he was caught too far back, and having good use of his front feet, was able to extricate himself.

The trout fishing is good, but I have been too busy feeding Teddy in my spare time to go out and get any.

GUNNERY RECORD

A gunnery record with her 9.2 guns is claimed by the flagship Minotaur, now of the China Station. The fore turret scored seven hits in eight rounds at 1,500 yards target, the ship steaming twelve knots and the time being 1 minute 31⅕ seconds.

THE HIGHEST SOPRANO

The Maritime Provinces have produced a young singer in the person of Miss Katherine Fleming, of Halifax, who is said to be the highest soprano yet discovered. She is a sister of T. P. Fleming of the St. John Street Railway.

WAR'S NEW HORROR

The Development of Flying Machines Brings Many New Methods of Destruction Into Consideration

Two interesting articles relative to the employment of aeroplanes or dirigibles in war, recently appeared in the organ of the Society of Paris. The first of these deals with experiments made by some officers of Chalais-Meudon in destroying dirigibles. Such experiments were made at the Eiffel Tower, and the method employed was to drop arrows, each [illegible] a small explosive charge which inflicts on coming in contact with the envelope of the balloon, setting fire to the gas. A number of small captive balloons were secured from the tower, and the arrows were dropped on them by hand from the first stage. In every case the arrows exploded, igniting the gas and destroying the balloons. Further experiments will be made at varying altitudes. The idea is that an aeroplane or dirigible with superior speed shall fly above the enemy's dirigible and drop the arrows upon it in passing.

The other article, which deals with the employment of aeroplanes as fighting machines, and not mere instruments of reconnaissance involves a good deal of somewhat dry mathematical calculations; but the object of the writer is to show that it is possible for an aviator to fly over hostile camps discharging bullets broadcast from his machine, and thereby inflicting considerable losses. He began by pointing out that aeroplanes have made flights of sixty miles carrying two passengers. If it is possible to do this, it would, according to the writer in Le Journal, be equally possible for the aviator to carry a quantity of bullets equal to the weight of two passengers. These need not be fired from a gun, because, according to the well-known law which governs the speed of falling bodies, the bullets only require to be released at a sufficient height to acquire sufficient velocity on reaching the ground to kill both men and horses. According to this law a bullet dropped from a height of 3,200 feet would have a velocity of about 460 feet per second on striking the ground. This altitude is easily within the range of aeroplanes and bullets falling from that height would certainly kill any man or horse if struck in a vital spot. The projectile of the French rifle weighs 25 grammes, and 100 kilogrammes, or about 225 pounds' weight, would contain some 4,000 bullets. One hundred kilogrammes would not, of course, weigh so much as two passengers, and, therefore, could easily be carried by a sufficiently powerful aeroplane. The aviator flying above massed troops could release this cloud of missiles, and probably cause a great number of casualties. He could fly a long way inside the enemy's position of attack, not among the scattered firing lines, but the reserves collected in thick masses of troop on the march, or even soldiers at rest in their tents in camp. In favorable circumstances an aeroplane could make four or five journeys of this kind daily, and fire the equivalent of 20,000 rounds of ammunition. The work could be repeated every day, and the French writer estimates that in this way each aeroplane would be equivalent to four regiments of infantry.

The writer also calculates that in attacking troops in masses, such as on the march or in reserve, at least one bullet in a hundred should be effective, so that each flight of the aeroplane would mean one hundred men killed or wounded. France now possesses at least fifty aeroplanes, which, as the writer estimates each to be equal to three thousand infantry, is equivalent to an army of 150,000 men. Apart from its mere destructive effect, the hail of bullets from an aeroplane might have very far-reaching effects in cases where it was able to be launched, for instance, against a group of general officers or the headquarters staff. It is also pointed out that if the aeroplane is fired at by the soldiers while overhead all the bullets discharged will fall back again on earth with destructive effect upon themselves, added to the effect of those dropped by the aviator. Finally the writer sets out the proposition that aeroplanes used in this way would be vastly superior to artillery as a death-dealing instrument. He urges that experiments should be begun immediately to ascertain the best method of employing them, and to learn the shape of bullet which will give the best penetration when dropped from a height.

MOOSE LEAVING MAINE

And Going to New Brunswick, Says Boston Doctor

Dr. Charles M. Whitney and Dr. A. C. Pearce, of Boston, recently spent some time in the backwoods of New Brunswick taking pictures of big game and enjoying life in the woods. Dr. Whitney is said to have the finest series of big game pictures in the world, and obtained between sixty and seventy more as a result of his recent trip. Dr. Pearce stated: "The moose are leaving Maine and coming to New Brunswick. I am sure I am right in my statement. I can also say that the moose down here appear wiser than those in Maine and more difficult to approach. Dr. Whitney saw over two hundred on his trip and I myself saw over one hundred. Some fine specimens were included, and the sportsmen coming to New Brunswick should increase annually."

LIVE GEESE AS DECOYS

Mr. George Carruthers, of Winnipeg, has trained some live geese as decoys and they act most effectively. The geese appear to know that they are safe however fierce may be the cannonade, and accordingly they continue to call down the passing flocks by every goosey wile of which they are capable. Many offers have been made for the use of these trained decoys, but their owner prefers to keep them under the cover of his own gun.

PUZZLES IN WEIGHTS

The weights and measures used in England are confusing to very many more than foreign visitors. Home men are frequently at a loss in making up their reckoning when they chance to be considerably afield in a strange district.

Some butchers and cattle-dealers of the old school still calculate by the Dutch stone of 17½ lbs. London men keep by the stone of 8 lbs., but in many parts of England, notably in the southern counties, the score of 20 lbs. is adhered to in making out weights of farm animals.

The cental of 100 lbs. is still kept to the coast side for wheat-weighing. Ireland, wheat goes at Mark Lane, for instance, at the quarter containing 496 lbs. In East Anglia the coomb of four bushels is used. Newcastle, Carlisle, and Darlington head by the boll of forty bushels. Berwick, Dunse, Kelso, and several other places buy and sell wheat as a rule on the basis of a boll of six bushels. Chester, Shrewsbury, Stratwich, and one or two other centres reckon the bushel of wheat at 70 lbs. At Monmouth, however, it is 60 lbs., but it is down to 66 lbs. at Aberystwyth, this being 3 lbs. over what some are inclined to reckon the Scottish standard. Old Symonds uses heavy their windle of 320 lbs., while their friends in Denbigh argue over a bushel of 560 lbs.

"GIVE YOUR SON A DEED"

If, by way of illustration, you will review the history of the men in your town who have made money out of real estate, you will find that in each and every instance their profits were made from real estate acquired at ground floor prices.

More money can be made by those who acquire a realty interest in a town at its inception per dollar invested than from investments made after a period of years.

Do you know that you can purchase with $5 cash a full sized residential lot in Bow City, Alberta

the logical location for a great city, a city which is destined to be known, the world over, as a market place annually for hundreds of thousands of bushels of grain, grown on the vast irrigated fields surrounding Bow City, a shipping point for coal from the great Bow Centre Collieries, and a purchasing depot for hundreds of prosperous farmers resident throughout Southern Alberta.

To-day is your opportunity to acquire an interest in Bow City at the ground floor price.

It will be too late six months hence, to apply for a lot in Bow City at the present prices and on such easy terms as are offered you in this advertisement.

Why not follow Russell Sage's advice given in a letter published some years ago to the fathers in the Western States:—

"Buy your son a lot in a town being the "centre of a great agricultural country—when "he comes of age that lot will be worth consid- "erable money and will provide a handsome "stake for him in life; it is at least most sub- "stantial life insurance—sure and certain."

Buy your son a $50 lot in Bow City, the coming metropolis of the western prairies. In a very short time he can re-sell the same at a big increase, which money he will find advantageous in business pursuits or in a college course.

Bow City, the centre of the great granary of Southern Alberta has a future concerning which no sane business man or banker has any doubt.

When you are assured of the success of the city, when you have proven to you beyond the shadow of a doubt that Bow City will, in the very near future, be one of the most active, one of the most progressive towns on the Western prairies, you should not hesitate to acquire at least one $50 residential lot, when same is on sale on such easy terms as 10 per cent cash and the balance 10 per cent per month until paid—a deed at any time.

Bow City is in the heart of a famous irrigated farming belt whose farmers are assured of a crop every year. They are prosperous and their prosperity will naturally enhance the value of Bow City real estate.

The great coal mines of Bow City will furnish work for 1,000 to 1,500 miners daily, these miners will constitute a substantial basis for a successful city.

The present owners of Bow City have decided that no licenses shall be issued for the sale of spirituous liquors; they intend that this great mining and agricultural centre shall be free from any traffic in intoxicating drinks—it will be a clean city.

Bow City is the headquarters of a railway which taps a territory unparalleled for richness in crops and natural resources.

The Sale of Bow City lots opened but a few days ago

If you are desirous of acquiring a $50 residential lot close in you should lose no time in making application by wire direct to the General Agents of the townsite, or to the nearest sub-agent.

Do not delay by sending your apulication by mail.

Wire at once your reservation for one or more lots. On receipt of wire your name will be placed on the closest-in unsold lot or lots and same will be held in your name, allowing you sufficient time for your cash payment, mailed same day you wire, to travel from your home to the head office.

You may find it to your advantage, if you are desirous of securing a business opening, or a business lot, to write for copy of the plans, booklets and descriptive matter concerning Bow City, all of which may be had on application, free of charge.

GERMANY'S EXAMPLE.

We have taken many excellent examples of social government and control from Germany and it would seem that the Teutonic Fatherland still has much to teach us. Take the matter of dealing with that class of ne'er-do-wellthat ill-treat their wives. In this country an offender in this respect, is found guilty, is locked up in jail and the poor wife that has been beaten and abused now has to suffer the loss of breadwinner of the family and has, herself, to make a living for her children while her husband stays in jail or the workhouse, the State or county getting whatever profit there may be in his enforced labor. Surely no greater absurdity than this could be worked in the name of justice.

In Germany they have gone deeper into this matter than we, and wife-beaters instead of being locked up, they are made to go to work under police supervision and their wages are handed over to their families. This on work days. When holiday time arrives, that is Saturday afternoon and evening, the offender is taken by the police and locked up, to remain in jail until it is time to go to work on Monday morning. This sortof extended and continuing sentence lasts until the prisoner has served in jail the number of days appointed by the judge.

Surely this is a commonsense plan and one that should commend itself to our lawmakers. A weakness of all punishment for minor offences is that it is usually the family of the offender that has to bear the largest part of the punishment. Some such system as that inaugurated by Germany might well, we should think, be extended to other offences than wife-beating, so that the innocent families of offenders against the laws should not be compelled, unjustly, to suffer part of the punishment.

BI-LINGUAL SCHOOLS

Much Interest Will be Associated with Legislation on the Subject

While several subjects of importance will keep public attention directed to the Legislative buildings during the session, legislation on the bi-lingual question will probably be followed with more than ordinary interest, though it may not be in the limelight for some weeks after the opening.

Following a keen controversy on the subject, particularly as it related to the schools in the French section of Essex and Kent, the Government appointed F. W. Merchant, M.A., to visit the English-French schools, public and separate, in those counties, and find out if there was any departure from the Public and Separate Schools Act, or from any of the departmental regulations and circulars, and if so, to what extent. Part of his instructions read as follows: "As the school law is intended to provide all pupils with a thorough training in English, it is desirable that you ascertain whether, and if so to what extent, the means to attain this end are adequate or defective."

It is thought that Mr. Merchant's report will not be ready before February is well advanced. In the meantime, however, reports have been made to the Government showing that some of the French-English schools in the eastern part of the Province have not been complying to the letter with the School Act.

LICENSING DOCTORS

It is reported that one of the chief clauses of Toronto University's proposed bill would enable the University to license doctors, a power that is now limited to the Medical Council.

THE MINES DEVELOPING MACHINE WILL BE INCORPORATED

It is One of the Greatest Inventions of the Age for the Speedy Development of Mines

A device which will, when installed, be the means of placing hundreds of mining properties, now laying idle, on a producing and dividend paying basis. It will develop a mine in months where it now requires years. It will be the means of bringing sure and quick returns on mine investments which are now slow on account of the long time required to either reach the ore bodies or develop them to an extent which admits of productions on a large scale.

IT CAN BE USED IN ALL MINING REGIONS.
IT CAN BE USED IN DRIVING IRRIGATION TUNNELS.
IT CAN BE USED IN DRIVING TRANSPORTATION TUNNELS.
IT CAN BE USED IN DRIVING DRIFTS AND UPRAISES IN MINES AND IT WILL WORK IN ALL KINDS OF FORMATION.
IT DRIVES A COMPLETE TUNNEL, DRIFT OR UPRAISE, AND SHAPES ITS WORK ON A SCIENTIFIC PRINCIPLE.

Contracts have already been signed for the use of enough of these machines to keep a large factory busy building them for many months, and I predict that before 5 years many hundred of them will be in use.

The House of Refuge will be Non-Sectarian

Toronto, March 4.—Shall the Protestant poor of the United Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry be compelled to go to St. Paul's Home, a Roman Catholic institution, or shall a non-sectarian House of Refuge be erected to which all the municipalities shall contribute?

This was the final question as it appeared to the Private Bills Committee this morning over a bill of the three counties authorizing the council to purchase land for a House of Refuge and erect a building at a cost not to exceed $40,000.

St. Paul's Home has been receiving some of the poor but many Protestants have been refusing to go there and the counties and some townships have refused to support it.

Opposition to the bill came from Mr. J. A. Chisholm, Cornwall, who represented over 900 Roman Catholics and others who opposed the arrangement as an excessive price for the land. Mr. R. A. Pringle, ex-M. P., represented the town.

PROTESTANT POOR STAY AT HOME.

It was Reeve Cameron, of Iroquois who decided the battle.

"If this Legislature should say, you people must send your poor to St. Paul's Home, many would keep them at home. I tell you what we Protestants have put up with," he began, but went on to say that many townships refused to give grants while sending people there.

"This charge is quite true, but it only proves that it is time we had an institution to take care of the poor. Their prejudices have as much right to be considered as yours or mine."

The bill passed without opposition.

Russia to Annex Part of Manchuria

Victoria, B.C., Mar. 3.—The Zabailalskaya Nov, a Russian paper, published at Chita, says it is likely that Russia soon will take steps to annex Northern Manchuria because of a reputed intention of Japan to secure Southern Manchuria next year.

The Russian writer, whose article was translated by a Japanese newspaper brought here by the Tamba Maru, says the annexation of Southern Manchuria by Japan is delayed only by the failure to connect up the Antung-Mukden Railroad and that when the Wiju bridge is completed next year Japan will be ready to proceed with her program.

THE BRITISH FLAG SAVED THE PRIESTS

THE HATED ENSIGN PROTECTED THEIR PROPERTY.

Irish Dominicans in Lisbon Unmolested While Ensign Floated Above Their Monastries and Churches.

London, Feb. 24.—By a curious turn of fate the British flag from the dominion of which an Irish priest fled in 1640 is now the ensign flying over the modern structures which mark the present day development of his foundation, the fluttering flag warning all Lisbon that respect of person and property must be given them.

As recorded in cable despatches the British flag was raised over the buildings of the Irish Dominicans at the first sign of revolution in Lisbon. How efficacious this act proved may be learned from the correspondent of the Westminster Gazette, who writes:

"There is one church here that need not fear desecration, for it is protected, not by holy relics beneath the high altar, but by an English flag at the front door. This is the Irish Dominican Church of Corpo Santo, which looks to-day like the committee-room of a Tory candidate of pronounced Imperialistic views during a khaki election. Even the priests in the sacristy wear miniature Union Jacks in their buttonholes.

"And it proves to be a perfectly efficient talisman, for whereas a German Lazarist—the ex-Queen's confessor—was brutally murdered in his own house after the doors had been battered in with axes, not one of the Irish monks had been molested. The fear of the Kaiser's wrath did not prevent the revolutionists from sending five bullets after Father Zimmerman, the learned German Jesuit, when he escaped from Queluhas monastry on Wednesday last. One of these bullets killed or wounded somebody in the crowd of refugees. The Irish Dominicans, on the contrary, can freely walk the streets; indeed, they are the only monks in all Portugal who can do so. It is true that monks of almost every other European nationality also walk the streets frequently and in compact groups, but they can hardly be said to do so "freely" considering that they are always prisoners on their way to jail, surrounded by abusive soldiers and sailors flourishing rifles, naked swords and loaded revolvers, and followed by howling and derisive mobs.

"The Irish nuns of the Bon Sucorso, Belem, enjoy the same immunity under the entwined crosses of Saint George, Andrew and Patrick. Even English Roman Catholic ladies who have entered Portuguese religious orders are released from custody once their nationality is ascertained.

"With a small British flag in one hand and a permit from the Republican Minister of Foreign Affairs in the other (the permit not worth the paper it is written upon, the flag of almost thaumaturgic virtue), the Dominican Father O'Sullivan sallied forth to-day to the Arsenal, wherein several hundred Portuguese nuns are herded together like cattle, and procured the release of an English lady, Miss Tipping, of the Dorothean Order. When the convent and girls' schools of that Order in Quelhas was pillaged, Miss Tipping was carried prisoner to the arsenal with the other nuns. As soon as she was discovered to be English she was given a separate room, supplied with every thing she wanted, and treated with the utmost consideration. She is now living in the house of a friend, and in a short time she will be allowed to leave for England. Meanwhile, the Spanish, Italian, French, and Portuguese nuns remain in prison.

"To return, however, to the Irish Dominican church. On the table in the sacristy, which supported the books connected with the business affairs of the establishment were three other small British flags.

Over other churches waved Spanish Swiss, French, Italian and other ensigns, but a Chinaman would have pronounced all those flags to be "bad joss," inasmuch as, with two exceptions, the churches over which they waved were closed, while, thanks to the Union Jack, the Irish chapel was the only place in Lisbon wherein Mass was publicly celebrated. The other two churches that remained open were Portuguese, but in neither of them, so far as I am aware, was there any religious service. Certainly, there was no congregation."

Do not use Soap, Naphtha, Borax, Soda, Ammonia or Kerosene with GOLD DUST

GOLD DUST has all desirable cleansing qualities in perfectly harmless and lasting form.

The GOLD DUST Twins need no outside help. No matter what you wish to clean—dishes, clothes, pots and pans, floors and woodwork, refrigerator, bath room or what not, GOLD DUST alone will do all the work—and do it better than anything else.

More than that, GOLD DUST will do all the hard part of the work without your help, saving your strength and temper.

Americans Plan to Get the Continent

New Orleans, March 2.—In a sixteen page pamphlet bearing the title, "Refutation of the statements of President Taft," received here to-day from Brussels, Jose Santos Zelaya, the exiled former president of Nicaragua, indulges in a bitter denunciation of President Taft and the U.S. Government policy of agreement in Latin-America.

He brands President Taft as a slanderer, accuses the U.S. Government of having shamelessly aided the "rebellion" in Nicaragua, of having bought conscience to further its scheme of aggrandizement, and warns Latin-Americans that the purpose of the Taft administration is to sieze the Central American Republics.

Zelaya discusses American "interferences" in Cuba, Santo Domingo, Panama, etc., and declares that the conduct of the U.S. has given "a solemn denial to this candid allusion"—the Monroe doctrine.

In place of the Monroe doctrine, he says, the United States Government has adopted the policy of "America for the Yankees."

World-Wide Strike of Seamen Threatened

Paris, March 4.—The international congress which meets at Antwerp on Friday may well be considered with anxiety. However chimerical the suggestion may appear, this meeting convened by the International Seamen's Association threatens to bring nothing less than a general strike of seamen the world over, unless the shipowners' powerful organization, the International Shipping Federation, gives way to the men's demands.

ASK NEW WAGE SCALE.

Chief among the seamen's demands is one for a uniform scale of wages. It is proposed that the date of the strike coincide with the coronation of King George in June in order to prevent personages from foreign countries from attending the ceremony.

PLANS NOT COMPLETE.

According to this plan, which will not be revealed entirely until after the adoption of certain preliminary resolutions, the crews of the big ocean steamships will leave the vessels in the principal ports shortly before the dates of embarkation for the festivities at London.

NERVOUS, LIFELESS DEBILITATED MEN

YOUNG MEN AND MIDDLE-AGED MEN, the victims of early indiscretions and later on excesses, who are failures in life—you are the ones we can restore to manhood and revive the spark of energy and vitality. OBJECTS TO THE DEATH PENALTY

Governor of Minnesota Refuses to Set Date for Execution of Child Poisoner.

St. Paul, Minn., March 3.—In spite of the demand of the Lesueur County Grand Jury that Governor Eberhart set the date for the hanging of Martin O'Malley, an aged veteran, convicted of poisoning his two step-children, the Governor has steadfastly refused to comply. He is awaiting action by the Legislature on the anti-capital punishment bill, which already, partly through the efforts of the States Executive, has been passed by the House.

Governor Eberhart does not believe in hanging, even as punishment for murder in the first degree. He is now heading every effort to have the Senate pass the bill to abolish the death penalty. He will then sign the measure and will have O'Malley committed to the State Penitentiary for life.

GREAT TRIALS ON TRANSCONTINENTAL

ALPHONSE JONELLE TELLS TALE FILLED WITH HUMAN INTEREST.

Hardships Attending Work Brought on Kidney Disease Which Threatened His Life—Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Him.

Chicoutimi ville, Chicoutimi Co., Que., March 3—(Special)—The trials of those men who push the great railroads through the obstacles Nature thrusts in their way have been proclaimed in many a page of fiction. But no story ever told is of more absorbing interest or teaches a greater moral than the actual experiences of Alphonse Jonelle, foreman on the Transcontinental, and well known here.

"I contracted Kidney Disease working on the Transcontinental, where I am a foreman." Mr. Jonelle states. "My skin had a harsh, dry feeling, and it itched and burned at night. I was always tired. Then came the pangs of rheumatism, and I finally got so bad I could not attend to my work. For five years I suffered, and in the end Bright's Disease developed.

"Then I began to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Six boxes cured me completely. Dodd's Kidney Pills also cured my wife, who was suffering from Kidney Disease."

From all parts of Canada, and every day, reports come of Kidney Disease cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. There is never a case reported where Dodd's Kidney Pills have failed. They never fail.

Maple Sugar Season On.

The maple sugar season is now at hand, and the sap will soon be running. We understand that the makers of adulterated syrup and sugar are to be closely watched hereafter. It is said that there is now very little of the pure article made in Canada. Let us hope that this is not so.

Girl Loses Purse.

Last night a young girl while proceeding up Park-street, had her purse which she was carrying, snatched from her hand by a young lad who approached her from behind. The thief ran west and disappeared. The young lady called up The Times as soon as she arrived home and gave the above particulars. She said that the pocketbook only contained a trifle, and so would not care to have us disclose her name.

A Good Investment.

Were Their Pastor's Guests.

Rev. and Mrs. H. J. Keith entertained the officers of Knox Church on Thursday night to a supper. Mrs. Keith made a delightful hostess, and all who were present appeared to have enjoyed themselves thoroughly. During the evening an informal discussion took place on matters pertaining to the church in which several short speeches were made by the officers present.

Brought to Hospital.

Millbrook Reporter :—James Gibson, son of Mr. Robt. Gibson, Carmel, was taken to Peterborough Hospital, for an operation on his leg which was thought to be tubercular. It was found in cutting into it that it was cancer, and very little hope is held out of recovery. What makes it particularly sad is that his sister, Mrs. Fred Challice was buried only a few days ago.

Oil Sprinkling Best.

The experiment tried last year in Peterborough of using oil to sprinkle the streets instead of water, appears to be borne out by the experience of other places. At the meeting of the Association of Ontario Land Surveyors, held in Toronto a few days ago, Mr. W. A. MacLean, provincial engineer of highways, gave an address on Surface Treatment for Dust Laying and Road Preservation. He said sprinkling with water had failed, and, as the multiplication of automobiles has rendered the dust problem acute on rural roads, he urged the use of oil to prevent injury to crops, fruits, lawns and houses.

The orange is the most luscious and healthful fruit. California excels in quality of oranges. The best of the California oranges are now packed in individual wrappers labeled "Sunkist."

Five thousand orange farmers in California do their own packing, shipping and selling. They grade and select their crop into "firsts," "seconds," etc. The firsts are fancy, tree-ripened, hand-picked, seedless, fibreless, thin-skinned oranges—every individual orange a perfect specimen of the finest variety of oranges. They are not only more healthful and more palatable than other oranges, but they are actually cheaper, for they are nearly all meat and nourishment.

Your dealer sells "Sunkist" Oranges. Ask for them. You will know them by the tissue paper wrapper in which each "Sunkist" Orange is packed. You can buy them by the box or half box. On the wrapper note the label, "Sunkist." Keep all the wrappers. They are worth money to you.

A Poor Defence.

The Review states that The Times was in error in blaming Mr. Geo. H. Howson, the local immigration agent, in regard to the Englishman and his family who arrived in town on Monday night, and were allowed to shift for themselves. We told the story as it was given us by the Englishman himself. He showed our reporter a card addressed to Mr. Howson, who he said was to meet him on the arrival of the train, and who did not show up. The man had a wife and a young child, both of whom he said were sick and hungry, and no place to go. They were then huddled up on a seat near the radiator in the waiting room trying to keep warm. Our reporter who had only a few moments to spare to catch a train, accordingly took pity on the unfortunate family and endeavored to procure a place for them to stay over night. Our contemporary says that Howson went down to Belleville in quest of the family. If that is so all we can say is that the Department of Immigration evidently requires an overhauling when it is unable to keep track of those entrusted to its care, as this family evidently were. We hope Mr. Scott, the superintendent of Immigration at Ottawa, will investigate this case.

BROKE THROUGH THE ICE.

Mr. Wm. Clarkson Has An Uncomfortable Experience.

Mr. Wm. Clarkson, of Lakehurst, fishery overseer, drove his horse on thin ice on Wednesday last, when he went through. If it had not been for some Indian boys, who were playing nearby, the horse would have perished. They gave the alarm and eight or ten of the villagers came to the rescue and got the horse out. Mr. Clarkson had to put up with Pat over night. The boys wanted to ask the overseer to look the other way in future if he ever comes near where they are fishing, but they had not the courage to do so.

The Original and Only Genuine

Beware of Imitation Sold on the Merits of Minard's Liniment

READ EVERY WORD OF THIS
It Will Be Money In Your Pocket To Do So

Everyone is anxious to make money. Everyone has an ambition to get rich. Some men DO get rich. Others remain poor. The difference is simply a difference of methods. Nearly all of us save some money, but we do not let these savings earn anything for us. THE MAN WHO SAVES HIS MONEY AND LETS THE SAVINGS EARN SOMETHING FOR HIM is making it do double duty. Take the history of all the very wealthy men of the country and learn how many of them made their fortunes by simply saving what they earned. Not one of them did. They saved but they immediately put their savings to work for them. YOU WANT TO GET TO THE TOP OF THE LADDER, YOU WANT TO ACCUMULATE SOMETHING FOR YOUR OLD AGE. THEN YOU HAD BETTER PUT YOUR SAVINGS TO WORK AND LET THEM HELP YOU DO IT.

In almost any ordinary investment a man cannot make his money earn over 8 per cent. Mining offers you greater opportunities. I am going to offer you an opportunity that has promise enarning for you 800 per cent or even more. I want to take you into partnership with me, in an enterprise that will probably make us all independent for the balance of our lives. YOU MUST TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THIS OFFERING. The Gold Queen Mining Company, of which I am president, has over 135 acres of rich mineral ground in one of the most prosperous mining districts of the world. We have already expended thousands of dollars in developing this property and we have struck ore that is very rich. We need a mill to extract the precious metal from this ore. We need a little help in building this mill. Are you willing to subscribe a portion of the amoont necessary to do it? In numbers there is strength, and even though your subscription be a very small one, we are willing to give you a part ownership in this great enterprise, in return for it. We are willing to take you in on an equal basis with us and give you the benefit of all your savings may earn for you. The men behind this proposition are all successful business men. They are in this business to make it pay and for every dollar they earn for themselves they will earn one for you. REMEMBER: THIS IS NOT A PROSPECT—IT IS A MINE WITH ORE IN IT. But a small amount of money is necessary to build our mill. We have decided to offer only a very limited number of shares at the present price, and as soon as this amount is secured the price will be advanced to a much greater figure. NOW IS THE TIME FOR YOU TO ACT. YOU ARE GETTING IN WITH THE ORGANIZERS OF THE COMPANY AT GROUND FLOOR PRICES. YOU ARE COMING INTO A BONA FIDE PARTNERSHIP WITH US AND WITH NO PARTNERSHIP RESPONSIBILITIES. Read what Mr, Van Wagenen, one of the foremost mining engineers of the country has to say: "I would advise the immediate erection of a ten-stamp mill with cyanide equipment, to treat your gold ores, and a separate concentrating plant to handle your copper pyrites, thus reducing the shipping weight 6 to 1, and eventually put in a smelter in connection with the mill, with a ten-stamp mill on your property and a daily production of 50 tons of ore. I CAN PROMISE YOU A NET EARNING OF $300.00 PER DAY or $109,500 per year and that can be increased to ten times as much as soon as tunnels A and B are finished, and added milling equipment is installed. The economical method is the best. Start with a ten-stamp mill and let your stockholders be content with 10 per cent per annum until you have increased your milling facilities, and install your smelting plant to treat your concentrates. THEN YOU CAN PAY THEM 400 TO 500 PER CENT DIVIDENDS PER YEAR FOR THE NEXT TEN YEARS ON THE PRESENT VALUATION OF YOUR STOCK, 5 CENTS PER SHARE, and this out of the new discovered vein alone." Now if you want to get in with us on this proposition you must act quickly, for the present allotment of shares will not last long. The man who buys now will get his shares at the very rock bottom price. The one who waits until later will without a doubt pay many times what it is being offered for now. Arrangements may be made to pay for your subscription on the easy payment plan. Write at once for full information and detailed literature explaining all about it. Write today. Do not wait another minute or you may be too late.

EXTRA SESSION IS CALLED FOR APRIL 4TH

THE SESSION OF THE AMERICAN SENATE EXPIRES WITHOUT VOTING ON THE RECIPROCITY AGREEMENT.

PRESIDENT TAFT IMMEDIATELY CALLS FOR AN EXTRA SESSION WHICH WILL BE HELD ON APRIL 4th.

IT IS DIFFICULT TO PREDICT THE OUTCOME---DEMOCRATS WILL HAVE CONTROL OF HOUSE OF REPI ... MINORITY OF TEN IN SENATE

THE 61ST CONGRESS SHUT UP SHOP

AMERICAN CONGESS FAILS TO DEAL WITH TRADE QUESTION RELATIONS WITH CANADA.

At 12.20 Saturday the Senate and House of Representatives Came to an End Without Taking Action.

(Special to The Times.)

Washington, Mar. 4.—It is difficult to predict the outcome of the reciprocity measure. A large majority of the Democrats in both houses favored the agreement, and to both Houses the Democrats will come back in larger numbers when the special session convenes. That party will have control of the House of Representatives, and will only be in a minority of eight or ten in the Senate. It would seem, then, that all would be plain sailing for a measure promoted by a Republican President and favored by the Democrats. With an almost solid body of Democratic Senators supporting the bill, Mr. Taft could easily get enough Republican support to put the measure through. But there is no telling what the Democrats will do once they get control of the House of Representatives. With a Presidential election on the horizon, they may not care to promote, in their entirety, measures which belong exclusively to Mr. Taft. They may show a desire to go him one better. They decide to conduct an inquiry of their own into the whole tariff question, and trade relations with Canada and other countries. They may play for delay in the hope of getting control of the Senate and their own man in the White House. It may be remarked that while the Democrats in the Senate largely favored reciprocity, yet they were not backward in making political plays which tended to end this session with nothing done concerning it. In the meantime, Canada will probably go her way undisturbed, adopting the measure and leaving it there, to be accepted by Washington just as it stands or to be rejected just as it stands.

Washington, Mar. 4.—Failing to enact either of President Taft's favorite measures—Canadian reciprocity and the permanent tariff board bill, the sixty-first Congress shut up shop this afternoon, and turned over the affairs of government to the new Congress, which has a Democratic House and a greatly reduced Republican majority in the Senate.

This was followed by the issuing of a proclamation calling an extra session of both Houses to again take up the reciprocity matter, the date being set as April 4th.

C. P. R. LETS BIG CONTRACT.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Mar. 4.—Announcement was made here to-day that the Canadian Pacific Railway has contracted for 100,000 tons of steel rails to be made in Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., at a contract price of $3,000,000.

SUED FOR SUPPORT BY SECOND WIFE

Ottawa, March 4.—The culmination of a 14-year old romance along the Enoch Ardon lines wound up in the local Police Court to-day, when Jos. Evraire, who is a motorman on the street railway, appeared before magistrate Askwith on a charge of vagrancy.

The complainant was Emma Fortin, of 132 Water street. She asked that Evraire be made contribute to the support of his four children. Then was the story of the lives of the two revealed in court. Fourteen years ago, while in Montreal, Evraire claimed that his wife deserted him and went to the United States. Five years later he married Emma Fortin on the presumption of his first wife's death. Several years after the marriage, wife No. 1 put in her re-appearance. She had been down in the United States for the intervening years, and had heard through indirect sources that her husband had married again.

At that time she had her husband arrested on a charge of bigamy. Under the law he should have waited seven years before remarrying, but he had only waited five years and married illegally, on the presumption of his wife's death.

He was convicted of bigamy and sentenced to a term in the Montreal jail.

There were four children born to the marriage with wife No. 2. Emma Fortin, but Evraire was forced to leave her and live with his original wife. He took up his residence with her in Ottawa, while his second wife also moved to this city, and married. In the case in court Emma Fortin held that it was the defendant's duty to support the children of their marriage.

The magistrate ordered Evaire to consult with his first wife's lawyer, and make some agreement by which a weekly amount should be allotted from his earnings for the support and education of his little ones.

SIR WILFRID MAY SPEAK ON RECIPROCITY DEBATE TUESDAY

SO FAR NEITHER THE PREMIER, MR. FIELDING OR MR. PATERSON HAVE DISCUSSED AGREEMENT IN DETAIL

Plebiscite in Manitoba Constituency Reveals Fact That 75 Per Cent. of the People Oppose Agreement.

Ottawa, March 6.—It is stated by the government whips that Sir Wilfrid Laurier will speak on the reciprocity debate to-morrow. So far neither the Premier, nor Mr. Fielding nor Mr. Paterson have discussed the agreement in detail, and some comment has been occasioned thereby.

Hon. Wm. Templeman will speak to-day and this is taken to mean that Mr. Templeman will answer Mr. Martin Burrell, the first expert of the Opposition, and Sir Wilfrid will reply to Mr. Sifton.

There is no indication yet when the debate in committee on the resolution will close.

MR. SIFTON'S SPEECH STILL DISCUSSED.

Mr. Sifton's great speech is still the chief topic of conversation, and there are many reports and rumors current as to his future plans. However, he states that he will not resign his seat in Brandon.

It is understood that Mr. Sifton will take the stump against the agreement wherever the occasion offers.

PLEBISCITE IN MANITOBA INTERESTING.

Mr. Staples, of Macdonald, Man., has been taking a plebiscite of the leading Liberals and Conservatives in his constituency on the question of reciprocity, and the result is that he finds 75 per cent. of the people against it. Amongst the 75 per cent. are many prominent Liberals. This is significant as coming from a prairie constituency, and shows that Premier Roblin knew what he was about when he came out flat-footed against the agreement.

Mr. Staples and other western Conservatives state that the chief question amongst the grain men is, government ownership and operation of terminal elevators, to prevent the mixing of grain.

PRESIDENT TAFT FAILED TO GET MEASURE THROUGH.

Washington, March 4.—At 12.20 to-day the present Senate and House of Representatives at Washington came to an end without action having been taken by the Senate on the reciprocity agreement with Canada. The clash of parties and the conflict of interests made it impossible for President Taft to get his measure through, and he will, it is supposed, at once issue a call for a special session.

Canadian Government will Pass Agreement

(Special to The Times.)

Ottawa, March 4.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the members of the Government have been in council since 11 o'clock and will remain there until 6 Consequently it is impossible to obtain any statement upon the failure of the U.S. Congress to ratify the reciprocity agreement. There's nothing to be added to what Mr. Fielding had already announced, namely, that the Canadian Government will do its part and pass the necessary legislation.

Mr. R. L. Borden, when asked as to his views of the situation, replied "That is for the other fellow to worry about."

The situation has not changed here in the least. The government will push the agreement through and will take its chances when it comes to the decision of the people in the autumn of 1912. All advices which have reached the Liberal managers from all over the country are to the effect that every defection will be offset by a gain from either the farmer or the consuming classes of the community.

What will Lords Do to Reform Themselves?

London, March 4.—These are the days of great political suspense. That the Liberal Government is in earnest no one doubts, what they are going to do, if opposed, is also known, but what the lords will do, not even the lords themselves know. To-day they are anxious to reform themselves as a school boy trembling in fear of a spanking; to-morrow they sulk and refuse to do anything.

What they probably will do is to listen to the dictates of Mr. Balfour, who is once more the absolute master of his followers in the house of lords, and Mr. Balfour is an expert in the art of delaying matters, and will do so as long as he possibly can, but in the end, if he thinks that reform bill in the house of lords will help the fight against the veto bill in the house of commons, the bill will be produced; if he does not, we shall probably hear a great deal more about its advent, but we shall never see much of it.

Whichever policy the lords may adopt it as amatter of indifference to the government and the Liberal party. From their point of view, both policies have their advantages, and the government will be quite ready to go forward with their attack, whether the lords produce a reform bill or not.

Starvation in Sight For the United States

Food Supply Will Practically Fail by 1950, Says State Agricultural Expert, Unless Farmers Increase Production of the Soil.

Chicago, March 6.—"Starvation faces 200,000,000 people the United States will contain in 1950, at the present rate of increase, unless the farmers of this country use methods to increase the productiveness of the soil.

"Farmers are going bankrupt because they are drawing checks on the soil in the form of crops and failing to make deposits in the form of fertilizers and mineral constituents.

"Plenty of sense and some science applied by the farmer to soil and seed in proper season will give Illinois an average corn crop of 100 bushels to the acre, instead of 34 bushels now being raised."

MORE CORN NEEDED.

These were the propositions made by O. D. Center of the state university agricultural extension department in an address in the Central Y.M.C.A. last evening. He said that 4,000,000,000 bushels of corn are needed at the present time to furnish enough meat to feed the nation and that so far the country has never been able to produce but a little more than 3,000,000,000 bushels.

"You city people musn't get the idea that any dub can be a farmer," he said. "A good farmer must have the acumen of a lawyer, as much scientific training as a physician, the resourcefulness of a teacher, and I don't know but the uprightness of a theologian.

"Too many farmers fail to realize that they are engaged in a business, and they have no knowledge of their stock in trade. I know of cases where they will sell clover hay for $6 a ton when it would be worth $9 to them turned under the soil.

REGARDS FARMS AS MINES

"Many of them don't even know the meaning of crop rotation in this state. They regard their farms as inexhaustible mines, instead of plants for production of food from raw materials."

The lecture was one of a series given by the Chicago Y.M.C.A. in cooperation with the state university agricultural extension department.

Verdict Precipated Riot in New York

New York, March 4.—A riotous demonstration, turning into almost a pitched battle between groups of Italian partisans, occurred in the criminal courts building to-day, after a verdict of murder in the second degree had been rendered against Giuseppe Siracuso, charged with killing a woman. Threats against judge, jury and police were made.

Girls are Looking For Husbands

Montreal, March 4.—Fifty more good-looking young English women in search of husbands, arrived in the city last night from Halifax in charge of the Canadian Northern matrimonial bureau officials.

The party of girls, thirty of whom are destined for the Canadian West, and twenty for Toronto, brought to this country under a special contract to enter into domestic service. They frankly admit that they would rather find husbands than jobs, however. The Toronto contingent left last night.

Win Positions on the Census Staff

Ottawa, March 4.—(Special)—Successful candidates for third division clerkships of the census staff, in order of merit, are: Mrs. Florence Forsey, Ottawa; Lillian N. Agnew, Toronto; Edith A. Farrell, Perth; Emma McEwan, Hawthorne; Agnes L. Furlong, London; Olive Cooper, Toronto, Annie Hagerty, Kingston; Lilian G. Furlong, London; Clarice T. McClennan, Peterborough; Amy R. Rooney, Cobourg; Esther Beith, Toronto; Ruby M. Carson, Waterdown.

There are only 93 successful candidates out of 600 applicants.

A Fatal Quarrel Over a Montreal Young Lady

Montreal, March 4. In the Court of King's bench, the grand jury has returned a true bill on the indictment for murder against Rosario Casavant, charged with killing Ernest Bigras.

The young men had a quarrel over a girl residing in Seigneurs street, with whom Bigras was keeping company. Bigras worsted Casavant in a fist fight, but a few days later Casavant struck Bigras on the head with a stick, in the end of which there was a nail. The nail entered Bigras' head, and four days later he died in the Hotel Dieu from the effects of blood poisoning.

Yet Still Another Hot Sifton Rumor

Brockville, March 6.—Hon. Clifford Sifton's sensational bolt from the Liberal party on the recitprocity pact with the United States appeals with particular interest to the riding of Brockville in view of well defined rumors bearing on the political future of the young Napoleon of the West. Brockville, in a way regards Mr. Sifton as a resident, from the fact that he spends many months of the year at his palatial summer home on the St. Lawrence river above the town and mingles freely with the populace.

Brockville's Expectations.

In the light of developments of the last few days, it would not be surprising if he were to desert his western representation in the House of Commons and make Brockville the scene of a battle with the Hon. G. P. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals, at the next Dominion election. Before Mr. Sifton delivered his famous speech on Tuesday well defined rumors to this effect had been in circulation for a considerable time, and his stand on reciprocity has served to substantiate the story.

The ex-minister is said to be anxious to lock horns with Mr. Graham on personal grounds, and it is thought he would give the Minister of Railways and Canals a run for his money.

Graham's Majority 150.

In the election of 1908 John Webster, the Conservative Candidate, running the first time for parliamentary honors, cut down Graham's majority to almost the 150 mark. With no Conservative in the field, leaving a straight fight between Sifton and Graham, it is pretty generally conceded that the former Minister of the Interior would swamp his opponent, particularly so with the strong existing sentiment against reciprocity in Brockville and throughout the riding. Political developments in this constituency will be worth watching.

PROCLAMATION ISSUED BY PRFS. TAFT

BECOMES BRITISH ADMIRAL.

Ex-King Manuel Will Accept Commission From King George.

London, March 4.—A despatch to The Daily Mail from Lisbon says that King Manuel will accept a commission in the British navy.

TEXT OF THE OFFICIAL PROCLAMATION CALLING EXTRA SESSION OF BOTH HOUSES.

To Again Consider Reciprocity—The Extraordinary Occasion Requires House to Meet.

Washington, Mar. 4.—The proclamation issued by President Taft this afternoon calling an extra session of the House reads as follows:

Whereas, by this special message dated January 26, 1911, there was transmitted to the Senate and House of Representatives an agreement between the Department of State and the Canadian Government in regard to reciprocal tariff legislation together with an earnest recommendation that the necessary legislation be promptly adopted.

"And, whereas, a bill to carry into effect said agreement has passed the House of Representatives, but has failed to reach a vote in the Senate.

"And, whereas, the agreement stipulates not only the President of the United States will communicate to Congress the conclusions now reached and recommends the adoption of such legislation as may be necessary of the United States to give effect to the proposed agreement, but also that the Governments of the two countries will use their utmost efforts to bring about such changes by concurrent legislation at Washington and at Ottawa.

"Now, therefore, I, William Howard Taft, President of the United States of America, by virtue of the power vested in me by the constitution, do hereby proclaim and declare that an extraordinary occasion requires the convening of both Houses of the Congress of the United States at their respective chambers in the City of Washington on the fourth of April, 1911, at 12 o'clock noon, to the end that they may consider and determine whether the Congress shall, by the necessary legislation, make operative the agreement."

Earl of Crewe is Seriously Ill

London, March 4.—The Earl of Crewe, Government leader in the House of Lords, and Secretary of State for India, was removed in an ambulance this morning, from an Hotel to the home in Berkeley square of the countess' father, the Earl of Rosebery, following a sudden and serious illness.

The Earl was one of a dinner party at the hotel last night, when he was seized with what is described as a gastic fainting fit. It appears that he was leaving the dining room when he collapsed and in falling struck upon his head, receiving a concussion of the brain.

The extent of the breakdown may be gathered from the announcement that it will be at least two months before he will be able to resume his leadership in the upper chamber, or the duties of the Indian office. It was necessary for the patient to remain at the hotel throughout the night.

The illness of the leader is peculiarly unfortunate for the government, in view of the important business coming up in the house of lords, which includes Lord Lansdowne's reform bill and the government's veto bill. The Earl's duties in the upper house and in the Indian office will be assumed, temporarily by Viscount Morley.

80,000 People Were At the Christening

London, March 4.—The princely festivities and the thousands of festival makers at the Christening last Saturday of the heir to the Fitzwilliam title and estates will be talked of in South Yorkshire for generations. Viscount Milton, born on the last day of the year 1910, and destined to inherit a rent-roll of £300,000 a year was baptised in the private chapel of Wentworth Woodhouse, the historic Yorkshire seat of the Earl and Countess Fitzwilliam. The noble parents entertained 7,000 of their dependants. Twenty thousand people assembled in front of the mansion, watched the presentation of friendly offerings for the infant heir. Eighty thousand were privileged to participate in the rejoicing which closed the long day.

At the christening the service the Marchioness of Zetland, mother of the Countess Fitzwilliam, acted as proxy for the Duchess of Buccleuch, the god mother; and the Hon. H. W. Fitzwilliam and the Marquis of Zetland were sponsors. The child was given the names William Henry Lawrence Peter. For the greater part of the twenty minutes which the ceremony occupied the young Viscount was asleep. Attached to his robes was a gauze scarf which was given to an ancestor by William the Conqueror at the Battle of Hastings. The family silver christening bowl was used for the baptism. When the choir from Wentworth Parish Church were singing the concluding hymn "Heavenly Father, Send Thy Blessing," the little object of the ceremonial woke up and gave the private company an exhibition of his lung power.

THE MONSTER CAKE

The Earl and Countess held an informal reception of the invited guests in the grand salon, the baby being present. A private luncheon followed covers being laid for about one hundred. The Countess cut the immense home-made christening cake, which was nearly four feet high weighed over eight stone, and was embellished with cupids holding sprays of white heather.

Meanwhile a huge crowd was assembling in the picturesque park. The several thousand guests, representing tenantry and employes, and for whose accommodation six immense marquees had been erected, were being joined by members of the general public. For the entertainment of this multitude there had been provided three brass bands and daylight and evening fire works, an ox was being roasted whole, and a football match was played, between teams of miners from the Fitzwilliam collieries and the day was gloriously fine.

Deputation after deputation mounted the steps in front of the spacious portico. The demonstration produced manifest emotion in Lord Fitzwilliam, who was standing bareheaded receiving the gifts, accompanied by the countess and his four little daughters—the Ladies Elfreda, Joan, Donatia and Helena Fitzwilliam—and the members of the house party. Tenantry, work-people from the different estates, colliers, and villagers all handed their offerings for the baby Viscount. The gifts were varied, and ranged from a pair of miniature silver spurs to illuminated addresses and massive silver bowls. One of the bowls was from the miners at the Fitzwilliam collieries.

Presentations ended, the discharge of a rocket announced that the festivities had begun in the park. The roasting and cutting up of the sixty stone ox was one of the most popular incidents in the programme. Lord Fitzwilliam had himself seen that the arrangements were complete for feeding his 7,000 guests. Three hundred waiters were employed. The bread and cake required exceeded four tons. Two thousand gallons of beer were provided. When darkness set in, and the fireworks were displayed it was estimated that 80,000 spectators were present.

A PEOPLE'S BUDGET.

The Lloyd George Budget in Great Britain was called "The People's Budget," because it was intended to benefit the many, and not the privileged few. The reciprocity tariff is a People's Budget for Canada. It is intended to bring into closer touch the toiler who produces the food and the toiler who consumes food. It does not find favor with the privileged classes, for it lessens their power of taking toll from food as it passes from the toiler on the field to the toiler in the factory.

The Lloyd George budget triumphed in England because the people saw it at work. Efforts were made to scare the people, to convince them that it would ruin the country. But the budget went into operation, and its practical benefits were so great that the House of Lords abandoned their opposition, and to-day they are sorry they began the fight.

If the People's Budget of Canada goes into effect, there will be a similar experience. Those who are now predicting ruin, annexation, commercial and industrial chaos, will be silenced. The workers on the farms and the workers in the factories will have enjoyed the benefits of freedom, will not surrender them, and will assert their rights at the polls. The opponents of reciprocity are making a tremendous outcry, because they know that this is their last chance. If they can influence either Ottawa or Washington to prevent the ratification of the agreement, their interests will be safe, and they can continue to pose as defenders of their country. If the measure goes into operation, their predictions will be falsified, and the masses of the people, in Canada and the United States, will make it forever impossible to restore the taxes that hurt the farmer and the consumer by checking the production and distribution of food,

BISHOP FALLON A PATRIOT.

Bobcaygeon Independent: This bilingualism is causing no end of trouble even among the French. The French Canadian Educational Association at Ottawa, declined to give an address to the new Archbishop, because Bishop Fallon was present, he being an opponent to bi-lingualism. It did not prevent the Bishop from being present at the Installation. He is a fighter from Fightersville, and would sooner fight than eat. He is a red hot Imperialist, and heartily approves of armies and navies. By vocation he is a Christian, by nature a Canadian.

King Relies on Prayer.

London, March 3.—Expressing confidence that the prayers of the Church will aid him in conducting the affairs of state, King George replied to the convocation address of the Archbishop of Canterbury to-day. He said: "It will always be my endeavor with God's help, to maintain and consolidate the foundations of public and private virtue which you labor to preserve, and on which the welfare of my people rests. The knowledge that prayers are offered unceasingly by the church in my behalf strengthens me, and increases my trust that the Almighty will bestow blessings in the fullest measure in the solemn hour of my coronation and throughout whatever length of years He may be pleased to grant me."

PLUCKY STEWARDESS

An Incident on a Passenger Steamer En Route to St. John, N.B.

R. McBride, Glasgow, relates the following story of a plucky stewardess:

"Some years ago, when serving as an assistant engineer on board a passenger steamer en route to St. John, N.B., we ran into one of those impenetrable fogs so prevalent in the Bay of Fundy. Suddenly, as if on the rocks, the ship bumped heavily several times close by where I stood in the engine-room, followed by the telegraph signal from the bridge, 'Full speed astern.' I was relived by the chief engineer, and ordered to take a good look round, and see if any excess water was rising in the bilges. Descending two or three steps to the shaft tunnel convinced me that it was, and rapidly, too, as I found myself up to the knees in sea water. After putting the pumps to work, I hastened to the stokehole, to find that the firemen on watch had already cleared out, and that the fires were burning low. On going in search of them on deck, I was just in time to notice their heads vanish down the stokehole ladder, while the voice of our stewardess was raised in angry tones, denouncing them as cowardly dogs for deserting their post at the first sign of danger. At her feet stood a partly-filled bucket of hot water, and in her hand she flourished the galley soup-ladle, and I learned that she had been liberally douching them with boiling water from the bucket on finding them preparing to clear away on one of the boats. They had evidently slunk back to work, and the risks entailed, rather than brave the biting lash of the infuriated woman's tongue and the compelling influence of the scalding water. To her timely and heroic conduct our salvation from foundering was undoubtedly due, as we all had our work cut out in bringing the ship safely to Halifax dry dock, where it was found that besides being badly strained and fractured, several plates in the ship's bottom had been broken, through which the water was rushing in."

HENNIKER HEATON

Has Four Times Declined the Honor of a Knighthood

The City of London conferred its freedom upon Mr. Henniker Heaton eleven years ago, and successive Governments have pressed a K.C.M.G. upon him. But Mr. Heaton has four times declined the honor. There is a joke in connection with Mr. Heaton's friendship with Mr. Marconi which might bear repetition. When he was made a Freeman of the City of London Mr. Marconi accompanied him, and when the latter's turn came and he received the freedom of Rome, he insisted that Mr. Heaton should return the compliment by going with him to Rome. Some little time before this Sir Benjamin Stone had photographed them together on the terrace of the House of Commons in the costumes of their respective Courts. Mr. Marconi sent a copy of this to an Italian newspaper, and the latter published it on the day Mr. Marconi received the freedom of Rome over the inscription: "Mr. Marconi and King Edward the Seventh." One of Mr. Heaton's most treasured possessions—and he only received it during his election campaign this year—is a letter from Mr. Chamberlain wishing him success. Lord Desborough has chosen the following extract from it as an inscription for Mr. Heaton's tombstone: "It has been given to few men to promote reforms independently, and to see them adopted in their own lifetime with universal approval." There is an amusing anecdote in connection with a Parliamentary chess match which the famous postal reformer got up between Great Britain and America in 1907. It was played by cable, and at one stage of the game everything pointed to the defeat of the Yankees. Realizing this, they wired "You're too good for us; we'll play you at poker!" The game, however, ended in a draw, and the offer to play poker has not been accepted.

THE KING'S TREASURES

Guarded Beyond the Hopes of the Most Daring Burglar

Special precautions were taken to safeguard the Royal treasures during their removal from Marlborough House to Buckingham Palace. Four detectives were especially detailed to guard them. These personal treasures consist of gold and silver works of art and some exquisite Dresden china, a number of valuable pictures, and a large quantity of very rare antique furniture. In addition to these valuables, there is, of course his Majesty's collection of stamps and a big library containing a number of extremely rare editions.

There is only one attempt on record in the past hundred years to burgle Buckingham Palace, which is most carefully watched night and day by the police detectives both inside and out. The private entrance used by members of the Royal Family was one evening left ajar by the Prince Consort, and almost immediately afterwards it was entered by a man who was permitted by the servant at the entrance to pass. Subsequently, the man was stopped when attempting to enter one of the private apartments and was given in charge of the police—a plan of the Palace was found on him.

It may be remembered that some years ago, when some of Queen Alexandra's collection of miniatures were sent to be reframed, four of them were stolen. They were, however, recovered very shortly afterwards. As a rule, the Royal treasures are so carefully watched and guarded that the most daring and ambitious burglar never hopes to capture them.

RUSSIAN HOLIDAYS

There are no fewer than eighty-six general holidays in a year in Russia.

The women of Washington have defeated a bill to legalize prize fighting in that state. A private dispatch says they talk it to death, and this great family journal is going to be more careful hereafter about insinuating that the ladies may talk too much.

ASSETS OF THE COMPANY

$10,000,000 of stock still in the Treasury.

$10,000,000 pooled for 9 and 18 months.

500 acres of land; value, $3,000 per acre.

6,500 feet deep waterfrontage; value, $200 per front foot.

154 patent improvements obtained over the present most modern sleeping car as shown by patent rights and model and approved by railway experts.

A subsidy obtained from the Municipality of North Vancouver of 5 per cent. for 15 years on $200,000, and freedom from taxation of our plant and 30 acres of land for 10 years.

A subsidy obtained from the Dominion of Canada, 2½ per cent. for 25 years on $1,214,000, for the purpose of building a dry dock of 15,000 tons at Roslyn, the Company's townsite.

A very valuable brick clay deposit has been discovered on the Company's property. This will be developed to its fullest capacity, as brick clay is very rare here, Vancouver even importing from Seattle millions of brick annually.

NOTE.—A shareholder participates in every asset of the Company.

LIABILITIES OF THE COMPANY

Amount yet owing on land, extending over a period of four years, $446,000.

REMARKS

MORE LANDS

The Company proposes to purchase lands surrounding their townsite, and to this end are securing options on about 250 acres, with about 2,800 feet of deep waterfrontage adjoining that which they now own.

MINES

They have also secured an option of purchase of a group of ten claims of very valuable iron deposits situated within twelve miles of their townsite. The Company believe, located as they are in a country which abounds with everything necessary to the smallest detail for turning out a perfect car, should go to nature's storehouse for their material, and with this end in view have secured the above group.

SHIPBUILDING

In addition to building the Imperial Sleeping Car, cars of every description will be contracted for, and just as soon as their dry dock is completed, the Company intend to use it to the greatest advantage in building ships of the largest tonnage. As there will be but three or four docks in the whole Dominion, they will encounter but very little competition in the building of the larger class of vessels.

SALE OF LANDS

The Company do not intend to sell any of its land until its dry dock, car works, sawmills and other industries are in operation, and in this way secure as nearly as possible all the profit derived from the establishment of these great works.

CLEARING OF LAND

The Municipality of North Vancouver have under consideration a proposition from the Company whereby the Company promise to clear their whole townsite on condition the Municipality will at once clear and grade all the streets, charging the cost of same to local improvement taxes. The Municipality view the Company's proposition with great favor. This plan would at least double the price of the Company's holdings.

PURCHASING STOCK

A small block of stock is now on the market and can be had on very easy terms of payment. This once sold, the Company will have no difficulty to borrow on their assets at from 4 to 5 per cent. any money they will require for improvement purchases, and in this case all stock will be withdrawn from the market.

KELSO TO PORCUPINE

A Hard Struggle with Jack Frost in Building a T. & N. O. Spur Line

Acting upon authority given by the Legislature in 1910, the Government in November decided to construct a spur of the Temiscaming & Northern Ontario Railway from Kelso to Porcupine, a distance of 32 miles, the total cost being approximately $450,000. Work was commenced immediately, though the rigorous winter in the north delays progress.

At present there are five hundred men working on the line running from Kelso into the Porcupine district, and this number will be increased to one thousand during the course of the next month, just to make sure that the line will be finished at the stipulated time, July 1, 1911.

So unmanageable has become the downpour of snow that snow plows have become next to useless. It has been found that the plows keep the tracks clear, throwing the snow off to the sides, but the strong winds almost immediately blow it back on again.

To get over this difficulty, a machine, known as the "spreader," is to be pressed into service. It is attached to a low car, and does not look altogether unlike an aeroplane, with flange-shaped wings stretching down on both sides. This bird-like machine follows along after the snow plow, and when the snow is thrown off it lifts and throws it still farther, packing it up in banks.

HONOR DECAYED

After Forty Years English Soldier Receives Medal

Pte. Parnell, who was discharged from the Rifle Brigade, England, in 1870, after 22 years' service, was entitled to a medal with two clasps for the Fenian raids of 1864 and 1870, but for some reason he never received it. Now, after an interval of 40 years, he has received it through the intervention of Mrs. Walter Salmond, honorary secretary of the Derbyshire branch of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Help Society. Parnell, who is 71, is blind, and an inmate of Derby Workhouse Infirmary, where the medal has been formally presented to him.

PRINCE'S WORLD TOUR

First of its Kind to be Made by a German Crown Prince

The German Crown Prince and Princess left Berlin recently for Genoa. There they will embark on the North German liner Prinz Ludwig for Colombo.

After three weeks in Ceylon the Crown Princess will return to Germany, while the Crown Prince will proceed for Bombay on board a German cruiser. He will spend two months in India, and will then proceed by stages to China and Japan, arriving back in Berlin by the overland route towards the middle of May next year.

This is the first world tour made by a German Crown Prince.

WRONG KIND OF COMFORT

"I'm going over to comfort Mrs Brown," said Mrs. Jackson to her daughter Mary. "Mr. Brown hanged himself in their attic last night."

"Oh, mother, don't go! you know you always say the wrong thing."

"Yes, I'm going, Mary. I'll just talk about the weather. That's a safe enough subject."

Mrs. Jackson went over on her visit of condolence. "We have had rainy weather lately, haven't we, Mrs. Brown?" she said.

"Yes," replied the widow; "I haven't been able to get the week's wash dried."

"Oh," said Mrs. Jackson, "I shouldn't think you would have any trouble. You have such a nice attic to hang things in."

BABY'S 60-FOOT FALL

A pathetic story of a baby's tragic death was told at an inquest at Westminster Coroner's Court on the body of Lidda Olga Irene Reynier, two years old.

Mr. Reynier lives with his family at Pimlico, and the dead body of the child was found in an area near there. The child, with its parents, slept in a room on the fourth floor and it was stated that it must have got out of its cot, climbed on a chair and a writing table and out of the open window. The little girl then apparently crawled or walked along a narrow parapet past three houses and finally fell over. Inspector Reid said the child must have fallen at least 60 feet. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

PROOF OF CHARACTER

It's a poor person, indeed, who has nothing to boast of. Asked if she had any witnesses to her character, an Irish woman proudly replied that she didn't need them. "My character," she added, "can be proved by the books at all the police courts."

A SIMPLE QUESTION

In a jury trial last week, a lawyer, baiting a young country fellow, asked imperiously—"And what did you fill the cart with?" "Wi' a shovel," retorted the youth to the amusement of the court.

A COW AS A SUSPECT

The Paris Journal publishes an amusing story of an incident occurring outside Marans, a fort near Trente, Austria. A cow strayed from its pasturage and came within reach of the fort. The officer in command suspected the presence of an automatic photographic apparatus, and had the beast seized and closely examined and when he found nothing to justify his suspicions he turned the animal loose again under the observation of two of his men charged with the duty of following the suspect home to ascertain whether her owner was an Italian spy.

THE FALL OF A BOOKWORM

How a love for Hall Caine's works proved the downfall of George Livermore, thirty-four, an insurance agent, was told on Saturday at the Guildhall, when he was charged with stealing from Smith's bookstall at Liverpool Street station, four books by that writer. The prisoner, who was caught red-handed, said he could not tell what made him take the books. He was particularly fond of this author's works, and was quite unaware that he took four books. He was sent to prison for seven days.

SANDY AND THE BOATS

"Waal," drawled the Yankee, "I guess we've got boats which can beat your British boats hollow. Why, if war broke out between us and Great Britain our fleet would tow the whole British fleet into New York harbor before they knew where they were!"

"Ay," replied Sandy, "ye micht do that; but it would take a much better man than Columbus to discover America after it!"

NORAH'S OBJECTION

Alfred (rapturously): "Now, darling, please name the happy day."

Minnie (blushing): "Three weeks from next Thursday, Alfred."

Norah, the domestic (through the keyhole): "If you please, miss, that's my regular day out. Mum says I'm to get married in the early part of the week."

PAT'S RETORT

A warship called at a military port on the coast of Ireland. Tommy Atkins, meeting a full-bearded Irish tar in the street a little later, said:

"Pat, when are you going to place your whiskers on the Reserve List?"

"When you place your tongue on the Civil List," was the Irish sailor's reply.

NEW MILK PAIL

Invention Has Sanitary Advantages That Are Distinct

The Hardware Magazine gives an account of a new sanitary milk pail, which will become a favorite with all the milkers in the dairies and on the farms. It has "no corners or cracks for milk or moisture to collect and sour or cause rust."

The pail is described as follows

The top of the pail is formed with a gradual rise for about three inches on the sides and back, and from this point an oval-shaped hood is formed with a total rise of four inches from the level of the top of the pail, which covers the entire top of the pail with the exception of eight inches on the front rim of the pail and five inches and a half in height, made without seams, which makes a lower milk pail than any on the market. It has a rounding hood which is not in the way when used.

SWEET CORN ON FARM

Some Hints to Farmers Who Would Like This Luxury

It is surprising yet how on many farms the luxury of sweet corn for the table receives no attention, especially when it is so easily grown, and it is so nutritious and palatable. To give a succession throughout the season there should be for an ordinary family four or five blocks of about forty hills each, at least five rows wide, and planted at least a couple of weeks apart. The mistake is sometimes made of planting sweet corn in single rows, or perhaps two long rows, beside each other. In this way the silks will not be sufficiently fertilized with the pollen, and the yield of ears will be meagre and defective. Make a note to remember this for next season. The first block should be put in early in May, and the ground frequently stirred. For home use, no sort equals the Golden Bantam, or Golden Sweet, as some call it, but it is not large enough to be profitable as a canning-factory crop.—Farmers' Advocate.

"OWD LUKE" RETIRES

Veteran Newsagent's 30,000 Miles' Journey in Selling a Paper

"Owd Luke," of Barrow Hill, near Chesterfield, one of the oldest Sunday newsagents in the United Kingdom, has retired, at the age of eighty-six, from a business established nearly thirty years ago.

Mr. Luke Beaniess, to give the old man his proper name, was born at Leicester, and in his early days followed the occupation of a bootmaker. The "pay" being hardly sufficient to buy food—or "snap," as he terms it—he "emigrated" to Derbyshire, finally settling down at Barrow Hill, nearly sixty years ago, to become a miner.

Whilst employed at this work, he witnessed many changes in labor conditions underground. From fourteen hours a day, when he first commenced, the working time had fallen to nine hours by the time he was compelled to leave his employment, through having reached the age limit.

"A great contrast, wasn't it?" he said, and drily added, "What would the present generation of miners, with their Eight Hours Act, think if they had to go back to the old system of sixty years ago? They wouldna like it, I know.

"And the poor pit lads! How they fared in those days was horrible creel—words can't express my feelings."

Referring to his career as a news agent, "Owd Luke" estimated that during his weekly distribution of Lloyd's Weekly he has travelled a distance approaching 30,000 miles, in all weathers. He still enjoys good health, sight and hearing.

Tobacco and an occasional glass of beer "Owd Luke" indulges in, and appears none the worse for these luxuries. His descendants living include four sons, and two daughters, thirty-nine grandchildren, and twenty-two great-grandchildren. His wife died some time ago.

The New Tax.

The bill before the Ontario Legislature taxing horse racing, is likely to become law. Objection is raised because it is alleged that the tax will injure small country fairs. Premier Whitney says race meets do the country no good, a sentiment which we think most people will agree with.

Night Shift on Work.

Orillia Packet:—Down near Brechin, the contractor on the C. P. R. grain line has put on a night shift, and is pushing the work night and day. This is a very unusual proceeding at this time of the year, and indicates that the Company is anxious to get the line completed for next fall's trade.

Pure Maple Syrup.

A petition is being circulated among pure maple sugar manufacturers of Canada asking from the Dominion Government amendment to the adulteration Act, which will protect pure maple sugar products from competition with adulterated sugars and syrups. The petition asks that the use of the word "maple" be made illegal in connection with products containing foreign sugar.

Local Clergymen at Lakefield.

Lakefield News:—During the season of Lent there will be services on Tuesday afternoons at 4.30 o'clock in St. John the Baptist Church. On Wednesday evening at 7.30 there will be special preachers. Rev. Charles Carpenter, of Peterborough, was the preacher on Ash Wednesday. Next Wednesday, Rev. H. R. Trumpour of All Saints' Church, Peterborough, is to preach.

Held Social Evening.

The men's Bible class of the Charlotte street Methodist Church, held a social on Saturday evening, at which dainty refreshments were served, and a good programme presented. A feature of the occasion was an address of Mr. R. Treleaven, B.A., of Toronto, which was interesting and instructive. The Bible class of this church has a membership of 80, and is under the leadership of the pastor, Rev. Mr. Henderson. It is regarded as one of the most progressive organizations of the city in promoting religious work.

Building Inspector Required.

The School Committee of the Legislature, which has been hearing the views of the employers and workmen on proper safeguards in the construction of buildings, has concluded its work and a revised bill will be drawn up. Among the clauses will be one compelling municipalities to appoint building inspectors. The bill will also be made to apply to incorporated villages as well as cities and towns. Thus Peterborough will be obliged to add another city official, or add to the duties of the City Engineer, by making him building inspector.

A Religious Campaign.

Yesterday, the first of a series of special services was held at the Knox Church, which is to continue for two weeks. Mr. W. McBretney, of Toronto, a vocal soloist, who is giving himself to evangelistic work, sang at the services, and will continue each evening of the mission. Rev. Geo. A. Woodside, M.A., of Owen Sound, will arrive in the city to-day, and will be the speaker at each service. He will have a striking message to men. The services are open to the public, and all are strongly urged to attend them and will be welcomed. The opportunity is one that should be taken advantage of by the people of Peterborough.

Assaulted at Card Game.

Last night while engaged in a card game in a private room in the business section, a row took place. One of the players, so The Times was informed, accused one of the others of cheating and at once got a bat on the nose for his objectionable assertions. Several blows between the two followed before the others present could separate them. It is likely the matter will be referred to Police Magistrate Dumble for adjustment.

SOCIETY EVENTS

The Times will be pleased to receive notices of Weddings, Social Events, Personal Announcements, which will be published in this column free of charge.

Mr. S. Dickson Hall, manager of Richard Hall & Son, Limited, left Saturday for New York to purchase some of the later Parisian and American novelties to be shown next week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Cressman, returned home on Saturday evening, after an extended trip through the Southern States.

The many friends in town and country of Mr. Geo. Walton, of Smith, will regret to learn that he has been quite ill for some time. Last week he was removed to St. Joseph's Hospital, where an operation was performed on Saturday by Dr. McCulloch assisted by Dr. Scott. Last night he was reported to be doing nicely.

OBITUARY

At an early hour on Sunday morning, the death of Mrs. D. McCulloch occurred at the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. J. Johns, 418 Rubidge street. The remains were conveyed to Calumet, via C.P.R. last evening. The funeral will be held on Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. JOHN GARBUTT.

It is with sincere regret that we are forced to record the death of Mr. John Garbutt, who passed away on Saturday last at 2.30 o'clock, at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Manson Comstock, 219 Sherbrooke street. Mr. Garbutt was 77 years of age, and leaves a family of two sons and two daughters, as follows: Mrs. E. F. Mason and Mrs. Manson Comstock, Peterborough; John H. and R. A. Garbutt, Smith.

The deceased gentleman was a lifelong and consistent member of the Murray-street Baptist Church, and was universally esteemed and beloved by all who knew him. He was a man whose "word was as good as his bond", and who had a high regard for truth and honor. He had been a sufferer for many years from rheumatism, which had become chronic, and from which he was never free. He bore his affliction with true Christian fortitude and in the full knowledge that there was a crown awaiting him in the new world that he has just entered.

Mr. Garbutt was born in Port Hope in 1834. When only a year old the family moved to Smith, where the deceased spent his whole life. His brothers and sisters are: Mrs. Mann, of this city, (formerly of Bridgenorth); Mrs. McKibbon, Lakefield; Isaac Garbutt, Dummer; William, Douro; Henry, Lakefield; and Robert, Smith. He was a son of the late Isaac Garbutt, who for many years was Reeve of Smith and Warden of Peterborough County. With such a father, it is hardly to be wondered at that the son developed those splendid qualities and traits of character that always leave their impression on the community.

The funeral will leave the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. Manson Comstock, 219 Sherbrooke street, this afternoon at 2.30, and proceed to the Little Lake Cemetery for interment. Service in the house at 2, conducted by Rev. Mr. Webb, pastor of the Baptist Church.

READ EVERY WORD OF THIS
It Will Be Money In Your Pocket To Do So

Everyone is anxious to make money. Everyone has an ambition to get rich. Some men DO get rich. Others remain poor. The difference is simply a difference of methods. Nearly all of us save some money, but we do not let these savings earn anything for us. THE MAN WHO SAVES HIS MONEY AND LETS THE SAVINGS EARN SOMETHING FOR HIM is making it do double duty. Take the history of all the very wealthy men of the country and learn how many of them made their fortunes by simply saving what they earned. Not one of them did. They saved but they immediately put their savings to work for them. YOU WANT TO GET TO THE TOP OF THE LADDER, YOU WANT TO ACCUMULATE SOMETHING FOR YOUR OLD AGE. THEN YOU HAD BETTER PUT YOUR SAVINGS TO WORK AND LET THEM HELP YOU DO IT.

In almost any ordinary investment a man cannot make his money earn over 8 per cent. Mining offers you greater opportunities. I am going to offer you an opportunity that has promise of earning for you 900 per cent or even more. I want to take you into partnership with me, in an enterprise that will probably make us all independent for the balance of our lives. YOU MUST TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THIS OFFERING. The Gold Queen Mining Company, of which I am president, has over 135 acres of rich mineral ground in one of the most prosperous mining districts of the world. We have already expended thousands of dollars in developing this property and we have struck ore that is very rich. We need a mill to extract the precious metal from this ore. We need a little help in building this mill. Are you willing to subscribe a portion of the amount necessary to do it? In numbers there is strength, and even though your subscription be a very small one, we are willing to give you a part ownership in this great enterprise, in return for it. We are willing to take you in on an equal basis with us and give you the benefit of all your savings may earn for you. The men behind this proposition are all successful business men. They are in this business to make it pay and for every dollar they earn for themselves they will earn one for you. REMEMBER: THIS IS NOT A PROSPECT—IT IS A MINE WITH ORE IN IT. But a small amount of money is necessary to build our mill. We have decided to offer only a very limited number of shares at the present price, and as soon as this amount is secured the price will be advanced to a much greater figure. NOW IS THE TIME FOR YOU TO ACT. YOU ARE GETTING IN WITH THE ORGANIZERS OF THE COMPANY AT GROUND FLOOR PRICES. YOU ARE COMING INTO A BONA FIDE PARTNERSHIP WITH US AND WITH NO PARTNERSHIP RESPONSIBILITIES. Read what Mr. Van Wagenen, one of the foremost mining engineers of the country has to say: "I would advise the immediate erection of a ten-stamp mill with cyanide equipment, to treat your gold ores, and a separate concentrating plant to handle your copper pyrites, thus reducing the shipping weight 6 to 1, and eventually put in a smelter in connection with the mill, with a ten-stamp mill on your property and a daily production of 50 tons of ore. I CAN PROMISE YOU A NET EARNING OF $300.00 PER DAY or $109,500 per year and that can be increased to ten times as much as soon as tunnels A and B are finished, and added milling equipment is installed. The economical method is the best. Start with a ten-stamp mill and let your stockholders be content with 10 per cent per annum until you have increased your milling facilities, and install your smelting plant to treat your concentrates. THEN YOU CAN PAY THEM 400 TO 500 PER CENT DIVIDENDS PER YEAR FOR THE NEXT TEN YEARS ON THE PRESENT VALUATION OF YOUR STOCK, 5 CENTS PER SHARE, and this out of the new discovered vein alone." Now if you want to get in with us on this proposition you must act quickly, for the present allotment of shares will not last long. The man who buys now will get his shares at the very rock bottom price. The one who waits until later will without a doubt pay many times what it is being offered for now. Arrangements may be made to pay for your subscription on the easy payment plan. Write at once for full information and detailed literature explaining all about it. Write today. Do not wait another minute or you may be too late.

Died in the Hospital.

A man named Thomas Armstrong died at the Nicholls Hospital Saturday morning from heart failure. He came to town from Toronto on Friday night, and was taken suddenly ill at the Grand Hotel, and was removed to the Hospital. He was about 60 years of age, and worked in the lumber camps. He is said to have a brother living in the city. The funeral took place from Comstock's undertaking parlors.

Firemen's Increase Confirmed by City Council

AUBURN WOOLEN MILLS ASK FOR THE FIRE PROTECTION PROMISED THEM THREE YEARS AGO.

Market Tolls To Be Again Sold by Auction—Play Ground for West End Petitioned For.

The City Fathers met in regular monthly session last night. There were present: Mayor Morrow and Aldermen Morgan, Anderson, Graham, Kerneghan, Brown, Metheral, Duncan, Edgar and Buller.

Ex-Mayor Kendry being present he was invited to take a seat on the dias beside his worship. Mr. Kendry accepted the courtesy extended him.

The minutes of the preceding meeting were taken as read, and confirmed.

WESTERN PLAY-GROUND.

J. E. Hodgson and other western citizens petitioned for play-grounds, between King and Charlotte streets, West City. Referred to Manufacturers and Parks Committee.

Mr. Hodgson was present, and put up a strong plea for the project, which he characterized as in keeping with approved twentieth-century views regarding the physical requirements of little folk confined at their studies so many hours each day. The plot of ground in view is part of the old Burnham property, 400 feet by 260 feet, and would make an ideal recreation spot for west end children. The Council should act at once, if the suggestion meets with its approval, as the lots will otherwise be quickly bought in for building purposes this spring.

FIRE PROTECTION WANTED.

The Auburn Woolen Co., wrote asking for adequate fire protection for their mills on the Auburn side of the river.

Mr. Kendry offered that the Auburn Mills had been promised protection 18 years ago. Of late years they had been assured that when the new Smith street bridge was constructed a water pipe would be run across the structure and on to Auburn. The company have spent themselves nearly $10,000 in a fire protection system of their own; but the insurance companies are now insisting that the city system be extended to their mills. The Auburn Woolen Mills spend between $60,000 and $70,000 annually in wages, and have at no time received much consideration in the way of improvements. This matter was referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

INCREASE FOR FIREMEN CONFIRMED.

Ald. Morgan submitted the report of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, and the increase in wages for the firemen, already published, was confirmed by Council.

Ald. Brown thought that increase for the first year men should be held in hand for six months as a guarantee that they would not fritter away a portion of the first year term in leaving the service and re-engaging.

Ald. Morgan offered that as the committee had concluded that the first year's wages, especially, were too small for the men to live comfortably upon, an increase had been recommended; and it would not be just to hold a portion of any fireman's salary back for a given time. He thought that any saving that could be effected out of a fireman's salary should be undertaken by the men and not by the City Council.

As Ald. Kerneghan was the only supporter of Ald. Brown's views, a by-law, fixing the men's salary at $525, $575 and $600, passed its second reading.

$200 FOR A HORSE.

Geo. W. Haston wrote that his client, Robert Gibbs, has instructed him to press for re-imbursement to the amount of $200, the value of a horse which fell into an open trench at the corner of Bethune and Charlotte streets and broke its legs—Referred to the Legal Committee.

COMMITTEE OF WHOLE.

Ald. Buller submitted the following:—

Gentlemen,—Your Committee of the Whole Council beg leave to report and recommend as follows:

1. That the Council respectfully urge the Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada to adopt regulations requiring railways to operate from union stations where possible.
2. That the Peterborough Light and Power Co. be notified to discontinue disposing of the refuse from the gas house in the river and to dispose of it in some other way.
3. That the Medical Health Officer be instructed to take samples of water from the river from one to ten miles below the sewer outfall during the early spring and at such times as he thinks will be of advantage in the summer and examine them and report the results, and also to send some samples of the water to the Provincial Laboratory for examination.
4. That the Board of Management of the Isolation Hospital be authorized to engage nurses and such other help as may be needed for that hospital.

This report was adopted as read.

REPORTS.

The following reports were submitted and adopted:—Legal by Ald. Graham; Property by Ald. Duncan; Financial by Ald. Anderson (acting in the absence of Ald. Bradburn).

The business embodied in these reports has been published before when the committees met.

On motion of Ald. Duncan, the account of Edwards and Johnston for painting at the Public Library was ordered to be paid.

$600 FOR HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.

A by-law authorizing a grant of $600 to the Peterborough Horticultural Society on the condition that they care for the Court House and Central Parks.

$10,000 FOR WATER MAINS.

A by-law to authorize the borrowing of $10,000 to pay for the water mains extension in the year 1910 passed its several readings.

Rutherford Bros., the contractors, who built the new Public Library, wrote, asking that there work having been completed now several months, they be paid the $300 held in hand by the Committee. The matter was referred to the Property Committee.

35 OR 40 UPSETS.

Ald. Graham pointed out that the corner of Smith and George streets is a dangerous spot for equestrians by reason of the railway tracks' short curve to within ten feet of a cedar post. There had been 35 or 40 upsets at that point this winter, he said, and it would be in the interests of citizens were the curve extended somewhat, if possible. The Street Railway Company will be communicated with to this effect.

MARKET TOLLS.

Ald. Duncan asked what policy the Council would adopt this year re the market tolls.

Ald. Graham moved, seconded by Ald. Kerneghan, the Property Committee was given authority to sell the market tolls as last year.

DAG SPENCE AMBULANCE.

The care of the Dan Spence Memorial Ambulance was left in the hands of the Property Committee with power to act.

A resolution is on the City's books ken care of and served turn about by authorizing this ambulance being ta- the several undertaking establishments.

REFUSE GROUND.

The matter of a refuse grounds was also left in the hands of the Property Committee with power to act.

MOTHER ON TRIAL FOR KILLING BOY

MRS. EDITH MELBER OF SCHENECTADY FACED A JURY IN THE SUPREME COURT.

They Say She Confessed—Claim She Poured Poison Down Her Child's Throat and Left Him in the Woods.

Albany, N.Y., March 6.—Charged with the deliberate murder of her own child, Mrs. Edith Melber, of Schenectady, was placed on trial before Justice Howard in the Supreme Court to-day.

The police annals of the State have seldom recorded a more revolting crime than that charged against the frail little woman who faced the court to-day, and despite a blinding snow-storm without, hundreds of curious persons were attracted to the court room in the City Hall in the hope of getting a glimpse of the prisoner. On the afternoon of January 13, the body of a baby boy was found almost concealed in a clump of tall reeds, by a hunter who was following his dogs across a stretch of frozen swamp land on the outskirts of Albany. The boy's face had been horribly burned by poison. For two days the authorities unsuccessfully sought to learn the boy's name. Telegrams from cities in Canada, New York, and Pennsylvania concerning the boys missing from home and kidnapped furnished fruitless clues. Two days after the discovery of the body, George Melber, of Schenectady, a blacksmith, identified the body of that of his grandson, George Melber, whom he had thought safe in an orphan asylum.

Woman Charged with Young Doctor's Death

Whiteville, N.C., Mar. 6.—Mrs. Neill Hayes was placed on trial here to-day charged with the murder of Robert M. Floyd, a young medical student at Mt. Tabor, N.C., on the afternoon of Feb. 4.

Her husband and a brother were arraigned at the same time on a charge of being accessories. The defence is that when Floyd went to the Hayes home to treat Mrs. Hayes he insulted her. All are members of prominent families.

CLIPPED OFF CURLS AND DONNED TROUSERS.

Washington, March 6.—Because her father was "too strict," Esther Watson, a sixteen-year-old Philadelphia girl clipped off her curls, traded her skirt for trousers and came to Washington a week ago, registering at a down town hotel.

She met some girls and became quite a "beau." She took her girl friends to dances and theatres. She puffed cigarettes in the hotel lobby, and seemed to be highly happy.

Esther is at the House of Detention now waiting for her papa to come from Philadelphia to take her home. The Washington police became suspicious and arrested her. Her nerve seemed to leave in a flash, and tucking her suit case under her arm, while the big tears rolled down her pink cheeks, she was led ignominously out of the hotel.

Young Girl Says She Was Abused

OTONABEE FARMER HAS TO PAY $100 AND COSTS OF COURT.

At the special session of the Division Court, held yesterday afternoon, an Otonabee farmer, named Wm. E. Stewart, was defendant in a suit for $183, brought by a domestic named Dora Rudd, who is a Barnado Home girl. The case was heard before a jury of five, Messrs. Harry E. Elpbeck, Adam S. Elliott, J. C. Edwards, James Edgar and J. Emmerson. F. D. Kerr conducted the prosecution and J. E. L. Goodwill defended.

The complainant told a story of hard work and ill treatment endured by her while employed by Stewart five years ago.

When hired by him it was on the understanding, she said, that he was to receive $3 a month the first year and $5 a month after that.

Altogether she was in the employ of Mr. Stewart four years and ten months, and the arrears in her salary, she claimed amounted to $183. Owing to the cost of a suit of over $100 having to be tried in High Court she withdrew the $83 to enable the case to come within the jurisdiction of Division Court.

According to the complainant, she had been compelled to perform all kinds of work, including housework, cleaning out-houses, pig-pens, etc., and helping with the haying in the summer.

She stated that she rose at 4.45 in the summer and 5.30 during the winter. She watered the cows in the winter time, sawed and split wood, and from 7.30 until 11 o'clock p.m. she claimed to have worked out in the wash-shed one night without a light of any kind.

When questioned by Mr. Kerr as to how often she had been in town during the past year, she said only once.

During the term of her service on the farm she had only been to a circus once, and that time she said she had to walk the three miles into the town to witness it.

"Did they ever beat you?" enquired Mr. Kerr.

"Yes," answered the girl, "I could not tell the number of times I have been beaten."

Mr. Stewart, she said, had once horse whipped her over a dispute about one of the children.

One night when a pig escaped and hid in the corn field she stated that her employers compelled her to remain out late at night searching for it, and on her being unable to find it, they made her sleep outside and spent the night in a buggy.

After hearing the evidence, the plaintiff was awarded $100 and costs by the jury.

WILL SHE COME HERE?

Toronto, March 6.—The new harem skirt will probably be seen on the streets of Toronto this week.

The costume is now in the city, having been received from the Parisian exporters early this morning.

A New York girl will wear the gown, and declares that she will appear first on Yonge street to-morrow afternoon.

NINETY PERSONS BURNED TO DEATH

TERRIBLE TRAGEDY OCCURRED AT BOLOGOIE, RUSSIA, DURING MOVING PICTURE PERFORMANCE.

Most of the Victims Were Children—Panic Stricken Crowd Fought Desperately—Flames Drove Back Rescuers.

St. Petersburg, Mar. 6.—Ninety persons, many of whom were children were burned to death, and forty others injured in a fire that destroyed a moving picture theatre at Bologoie, on Sunday. Reports of the disaster were received here to-day.

The fire broke out while the exhibition was in progress and quickly enveloped the building cutting off every avenue of escape.

Futile attempts at rescue were made by those who happened to be close by the exit when the fire started and by others from the outside, but the fury of the flames drove them back before they could reach the shrieking victims, who in their efforts to get out, of the building, fought desperately among themselves.

U.S. DOCTORS A PREY TO MORPHINE HABIT?

Boston, March 6.—"Ten per cent. of the physicians of the United States are users of morphine through the hypodermic syringe," said Dr. William F. Boos, an expert toxicologist of the Massachusetts General Hospital, speaking before the Welsh and Ward Society at its 33rd annual meeting last night. He continued, "I know of one hospital where all the physicians, nurses and attaches are users of the drug. Morphine is more dangerous than opium and many cases end in hopeless insanity. There is more smoking than eating of opium, and a great number of young women are smoking opium in this city."

KANSAS LEGISLATURE IS COMING TO CANADA.

Washington, March 6.—Representative Campbell, of Kansas, announced that as he was leaving the White House to-day, that he was going to Canada to study the reciprocity situation at first hand.

CHINAMAN HIT ON HEAD WITH AN AXE

MURDEROUS ASSAULT COMMITTED ON CHARLIE LEE IN HIS LAUNDRY.

The Assailant Escaped—But He Left A Trail of Blood Behind—He Was Followed For Some Time.

Toronto, March 6.—A murderous assault, with a bold attempt at daylight robbery, was made in the Chinese laundry of Charlie Lee, at 20 Elizabeth street early this afternoon, and the man who made the attempt escaped, but left a trail behind him which the police believe they will have no trouble in following. Yip Tuck, the only Chinaman who was in the shop at the time, was twice slashed over the head with a small meat axe and is now lying in the nurse's home on Hayter street suffering chiefly from loss of blood. He has two scalp wounds, one about four inches in length, the other about three inches, and both of these his friends state were inflicted by a young Englishman, who entered by the rear doorway, and first demanded money before he struck the blows, which failed to lay the Chinaman out.

OTHERS FOLLOWED HIM.

Yip Tuck was attended by Dr. McMillan, who was immediately summoned, and the man who struck the blows fled down Elizabeth street, with a number of nearby Elizabeth street residents in pursuit, and guided by the spatter of blood stains which flowed from a wound which he had received in the struggle with the Chinaman. Tuck, it is believed will not suffer any serious consequences.

According to the story which is told by the proprietor, the stranger, young man, who is described as tall, thin and fair of complexion, and was wearing a light grey suit, entered the laundry by the rear door, which faces on Hayter street, and the first seen of him by Tuck was when he entered the main room of the laundry and demanded money. This being refused he suddenly pulled the short axe from under his coat, and struck the Celestial over the head.

LEFT AXE BEHIND.

The axe, which was left behind, is about fifteen inches in length and has a heavy head with a sharp blade which was still stained with blood when it came into the possession of the police. Tuck resisted, and got a second blow on the back of the head which nearly stunned him. By this time his assailant had despaired of getting any money and made an attempt to get out by way of the front door, but Tuck apparently was game, for he clung to his attacker, struggled with him as far as the street, and red marks of the fight were left along the wall where the two had fought. Once in the street, the unknown man broke away, but left the weapon behind him, and this no doubt will furnish the clue which will enable the authorities to locate him.

Tuck as a last effort picked up the axe which had been dropped, used it as a missile, flung it after the fleeing man with accuracy, and succeeded in striking him in the neck with the point of the blade. It is by means of these blood stains that the man will probably be traced. As it was, the noise had attracted a considerable crowd, as there were workmen nearby, and several gave pursuit. The blood stains were tracked down Terauley street, across Elm, and were then lost in the Ward.

Sixty Persons Leaped to Escape Death

Cleveland, O., March 6.—Six persons were fatally hurt and 20 others badly injured in a fire that destroyed a tenement house here early to-day. One man is missing and it is believed that he lost his life. The flames spread so rapidly through the building, which was occupied by foreigners, that 60 leaped from the windows to escape death in the fire. The six who were fatally injured missed the life nets that the firemen were holding in the street beneath. The struggling mass of humanity, fighting upon the third floor to get near the windows, pushed those clinging to sills from their perilous positions.

WARSAW.

Reciprocity is the leading topic at any gathering in town. Many of the farmers take broad-minded views of it, but again some do not take the trouble to think (it being hard work for some people) and talk for or against it as their politics stand. The general feeling seems to be against the measure.

A large crowd has been on the rink every night this week to enjoy the excellent ice which has been obtained by the hard working painstaking and thoughtful rink committee. Such excellent management has never been equalled even by the larger cities—and we all know it. General reports say that the water in the pond is very low this year and the rink committee are carrying water to the rink in a tin pail. Poor thing, how it must suffer from thirst.

Farmers coming into town say the roads are very icy in places and cutting off badly in places. The snow seems to be settling gradually, however, and we hope we shall avoid a flood.

Miss Flo. McDonald of Lakefield, is visiting her friend, Miss Ida Jury of North Dummer. She and Miss Jury spent a few days with Miss Belle Selkirk in the village.

Mr. Arthur Payne and his wife have returned from the west and are visiting friends in the vicinity.

Quite a number of gentlemen have returned from the woods and are living an easy life until the ice breaks up when they will go on the drives.

Arrangements Made for Spanish River Pulp Issue

The Dominion Bond Co. Will Handle Issue in Canada, While the London One Will be Made Through the London & South Western Bank.

Following on a successful re-organization of the Spanish River Pulp & Paper Mills Ltd., the announcement is made by Mr. Garnet P. Grant, President of the Dominion Bond Co., that arrangements had been concluded for an issue of $1,300,000 of the 6 per cent. First Mortgage Sinking Fund Gold Bonds of that company in London, Eng., through the London and South Western Bank, Ltd., of London. The books for the London offering will open on March 6th, and simultaneously with this offering the Dominion Bond Company will receive subscriptions in Canada. The bankers for the issue in England are the Royal Bank of Scotland, London, Eng., and the London & South Western Bank, Ltd., London, Eng. The bonds are being offered in Canada at 97½.

The plants and mills of the Spanish River Pulp & Paper Mills, Ltd., are situated at Espanola, Ont., and the re-organization of the company was put through with a view of enabling the company to keep pace with the tremendous development that was occurring in the pulp industry of Canada.

The capitalization of the new company consists of an authorized amount of $2,500,000 of First Mortgage 6 per cent. Sinking Fund Bonds, of which $1,300,000 now being offered are issued; $2,000,000 7 per cent. preference stock, of which $1,500,000 is issued and $2,000,000 of common stock, all of which is issued.

The Company has been in successful operation for a number of years past, and the value of its fixed assets as determined by the Canadian American Appraisal Company, Ltd., after allowing for depreciation, stands at $2,489,644, or nearly twice the amount of bonds issued. This is exclusive of the standing timber on the area on which the company holds a concession.

The net earnings of the company as determined by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Company for the past three years were as follows:—

Year ending 31st December, 1909 ..... 169,555.30
Year ending 31st December, 1910 ..... 207,899.93

The net earnings for 1910 show the bond interest earned almost three times over.

The announcement that the bankers for the issue in London were the Royal Bank of Scotland and the London & South Western Bank, Ltd., is sure to attract great interest in Canadian financial circles, as it indicates the attention that the larger British banking concerns are paying at the present time to the more attractive Canadian industrial enterprises.

Calls on Sir Wilfrid Laurier to Delay Treaty

London, March 6.—The Pall Mall Gazette says that if Sir Wilfrid Laurier insists now upon driving straight ahead with the reciprocity agreement, not only will he be challenging Canada's self-respect, but will be flouting several sagacious and practical considerations. "After Saturday's events, the reasons for delay at Ottawa are morally overwhelming," it declares.

Laid at Rest.

The funeral of the late Mr. John Garbutt took place yesterday, from the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. Manson Comstock, 219 Sherbrooke street. The remains were followed to the Little Lake cemetery by a large number of sorrowing relatives and friends. Religious services were held at the house, and were conducted by Rev. Mr. Webb, pastor of the Murray street Baptist Church, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Pogue, of St. Paul's. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Robert and William Garbutt, brothers of deceased; J. H. Garbutt and Albert Garbutt, sons, and E. F. Mason and Manson Comstock, son-in-laws.

In the death of Mr. Garbutt, Peterborough loses one of its oldest and most esteemed citizens. He was not only esteemed by those who knew him, but was also greatly beloved by many, and will be greatly missed.

THE WEATHER.

Ald. Morgan's Dog Poisoned.

Ald. Morgan's valuable Boston bull terrier was poisoned last evening by some person unknown. The dog entered his owner's yard at five-o'clock and died at five-thirty. This act is a cowardly one, and calls for severe punishment should its perpetrator be discovered. It is to be hoped that a reversion to the wholesale dog poisoning era of a year ago is not going to take place. The dog by law provides for ample redress to any citizen who is annoyed by a dog not kept under proper control, and the authorities will enforce the measure if information is properly laid and such canine proved to be a menace to private interests. Any person who surreptitiously poisons a neighbor's pet has peculiar views, to say the least, of the rights of twentieth century citizenship.

OBITUARY

On Saturday last, the death occurred of Mr. P. T. Amys, formerly of Picking Hall, Suffolk, England. Mr. Amys was born in 1835 and came to Canada in 1858, and settled in Lakefield, where he resided until the death of his wife, who was the eldest daughter of the late Thomas Steele, of that village, which took place ten years ago, after which he moved to this city, where he has resided ever since.

Three sons are left to mourn his loss, Frederick, of Lakefield, Arthur, manager Bank of Toronto, Preston, and Dr. C. H. Amys, Charlotte street, this city. The funeral took place from the residence of Dr. Amys, at 3.30 yesterday afternoon to Little Lake cemetery.

MICHAEL SULLIVAN.

There passed away yesterday morning at the family residence, 639 George street, one of Peterborough's oldest and most esteemed citizens, in the person of Mr. Michael Sullivan, in the eighty-sixth year of his age. The deceased has been a resident of Peterborough for over 60 years, and which dates back to a time when this place was only a country village with but one brick building.

For many years Mr. Sullivan was identified with the lumbering industry, but latterly was engaged in the grocery business, which for the past two years has been carried on by his son, Mr. Daniel Sullivan. The deceased was well and favorably known throughout the city and county, and was highly esteemed. He leaves six daughters and two sons, his wife having predeceased him eleven years ago. The daughters are Mrs. Halpin, Mrs. Leahy, Mrs. Buchanan and Mr. J. J. Duffus, all of Peterborough; Mrs. Kennedy of Montana, and Mrs. Bacon of Chicago, and the sons are Jos. Sullivan of Montana and Daniel Sullivan of this city.

The funeral will take place to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock from the late residence, 639 George street to St. Peter's Cathedral and thence to St. Peter's cemetery for interment.

THE WORK AT PANAMA.

The many landslides that are taking place along the line of the Panama canal, landslides that undo in a moment the hard and costly work of months are a most discouraging feature. The reports from Culebra cut are to the effect that in the latest slide no less than half a million cubic yards of earth slid down, and this represents the work of one of the gigantic steam shovels for 250 days.

The engineers on the job believe that there will always be dangers of landslides unless the eminence known as Gold Hill is cut away much further than was at first thought necessary and, of course, it is better that the work should be done thoroughly now, rather than have any untoward accidents when the canal is once opened to traffic. This means a great addition to the original estimate of cost.

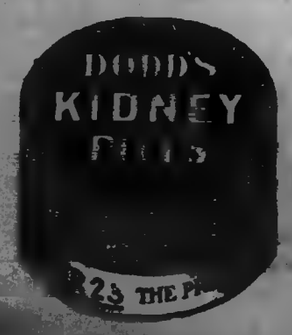
This phase of the work that the United States engineers are doing at Panama only emphasizes the gigantic nature of the task we so confidently undertook. A nation less resourceful, with less pluck and determination might well be appalled at the difficulties. At every step along the way the men have come upon the wreck of the French enterprise which failed so dismally.

With the fate of the French engineers before them the American engineers had first of all to conquor the fevers that infested the country; rid the place of mosquitoes; drain the land and render it sweet and clean. Then came the problem of the locks and how to build them so that they should be proof against the minor earthquakes that happen so frequently down there. The Gatun dam was another problem that had to be solved without precedent to guide the builders. Now come the landslides which make it necessary to do so much work over again.

Still, in sbite of all discouragements: in spite of added cost and additional months of labor the Panama canal will be completed and on time. To doubt this is to doubt the spirit that is so large a factor in the dynamics of our modern world.

A RIVAL TO THE CANAL.

Ratification of a contract between the Panama Government and Balboa and Pacific Estates, Limited, of London, is expected at an early date in the Panama Assembly, says the Canadian Trade Review. It will provide for a railroad from end to end of the Republic. It is the project long considered under the title of the Darien line. It is to open up the virgin country on the Pacific slope and will parallel that coast. One day it will be an important link in the inevitable line linking North and South America. The United States is watching with an anxious eye this British invasion. Ratification of the contract will give Great Britain a foothold on the isthmus at the very brink of the canal and the right to assert a "sphere of influence." Once having attained this no one expects Britain to loosen its grip. It was expected American opposition would prevent completion of the negotiations but now it seems plain the contract will be closed within a few weeks. The line will begin at David and will be extended eastward taward the Colombian border.



FIVE GENERATIONS

Great - Great - Grandmother Recovers Sight after 30 Years' Blindness

With a family of five generations alive and well, Mrs. Potter, of the village of Thundersley in Essex, England, is a proud old lady. She is in her ninety-eighth year, and still hale and hearty, but the most remarkable thing about her is that for thirty years she was totally blind, and at the end of that time her sight was restored. That was about thirteen months ago, and now she is able to see as well as ever. Her blindness followed on a severe attack of influenza and bronchitis. When asked how she recovered her sight, or by what treatment she benefited, she will say that no doctor and no treatment cured her, it was done simply by prayer. She remembered the New Testament stories of the power of faith, so she tried the same method, and found it successful.

Next in the family line comes Mrs Wheel, her daughter, who is seventy four years of age, a sturdy, splendid looking woman, who seems effectually to have defied the ravages of time for she is capable of a hard day's work still, and indeed looks as if she could do as much as a man. She has had fourteen children, of whom six are still living.

Next to the daughter is Mrs. Finch who is fifty four years of age, and the youngest mother in the line is Mrs Gosling, aged thirty-four, and the youngest representative of the family shown in the photograph, is her son aged eleven years.

The elder members of this remarkable family live in and near the village of Thundersley, in Essex, in the direction of Southend, which must be one of the most remarkably healthy spots in England. Mrs. Wheel's husband is still living there. He has lived in the same house for eighty-seven years!

Passing through the village one cannot help being struck with the number of old people, and, further, with their remarkably healthy and hearty appearance. Thundersley is evidently the place where old age pensioners thrive. Mr. and Mrs. Wheel and her sister are all in receipt of old age pensions.

BOUND BABY'S ARMS

Court Orders Imprisonment for an Inhuman Father

One month's hard labor was the sentence passed at Bolton, England, on John Anthony Johnson, a young laborer, of Hensor Street, for cruelty towards his child. Mrs. Johnson said that before the child was born her husband ill-treated her.

"On one occasion did the baby it bed put its hand on its father's face?" asked the prosecuting solicitor.

"Yes, sir," replied Mrs. Johnson.

"And what did he do?"

"He got some string and tied its arms down to its body so that it could not move them."

"Liar!" exclaimed Johnson.

"Did you undo the string from the child's arms?"

"Yes."

"And what did he do then?"

"He thrashed me."

It was stated that the child only weighed six pounds, while the average weight of one of its age was eleven pounds, eight ounces. Mrs. Johnson was granted a separation order, carrying six shillings per week.

A LUCKY FISHERMAN

Whilst trolling in the bay at St. John's, N.B., C. I. White hooked and landed a maskinonge, which when weighed, tipped the scales at 25½ pounds. It was a fine specimen of this gamey fish.

TWO MEANINGS

"Did your father leave your mother much?" asked the man with intentions of the little boy in black.

"Twice a week," was the unexpected answer.

IMPROVING POULTRY

Beaverton Farmers Are Putting Brain into the Industry

Mr. J. Hare, Whitby, has been for the past six weeks devoting his time to the organization of "Co-operative Poultry Circles" in the vicinity of Beaverton. He reports marked success in this new line of effort. One organization, he states, is composed of over forty farmers, who have been receiving since organization three or four cents per dozen more for their eggs than the prevailing market prices. Live poultry is also handled through the organization. This movement is active in other parts of the Province, and undoubtedly promises to very greatly improve the present deplorable condition of the poultry industry.

The apparel proclaims the man.
Speech is the index of the mind.
Clean linen gives moral strength.
True delicacy is solid refinement.
A loud voice bespeaks a vulgar man.
Good taste is the flower of good sense.
Refinement creates beauty wherever where.
If a man be a fool his speech will tell it.
Slovenly attire betokens a careless mind.
A foolish woman is known by her finery.
Excessive laughter shows a shallow mind.
Beauty without grace is a violet without scent.
He is the best dressed whose dress no one observes.
The power of dress is great in commanding respect.
The manner of speaking is as important as the matter.
When the taste is purified, the morals are not easily corrupted.
Laughter costs too much if it is bought at the expense of propriety.

ASSETS OF THE COMPANY

$10,000,000 of stock still in the Treasury.

$10,000,000 pooled for 9 and 18 months.

500 acres of land; value, $3,000 per acre.

6,500 feet deep waterfrontage; value, $200 per front foot.

154 patent improvements obtained over the present most modern sleeping car as shown by patent rights and model and approved by railway experts.

A subsidy obtained from the Municipality of North Vancouver of 5 per cent. for 15 years on $300,000, and freedom from taxation of our plant and 30 acres of land for 10 years.

A subsidy obtained from the Dominion of Canada, 3½ per cent. for 25 years on $1,214,000, for the purpose of building a dry dock of 15,000 tons at Roslyn, the Company's townsite.

A very valuable brick clay deposit has been discovered on the Company's property. This will be developed to its fullest capacity, as brick clay is very rare here, Vancouver even importing from Seattle millions of brick annually.

NOTE.—A shareholder participates in every asset of the Company.

LIABILITIES OF THE COMPANY

Amount yet owing on land, extending over a period of four years, $446,000.

REMARKS

MORE LANDS

The Company proposes to purchase lands surrounding their townsite, and to this end are securing options on about 250 acres, with about 2,800 feet of deep waterfrontage adjoining that which they now own.

MINES

They have also secured an option of purchase of a group of ten claims of very valuable iron deposits situated within twelve miles of their townsite. The Company believe, located as they are in a country which abounds with everything necessary to the smallest detail for turning out a perfect car, should go to nature's storehouse for their material, and with this end in view have secured the above group.

SHIPBUILDING

In addition to building the Imperial Sleeping Car, cars of every description will be contracted for, and just as soon as their dry dock is completed, the Company intend to use it to the greatest advantage in building ships of the largest tonnage. As there will be but three or four docks in the whole Dominion, they will encounter but very little competition in the building of the larger class of vessels.

SALE OF LANDS

The Company do not intend to sell any of its land until its dry dock, car works, sawmills and other industries are in operation, and in this way secure as nearly as possible all the profit derived from the establishment of these great works.

CLEARING OF LAND

The Municipality of North Vancouver have under consideration a proposition from the Company whereby the Company promise to clear their whole townsite on condition the Municipality will at once clear and grade all the streets, charging the cost of same to local improvement taxes. The Municipality view the Company's proposition with great favor. This plan would at least double the price of the Company's holdings.

PURCHASING STOCK

A small block of stock is now on the market and can be had on very easy terms of payment. This once sold, the Company will have no difficulty to borrow on their assets at from 4 to 5 per cent. any money they will require for improvement purchases, and in this case all stock will be withdrawn from the market.

B James, England, I was taken prisoner by the Boers, along with 995 others after seven hours' fighting. We were being sent under escort to a place called Waschbach, where we were to entrain for Pretoria.

I had been wounded in the foot, and after proceeding about twelve miles, my wound became very painful, and I asked the Boer commander to allow me to ride one of the reserve ponies, of which there were several. I was allowed this privilege; and when we reached Elandslaagte I asked the commander if I might bathe my wounded foot in a stream, permission being grudgingly granted me.

I was, roughly, some twenty-five miles from Ladysmith, and every mile was swarming with Boers; but I decided to make a bolt for it. As soon as my guards saw I had finished, they gave the order to mount. Then came my chance. The Boers did exactly as I expected. Instead of waiting to see me mount, they mounted with me. Quick as thought, I pricked up my pony with the penknife I had used for cutting the bandage, and, turning his head towards Ladysmith, galloped away into the gathering dusk, accompanied by the ping-ping of the bullets which followed me.

I was not hit; and the Boers—who, in chasing me, were riding farther from their commando—soon gave it up. On the following morning I staggered into Ladysmith, exhausted, but free.

A WORD FROM MR. KELSO

He Urges Guardians to Look Well After the Children

Have you taken a child from one of the Children's Shelters into your home? If so, why have you done so? Has it been with the idea that you will get just as much as possible out of that child, and give just as little as possible? Or have you realised your responsibility and your opportunity for doing a little good and adding a little brightness to a world often too dreary? In short, have you been selfish, sordid and mean in the step that you have taken? Or, have you been benevolent, high-minded, human? Too often, it is to be feared, people look on these forlorn little ones as mere chattels, and forget to ask themselves the question, "If this child were mine, how would I wish him to be treated?"

Most commonly, perhaps, the lack of a sense of responsibility shows itself in failure to send the child to school. This fact is by no means unknown to Mr. Kelso, Superintendent of the Children's Aid Society, and he has asked us to lay the matter before you, beseeching you—at least, who read our paper—to see that you are not careless in this respect.

It is with pleasure that we accede to his request, realising, as must everyone who gives unprejudiced thought to the matter, the truth of his words: "If a child is deprived of educational advantages between the ages of eight and fourteen, the loss can never be made good." We leave, then, the suggestion with you. It is important, not only to the young people themselves, but to the country at large, that they should have the necessary training for their life's work. You cannot evade the responsibility with impunity. Think about it.

BI-LINGUAL SCHOOLS

Much Interest Will be Associated with Legislation on the Subject

While several subjects of importance will keep public attention directed to the Legislative buildings during the session, legislation on the bi-lingual question will probably be followed with more than ordinary interest, though it may not be in the limelight for some weeks after the opening.

Following a keen controversy on the subject, particularly as it related to the schools in the French section of Essex and Kent, the Government appointed F. W. Merchant, M.A., to visit the English-French schools, public and separate, in those counties, and find out if there was any departure from the Public and Separate Schools Act, or from any of the departmental regulations and circulars, and if so, to what extent. Part of his instructions read as follows: "As the school law is intended to provide all pupils with a thorough training in English, it is desirable that you ascertain whether, and if so to what extent, the means to attain this end are adequate or defective."

It is thought that Mr. Merchant's report will not be ready before February is well advanced. In the meantime, however, reports have been made to the Government showing that some of the French-English schools in the eastern part of the Province have not been complying to the letter with the School Act.

LICENSING DOCTORS

It is reported that one of the chief clauses of Toronto University's proposed bill would enable the University to license doctors, a power that is now limited to the Medical Council.

NEW PAROLE BOARD

Important Reform Undertaken by the Ontario Government in Central Prison Affairs

One of the most important reforms undertaken by the Ontario Government since the session of 1910 was the appointment in November of the Central Prison Parole Board, consisting of Judge Teetzel, Toronto; Mr. T. H. Preston, Brantford; Hamilton Cassels, K.C., Toronto; Colonel Macdonald, Guelph; Daniel Miller, Toronto; Donald McIntyre, K.C., Kingston, and Nobl Marshall, Toronto. These men meet at the prison farm once a month, or oftener if need be, and hear the applications of the men for an earner to learn them is called for by their sentences. According to former methods all applications were sent to Ottawa, and the magistrate or judge was consulted, causing a long delay sometimes, so that after the sentence had terminated before the case was decided. Moreover there would probably be on the part of the men a tendency to blame the officials of the prison for this, and a feeling of injustice often lurked in the men's minds that was hurtful to the otherwise healthy influence of the new system of reformation. This system, it is hoped, will fit in well with the new policy instituted by Mr. Hanna, whereby guns, calls, armed guards and close quarters have been abandoned for nearly 300 men, and in their place is healthy farm work, with little restraint, inconspicuous clothing devoid of all stripes, and on every hand an incentive provided for the men on coming out to spend the rest of their lives as useful citizens of the community.

BIGGEST EGG PLANT

Largest in World is on Rhode Island —Great Output

The biggest poultry plant in the world is at Little Compton, Rhode Island, and is owned by Isaac Wilbur, who ships about 150,000 dozen eggs a year from his hens. Mr. Wilbur builds his houses 8 x 10 feet in size and houses forty hens in a house this size. He had 100 of these houses and they are set 150 feet apart in rows over sloping fields. The food is hauled to each house in a wagon; twice a day this wagon makes the rounds, morning and evening. In the morning it is a mash made of cooked vegetables and different kinds of meats; in the evening, or rather late afternoon, only in this case, it is whole corn the year around. The eggs are gathered when the afternoon feed is given. Different fields are given over to these houses. As the grounds need cleansing they are moved to renewed grounds.

RECORD AS CORONER

This Queer Hog Conducted 19,000 Inquests in 25 Years

To show that he was qualified to address the Medico-Legal Society on "An East End Coroner and His Medical Neighbors," Dr. W. Wynn Westcott, coroner for North-East London, England, told the society that he had been a coroner for a quarter of a century, and had held 19,000 inquests.

He expressed the opinion that at present doctors kept back much evidence as to the effects following drink and disease, chiefly in order not to hurt anyone's feelings, and the result was that some of the Registrar-General's returns were very misleading. An Act of Parliament should be passed to make death certificates secret.

OFFENSIVE TO THE LANDSCAPE

In a certain Midland town there is a man who is so ugly that it has been said of him that his face is an "offence to the landscape."

One Bank Holiday he was seated on a rustic bridge some distance outside the town, when a tourist came by, and, after gazing at the "offence" a moment, he said:

"Eh, but that's ugly!"

"Well," replied the other, in an aggrieved tone, "I can't help it, can I?"

The tourist pondered a moment, and then said:

"I'm might say at whoam!"

MIGHT HAVE BEEN WORSE

"Edward, I'm ashamed of you. Bottom of a class of twenty-three younger boys? Disgraceful!"

"But, mother, it might have been worse."

"Worse! How could it have been worse?"

"There might have been more boys in the class."

It Will Be Money In Your Pocket To Do So

Everyone is anxious to make money. Everyone has an ambition to get rich. Some men DO get rich. Others remain poor. The difference is simply a difference of methods. Nearly all of us save some money, but we do not let these savings earn anything for us. THE MAN WHO SAVES HIS MONEY AND LETS THE SAVINGS EARN SOMETHING FOR HIM is making it do double duty. Take the history of all the very wealthy men of the country and learn how many of them made their fortunes by simply saving what they earned. Not one of them did. They saved but they immediately put their savings to work for them. YOU WANT TO GET TO THE TOP OF THE LADDER, YOU WANT TO ACCUMULATE SOMETHING FOR YOUR OLD AGE. THEN YOU HAD BETTER PUT YOUR SAVINGS TO WORK AND LET THEM HELP YOU DO IT.

In almost any ordinary investment a man cannot make his money earn over 8 per cent. Mining offers you greater opportunities. I am going to offer you an opportunity that has promise of earning for you 800 per cent or even more. I want to take you into partnership with me, in an enterprise that will probably make us all independent for the balance of our lives. YOU MUST TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THIS OFFERING. The Gold Queen Mining Company, of which I am president, has over 135 acres of rich mineral ground in one of the most prosperous mining districts of the world. We have already expended thousands of dollars in developing this property and we have struck ore that is very rich. We need a mill to extract the precious metal from this ore. We need a little help in building this mill. Are you willing to subscribe a portion of the amount necessary to do it? In numbers there is strength, and even though your subscription be a very small one, we are willing to give you a part ownership in this great enterprise, in return for it. We are willing to take you in on an equal basis with us and give you the benefit of all your savings may earn for you. The men behind this proposition are all successful business men. They are in this business to make it pay and for every dollar they earn for themselves they will earn one for you. REMEMBER: THIS IS NOT A PROSPECT—IT IS A MINE WITH ORE IN IT. But a small amount of money is necessary to build our mill. We have decided to offer only a very limited number of shares at the present price, and as soon as this amount is secured the price will be advanced to a much greater figure. NOW IS THE TIME FOR YOU TO ACT. YOU ARE GETTING IN WITH THE ORGANIZERS OF THE COMPANY AT GROUND FLOOR PRICES. YOU ARE COMING INTO A BONA FIDE PARTNERSHIP WITH US AND WITH NO PARTNERSHIP RESPONSIBILITIES. Read what Mr. Van Wagenen, one of the foremost mining engineers of the country has to say: "I would advise the immediate erection of a ten-stamp mill with cyanide equipment, to treat your gold ores, and a separate concentrating plant to handle your copper pyrites, thus reducing the shipping weight 6 to 1, and eventually put in a smelter in connection with the mill, with a ten-stamp mill on your property and a daily production of 50 tons of ore. I CAN PROMISE YOU A NET EARNING OF $300.00 PER DAY or $109,500 per year and that can be increased to ten times as much as soon as tunnels A and B are finished, and added milling equipment is installed. The economical method is the best. Start with a ten-stamp mill and let your stockholders be content with 10 per cent per annum until you have increased your milling facilities, and install your smelting plant to treat your concentrates. THEN YOU CAN PAY THEM 400 TO 500 PER CENT DIVIDENDS PER YEAR FOR THE NEXT TEN YEARS ON THE PRESENT VALUATION OF YOUR STOCK, 5 CENTS PER SHARE, and this out of the new discovered vein alone." Now if you want to get in with us on this proposition you must act quickly, for the present allotment of shares will not last long. The man who buys now will get his shares at the very rock bottom price. The one who waits until later will without a doubt pay many times what it is being offered for now. Arrangements may be made to pay for your subscription on the easy payment plan. Write at once for full information and detailed literature explaining all about it. Write today. Do not wait another minute or you may be too late.

ROYAL LOVERS IN BRITAIN

The Ten Years' Romance of Princess Clementine of Brussels—Defied the King

No Royal love romance has ever aroused such deep admiration and at the same time sympathy as that of Princess Clementine and Prince Victor Napoleon. It is now ten years since the couple met while driving in the Bois de la Cambre, near Brussels. According to all accounts it was a case of love at first sight.

Princess Victor, however, as heir to the Bonaparte dynasty and Pretender to the French throne, was politically undesirable. Certainly he is the last to take the Pretender business very seriously. For years he has been an exile in Brussels living comfortably enough on his moderate income of £2,000 a year. He was, moreover, thirty-eight when he first met the Princess, his junior by ten years. The Princess, unhappy in her home life, and on bad terms with both her parents, desired earnestly to be married to a man who has considerable strength of character and a simple heart.

But the old King Leopold, domineering in all his home life, refused his consent to the betrothal. He favored the Orleans family. He hated the Bonapartes, and it did not suit his policy with the French Republic to have his daughter married to one of the Royalist Pretenders.

The Countess of Flanders interceded for them, but Leopold refused to reconsider his decision. The aged Empress Eugenie, with whom Prince Victor has always been a favorite, traveled to Brussels and pleaded for the lovers, but with no more effect.

In order that there should be no chance of the couple meeting Leopold locked Clementine in her apartments in the Royal palace and informed her that she would have to remain under lock and key until she promised to forget the Prince. It was not until the medical men informed the King that this treatment was seriously affecting the Princess's health that he relented and sent her to the Riviera.

The Princess, living apart from her parents, and Prince Victor, an exile from France, met each other in private houses of friends and in the drawing-rooms of the Countess of Flanders and the present King. But they never appeared together publicly, and both were absentees at court.

A celebrated incident which caused some sensation a year or two ago, took place at a paper-chase on horseback, which was won by Prince Victor. Princess Clementine had been appointed to give away the prize, and when the victor came for his reward and she pinned the ribbon upon his breast she burst into tears, so that all present were profoundly touched.

Upon the death of Leopold the two lovers again appeared at Court, and shortly afterwards it was announced that young King Albert had given his cordial consent to their union.

ONLY A PIN

A Glance at the Trade of Pin-Making —Complex Machinery Used

A very long bridge of years, indeed, spans the time since a lady's "pin money" was really used for the object its name suggests. And there is an equally wide difference between the pins used by "my lady" of those days and the almost invaluable little article we should find it so hard to do without to-day.

At one period in our history the importation of pins into this country was forbidden by law, although so august a personage as Queen Catherine received hers from France, where, at that time most of the pins were made. They were expensive articles, and "pin money" was a consideration, and one with which no lady of any pretentions to fashion could afford to dispense.

Another law with regard to pins was passed in 1543, and it enacted that the sale of pins should be prohibited unless "double-headed," or with "heads fast soldered to the shank." As, unless it be provided with a firm head, a pin is practically useless to us. This law will be read with considerable amusement by ladies of to-day.

When, in 1636, the pin-making trade was introduced into Great Britain by one Tilsby, the manufacture of the article was for some time confined to Stroud, but it quickly spread to London, Bristol, and Birmingham; and it is at the great metropolis of the Midlands that most of our pins come from nowadays, although some are still made in Warrington and Dublin.

Most complex is the machinery used now in pin-making. It is a wonderful thing where all the pins go to, and how scarce they are when they are wanted. And the wonder becomes all the greater when we remember that a large factory will turn out many millions of pins in a day and that there are many factories keeping up this output.

In older pattern machines there used to be eighteen processes, but these have superseded, and now the wonderful mechanisms not only make the pins complete, but stick them in the familiar pale blue papers that everyone knows so well.

Black pins and ladies' hairpins are given their hue by being placed in a revolving chamber, so that they are kept on the move all the while the enamelling process is going on. By this means the enamel settles quite evenly, and a smooth black lustre on the pins is the result.

"It's only a pin," is a remark sometimes heard. Yes, it's only a pin, but it represents, nevertheless, the outcome of one of the greatest triumphs man's inventive genius has ever won, and an article, humble though it be, that few would care to be without.

A DANGEROUS HANDFUL

Alligator Hunting Not a Suitable Occupation for Timid

That one-half of the world does not know how the other half lives is a good deal truer than some people imagine. There are dozens of strange ways of earning a living which those following the more common-place occupations never dream of. Among these surely alligator catching is one on the strangest.

The commercial value of these strange reptiles is, of course, their skins, and for this reason quite a small army of men hunt them regularly in the tropical regions among the rivers and swamps of the Nile and Ganges. They live to a great age—some are known to be 500 years old—and by the Unbelievable Strength which they can exert when occasion calls for it, one would imagine that the older they live the stronger they grow.

Besides an unusual amount of pluck and resource in handling the alligator, one needs to have a keen eye and a sharp hand. For holding shut the jaws of an alligator one end a half times your own length is life with the joy left in; trying to hold those same jaws open is experience gained too late to be of use. And the alligator in its native land is not as it appears to be at the Zoo, a sleepy and slow-moving creature, but very quick and lively in all its movements.

WILL HE BE KING?

Why Prince Victor Napoleon Married Princess Clementine—Recognized Bonapartist Heir to Throne

Grand-nephew of the great Napoleon, Prince Victor Napoleon, whose marriage to Princess Clementine of Belgium was celebrated at Moncalieri, near Turin, is the recognized Bonapartist heir to the throne of France, just as the Duke of Orleans is the recognized Bourbon heir to the same throne. And such is the unsettled condition of France that Royalists are freely predicting an upheaval in the near future which will place Prince Victor on the throne of France.

Whether such an event will ever come to pass, of course, time alone can prove; but it is a significant fact that those who have closely followed international events during the last few years laugh at the story that the wedding between Prince Victor, who is now forty-eight years of age, and Princess Clementine, who is thirty-eight, is the climax of a romantic attachment. The story goes that eight or nine years ago the two met at Brussels and fell in love with one another. But the late King Leopold strongly objected to the marriage and refused to consent to the betrothal. He favored the Orleans family, it is said, and hated the Bonapartes, and it did not suit his policy with the French Republic to have his daughter married to one of the Royalist pretenders. There was, therefore, a secret betrothal, and when King Leopold died last year the only obstacle to the marriage was removed.

On the other hand, others say that it is purely a marriage of convenience. Should Prince Victor ever sit on the throne of France he would become Napoleon IV.; but he would be the last of his line. It has been alleged that the Prince contracted a morganatic marriage in Brussels, and has three children living; but, of course, they could not succeed their father to any royal honors and dignity which the Royalist party of France hope will fall on him in the near future. Hence his marriage to Princess Clementine of Belgium, which it is hoped by the Bonapartes will result in the continuity of the Napoleonic line.

Man Tells of His Brother Dying Century and a Half Before

The presiding magistrate at a police-court in Syria was astonished to hear a witness, when asked if he had any brothers, reply that he had one, but that he died 148 years ago.

Pressed for an explanation, witness stated that he was the issue of a second marriage. His father married his first wife in 1760, at the age of nineteen, and the following year there was born a son, who died when only a few months old. The latter's father married again in 1830, at the age of seventy, and witness was born the year following.

Being eighty-nine years of age when giving evidence, the interval since the death of the first child was thus extended to over 140 years.

AN ARCHBISHOP'S RECREATION

Riding was a favorite diversion of the late Archbishop Maclagan, and in addition to this he was a good whip, and frequently drove a pair; while another recreation in which he indulged in the winter, when opportunity offered, was curling on the ice. He had also a great love of animals.

It is not generally known that his Grace was an artist, and painted cleverly in water-colors. The inhabitants of Keswick at one time became quite accustomed to the sight of the archbishop seated sketching on the private landing-stage of the beautiful estate of Fawe Park, which borders the Derwentwater, and was rented by Dr. Maclagan for his holidays, and there are several admirable little works of his in existence.

BEAUTIFYING A TOWN

In order to redeem the town from the reproach of lacking beauty and shade, the traders' union of Southwold is carrying out a tree-planting scheme. The members are lining with young trees the long straight road leading from the railway station to the pier, which has been named Pier Avenue in anticipation. Numbers of the leading residents have given trees, which have been added to by visitors, and the Coast Development Company gives each year an equal number to those planted by the union. Several score have now been planted which are doing well, and each planting is made an occasion of importance, a procession being formed to the road, headed by the town officials and a band.

THE BLIND RECTOR

The career of the Rev. H. J. R. Marston, the blind rector of Belgrave Chapel, London, provides a striking example of a man's triumph over infirmity. Mr. Marston lost his sight when he was about to enter Eton, and went to a school for blind boys at Worcester. In addition to dead languages, he speaks and writes German, French, Italian and Spanish, and has preached in German in Whitechapel. He uses a typewriter, plays cricket and football with ringing balls, and rides horses. During his holidays he walks from ten to fourteen miles a day, and four or five when in town. And everything he does he does with a will.

CADET'S HEROIC EFFORT

Arthur Driver, a grandson of an officer who was on board the Victory as midshipman when Nelson fell at Trafalgar, has just performed an act of extreme bravery.

Driver is a cadet on board the Naval School training ship Mercury at Hamble. A few nights ago a boy fell overboard, and Driver, though it was blowing half a gale and pitch dark at the time, promptly dived to the rescue. He reached the drowning lad, but his strength failed, and the lad was swept away and drowned. Driver was rescued exhausted and almost unconscious.

GERMANY'S EXAMPLE.

We have taken many excellent examples of social government and control from Germany and it would seem that the Teutonic Fatherland still has much to teach us. Take the matter of dealing with that class of ne'er-do-wellthat ill-treat their wives. In this country an offender in this respect, is found guilty, is looked up in jail and the poor wife that has been beaten and abused now has to suffer the loss of breadwinner of the family and has, herself, to make a living for her children while her husband stays in jail or the workhouse, the State or county getting whatever profit there may be in his enforced labor. Surely no greater absurdity than this could be worked in the name of justice.

In Germany they have gone deeper into this matter than we, and wife-beaters instead of being locked up, they are made to go to work under police supervision and their wages are handed over to their families. This on work days. When holiday time arrives, that is Saturday afternoon and evening, the offender is taken by the police and locked up, to remain in jail until it is time to go to work on Monday morning. This sortof extended and continuing sentence lasts until the prisoner has served in jail the number of days appointed by the judge.

Surely this is a commonsense plan and one that should commend itself to our lawmakers. A weakness of all punishment for minor offences is that it is usually the family of the offender that has to bear the largest part ofthe punishment. Some such system as that inaugurated by Germany might well, we should think, be extended to other offenses than wife-beating, so that the innocent families of offenders against the laws should not be compelled, unjustly, to suffer part of the punishment.

WROUGHT BY A HAMMER-HEAD

A few years ago when I was turning in some works in Sheffield, says H. Batchelor, I happened to be centering a bar of steel to put into my lathe, when my hammer head broke across the eye where the shaft fits through. One half remained on the shaft, and the other went flying into the air. Suddenly there was an awful trembling and bumping higher up the shop, and a great faceplate cracked, and let a large ingot, weighing about thirty tons, fall out. My hammer head had fallen into the gearing, broken all the teeth in the cogs, and split the faceplate. I expected I should be discharged, but they said it was marvellous that no one was killed.

PRECAUTIONARY MEASURES

The woman in charge of the Pickleham post-office was strongly suspected of tampering with the packages and parcels entrusted to her care.

One day a rosy-cheeked youngster entered the post-office and carefully laid upon the counter a huge slice of rich iced cake.

"With my sister, the bride's, compliments," he said; "and will yer please to eat as much as yer possibly can?"

The post-mistress smiled delightedly.

"How very kind of the bride to remember me!" she cried. "Did she know I have a special weakness for wedding-cake?"

"She did that!" coldly replied the youngster. "And she thought she'd send yer a bit of it this afternoon, jest to take the edge off yer appertite before she posted any boxes to her friends!"

No fewer than 149 of these are still living. He left a widow, aged ninety-one years.

"GIVE YOUR SON A DEED"

If, by way of illustration, you will review the history of the men in your town who have made money out of real estate, you will find that in each and every instance their profits were made from real estate acquired at ground floor prices.

More money can be made by those who acquire a realty interest in a town at its inception per dollar invested than from investments made after a period of years.

Do you know that you can purchase with $5 cash a full sized residential lot in Bow City, Alberta

the logical location for a great city, a city which is destined to be known, the world over, as a market place annually for hundreds of thousands of bushels of grain, grown on the vast irrigated fields surrounding Bow City, a shipping point for coal from the great Bow Centre Collieries, and a purchasing depot for hundreds of prosperous farmers resident throughout Southern Alberta.

To-day is your opportunity to acquire an interest in Bow City at the ground floor price.

It will be too late six months hence, to apply for a lot in Bow City at the present prices and on such easy terms as are offered you in this advertisement.

Why not follow Russell Sage's advice given in a letter published some years ago to the fathers in the Western States:—

"Buy your son a lot in a town being the "centre of a great agricultural country—when "he comes of age that lot will be worth consid-"erable money and will provide a handsome "stake for him in life; it is at least most sub-"stantial life insurance—sure and certain."

Buy your son a $50 lot in Bow City, the coming metropolis of the western prairies. In a very short time he can re-sell the same at a big increase, which money he will find advantageous in business pursuits or in a college course.

Bow City, the centre of the great granary of Southern Alberta has a future concerning which no sane business man or banker has any doubt.

When you are assured of the success of the city, when you have proven to you beyond the shadow of a doubt that Bow City will, in the very near future, be one of the most active, one of the most progressive towns on the Western prairies, you should not hesitate to acquire at least one $50 residential lot, when same is on sale on such easy terms as 10 per cent cash and the balance 10 per cent per month until paid—a deed at any time.

Bow City is in the heart of a famous irrigated farming belt whose farmers are assured of a crop every year. They are prosperous and their prosperity will naturally enhance the value of Bow City real estate.

The great coal mines of Bow City will furnish work for 1,000 to 1,500 miners daily, these miners will constitute a substantial basis for a successful city.

The present owners of Bow City have decided that no licenses shall be issued for the sale of spirituous liquors; they intend that this great mining and agricultural centre shall be free from any traffic in intoxicating drinks—it will be a clean city.

Bow City is the headquarters of a railway which taps a territory unparalleled for richness in crops and natural resources.

The Sale of Bow City Lots opened but a few days ago

If you are desirous of acquiring a $50 residential lot close in you should lose no time in making application by wire direct to the General Agents of the townsite, or to the nearest sub-agent.

Do not delay by sending your apulication by mail.

Wire at once your reservation for one or more lots On receipt of wire your name will be placed on the closest-in unsold lot or lots and same will be held in your name, allowing you sufficient time for your cash payment, mailed same day you wire, to travel from your home to the head office.

You may find it to your advantage, if you are desirous of securing a business opening, or a business lot, to write for copy of the plans, booklets and descriptive matter concerning Bow City, all of which may be had on application, free of charge.

Canadian Apples Cost as Much as Oranges

Tariff or no tariff, isn't it a strange thing that ordinary apples and ordinary oranges sold this week for the same price—fifty cents a peck? First-class Northern Spies are to-day more costly here than good oranges. They are rated on the market at $6 a barrel.

Ontario is one of the finest apple countries in the world. Up in the Georgian Bay district conditions are ideal for the cultivation of this peerless fruit. Farther south apples as good, possibly better, can be grown. But in those warmer climes the best apples—the hard winter varieties—mature early and have to be placed in cold storage until the chilly months come. In the Georgian Bay district, however, winter apples do not mature until the exactly desirable moment. By the time they are ripe the autumn is at its close, a touch of winter is in the air, and they can be held or shipped without the expensive necessity of preserving them by artificial means. A householder in a town in that district, who "puts in" choice apples for the winter does not purchase his stock as a rule, until "after the first frost." Then he gets a barrel of Spies and a barrel of Snow apples or whatever he may desire. He puts them in his cellar, and if the cellar is all right, the apples will keep sound and crisp right through until Easter or later. Not so long ago he got the choicest specimens of the choicest varieties for a dollar a barrel—as many as he wanted. Then the price went up to two dollars. Now he is up to a great deal of trouble and expense to keep to his regular practice of having good apples for eating and cooking in his cellar during the winter. A decent apple is harder to find than a seat in a street car, and the best we can get are selling this week at $6

WE WANT MORE APPLES.

Whatever the fruit growers may think about the proposed tariff changes, it is up to them to give us more good apples. We need more fruit-growers. No matter what reciprocity may do for the apple business, the people at large will never be able to get all the good fruit) they want until our own growers increase in number and improve their methods and keep pace generally with the growth of the country. There are too many mismanaged orchards in the country and too few that are scientifically cultivated. One of the unnoted and indirect advantages of the reciprocity proposal may be to make the fruit-growers of this country sit up and look into the neglected possibilities of their industry right at their own doors.

Canada Excludes Blacks Washington Interested

Washington, March 6.—The action of the Canadian immigration authorities at Winnipeg, in excluding a party of negro emigrants last Friday, is causing some discussion here. As it has not yet been officially reported to the State Department no action can be taken, if it were desirable to take any action.

The action of Canada is not in violation of any treaty rights. There appears to be no treaty covering the admission of American citizens into Canada. The treaty of commerce and navigation between the United States and Great Britain, now in force, was negotiated in 1815, and refers only to the residence of Americans in British territories in Europe.

There has been no new enactment of law against the American negro. But the negro is not wanted in Canada, Canadians here say, and the laws respecting immigration are so sweeping and pliable that it will not be difficult to exclude the negro even if there is no resort to additional legislation. The Canadian immigration laws vest the immigration officials with vast discretionary power in denying admission to aliens.

All the Canadian immigration officer has to do is to hold that the person seeking admission is "undesirable" and that settles it. There is no appeal.

BANKERS FOR THE ISSUE:

ORGANIZATIONS

The more important points regarding the Company as set forth in a letter from the President, may be summarised as follows:—

1. After allowing for depreciation the value of the fixed assets as determined by the Canadian American Appraisal Company, Limited, is $2,490,684.84, or nearly twice the amount of bonds issued. This is exclusive of the standing timber on the area on which the Company holds a concession.

2. The cost of producing Pulp has steadily decreased, while the price obtained has steadily increased.

3. The close proximity of the plant to the Middle West markets of the United States assures an increasing demand for the Company's output.

4. The net earnings of the Company as determined by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Company, for the past three years, were as follows:

Year ending 31st December, 1908 ..... $ 50,606.61
Year ending 31st December, 1909 ..... 169,155.20
Year ending 31st December, 1910 ..... 267,999.98

The net earnings for 1910 show the bond interest earned almost three times over.

5. By reason of the operation of the Sinking Fund, which is calculated to retire the total bond issue by maturity, there is an ever increasing equity behind the Bonds.

6. The ownership of the Company is in strong and practical hands, assuring conservative and successful management, and the works on which the Bonds are secured are well established and in successful operation.

5 per cent. on application.
17½ per cent. on allotment.
40 per cent. on 3rd April, 1911.
35 per cent. on 3rd May, 1911.

97½ per cent.

Prospectus regarding the Company, together with application forms, will be furnished upon application.

Library Association To-Day.

The annual meeting of the Ontario Library Association (Lindsay District), will be held in Peterboro today. A cordial invitation is extended to all interested in library matters to be present. The library building itself is well worth a visit, being one of the finest in the province outside of the large cities. An excellent program has been arranged, and Dr. Locke, librarian of the Toronto Public Library, has kindly consented to give an address.

Last Sad Rites.

The funeral took place yesterday afternoon of the late Albert Borland, who died from injuries received from an accident at the C.G.E. Co.'s plant a few days ago. Service was held at the house at 2 o'clock, Rev. Robert Pogue officiating. The pall-bearers were fellow employees from the C. G.E.

Boy Injured.

Little Charlie Sutcliffe, who lives at 744 Gilmour street, was knocked over by a horse at the corner of Fenton and Weiser streets. He was taken into Dr. Marshall's office and the injuries attended to. His lip was cut and his face and head bruised, but beyond these wounds no very serious damage was done.

New Methodist Church.

Through the splendid liberality of Senator Cox, the whole of what is known as the Aaron-Cox property on Simcoe street has been given as a site for the new Methodist Church, which the Charlotte street congregation propose to build. The congregation had three sites in view, but this one appealed to them as being the best. A splendid new church is to be erected, which will be an ornament to the city.

Stock on the Tracks.

A one-horse rig, the property of a junk dealer, while crossing the Grand Trunk tracks on Charlotte street, stuck fast directly in front of an approaching train. The gateman ran out and flagged the train just in time to prevent a collision. A quantity of the junk had to be removed from the sleigh before the horse could pull the rig off.

For Non-Support.

At the Police Court yesterday, a blacksmith appeared, charged by his wife with non-support. He pleaded not guilty and asked that the case be left over until Thursday, in order that he might secure counsel, and also to have witnesses. This was done. This party, it appears, was an applicant for a position on the Police force.

SOCIETY EVENTS

The Times will be pleased to receive notices of Weddings, Social Events, Personal Announcements, which will be published in this column free of charge.

Mr. Keefer, of the Norwood Register, was in town yesterday and paid The Times a fraternal visit.

Mrs. F. G. Hassard, corner of King and John streets, will receive Wednesday afternoon, March 8th, and afterwards on the second Tuesday in each month.

Miss Mabel Jordan, of the Normal School, spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Jordan, of Lindsay.

The many friends of Mr. George Walton Smith, who is confined to St Joseph's Hospital, will be pleased to learn that he is improving, and will soon be alright again.

Capt. R. J. Johnston Should Go.

Twenty applications were received at the Armories Saturday night for the Canadian Coronation Contingent. Only three are to be selected to represent the local regiment. South African veterans should not be overlooked. In this connection we suggest Mr. R. J. Johnston as a worthy candidate for the honor. Mr. Johnston is a S.A. veteran, with a splendid military record.

Synopsis of Canadian Northwest Land Regulations

ANY person who is the sole head of a family or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

W. W. CORY.
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

BORDEN TO MOVE FOR POSTPONEMENT

NO ACTION BY CANADIAN PARLIAMENT TILL U.S. HAS ACCEPTED AGREEMENT.

West Liberals Endorse It—But Anti-Reciprocity League Expects to Get Half a Million to Sign Petition.

Ottawa, March 7.—On the adjournment of the House, Geo. H. Perley, speaking on behalf of Mr. Borden, said, "as the pending reciprocity proposals have not been carried into effect by the Congress of the United States at the sittings which had just terminated, he (Mr. Borden) intends to move on Wednesday next for the postponement of the further consideration of these proposals in the Parliament of Canada."

Mr. Borden might have made this motion during the debate on Tuesday but as H. H. Miller (S. Grey) has yielded the floor to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Government will be placed on record by the first Minister.

EAST KENT APPROVES.

Ridgetown, March 7.—The East Liberal Association yesterday passed a resolution declaring, "That this meeting wishes to place itself on record as being most enthusiastically in support of the proposed reciprocity, believing it will prove itself to be of most decided benefit to the agricultural interests and at the same time leaving the manufacturing interests with ample protection."

It was pointed out that East Kent being close to the border the farmers would find a market in Detroit. Particularly was this so of beans, which are largely grown.

A BIG PETITION

Montreal, Mar. 7.—Secretary Hemming, of the Anti-Reciprocity League declared yesterday that close upon 50,000 signatures will be obtained on the Island of Montreal alone, and declared that 500,000 may be secured by a thorough canvass of the whole country from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

A mass meeting will be held in Montreal on Monday.

HOUSE MAY SIT ALL SUMMER.

Ottawa, March 7.—It is generally conceded that the opposition developed on both sides of the House has become so strong, that there is now little prospect that the reciprocity bill will pass. There is now a disposition growing stronger every day, that the Opposition will keep the Parliament in session all summer if necessary, in order to defeat the measure. The Government is asked either to withdraw the bill or submit it to a vote of the people.

Went to His Death With Curse and Sneer

One Murderer Kissed Crucifix at Boston; Another Laughed in Electric Chair.

Boston, March 7.—Andrie Ipsen, 19, and Wasill Ivankowski, 22, the Lynn bandits, were electrocuted this morning shortly after midnight at the Charlestown State Prison, for the murder of Thos. Landrigan, a shoe manufacturer, and Jas. H. Carroll, a police officer, in Lynn, last June 25.

Ipsen went to his doom with a smile and kissed the crucifix. Ivankowski sneered and laughed as he took his seat in the chair. Then he blasphemed. He cursed the Deity and the absent priest whom he had forbidden to remain at his side. He died with a sneer on his face.

Make Milk Standard For Whole Province

The Wentworth County Milk Producers want a Provincial milk standard, instead of allowing each municipality, as the new milk bill proposes, to fix its own standard. The officers of the association waited on Hon. J. S. Duff this morning. The Minister of Agriculture, while saying that he thought they would be adequately guarded from extreme legislation by the proposed act, said he would consider the arguments which they had used.

ROYAL Baking Powder
Economy

The manufacturers of Royal Baking Powder have always declined to produce a cheap baking powder at the sacrifice of quality.

Royal Baking Powder is made from pure grape cream of tartar, and is the embodiment of all the excellence possible to be attained in the highest class baking powder.

Royal Baking Powder costs only a fair price, and is more economical at its price than any other leavening agent, because of the superlative quality and absolute wholesomeness of the food it makes.

Mixtures made in imitation of baking powders, but containing alum, are frequently distributed from door to door, or given away in grocery stores. Such mixtures are dangerous to use in food. In England, France, Germany and some sections of the United States their sale is prohibited by law. Alum is a dangerous mineral acid, and all physicians condemn baking powders containing it.

The label of alum baking powders must show the ingredients.

AN ALLEGED PLOT TO KILL PRESIDENT TAFT.

Spokane, March 7.—Captured just when alleged plans for assassinating Mayor N. S. Pratt were almost ready, John Steel and Stewart Moffet, now in the city jail, are held by the police for conspiring to murder Captain John T. Sullivan and as alleged accomplices in a plot to kill President Taft.

This is a gist of a statement of Martin J. Burns, captain of detectives, issued yesterday after a conference with Chief of Police Doust.

"The arrest of the two men was made on Friday night," said Captain Sullivan.

Manitoba Bank Man Shot Through the Head

Winnipeg, March 7.—A. W. Rutherford, manager of the Bank of Hamilton, at Hamiota, Manitoba, was found shot through the head in a hotel here to-night. There is no doubt it is a case of suicide. Just what the cause is is a matter of conjecture, as he was in good health and his affairs were thought to be in good condition. He was 32 years of age and leaves a wife and two children. He came here from Ontario a year ago.

Board of Education in Brief Session

EIGHT CASES OF SCARLET FEVER IN TOWN, BUT ONLY ONE IN A SCHOOL PUPIL.

Schools Will Close at Noon Thursday Preceding Good Friday for The Easter Holidays.

The Board of Education met in regular monthly session last night.

There were present: Chairman John Crane, and Trustees Ackerman, Fair, Miller, Adams, Hay, Morrison, Hill and Eastwood.

Principal H. R. H. Kenner wrote that Miss Georgia Stevenson, daughter of Col. Stevenson had presented the Collegiate Institute with a copy of "The Life of the Late King Edward."

The Board passed a vote of thanks for this very acceptable donation to the Institute Library.

EASTER HOLIDAYS.

W. H. Hill moved, seconded by Col. Miller.—That the schools close on Thursday noon preceding Good Friday, and remain closed for one week and a day.—Carried.

SCHOOLS FREE FROM SCARLET FEVER.

Inspector Mowat reported that whilst there are eight cases of scarlet fever in town, there is but one public school pupil afflicted therewith. Some children are quarantined, however, owing to scarlet fever being in the house. The opening of the Isolation Hospital will remove any necessity for quarantining.

REPORT NOT READY.

Mr. Fair, chairman of the Property Committee announced that his committee was not ready to report in the improvements to school buildings desirable to be undertaken this summer. He hoped, however, that the committee's decisions will be arrived at in a day or two, when a special meeting of the Board can be called if necessary. The contemplated improvements that come under his committee's jurisdiction calls for careful and deliberate consideration.

"MANY DANCE TO HELL."

Guelph, March 7.—"Many a soul has danced to Hell," declared Rev. Benjamin Goodfield, pastor of Woolwich St. Baptist Church, on Sunday evening. "They glide into the dance and whirl off the edge of decent life." It is only recently that the Minister of Agriculture allowed dancing at the Ontario Agricultural College.

French Military Chief was Shot Dead

Mehlla, Morocco, March 7.—E. Mangin, the Chief of the French Military mission at Fez, was killed to-day by the son of the Moorish Minister of War because the French officer had caused the execution of two native soldiers.

Recent despatches have described the situation in Morocco as disturbed owing to a revolt against the Sultan by native tribes between Fez and Alcasar-Kebir, who seek to restore the deposed Sultan Abel-Aziz. The assassination is sure to lead to trouble with France.

ALL MOROCCO RISES AGAINST ITS SULTAN

Paris, March 7.—All of Morocco is in revolt against the Sultan. Fez, the capital, and Tangier, are cut off from the outside world. The revolt is spreading against foreigners and the international patrol army of French, German and Spanish troops may unite to put it down. Reports received from the Moroccan coast ports to-day stated that the insurrection is spreading to all tribes formerly friendly. The Sultan's troops are in retreat and it is reported that 300 have been killed in several conflicts.

NO PATRONAGE BEING WORKED

CORONATION CONTINGENT NOT BEING CHOSEN FOR POLITICAL REASONS.

Only 36 Officers Going and There are Thousands to Choose From—A Hard Task.

Ottawa, March 7.—In the Commons yesterday, Mr. Blain of Peel read from a Toronto evening paper an Ottawa despatch which stated that the selection of officers for the coronation contingent was being made by the local patronage committee. He asked concerning its truth.

"I can only say it a tissue of falsehood from beginning to end. That is the best way I can describe it," was Sir Frederick Borden's reply. All units for the contingent were being selected on the lines previously outlined by him to the House. No officers who has already participated in similar functions were being chosen, and those with war service mehals were preferred. "I do not know of any political committees who have attempted to make recommendations," said the Minister, "and if they did, they would have no influence with me. Where regiments have passed resolutions as to their selection themselves they are being considered."

The Minister said it was a difficult task to select thirty-eight fortunate officers out of a list of nearly four thousand. He gave assurance that every Province would be represented by both officers and men.

LAURIER DEFENDS RECIPROCITY PACT

STAY THAT TREATY TO CONSULT CANADA.

Ottawa, March 7.—That no action be taken on the question of reciprocity until it is made the subject of an appeal to the country, will, it is understood, be the principal of the resolution of which Mr. R. L. Borden has given notice for to-morrow. A revolutionary change in the fiscal system of Canada is proposed and it is contended that before a step fraught with such gravity is taken the people should be consulted.

M.P. PUT ON TRIAL FIRST IN YEARS

COMMITTEE OPENS INVESTIGATION INTO CHARGE OF PLUNDERING.

Counsel for Both Sides—Conservatives Win Their Demand—Mr. Lanctot Says Case is Trifling—Daily Sittings.

Ottawa, March 7.—The Committee on Privileges and Elections held this morning its first session in many years and began the enquiry into the alleged plundering of the Government shipyard stores at Sorel and the specific charge that the house of Adelaide Lanctot, M.P., for Richelieu, was painted by Government employees, the time and materials being paid for by the Government. Mr. German, of Welland presided and there was a crowded attendance.

At the outset, Mr. Carvell wanted to know if anything save what supplied the member for Richelieu was to be investigated.

Hon. Mr. Brodeur stated that the action of the Committee was confined to investigating the charge against the member for Richelieu.

Mr. Blondin, of Champlain, who made the charge then stated that with reasonable delay he would be ready to proceed with the case and summon witnesses. He asked if a lawyer would be furnished him.

It was pointed out that there was precedent for the appointment of counsel for the parties to be paid for by the Government.

Mr. Brodeur recalled the McGreevy case in 1891 and stated that Mr. Tart employed his own counsel, but that finally the bill was paid by the Government.

In the course of a desolatory discussion which followed, it was agreed that both sides should be represented by counsel and by whom they will be paid will be determined later. Arrangements were also made for securing an interpreter as the evidence will be almost exclusively in French.

Mr. Blondin then asked for an adjournment till Tuesday next, but Mr. Brodeur pointed out that the right of the member to sit meanwhile was in question. He thought enquiry should be expedited.

It was agreed to go on with the evidence on Tuesday next and the Committee will likely sit daily till the charge is disposed of. To facilitate the matters the quorum was reduced to fifteen.

Canadian Aviator Uses Wireless while in Air

Palm Beach, Fla., March 7.—I succeeded yesterday afternoon in taking up in an aeroplane Wireless Operator Morris, from the station here, with a wireless receiving apparatus. The duration of the flight was about 20 minutes. The altitude reached about one thousand to fifteen hundred feet.

Morris, while at this height received messages from Key West wireless station from Havana, and from the United Fruit Company's boat clearing from Panama for New Orleans.

As the messages were received they were written down by Morris on a paper pad provided for this purpose.

This is the first time the experiment has been successfully tried and accomplished, and opens up a new field in the aeroplane as a war machine.

Yesterday afternoon we also sent several messages from the machine by wireless, which were picked up by the wireless station here, and by passing boats.

LAURIER DEFENDS RECIPROCITY PACT

THE PREMIER ADDRESSED A CROWDED HOUSE ON THE TARIFF ARRANGEMENT WITH U.S.

Lady Grey and Many Visitors Out to Hear Him—Intense Interest Taken in Leader's Speech.

Ottawa, Ont., March 7.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier this afternoon presented to Parliament and the country his views upon the reciprocity question and the criticism which the agreement has evoked. The news has gone through Ottawa that the Premier was to speak and the result was that the galleries were filled to overflowing.

Lady Grey was seated to the right of the Speaker, Lady Laurier and the other Cabinet Ministers' wives filled the front row of the Speakers gallery, while the public galleries were filled to excess, many ladies standing in order to hear the Premier.

The usual preliminaries occupied about twenty minutes. One item of interest was the definite announcement by the Premier, in reply to Mr. Monk, that not only had not Sir George Gibbons been appointed chairman of the new International Waterway Commission, but that no appointment had been made.

The appointment would be delayed until after Parliamentary appropriations had been made therefor.

NATION ENTHUSED OVER THE AGREEMENT.

Sir Wilfrid rose at 3.18 and was greeted with tremendous cheering by his followers. At the outset he expressed his conviction that the agreement had met with the approbation nay, the very enthusiastic approval of the people at large. Liberal cheers.

The Opposition were opposed to the agreement, but they were always opposed to any proposition made by the Government, and would continue to oppose this one until the evening of the next polling day when they would, as usual, find a rude awakening from their dreams.

The development of the last month reminded him of a story of General Brett, who, during the Civil War, was on a mission, and ran into a wood when he and his companions were much alarmed by the cries of wolves. His escort thought there must be at least 30, but when they found the pack there were but two.

The Conservatives believe that they have scored a tactical advantage in placing the Premier on record before they spring their proposition that further consideration of the reciprocity resolutions shall be deferred until after Congress has ratified the agreement. The proposal, which was conceived by W. F. Northrup, of East Hastings, has been appropriated by Mr. Borden and will be moved by him to-morrow.

Medicine Drove Father Insane

Cleveland Man Fatally Injured Infant Son With Axe—Six Policemen Needed.

Cleveland, O., March 7.—Becoming suddenly insane from taking too much patent medicine, Edward Lewe, 32, fatally injured his infant son with an axe, as he lay asleep beside his mother.

Later he went out into the street and with the same axe wrecked the plate glass windows of stores in the vicinity of West 25th and Trowbridge streets.

It required six policemen to overpower Lewe, put him in a straight jacket and hurry him to jail in a street car.

COLDS: THEIR COST AND PREVENTION.

The "common cold" has for some time been regarded as a regrettably common nuisance, but we are indebted to the Boston Chamber of Commerce for a thoroughly scientific study of it. That body employed a committee of physicians to investigate the average economic cost of mere colds and to suggest safeguards. The report of that committee is interesting and should be passed along.

In the first place, the average cost of colds—including loss of salary or wages or earnings—is $22.17 for every six months. This estimate is based on returns from 568 persons in a variety of occupations.

In the second place, colds are not due to the things generally regarded as their causes. When we are scolded for wearing thin clothing, when we are solemnly warned against drafts, or when we are accused of carelessness generally we may demur to the complaint. Colds are due to a germ which is highly infectious, and this germ is ubiquitous. There is no dodging it. The thing to do is to look after our general health and to fortify the whole system against the germ. Colds are preventable as tuberculosis is preventable. Ventilation of rooms, exercise, walking, deep breathing, moderation in eating and drinking—these are the "remedies" for colds.

The advice will not be new to many but its source should make it impressive.

NEW WORK FOR THE PHYSICIAN.

At a meeting of the association of medical colleges across the border, the speakers agreed that their profession was "overcrowded"—the unfit and the quacks swamping the competent—but differed as to the remedies. Some advocated higher and stricter entrance requirements, and others free medical education.

Of course, free education would destroy the diploma mills operated for private profit in Uncle Sam's domain but would it not also tempt hundreds, if not thousands, of additional students to enter medicine? High requirements are desirable in the interest of the public health, but to make them too high is to make a monopoly of medicine—which public sentiment would scarcely sanction. However, the trend has been in the right direction.

As regards the undue congestion in the profession, it is true that there are too many doctors from the old-fashioned point of view, not only in the United States, but also in Canada, but what about the new opportunities and functions of the progressive physician? Social, preventive educational tasks are calling more and more loudly for proper attention. Health boards and boards of education are employing physicians for work that was not even dreamed of a decade ago. The conception of public health has undergone a remarkable change, and it is a change which spells an enlarged sphere of useful service for the physician. In the domain of private practice the faith in drugs has indeed been greatly shaken, but the average person is more anxious to live rationally, to avoid disease-breeding habits, to be guided by enlightened physicians in matters of hygiene. The profession is passing from one stage into another, and transition is always attended by difficulty.

DEMOCRATS MAY HOLD UP THE RECIPROCITY BILL.

Will Pass Other Tariff Reduction Measures First or Taft Might "Feel" Them.

Washington, March 6.—It was pointed out by constitutional authorities here to-day that in case the Senate and House disagree as to the time of adjournment of the coming extra session, President Taft has the power to terminate it.

If both houses passed the Canadian reciprocity bill, for instance, the Republican Senate might purposely disagree with the Democratic House in order to prevent further tariff revision, and give the president a chance to take advantage of his constitutional prerogative.

The Democrats, however, are aware of this pitfall, and it is understood that they will hold up reciprocity as long as they remain in session.

HOW WINNIPEG DOES.

One Hundred Heads of Families From England.

Winnipeg, March 8.—The department of the Winnipeg Development Bureau for giving assistance to British workmen to bring their families to Winnipeg, continued to do good work. At a meeting held this week, the Advisory Board of the organization granted applications of nineteen heads of families and made arrangements for bringing nearly a hundred persons to Winnipeg between this and the middle of June. These families make up a total of 264 persons who have been brought over by the association for assisting British workmen during the past four months, and the organization has decided to call itself the Imperial Home Re-union Association. The scheme works well and is likely to be taken up by other Canadian cities.

100,000 BIBLES.

These Books Are to Be Placed in the Big Hotels.

New York, March 6.—One hundred thousand Bibles have been ordered by the Gideons, as the members of the Christian Travelers' Association of America styles themselves. The order, said to be the largest ever placed, forms part of a national plan to place a Bible in every hotel bedroom in the country. W. E. Henderson, national secretary of the Gideons, said here to-day he has been promised one-fourth of the order for San Francisco and the Pacific coast. It is planned that the huge shipment shall reach San Francisco in time for the triennial convention of the International Sunday School Association, the latter part of June.

On the flyleaf of each Bible the following set of suggestions will be pasted:

If lonesome or blue and friend untrue, read Psalms 23 and 27; Luke xv.

If trade is poor, read Psalm 37; John xv.

If discouraged or in trouble, read Psalm 126; John xiv.

If you are all out of sorts, read Hebrew xii.

If you are losing confidence in men, read I. Cor. xiii.

If skeptical, read John vi., 40; xii., 47; Phil. ii., 9-11.

If you can't have your own way, read James iii.

If tired of sin, read Luke xviii., 35-43; xviii., 9-14; John ix.

If very prosperous, read I. Cor. x., 12-13.

Happy conclusions, Psalm 121; Matt. vi., 33; Rom. xii.

KILLS HUSBAND; EXONERATED.

Mrs. Annie McGreavy Faints After Giving Her Testimony.

Centralia, Ill., March 8.—A coroner's jury exonerated Mrs. Anne McGreavy, aged 52, from all blame in the killing of her husband, Peter McGreavy, and returned a verdict of "justifiable homicide." She testified on the witness stand of the abuse she had suffered years since the day of their marriage thirty-one years ago, and her story was a most revolting one.

She testified that after McGreavy had driven her daughter, Mrs. Anna Loveday, and her 2-year-old babe from the house she remonstrated. He then pushed her out the door, she said, and as he picked up a milk bottle to strike her she fired the revolver.

Ending her statement on the stand with "I'm so sorry; forgive me," she fainted, and has not since regained consciousness.

PROLIFIC OIL FIELDS.

Many Claims Being Taken Up By Prospectors.

Winnipeg, March 7.—Development of the oil fields north and west of Edmonton continues. The latest locations were made about forty miles north of Athabasca Landing, where forty claims were registered. All of the Peace River country is known to be a promising field for oil operations, and whatever the value of the claims thus far located, there is no doubt that the district will yield heavily of oil and other minerals when it is thoroughly explored and developed.

ASSETS OF THE COMPANY

$10,000,000 of stock still in the Treasury.

$10,000,000 pooled for 9 and 18 months.

500 acres of land; value, $3,000 per acre.

6,500 feet deep waterfrontage; value, $200 per front foot.

154 patent improvements obtained over the present most modern sleeping car as shown by patent rights and model and approved by railway experts.

A subsidy obtained from the Municipality of North Vancouver of 5 per cent. for 15 years on $200,000, and freedom from taxation of our plant and 20 acres of land for 10 years.

A subsidy obtained from the Dominion of Canada, 2½ per cent. for 25 years on $1,214,000, for the purpose of building a dry dock of 15,000 tons at Roslyn, the Company's townsite.

A very valuable brick clay deposit has been discovered on the Company's property. This will be developed to its fullest capacity, as brick clay is very rare here, Vancouver even importing from Seattle millions of brick annually.

NOTE.—A shareholder participates in every asset of the Company.

LIABILITIES OF THE COMPANY

Amount yet owing on land, extending over a period of four years, $446,000.

REMARKS

MORE LANDS

The Company proposes to purchase lands surrounding their townsite, and to this end are securing options on about 200 acres, with about 2,800 feet of deep waterfrontage adjoining that which they now own.

MINES

They have also secured an option of purchase of a group of ten claims of very valuable iron deposits situated within twelve miles of their townsite. The Company believe, located as they are in a country which abounds with everything necessary to the smallest detail for turning out a perfect car, should go to nature's storehouse for their material, and with this end in view have secured the above group.

SHIPBUILDING

In addition to building the Imperial Sleeping Car, cars of every description will be contracted for, and just as soon as their dry dock is completed, the Company intend to use it to the greatest advantage in building ships of the largest tonnage. As there will be but three or four docks in the whole Dominion, they will encounter but very little competition in the building of the larger class of vessels.

SALE OF LANDS

The Company do not intend to sell any of its land until its dry dock, car works, sawmills and other industries are in operation, and in this way secure as nearly as possible all the profit derived from the establishment of these great works.

CLEARING OF LAND

The Municipality of North Vancouver have under consideration a proposition from the Company whereby the Company promise to clear their whole townsite on condition the Municipality will at once clear and grade all the streets, charging the cost of same to local improvement taxes. The Municipality view the Company's proposition with great favor. This plan would at least double the price of the Company's holdings.

PURCHASING STOCK

A small block of stock is now on the market and can be had on very easy terms of payment. This once sold, the Company will have no difficulty to borrow on their assets at from 4 to 5 per cent. any money they will require for improvement purposes, and in this case all stock will be withdrawn from the market.

FOR THE KITCHEN

Useful Recipes for the Preparation of Plain Dishes.

How to Boil an Egg.

It seems simple enough, but it is not every person that can make a success of it.

Half fill a saucepan with water and put it on the fire until the water is actually boiling.

Put in about half a teaspoonful of salt, which will prevent the egg from cracking.

Put in the egg and leave it to boil for five minutes. At the end of this time the yolk will be not quite hard.

If you prefer the egg quite soft-boiled, three to four minutes will be sufficient.

Poached Eggs.

Break the egg into a cup cracking the shell on the rim and emptying the contents in carefully, so as to keep the yolk unbroken.

Pour some boiling water into a clean saucepan with a little vinegar (about a teaspoonful to a pint of water).

When this boils again, slip in the egg and keep the cup turned over it for half a minute so that the white may be kept compact.

As soon as the egg is put in, place the pan over a gentle fire, or turn down the gas slightly if you use gas, and keep the water just simmering till the white of the egg is set, when it is ready to be served.

From 2½ to 3½ minutes is the average time required for cooking.

Eggs and Bacon.

Put into a frying-pan enough butter dripping or fat to cover the bottom when melted.

When the pan is hot and the butter steaming, put in the bacon.

Break the eggs separately into a cup, and drop them into the pan, covering them with the cup until the whites are set.

When the eggs and bacon are properly cooked, take them out of the pan and put them on a hot dish or plate.

Never fry eggs until the surface of the yolk is hard or browned.

Scrambled Eggs.

Take eggs according to the quantity required—about three for two persons, or two for one person—and break them separately into a cup, to make sure that none are bad.

Turn them out into a saucepan containing about an ounce of butter to every two eggs. Add pepper and salt to taste.

Beat the mixture up with a fork. Hold the pan over the fire until the mixture sets, stirring it all the time.

Turn out of the saucepan on to pieces of toast.

If these have previously been spread with butter the result is most appetising.

Sardines on Toast.

Fry some narrow strips of bread in dripping, lard, or butter, and put them on a piece of paper to drain.

Put the sardines on a plate in the oven to heat.

Mix, in a small pan, one dessertspoonful of vinegar, half a teaspoonful of mustard and half a teaspoonful of butter.

Heat the mixture over the fire, stirring well, and then drop in the yolk of an egg. Add a pinch of salt and a pinch of cayenne pepper.

Put the sardines on the toast, and the sauce over the sardines, and heat the whole dish in the oven.

Ordinary buttered toast may take the place of the fried bread and the sauce may be omitted.

Sausages and Tomatoes.

Place enough butter in the frying-pan to cover the bottom when melted, and put the pan on the stove or fire.

Put in the sausages as soon as the butter is melted, pricking them well with a fork to prevent their bursting.

Turn them at intervals to ensure their being well cooked on both sides.

Steak and Onions.

Get a good thick piece of steak. A thin, water-like one contains no nutriment and none of the juices which go to form the gravy.

When the steak is ready—and it needs no further preparation than a beating with a wooden spoon or some such instrument—make the frying-pan and the butter or fat very hot, and put in the steak, together with an onion sliced up and dusted with flour. The flour makes it brown more quickly.

Brown both sides of the steak and then shift the pan to the side of the range or turn down the gas and allow the meat to cook thoroughly.

Another method of cooking a steak, which makes it more tender, is to grill it over a clear fire, either on a gridiron or, failing anything better, on a toasting fork.

To stew steak, put it in a saucepan with a lid, and add an onion cut small, a few thin slices of carrot, a teaspoonful of barley or rice, and a little salt.

Just cover it with water, and simmer or boil slowly for two hours or longer.

How to Cook Potatoes.

Even the boiling of potatoes can be done rightly or wrongly.

Having washed them well, put them in an iron saucepan on the fire with enough cold water to cover them.

When the water begins to boil put in some salt and a cupful of cold water. This stops the boiling for a little and prevents the potato from bursting before it is cooked.

When you find, by means of a fork, that the potatoes are done, pour off the water and set the saucepan, without its lid, on the fire for a few moments.

SCALES ARE TESTED

All factory scales, and scales of storekeepers are tested once a year by the government. If patrons become suspicious of any scale and wish to have it re-tested, they need do so by paying the expenses incurred by the inspector while performing the work of inspection. In a particular case where many patrons are dissatisfied, the government might send an inspector free of expense, on petition of the dissatisfied patrons to the Department of Weights and Measures.

HANGED FOR CURIOSITY

The Head Swelled and the Hole Got Smaller

Once, when working on the Midland Railway, I had to go from Birmingham to Wolverhampton, says a correspondent. I was in a compartment alone, when I soon discovered that my mate had failed to put the lamp in at the end. Thinking his neglect was a little bit of luck for me, I settled myself comfortably, put my box end-up on the seat, and, standing on it, squeezed my head through the hole to look the lamp. Immediately my eyes were filled with soot from the engine, and I tried to pull my head back. Alas! my head seemed to have swollen, and the hole to have shrunk! In making desperate efforts to liberate myself, I succeeded in kicking my box over, and there I was, hanging from the roof, with my feet a good yard from the floor.

I kicked, yelled, groaned, and screamed for what seemed hours, and at last succeeded in attracting the attention of passengers in the next compartment, when the train was stopped and I was extricated, just as I thought all was up.

Although I nearly met my death from hanging, the company reprimanded me, and suspended me from work for a week.

JUGGLING WITH HER LIFE

A Woman's Desperate Method of Frightening Husband

Desperate measures were taken by Kate Hall, Halifax, England, to frighten her husband. Seeing a candle burning in a cellar window, P. C. Stevenson stopped on his beat shortly after midnight, and peered down into the basement. In the dim light he could see a woman in the cellar with a cord round her neck, suspended from a washing machine. She was shouting, "John," and her husband then appeared at the bottom of the cellar steps. And with a knife cut her down. The constable knocked at the door, and asked what the woman had been trying to do. She told him that her husband had threatened to leave her and that she had pretended to hang herself to frighten him. At the police court, Mrs. Wade was charged with attempting to commit suicide, and she was discharged on promising not to be so foolish again.

AS AN ERRAND BOY

Sir Baden-Powell Tells an Interesting Story of Sir Thomas Lipton

Major-General Sir Robert Baden-Powell, addressing the boys of the Mercers' School, Holborn, London, at the annual prize-giving the other day, told an interesting story of the early life of Sir Thomas Lipton, with whom he had been staying.

Sir Thomas, he said, started work as an errand boy. He afterwards went to America as a cabin-boy, and on arrival a hotel agent touted among the passengers. Seeing the boy forlorn, and hearing he hadn't a penny, the agent offered him ten days' free board and lodging if he could bring twelve emigrants to his hotel. Lipton brightened up at once, because he had become very friendly with the emigrants through writing their letters, he being the only one in the steerage who could read or write. The emigrants were quite willing to go to the hotel, and the boy got his free board and time to look around for a berth.

G.T.P. WILL CARRY GRAIN

The Grand Trunk Pacific line between Fort William and Winnipeg is completed and it is expected that it will be handed over to the G.T.P. by the contractors in October. The road will be hauling grain the latter part of October, and expects to handle as much as over the western lines last fall, which was 7,000,000 bushels.

WIFE KEPT IN CHAINS

M. Parat, the chemist of the Rue Vaugirard, Paris, who some months ago was arrested for brutally ill-treating his wife, and was sent to an asylum for the insane, has been discharged as cured. Parat kept his wife in a dark room chained by the hands and ankles. Parat had gone to Belgium, and is bringing a suit against his wife to obtain the custody of his children.

READ EVERY WORD OF THIS

It Will Be Money In Your Pocket To Do So

Everyone is anxious to make money. Everyone has an ambition to get rich. Some men DO get rich. Others remain poor. The difference is simply a difference of methods. Nearly all of us save some money, but we do not let these savings earn anything for us. THE MAN WHO SAVES HIS MONEY AND LETS THE SAVINGS EARN SOMETHING FOR HIM is making it do double duty. Take the history of all the very wealthy men of the country and learn how many of them made their fortunes by simply saving what they earned. Not one of them did. They saved but they immediately put their savings to work for them. YOU WANT TO GET TO THE TOP OF THE LADDER, YOU WANT TO ACCUMULATE SOMETHING FOR YOUR OLD AGE. THEN YOU HAD BETTER PUT YOUR SAVINGS TO WORK AND LET THEM HELP YOU DO IT.

In almost any ordinary investment a man cannot make his money earn over 8 per cent. Mining offers you greater opportunities. I am going to offer you an opportunity that has promise of earning for you 800 per cent or even more. I want to take you into partnership with me, in an enterprise that will probably make us all independent for the balance of our lives. YOU MUST TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THIS OFFERING. The Gold Queen Mining Company, of which I am president, has over 135 acres of rich mineral ground in one of the most prosperous mining districts of the world. We have already expended thousands of dollars in developing this property and we have struck ore that is very rich. We need a mill to extract the precious metal from this ore. We need a little help in building this mill. Are you willing to subscribe a portion of the amount necessary to do it? In numbers there is strength, and even though your subscription be a very small one, we are willing to give you a part ownership in this great enterprise, in return for it. We are willing to take you in on an equal basis with us and give you the benefit of all your savings may earn for you. The men behind this proposition are all successful business men. They are in this business to make it pay and for every dollar they earn for themselves they will earn one for you. REMEMBER: THIS IS NOT A PROSPECT—IT IS A MINE WITH ORE IN IT. But a small amount of money is necessary to build our mill. We have decided to offer only a very limited number of shares at the present price, and as soon as this amount is secured the price will be advanced to a much greater figure. NOW IS THE TIME FOR YOU TO ACT. YOU ARE GETTING IN WITH THE ORGANIZERS OF THE COMPANY AT GROUND FLOOR PRICES. YOU ARE COMING INTO A BONA FIDE PARTNERSHIP WITH US AND WITH NO PARTNERSHIP RESPONSIBILITIES. Read what Mr. Van Wagenen, one of the foremost mining engineers of the country has to say: "I would advise the immediate erection of a ten-stamp mill with cyanide equipment, to treat your gold ores, and a separate concentrating plant to handle your copper pyrites, thus reducing the shipping weight 6 to 1, and eventually put in a smelter in connection with the mill, with a ten-stamp mill on your property and a daily production of 50 tons of ore. I CAN PROMISE YOU A NET EARNING OF $300.00 PER DAY or $109,500 per year and that can be increased to ten times as much as soon as tunnels A and B are finished, and added milling equipment is installed. The economical method is the best. Start with a ten-stamp mill and let your stockholders be content with 10 per cent per annum until you have increased your milling facilities, and install your smelting plant to treat your concentrates. THEN YOU CAN PAY THEM 400 TO 500 PER CENT DIVIDENDS PER YEAR FOR THE NEXT TEN YEARS ON THE PRESENT VALUATION OF YOUR STOCK, 5 CENTS PER SHARE, and this out of the new discovered vein alone." Now if you want to get in with us on this proposition you must act quickly, for the present allotment of shares will not last long. The man who buys now will get his shares at the very rock bottom price. The one who waits until later will without a doubt pay many times what it is being offered for now. Arrangements may be made to pay for your subscription on the easy payment plan. Write at once for full information and detailed literature explaining all about it. Write today. Do not wait another minute or you may be too late.

Burton Jeweler Makes Clock Which Only Needs Winding Once in a Century

A clock which is said to go far towards solving the problem of "perpetual motion," was exhibited at the Burton-on-Trent Flower Show. The maker, a local watch and clock maker named Beatley, claimed originally that the mechanism would go, without winding or other interference, for fifty years, but now he says that it can be trusted to run uninterruptedly for a century. An important feature is an electric current obtained by means of two wires inserted in the earth and connected with the clock. Mr. Beatley is no novice in this direction. He already holds a gold medal, and has in his possession a clock which was started ten years ago, and has never since been wound. A feature of the flower show was the bridging of the Trent at its widest part, nearly sixty yards across, by the Burton Territorials, who employed eight piers of eight barrels, pontoon fashion, for the crowds to pass over.

OUTWITTED BY A BEAR

Dr. White Sends an Interesting Story From Wabigoon

Dr. White, of Wabigoon, Ont., writing to his home, expresses the wish that his father had been with him during the present spring, "to help him carry rotten eggs, vegetables, muskrats and pork to a bear." It appears, says Rod and Gun, as though he has on hand a job for all summer in keeping the animal fed.

Noting the bear's tracks, the Doctor took two barrels, made rope snares, which he placed over their mouths, and fixed a big lifting pole to the barrels. The bear put them off just as fast as he could set them up. The doctor and his wife came to the conclusion that the bear must take the bait out with his paw and never put his head in the barrel.

When visiting the trap on one occasion the Doctor and his wife saw a moose standing by the river. The moose allowed them to approach within thirty yards when he walked slowly into the water, crossed to the other side and went into the bush, still with the same deliberate action.

On reaching the trap the snares were found as usual. They were replaced and rebaited and on the following day as the bow of the canoe poked up the shore Mrs. White exclaimed: "Get him!" The bear merely remarked "Woof, woof!" which must have meant in this particular instance "Not yet!" for he jumped into the thicket before the Doctor could work his big revolver. On examining the place they found that the bear had been merely having a meal.

Refixing the snares and making a drop with about five hundred pounds on top they started home, one hundred yards down stream. This time they approached within twenty yards of the moose and then stopped, waiting for about ten minutes while the animal took a drink and began to feed, when he wandered back out of sight. On the next day the rifle was taken along, not for the moose of course, but for the bear. Once more the snare was off, and refixed with the noose made very small so that it would certainly catch him. On starting to float down home there was a crackle, and a careful scrutiny discovered Teddy in the brush, not twenty yards off. The doctor snatched up the rifle and fired quickly, fearing that the bear would jump away at once "but, say, he is tough—I can't kill him!"

The deadfall was down again next day, but there were a few hairs on it, looking as though the bear had allowed it to rest on his back till he had finished eating and then carelessly walked away. Once again it was refixed, with a load two hundred pounds heavier this time and a row of sharp stake placed in front. Next day there was quite a pinch of hair but that was all. A further two hundred pounds were added, more stakes were fixed and all preparations for trapping him made once more. The Doctor made so sure of his bear this time that he was up at four o'clock in the morning and with gun, camera and skinning knife, went for his skin. When the Doctor and his wife arrived at the deadfall they stood looking at the debris without saying anything! The bait was eaten, the barrel broken up, and the heavy weights thrown about! Before they had recovered from their surprise a crunching noise was heard in the thicket—not forty yards away.

The Doctor crept carefully in, but the brush was too thick for him to see clearly. Within twenty yards of the animal the bear slipped by him and he went on to see what he was eating, finding a big log just torn open for ants.

The deadfall was rebuilt and a weight of one thousand pounds placed upon it.

The Doctor adds: If that weight does't kill him I think I shall feed him for the rest of the summer and not punish him so much. The last drop must have hurt him a little, for there was a lot of hair and some blood on the logs. Evidently he was caught too far back, and having good use of his front feet, was able to extricate himself.

The trout fishing is good, but I have been too busy feeding Teddy in my spare time to go out and get any.

GUNNERY RECORD.

A gunnery record with her 9.2 guns is claimed by the flagship Minotaur, now of the China Station. The fore-turret scored seven hits in eight rounds at 1,500 yards target, the ship steaming twelve knots and the time being 1 minute 31⅕ seconds.

THE HIGHEST SOPRANO

AN IMPRESSIVE SIGHT

Giant Iceberg Seen in the South Atlantic

Probably one of the largest icebergs seen of recent years near the track of ocean-going steamers was viewed from the liner Oravia as she passed the Falkland Islands in the South Atlantic on her way to Liverpool. A graphic description of the monster berg was given by an officer of the ship. "The night was cloudy," he said. "There was a cutting wind and the temperature of the sea was down to 33 degrees when the great iceberg came into view—a huge mass 500 feet high, partly covered with mist, a long shelving shore of ice, with the sea breaking upon it as upon a wide, desolate beach. When the moon appeared the sight was one never to be forgotten. We gazed upon what seemed to us a floating city of ice as large as Liverpool, with its towers, its temples, its tapering monuments, shooting up a fantastic architecture, shimmering in the moonlight like polished silver. It is the lot of few to see such a sight." Everyone on board the Oravia was spellbound by the majestic beauty of the scene. The berg, which was visible for some hours, is supposed to be the detached portion of a permanent Antarctic icefield.

THE NAVY'S DIRIGIBLE

An Accident Has Occurred to Delay the Launching of the Mysterious Craft

Few undertakings have been respon the rigid dirigible balloon that is being built at Barrow for the Navy. Early in the year it figured in the War Secretary's statement in the House of Commons as evidence of the Army Council's attentiveness to the subject of aerial navigation. At frequent intervals it has been described in the newspapers, usually in the redundant terms of appreciation, which, in connection with aeronautical matters, the public appear to love. Thus, the size, speed, cost, armament and general utility of the new vessel, were all tremendous; it was being built under an armed guard, its secrets evidently being of the highest import, and so on, for the past ten months.

It now appears certain that the launching will not take place this year; that there has been an accident by which part of the vessel has been destroyed.

"POINTS" OF THE FACE

Here are a number of "points" in the face which are generally supposed to indicate character:—

Brown eyes are most kindly.

Black eyes are the most rash and impetuous.

A pouting upper lip indicates timidity.

An insignificant nose indicates an insignificant man.

Very large thick lips are a sign of sensuality.

An open mouth is a sure sign of an empty head.

Coarse hair always indicates coarse organization.

A projecting upper lip shows malignity and avarice.

Pointed noses generally indicate meddlesome people.

Large eyes in a small face always betoken maliciousness.

Blue eyes belong to a people of an enthusiastic turn of mind.

Oblique eyes are unfavorable; they show cunning and deceit.

Short, thick, curly hair is an indication of great natural strength.

Freckles, like red hair, are an indication of an ardent temperament.

A long forehead indicates intelligence; a short forehead activity.

Grey eyes are generally found associated with prudence and foresight.

An irregular knotty forehead is a sure sign of a bold, original, and investigating mind.

Prominent, arched, eyebrows show great power of perception in regard to form and color. All great painters have such brows.

Large clear blue eyes generally denote persons of great capacity, but sensitive, suspicious, and often unreasonably jealous.

Horizontal eyebrows, full and regular, show great understanding, deliberation, and capacity for planning and execution.

The typical religious enthusiast has a thin, pale face, retreating forehead, small, keen eyes, pointed nose, and retreating chin.

A perpendicular, a very high, or a very short forehead is always bad; either invariably indicates lack of sympathy.

A face which does not change expression in conversation either indicates caution or stupidity.

A flat forehead or an abrupt descent at the back of the head are both unfavorable, either indicating limited understanding.

A person who habitually looks out of the corners of his eyes is to be avoided; his natural tendency is certainly towards deception.

Large noses are invariably associated with strong traits of character; whether good or bad is determined by other characteristics.

Men of marked ability in any line have usually one deep, perpendicular wrinkle on the forehead, with one or two parallel to it on each side.

RACY METAPHOR

The Archbishop of Canterbury is a great example of a ready wit, according to the Pathfinder. He was going with a number of clergymen in to a luncheon, after some ecclesiastical function one day, when some dignitary observed:

"Now to put a bridle on our appetites!"

Quick as lightning the archbishop retorted, "Nay, rather, now to put a bit between our teeth."

OFFENSIVE TO THE LANDSCAPE

In a certain Midland town there is a man who is so ugly that it has been said of him that his face is an "offence to the landscape."

One Bank Holiday he was seated on a rustic bridge some distance outside the town, when a tourist came by, and, after gazing at the "offence" a moment, he said:

"Eh, but th'art ugly!"

"Well," replied the other, in an aggrieved tone, "I can't help it, can I?"

The tourist pondered a moment, and then said:

"The might stay at whoam!"

MIGHT HAVE BEEN WORSE

"Edward, I'm ashamed of you. Bottom of a class of twenty-three younger boys? Disgraceful!"

"But, mother, it might have been worse."

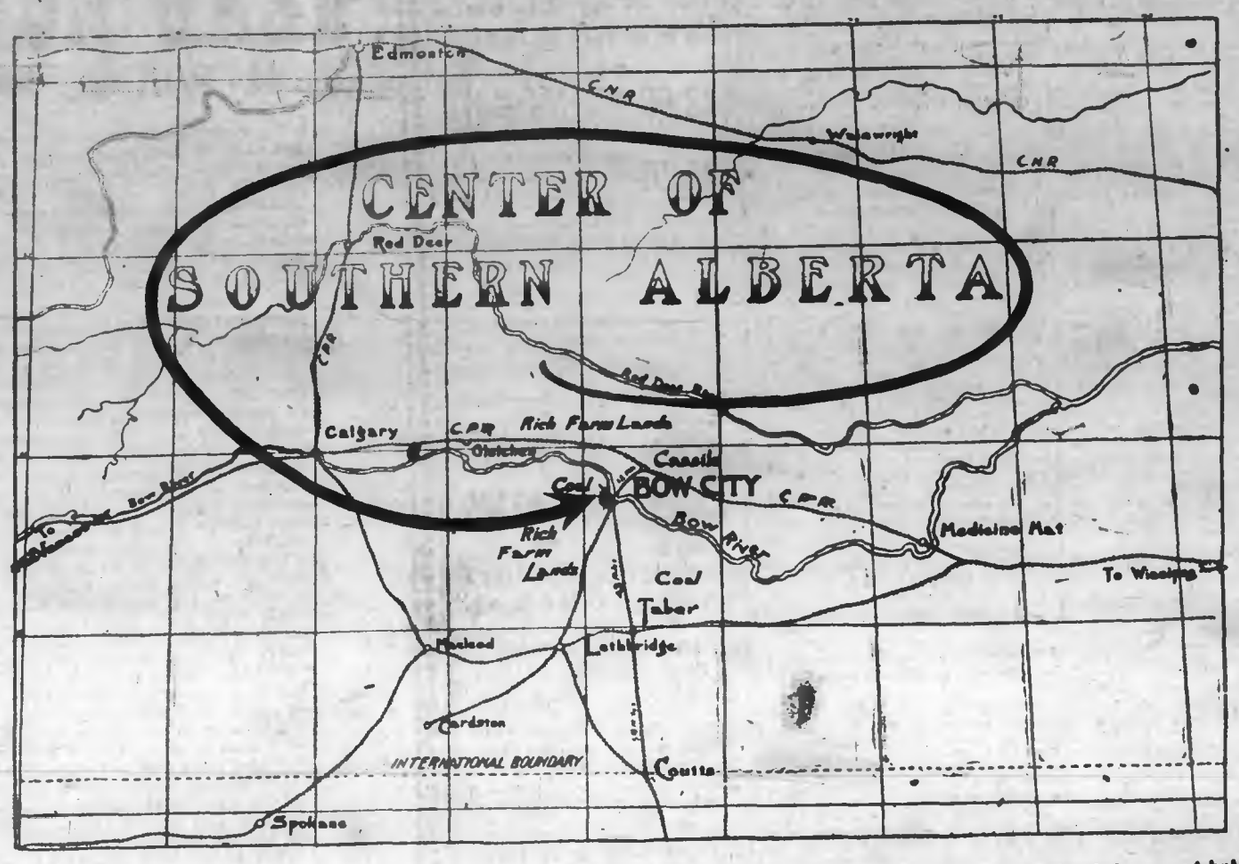
"Worse! How could it have been worse?"

"There might have been more boys in the class."

RATS STEAL FALSE TEETH

A young woman of Burnley left her false teeth in a glass of water for the night, and the following morning they were missing. A hunt of rats under the kitchen slopstone was searched and there, sure enough, were the missing molars intact. They were lying among some scraps which had been collected by the rats.

"GIVE YOUR SON A DEED"



If, by way of illustration, you will review the history of the men in your town who have made money out of real estate, you will find that in each and every instance their profits were made from real estate acquired at ground floor prices.

More money can be made by those who acquire a realty interest in a town at its inception per dollar invested than from investments made after a period of years.

Do you know that you can purchase with $5 cash a full sized residential lot in Bow City, Alberta

the logical location for a great city, a city which is destined to be known, the world over, as a market place annually for hundreds of thousands of bushels of grain, grown on the vast irrigated fields surrounding Bow City, a shipping point for coal from the great Bow Centre Collieries, and a purchasing depot for hundreds of prosperous farmers resident throughout Southern Alberta.

To-day is your opportunity to acquire an interest in Bow City at the ground floor price.

It will be too late six months hence, to apply for a lot in Bow City at the present prices and on such easy terms as are offered you in this advertisement.

Why not follow Russell Sage's advice given in a letter published some years ago to the fathers in the Western States:—

"Buy your son a lot in a town being the "centre of a great agricultural country—when "he comes of age that lot will be worth consid-"erable money and will provide a handsome "stake for him in life; it is at least most sub-"stantial life insurance—sure and certain."

Buy your son a $50 lot in Bow City, the coming metropolis of the western prairies. In a very short time he can re-sell the same at a big increase, which money he will find advantageous in business pursuits or in a college course.

Bow City, the centre of the great granary of Southern Alberta has a future concerning which no sane business man or banker has any doubt.

When you are assured of the success of the city, when you have proven to you beyond the shadow of a doubt that Bow City will, in the very near future, be one of the most active, one of the most progressive towns on the Western prairies, you should not hesitate to acquire at least one $50 residential lot, when same is on sale on such easy terms as 10 per cent cash and the balance 10 per cent per month until paid—a deed at any time.

Bow City is in the heart of a famous irrigated farming belt whose farmers are assured of a crop every year. They are prosperous and their prosperity will naturally enhance the value of Bow City real estate.

The great coal mines of Bow City will furnish work for 1,000 to 1,500 miners daily, these miners will constitute a substantial basis for a successful city.

The present owners of Bow City have decided that no licenses shall be issued for the sale of spirituous liquors; they intend that this great mining and agricultural centre shall be free from any traffic in intoxicating drinks—it will be a clean city.

Bow City is the headquarters of a railway which taps a territory unparalleled for richness in crops and natural resources.

The Sale of Bow City Lots opened but a few days ago

If you are desirous of acquiring a $50 residential lot close in you should lose no time in making application by wire direct to the General Agents of the townsite, or to the nearest sub-agent.

Do not delay by sending your apulication by mail.

Wire at once your reservation for one or more lots On receipt of wire your name will be placed on the closest-in unsold lot or lots and same will be held in your name, allowing you sufficient time for your cash payment, mailed same day you wire, to travel from your home to the head office.

You may find it to your advantage, if you are desirous of securing a business opening, or a business lot, to write for copy of the plans, booklets and descriptive matter concerning Bow City, all of which may be had on application, free of charge.

GERMANY'S EXAMPLE.

We have taken many excellent examples of social government and control from Germany and it would seem that the Teutonic Fatherland still has much to teach us. Take the matter of dealing with that class of ne'er-do-wellthat ill-treat their wives. In this country an offender in this respect, is found guilty, is locked up in jail and the poor wife that has been beaten and abused now has to suffer the loss of breadwinner of the family and has, herself, to make a living for her children while her husband stays in jail or the workhouse, the State or county getting whatever profit there may be in his enforced labor. Surely no greater absurdity than this could be worked in the name of justice.

In Germany they have gone deeper into this matter than we, and wife-beaters instead of being locked up, they are made to go to work under police supervision and their wages are handed over to their families. This on work days. When holiday time arrives, that is Saturday afternoon and evening, the offender is taken by the police and looked up, to remain in jail until it is time to go to work on Monday morning. This sort of extended and continuing sentence lasts until the prisoner has served in jail the number of days appointed by the judge.

Surely this is a commonsense plan and one that should commend itself to our lawmakers. A weakness of all punishment for minor offences is that it is usually the family of the offender that has to bear the largest part of the punishment. Some such system as that inaugurated by Germany might well, we should think, be extended to other offences than wife-beating, so that the innocent families of offenders against the laws should not be compelled, unjustly, to suffer part of the punishment.

WROUGHT BY A HAMMER-HEAD

A few years ago when I was turning in some works in Sheffield, says H. Batchelor, I happened to be centering a bar of steel to put into my lathe, when my hammer head broke across the eye where the shaft fits through. One half remained on the shaft, and the other went flying into the air. Suddenly there was an awful trembling and bumping higher up the shop, and a great face-plate cracked, and let a large ingot, weighing about thirty tons, fall out. My hammer head had fallen into the gearing, broken all the teeth in the cogs, and split the face-plate. I expected I should be discharged, but they said it was marvellous that no one was killed.

PRECAUTIONARY MEASURES

The woman in charge of the Pickleham post-office was strongly suspected of tampering with the packages and parcels entrusted to her care.

One day a rosy-cheeked youngster entered the post-office and carefully laid upon the counter a huge slice of rich iced cake.

"With my sister, the bride's, compliments," he said; "and will yer please treat as much as yer possibly can?"

The post-mistress smiled delightedly.

"How very kind of the bride to remember me!" she cried. "Did she know I have a special weakness for wedding-cake?"

"She did that!" coldly replied the youngster. "And she thought she'd send yer a bit of it this afternoon, jest to take the edge off yer appetite before she posted any boxes to her friends!"

The Pope's Ruling Strongly Condemned

Toronto, Mar. 6.—Rev. Dr. Hincks at Broadview Tabernacle praised the Roman Catholic Church for its stand against cheaper divorce and immoral books, but he severely condemned the Papal decree against mixed marriages.

It declares that the Roman Catholic Church in Canada has the right to declare a marriage invalid, with all its ecclesiastical consequences, where one of the parties was not a Roman Catholic unless that marriage was celebrated by a Roman Catholic priest. The decree would have been burned in England thirty years ago, but owing to the counter revolution now going on in favor of the papacy, the Pope has dared to issue this decree.

Dr. Hincks said the decree was unchristian on several grounds. Christ said "What therefor God hath joined together let no man put asunder." The Pope became the author of dissension and separation wherever the decree was enforced.

WORSE THAN DIVORCE.

"Through his priest he enters the home and tells the husband and wife that they are living in sin and that their children are illegitimate. The decree encourages immorality by offering a direct incentive to break the marriage vow. It encourages worse than divorce, because an unscrupulous Catholic married to a Protestant girl can throw his wife and children out in the street in the name of his religion and his priest.

"Rumor has it," said the minister, "that such a case as this has occurred recently in Toronto. This case should be investigated, and if it be found that through a visit of the priest to this man's home the wife and children have been scattered, then the estate of the man should confiscated to support them.

STIGMATIZES HONORABLE MARRIAGES.

"This decree is an attack on the civil rights of all Canadians, because it stigmatizes honorable marriage, celebrated in accordance with the law as dishonorable, and the offspring of that marriage, born in lawful wedlock, as illegitimate. It is an insult to every Protestant in Canada, and is directly calculated to stir up religious bitterness among our citizens.

"A year and a half after the decree was issued the German Emperor took such a strong stand against it being enforced in the Fatherland that the Pope specially exempted Germany from the operations of the decree.

DEMANDS GOVERNMENT INTERFERENCE.

"Canada must approach the Federal Government," urged Mr. Hincks in conclusion, "to make it a criminal offence to enforce this decree. Every priest who tries to enforce it so that a home is broken up as the result, and the children scattered, should be made to answer in the law courts, where the Canadian law should be supreme in marriage matters. The priest who suggests that a Canadian marriage is not legal, is not moral, not binding, not Christian, in such a way as to break up the home should be punished with imprisonment at hard labor."

England Watching Work of Mormons

London, March 7.—Home Secretary Churchill stated in the House of Commons to-day that the attention of the Government had been attracted to recent allegations of Mormons activity among the women of this country and had begun an investigation.

While he had no official information to support the assertions that girls were being induced to emigrate to Utah, there was no doubt, the Secretary said, that the matter was causing deep concern and he proposed to probe it exhaustively.

Sobbed Their Grief in Arms of Queen

Rome, March 7.—The two little daughters of the murdered Princess Giulia Trigoandi Sant Elia, sobbed out their grief in the arms of Queen Helena at the Quirinal this morning. Her majesty was no less affected and with difficulty controlled her emotions as she consoled the motherless ones and assured them of her continued protection.

It was the leave-taking prior to the departure of the children and their father, Prince Trigona de Sant Elia with the body of the Princess to the old home at Palermo. The Prince had sent a letter to King Victor Emmanuel, asking that he be relieved from his office as gentleman-in-waiting in the court of the Queen.

The children have been informed of the death of their mother, but the circumstances have been mercifully withheld from them.

While this scene was being enacted at the Quirinal, the prison physicians were making desperate efforts to restore the failing strength of the murderer, Baron Xinvenzo Paterno, a Lieutenant of the Third Royal Piedmont Cavalry, who after stabbing the Queen's lady-in-waiting, shot himself in the head. The Baron's condition was worse to-day. He experienced periods of delirium and of coma. Frequent injections of stimulants were required.

ZION CITY MAY HAVE CIVIL WAR

TWO GRAVE PERILS ARE STARING THE DOWIEITES, AND THEY EXPECT TROUBLE.

Guarding the Tabernacle—Resist the State's Order That All be Vaccinated, and New Rules Promulgated.

Zion City, Ills., Mar. 6.—The roll of the muffled drum, the peal of the great bell in the tabernacle, and a hasty gathering of the faithful, may bring Zion City—the perfect city of John Alexander Dowie, and his successor, Wilbur Glenn Voliva—into armed insurrection against the State of Illinois, or may participate of Illinois, or may precipitate armed civil war among the believers in the "prophet."

Two grave perils beset Zion City, and her half-starved people, in a rage are desperate. The first peril is the order of the State Board of Health to vaccinate every person in the city; an order that Zionists have vowed to resist "to the death." The second is the internecine strife that is going on within the ranks of the Zionists, and that has already led to serious fisting on the streets of the home of the "prophet," and the stationing of armed guards to prevent an outbreak on the part of the independents.

Zion City is divided into two factions, one of which, headed by Wilbur Glenn Voliva, is for following the rigid rules laid down by "prophet Dowie." These include prohibition of the sale of cigars, cigarettes, oyster soda water, pork, drugs and the prevention of dancing and any form of lighter amusement.

The independent faction on the other hand, favor more relaxation for the people. Two years ago the independents won in the election, and since then cigars, cigarettes, pork, and drugs have been sold within the city.

BANKERS FOR THE ISSUE:

London & South Western Bank, Limited, London, England.
Royal Bank of Scotland, London, England.

ORGANIZATION

The more important points regarding the Company as set forth in a letter from the President, may be summarized as follows:—

1. After allowing for depreciation the value of the fixed assets as determined by the Canadian American Appraisal Company, Limited, is $2,620,654.24, or nearly twice the amount of bonds issued. This is exclusive of the standing timber on the area on which the Company holds a concession.

2. The cost of producing Pulp has steadily decreased, while the price obtained has steadily increased.

3. The close proximity of the plant to the Middle West markets of the United States secures an increasing demand for the Company's output.

4. The net earnings of the Company as determined by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Company, for the past three years, were as follows:

Year ending 31st December, 1908 ..... $ 50,202.51
Year ending 31st December, 1909 ..... 169,555.90
Year ending 31st December, 1910 ..... 267,289.92

5. By reason of the operation of the Sinking Fund, which is calculated to retire the total bond issue by maturity, there is an ever increasing equity behind the Bonds.

6. The ownership of the Company is in strong and practical hands, assuring conservative and successful management, and the works on which the Bonds are secured are well established and in successful operation.

5 per cent. on application.
17½ per cent. on allotment.
40 per cent. on 3rd April, 1911.
35 per cent. on 3rd May, 1911.

97½ per cent.

Prospectus regarding the Company, together with application forms, will be furnished upon application.

PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO
WEDNESDAY, MARCH 8, 1911.

A Maid Wanted.

A maid wanted at once for Nicholls Hospital. M4-3d.

Large Ice Boat.

Messrs. Udy and Telford, of Bridgenorth, have completed a large ice boat. The boat is 12x16 feet with a sail 20 feet high, and will carry ten or a dozen passengers.

Chimney Fire.

The fire department received a telephone call at 11.55 yesterday to the house of Lewis Potvin, 213 Lake street. It was only a chimney blaze and was soon extinguished.

Scarlet Fever Cases.

There are now several cases of scarlet fever in the city. All the places where the disease has been discovered have been placarded and the strictest quarantine vigilance maintained. Fortunately the disease is of a mild type.

Library Meeting To-Morrow.

The second annual meeting of the Lindsay District Library Association will meet to-morrow in the Public Library building in this city. In our yesterday's issue the date of the meeting was announced to take place yesterday. The morning session will begin at 10 o'clock.

CANADIAN PACIFIC.

Cheap one way Colonist tickets to Vancouver, Victoria, Seattle, Portland, $42.00.

Good going March 10th to March 31st.

Also reduced second class rates to California points. For rates, and all information see W. McIlree, Agent, C.P.R., 348 George street.

Goes to Jail.

Wm. Armstrong was drunk and disorderly again. A few days ago he appeared on the same charge, when he was given a $2.00 fine, which he could not pay. An additional five was added to it yesterday, and until it is paid he will have time for reflection in jail.

Would Tax the Autos.

A tax of fifty cents per horse power on all automobiles, to be devoted to the highways fund, was proposed at the closing session of the Good Roads Association Friday afternoon at Toronto. The Government is to be asked to increase its grants towards good roads from one-third to one-half.

An Illustrated Lecture.

Mr. S. J. Keyes of the Normal School staff, gave a very interesting and instructive talk on a trip through the British Isles and France, last night in the lecture room of St. Paul's Church, under the auspices of the Frazer Mission Band. There was a good attendance, and at the conclusion of the address a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Keyes.

Ministerial Association Meet.

The regular meeting of the Ministerial Association took place on Monday morning, when a very interesting and instructive paper was read by Rev. Mr. Couch, pastor of George street Methodist Church, on "The functions of the Hebrew Prophets."

A Dangerous Pastime.

A party of boys who were coasting on Victoria Park yesterday met disaster. It was a pair of "bobs," and the lad on the front sleigh lost control and ran against a tree. The boys were considerably shaken up, but fortunately no bones were broken although one lad received a gash on the head.

Never Saw a Train.

A middle-aged man named John Garcey, from the north country, was in the city yesterday for the first time. He lives in the extreme north and says he never saw a railway train until yesterday. He was born in the woods, and has lived there for about 40 years. He is a subscriber to The Times, and has thus been kept in touch with what is going on in the outside world. He walked down to the C.P.R. station yesterday and saw several trains pass, drawn by huge mogul engines. Electric cars did not seem to appeal to him as much as the big railway trains. Mr. Garcey started on his 75-mile drive home yesterday.

Twenty-Fifth Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Jackson, 318 Charlotte street, celebrated their twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding on Monday evening, when about thirty of their most intimate friends were present to do honor to the occasion. They were ably assisted in entertaining their guests by Mrs. H. Falkner and Mrs. J. W. Bryans, of Havelock, and the Misses Flora and Mary Eson. Mr. and Mrs. Jackson were the recipients of many beautiful and costly presents, among which was a piece of silver given by Mrs. Spilsbury, Mrs. Jackson's mother, which has been in the family over 100 years. The evening was spent in music and games, while Miss Gertrude LeBar rendered a couple of recitations, which added greatly to the enjoyment of the evening. Dainty refreshments were served by the charming hostess, after which the assembly dispersed, not, however, before wishing Mr. and Mrs. Jackson many happy returns.

Fell on a Saw.

A painful accident occurred at Buckhorn on Monday, when a young man named Allen, son of George Allen, was thrown onto a revolving saw, causing serious injuries. Two doctors were immediately summoned from Lakefield and were soon on the scene. Meanwhile Comstock's ambulance was sent for, and after a long journey of seven or eight hours, the unfortunate young man was taken to Nicholls Hospital, where he now lies. He was severely cut about the face and arms, a portion of the nose being severed from his face.

SOCIETY EVENTS

The Times will be pleased to receive notices of Weddings, Social Events, Personal Announcements, which will be published in this column free of charge.

Mrs. (Captain) Pearson, 376 Stewart-street, will receive on first and third Wednesday of each month.

Mrs. Ernest Green, Toronto, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Meldrum, Macdonnell street.

Gerald Eaton of Toronto, is the guest of his parents on Boswell avenue, for a couple of weeks.

Mrs. Harvey Pearson, Bethune street, has returned home, after spending a few days with friends at Lakefield.

Mrs. F. H. Gillespie will receive for the first time since her marriage, at her home, 200 Stewart street, Saturday afternoon, March 11, from four to six o'clock.

CLARK—BENNETT.

Park street Baptist church parsonage was the scene of a quiet wedding on Monday evening when Rev. W. C. Ruddiford united in marriage Miss Rosa Lillian M. Bennett, of London, England, to Mr James S. Clark, who has resided in Peterborough for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark will take up their residence at 483 Albert street.

A LIGHTHOUSE KEEPER'S STORY.

From the light-house at Lobster Cove Head, Bonne Bay, Newfoundland, Mrs. W. Young sends an experience of Zam-Buk, which should certainly act as a true beacon light, guiding all sufferers from skin disease to a safe harbor of refuge.

Mrs. Young says: "I suffered with eczema for seven years, and to my great delight Zam-Buk has cured me. The disease started on my breast, and spread until it extended over my back. The itching and burning—especially when the affected parts were warm—was terrible; and yet when the eruption was scratched or rubbed it turned to bad sores, and caused great pain. I went to a doctor, and tried various prescriptions, but seemed to get no benefit, so tried another doctor. Again I got no relief, so tried a third doctor and then a fourth. Although they all did their best for me I got no relief from my pain.

"Seven years is a long time to suffer, and I had got used to the thought that I never would be cured when I saw a report in The Family Herald telling how beneficial Zam-Buk was in cases of skin disease. I thought there would be no harm in giving this balm a fair trial, and bought some.

"Well, from the use of the very first box I saw Zam Buk was going to do me good. I persevered with it, and the improvement it worked in my condition was really wonderful. It eased the irritation, stopped the pain, and the sores began to dry up and disappear. In short, I found Zam-Buk all that was claimed for it, and within a very short time it worked a complete cure in my case."

Not only for eczema, but for ulcers, abscesses, varicose veins, bad leg, poisoned wounds, cuts, cold sores, chapped places, piles, ringworm, children's eruptions, burns, scalds, and all skin injuries and diseases, Zam-Buk will be found unequalled. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse harmful substitutes and imitations.

HALL'S BRIDGE.

Weather fine and very cold.

The many friends of Mr. John Chesney, will be pleased to hear that he is improving slowly.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawn Smith of Lakehurst, spent Sunday evening in Buckhorn.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Flynn of Rockcroft spent Sunday at the home of Mr. Chesney.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Capps, spent Sunday with Mrs. S. Nichols sr.

Mr. Edward Pavey is wearing a broad smile these days. On Wednesday last the stork entered his home leaving a baby girl and boy. All are doing fine.

Mr. Arthur Ivey of Winnipeg, is the guest of his sister, Mrs. W. N. Blewett.

Mr. Orok preached his farewell sermon on Sunday, and will be succeeded by Mr. Stevens.

Mr. and Mrs. Aldus Norther, jr., spent Friday with Mrs. Archie Fulton.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Montgomery were the guests of Mrs. S. Haines on Sunday.

Mr. Pavey has returned home after spending a few days with his daughter, Mrs. Roy Northey.

A number have been out trying the rink again and skating is splendid.

OBITUARY.

MRS. GAUTHIER.

Mrs. Virginia Gauthier, aged seventy eight, 201 Louis street, passed away on Monday evening about 8.30, death being practically due to advanced age.

She is survived by one son and one daughter, namely, Mrs. Jerome LaJeunesse, and George Gauthier.

HYPOTHECATION OF BANK'S NOTES

Toronto, March 7.—The second Farmers' Bank case to come up in the Police Court to-day was the hearing of the charge of hypothecation of notes against Hon. J. R. Stratton, M.P., J. J. Warren, W. S. Morden and Mathew Wilson, K.C.

The transaction which led to the supposed hypothecation are according to Travers, as follows: As the deposits in the Farmers' Bank dwindled and the officials found there was not enough hard cash on hand to meet the Bank's notes in the clearing house each day, they got into the habit of sending over to the Trusts and Guarantee Company sufficient of the bank's own notes to represent the amount of notes in the clearing house. The Trust Company then gave the bank cash or the more negotiable notes of other banks. With these the Farmers' Bank people went to the clearing house and put through whatever notes of their own was there. If this had not been done the bank would have come to its end much sooner than it did.

This raising of good notes or cash from the trusts company was as frequent as the needs demanded. When some large deposits would come into the Farmers' Bank, the Farmers' bills would be bought back again from the trusts company. The transactions were continued as the bank found it harder and harder to make things go properly, so that at last by July, 1910, there was about $56,- of the bank's bills in the hands of the trust company.

QUESTION OF INTEREST.

The question raised in the short hearing was whether or not the trust company had received any interest for the money it had advanced to the bank. Mr. Travers said he could not tell till an accountant had gone over the books and figured all the transactions out. Mr. Howard, of the Trusts & Guarantee Company, said there had been no interest.

MOVING PICTURES OF PREMIER IN ACTION

MOVING PICTURE MACHINE AND PHONOGRAPH RECEIVER WERE AT WORK.

While Sir Wilfrid Was Debating Reciprocity in Parliament—First Time in History.

Ottawa, Mar. 8.—For the first time in the history of Canadian Parliament the moving picture man and the phonograph man were in evidence when Sir Wilfrid Laurier made his great speech on reciprocity yesterday afternoon. Some enterprising gentleman, probably an American, placed himself in the public gallery on the north side, and took moving pictures of the Premier as he was speaking, and in the gallery to the south was a gentleman with a microphone and a phonograph, who was striving to secure the Premier's voice. It is a new departure in Canada, but if it is successful it will probably lead to great development. It is not inconceivable to imagine a time when a political campaign will not be complete without a moving picture with words of a great politician at work in the House of Commons.

MAGISTRATES OF ONTARIO UNITE

AN ASSOCIATION FORMED, WITH THE APPROVAL OF THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

12 Out of 240 Present—One Wants Bad Boys Whipped—They Cleaned His Orchard of Apples.

The Ontario Police Magistrates' Association was formed this morning at a meeting held at the Prince George, but of the 240 magistrates in the Province, only a dozen were present.

Edward Bayly, K.C., represented the Attorney-General's Department, and said Hon. J. J. Foy approved the proposal to form an association.

Magistrate Leggatt of Windsor was in the chair. The others were Magistrates Jelfs, of Hamilton; Dumble, of Peterborough; Houston, of Chatham; Brodie, of London; Patterson, of Ingersoll; Campbell, of St. Catharines; Wier, of Berlin; Blake, of Galt; Weegar, of North Bay; Creasor, of Owen Sound; E. B. Smith, of Middlesex, and Danis of Cornwall.

The following officers were elected:

President—Magistrate Leggatt, of Windsor.

Vice-President—Magistrate Houston of Chatham.

Secretary - Treasurer — Magistrate Creasor, of Owen Sound.

Magistrate Jelfs, of Hamilton, rather deprecated the forming of an organization.

Subjects discussed were uniformity of sentences and juvenile offenders. One magistrate suggested whipping of boys. He said he owned an apple orchard, but this year scarcely a barrelful was secured from it, the boys stole so many.

One delegate thought the fee system should be abolished in remunerating magistrates.

Another felt that those convicted of gambling should not have the privilege of going to the county judge with an appeal. Many of these men were wealthy, but they dislike jail. An appeal gave them bail.—Toronto Satr.

TROOPS HAVE BALLOON.

U.S. Signal Corps Leaves Fort Omaha for Mexican Border.

Omaha, Neb., Mar. 7.—The battalions of the signal corps from Fort Omaha left here this afternoon on a special train for the Mexican border in accordance with the mobilization order of the President.

They are equipped with field telephones, portable wireless telegraphs, portable bridges and pontoons and two of the war balloons from the aeronautic department.

COFFEE POT FOR BALLOTS.

London, Ont., March 8.—(Special)—An action to quash the Wardsville local option by-law will be heard by Mr. Justice Riddell here on Saturday. C. St. Clair Leitch, of St. Thomas, acting for the licensed victuallers, examined the clerk of the village this week, it developed that a coffee-pot was used as a ballot box. This it is claimed, is illegal.

BLACK CHAPTER AND RECIPROCITY

RESOLUTIONS PASSED CONDEMNING TARIFF AGREEMENT, BILINGUALISM, AND HOME RULE.

A Monument is Wanted—Victims of the War of 1812 Should be Honored at Queen's Park.

Barrie, Ont., Mar. 8.—At the fifty-first annual meeting of the Grand Black Chapter of Ontario West, which is connected with the Orange Association, several drastic resolutions were carried. The reciprocity discussion was short lived as it was condemned without a dissenting voice as a menace to British connection and needlessly involved Canada in closer commercial relationship and affiliation with the United States, ultimately weakening British influence and likely to result in separation from the Empire. The Premier was urged by wire to withdraw it.

The movement to recognize the services of the defenders of our country in the war of 1812 and 1814 was endorsed and the Legislature was asked to erect a suitable tribute in the Queen's Park, Toronto, to the memory of those who fell in that campaign.

There is only one language for Ontario, and that the English, and a resolution was adopted urging the abolition of French in Ontario's primary schools.

A cablegram was forwarded to the Orangemen of Belfast conveying sympathy and pledging assistance by counsel and subscriptions towards defeating home rule.

The election took place this afternoon.

The Orange Lodge of Ontario West opened this afternoon. The grand master's report also denounced bilingualism and reciprocity.

A CHALLENGE TO OPEN SEAT

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Receives a Hot Wire From Montreal Club.

Ottawa, March 8.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier to-day received the following telegram from the Young Men's Club of St. Anne's Division of Montreal, and signed by P. J. McDonagh:

"Resign your seat in the House. Let any of your Ministers do the same thing or any of your docile followers, and right away contest St. Anne's division in Canada's commercial metropolis, and you will find the wolves can bite as well as make an noise. Don't betray your country."

The telegram was addressed to "Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Senator elect of the State of Canada."

Datura Won French Race.

Paris, March 7.—At the race meeting at St. Owen to-day the Prix de La Priche was won by J. E. Widener's Datura, and the Prix de La Plaine was won by Eugene Fischoff's Mimulus.

THE WEATHER.

Westerly winds, a little milder.

OVER THREE BILLION DOLLARS BEHIND WAR MANOEUVRES

GREAT BRITAIN SAID TO BE DETERMINED TO PROTECT THE COMMERCIAL INTERESTS.

The Invasion of Mexico Planned—U.S. Asked to Intervene and Protect Property of Foreign Interests.

Washington, March 8.—All pretence that the mobilization of a fourth of the United States army along the Mexican border is for the purpose of practising manoeuvres has been abandoned by the army officers in charge of the movement. They admit in private that the trouble is expected in Mexico, and that the army may be compelled to cross the border.

Washington, March 8.—That the army manoeuvres in Texas are only a pretext was tacitly admitted at the War Department to-day, when it was stated that no plans had been made for a "war game."

Three billions of American, English and German capital invested in Mexico is said in diplomatic circles to have been the prime factor in forcing the United States to mobilize troops on the border at this critical juncture.

"Intervene and protect our property; if you cannot do it we will," is supposed to have been practically the nature of the ultimatum made to the United States by the two foreign powers. The financial leaders of Europe and the United States demand that the revolution, already proving a serious loss to their investments, proceed no further.

The United States has been embarrassed by the fact that powerful American interests have been backing the Madero insurrection with money and moral support. It is believed that protests have been lodged by the foreign Governments with the State Department against this condition of affairs.

Some officials are saying that intervention will ultimately mean annexation. The scenes of activity about the War Department to-day are such as has not been witnessed since the war with Spain.

ENGLAND GREATLY INTERESTED.

London, March 8.—The mobilization of an American army at the Mexican frontier has excited great interest on the part of London politicians and commercial interests, but all are still in the dark as to whether the movement is for political or purely military reasons.

WILL NOT PERMIT ANNEXATION

So far as any extension of the power of the United States on the American continent is concerned, it is doubtful that such an outcome would be popular with the British public just at this time. The talk of the future annexation of Canada has created a prejudice on this side, and this prejudice is just as strong against the political expansion of the United States generally at the present moment.

NO BRITISH WARSHIPS ORDERED.

London, March 8.—The foreign office to-day issued an official denial that British warships have been ordered to Mexican waters or that requests have been made for their presence there. No official communication has been received from Ambassador Bryce relative to the concentration of 20,000 American troops above the Mexican border, and no action has been taken therefore by the British Government.

MEXICANS ARE ALARMED.

Mexico City, March 8.—If American soldiers had actually invaded Mexico and were now marching on the capital, no greater excitement could be apparent than that shown to-day over the massing of a United States army upon the Mexican frontier.

WANT MASS MEETING TO CONSIDER RECIPROCITY

To the Editor of The Times:—

Sir—With respect to our conversation regarding Reciprocity, would you mind my continuing it so far as to say that there can be no doubt that a city like Peterborough, (which owes its prosperity wholly, or almost wholly, to the influx of American capital, forced here by our Canadian protective policy) should express in a public way its opinion of the present reciprocity negotiations. The matter is non-political and the discussion of it should be non-political. We have been set shining examples in this respect and we ought to be broad enough to follow them. The welfare of our beloved country is at stake, in either eventuality. Sir Wilfrid has laid it down that Reciprocity is a vital necessity to us. Those opposed to this view, affirm that it will eventually destroy us. The importance of the question, therefore, is great enough for Peterborough citizens to express in a public way their opinions for or against. I hope, Sir, that my humble contribution in this respect may meet with your approval.

Yours truly,

J. H. BURNHAM.

(The Times cordially agrees with Mr. Burnham, that a public meeting should be called at once to give expression of the feelings of the people in this city in regard to the proposed reciprocity pact with the United States. The question should be discussed without political bias, and on the broader plane of true merit. We would suggest that the Mayor be requested, by petition, to call the meeting and to preside at it.—Ed. Times.)

Camorrists' Trial Starts on Saturday

AND THE TOWN OF VITERBO IS ALL AGOG WITH EXCITEMENT OVER EVENT.

The Witnesses Arriving—The Tourists All Anxious to Have a Look Through the Ancient Prison.

Viterbo, Italy, Mar. 8.—The trial of the Camorrists promises to rival in interest the Rome Art Exhibition in connection with the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the proclamation of that city as the capital of united Italy.

The trial will open on Saturday, and already thousands are here. Hundreds arrived to-day. The people of Viterbo are proud that their city has been chosen as the scene of the criminal prosecution of the alleged band of cut-throats and robbers that has terrorized honest people for years.

At the same time the citizens, with an eye to the main chance, propose to make the most of the affair from a commercial standpoint. The place is in festal array and the antiques are being burnished.

It is hoped to attract many foreigners to spend liberally.

Several times a day the jailers test mediaeval Monastry of Gradie, where the accused, with the exception of two, are imprisoned, and a strong force carbineers scrutinize the thick bars of the windows of the throngs that visit the place. Everyone wishes to inspect the Gradie and this is permitted under police surveillance. It is a gloomy structure, located not far from the spot where in July 1155, Pope Adrian IV., the Englishman Nicholas Breakspeare, compelled Frederick I., as his vassal, to hold his stirrup. Thirty-nine of the prisoners are confined here. The spy accuser Abbate-maggio and Marie Stenardo, wife of one of the alleged actial assassins of Cuccecolo and his wife, are kept in San Lupare Prison. More witnesses are arriving to-day. They are being closely guarded.

Only six confederate generals are living. It must not be supposed, however, that there is any scarcity of colonels in the South.

INVASION OF MEXICO.

San Antonio, Texas, Mar. 8.—The invasion of Mexico by American troops will begin as soon as the troops which are now en route arrive here, according to reports that has reached Fort Sam Houston to-day. The soldiers are now on the border, about 3,000 in number, will move to relieve the city of Chihuahua which is besieged by the insurrectos. Reinforcements will follow them.

FREE BREAKFAST DEMAND REVIVED

EFFORTS BEING MADE FOR REPEAL OF DUTIES ON TEA, COCOA, COFFEE, AND SUGAR.

Are Only for Revenue—The Country Is Practising Protection While Preaching Free Trade.

New York, Mar. 8.—The Tribune's London correspondent says the old radical demand for a free breakfast table is being revived. While Great Britain is nominally a free trade country, import duties are levied on a number of articles, including tea, cocoa, coffee and sugar.

These duties are imposed for revenue purposes only, but in the case of cocoa, especially, they have been seriously challenged as protective in effect, and efforts are now being made to induce Mr. Lloyd George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, to repeal them in the next budget.

The Daily News and the Morning Leader, which are strenuous advocates of the present fiscal system are largely owned by millionaire cocoa manufacturers, giving the tariff reformers an opportunity for saying that they practice protection while preaching free trade.

The confectionery and jam trades are clamoring for the abolition of the sugar tax, and the wholesale dealers in tea are accumulating stocks in bond in expectation of a reduction of the tea duty.

Ten Commandments Condensed.

A correspondent of the Evening Sun furnishes a copy of a condensed and versified Ten Commandments, as he was taught to respect them when a boy:

Thou shalt have none other gods but Me.
Before no idol bow the knee.
Take not the name of God in vain
Nor dare the Sabbath day profane.
Give both thy parents honor due.
Take heed that thou no murder do.
Abstain from words and deeds unclean,
Nor steal, though thou art poor and mean.
Tell not a wilful lie, nor love it.
And what is thy neighbor's do not covet.

ROCKEY

The local intermediates were defeated last night by the Toronto All-Star seven by a score of 13—11. The half-time score was 4—3. The game was closely contested throughout, the locals pressing the visitors to extend themselves all the time. The All-Stars arrived one man short and the game was started with six men on each side. Near the close of the game the teams were playing four men aside owing to players being injured. W. E. Wasson officiated with the bell.

Thirty-Four Millions on Canadian Pacific

New York, March 8.—Sir Thomas G. Shaughnessy, President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, was a passenger to-day on the steamship Celtic for Liverpool. He stated that the Canadian Pacific contemplated spending about $34,000,000, this coming year on improvements and extensions to their line, and while in England he expects to place orders for the building of two ships for the Pacific trade. The steamships will be about 15,000 tons each.

Sir Thomas would not give his views on the matter of reciprocity, but said that he thought the general feeling in Canada was not very favorable to it.

Sir Wilfrid Says Canada is in Favor of the Pact

Ottawa, March 8.—It is a curious thing how the people of Ottawa get to know that there is going to be a "big day" in the Commons, but they always manage to get the tip, with the result that when there is anything doing they besiege the galleries and fill them up just as soon as they can fulfil the formalities which are necessary. The rule never fails. When there is "something doing" or there is the prospect of "something doing" the Ottawa ladies always get there, and that is what they did yesterday when Sir Wilfrid put forward his case in favor of the reciprocity agreement.

THE DREAM OF HIS LIFE REALIZED.

Sir Wilfrid did not mince his words. He hit out right and left. He was as caustic in his reference to Mr. Sifton as he was to Mr. Foster, and he never left a doubt upon the minds of those who heard him that in the agreement which he was supporting with so much eloquence, he was fulfilling the dream of his political life, namely, a lowering of the tariff barriers between the Dominion and the Republic to the south.

Sir Wilfrid knew that he was not only speaking to the House of Commons, he realized that he was speaking also to the people of Canada and the people of the Empire.

SPEECH FULL OF OPTIMISM.

It was a Canadian speech, it was also a British Liberal speech, because it breathed the sentiments of the man who combines the best sentiments of British and Canadian Liberalism, and that means freedom of trade so far as it can be consistent with national duty and Imperial connection. The keynote of the speech was its optimism. Whatever may be the lot of other people, Laurier has confidence in Canada and its future. He does not belong to the school which thinks that this Dominion has got to the stage when, because it finds it desirable to seek additional markets, that this means separation from the Empire, or the weakening of the Empire tie. Instead, he placed himself on record as belonging to the school to which belonged Sir John Macdonald, whose motto was, as inscribed in the school-girl's album: "Hope on, hope ever."

Western Farmers Told to Hold Grain Until After Seeding

Winnipeg, Man., Mar. 8.—The following proclamation to-day went out through the Grain Growers' Guide, the official organ of that powerful association of farmers in Western Canada to hold their grain.

"A deep set suspicion has existed for some weeks past that a deliberate effort was being made by a section of Chicago, St. Paul, and Winnipeg grainmen to knock the price of grain down, with a view of discouraging and discrediting the reciprocity agreement now before Parliament. On January 26, the day on which the reciprocity arrangement was first announced, the price of spot 1 Nor. wheat at Fort William was 94½c, and the price of 2 Canadian Western oats 32½c per bushel. On February 28, one month later, No. 1 Northern wheat was worth only 88 cents a bushel, which was 6½ cents a bushel below the price on the date of the announcement of the reciprocity agreement. The price of 2 C. W. oats had gone down to 29½ cents per bushel, 3½ cents below the price on the same date. Oats on the basis of the closing price at Fort William on February 28, were worth from some where round 22 cents to 24 cents net to the farmer at his shipping point. At the same time at country points in Manitoba and Saskatchewan hundreds of farmers were getting from 30 to 33 cents a bushel on car at their shipping points for shipment to other farmers in those provinces for seed and feed. While the stocks east of Fort William are larger than last year, this is more than offset by the strong local demand.

"Oats are being shipped every day from Manitoba and Saskatchewan to Alberta and British Columbia, and there are even seed oats that may require to be brought back from Fort William to supply unfrosted grain for seed.

"The market certainly looks now as if it would pay the farmers who can to do so to hold their grain until after seeding, as it now looks as if there is a good prospect of getting several cents a bushel more for it."

Hon. J. R. Stratton Honorably Acquitted

The Charge Against Him in Connection With Farmers' Bank Fails.

When the news reached town that the charge against Hon. J. R. Stratton, M.P., in connection with the Farmers' Bank, had been dismissed, it was hailed with satisfaction by his many friends, as well as by the public generally. It was shown as Colonel Denison put it, that there was absolutely no evidence whatever to substantiate the charge. It would hardly be possible for the president of a large institution such as the Trusts & Guarantee Company is, to be familiar with the details of every business transaction, even if he devoted his whole time to the work, instead of a few hours every week, as Mr. Stratton did. Let us hope that the investigation in connection with the defunct bank will be concluded at an early date, so that the shock to our boasted banking system may be speedily dissipated.

A GOOD YEAR.

The Rimouski Fire Insurance Company Annual Report.

The annual report of the Rimouski Fire Insurance Company is to be found elsewhere in this issue. It shows the company to be in a highly prosperous condition. The total income for the year, after deducting reinsurance, rebates and cancellations, amounts to $367,179.68, out of which fire losses were paid to the amount of $227,829.21; agents' commissions, $72,562.19; and general expenses, $37,405.19, leaving an actual surplus on year's operations of $29,383.02.

GIFT TO QUEEN FROM ALL MARYS IN CANADA.

Ottawa, March 8.—Laurentian Chapter of the Daughters of the Empire at its annual meeting here to-day adopted a proposal to invite all the "Marys" in the Dominion to contribute towards a gift to her Majesty Queen Mary in honor of her coronation, similar to the plan decided upon in England. Other chapters throughout Canada will be communicated with for co-operation.

HONEST CONFESSION.

A Doctor's Talk on Food.

There are no fairer set of men on earth than the doctors, and when they find they have been in error they are usually apt to make honest and manly admission of the fact.

A case in point is that of a practitioner, one of the good old fashioned who lives in Texas. His plain, unvarnished tale needs no dressing up.

"I had always had an intense prejudice, which I can now see was unwarrantable and unreasonable, against all muchly advertised foods. Hence, I never read a line of the many 'ads' of Grape-Nuts, nor tested the food till last summer.

"While in Corpus Christi for my health, and visiting my youngest son who has four of the rudiest, beatchiest little boys I ever saw, I ate my first dish of Grape-Nuts food for supper with my little grandsons.

"I became exceedingly fond of it and have eaten a package of it every week since, and I find it a delicious, refreshing and strengthening food, leaving no ill-effects whatever, causing no eructations (with which I was formerly much troubled), no sense of fulness, nausea, nor distress of stomach in any way.

"There is no other food that agrees with me so well, or sits as lightly yet pleasantly upon my stomach as this does.

"I am stronger and more active since I began the use of Grape-Nuts than I have been for ten years, and am no longer troubled with nausea and indigestion."

"SHE STOOPS TO CONQUER."

Trade conditions are constantly changing, and the successful trader must change with them. The force of this law is coming to be perceived by the young women of the English aristocracy, more and more of whom are going on the stage. The latest footlight recruit is a daughter of Lord Montagu.

This young lady desires to marry, and to marry well. Accordingly she has found a chance to do a small part, with a song and dance, in a musical comedy. She declares that, as things are going nowadays, this is the only way in which she can marry into her own class. Her observation calls up a view of the long train of titled "Johnnies" who have sat in the Gaiety stalls to select a bride, and who have thus injected a degree of comeliness and a trace of sprightliness into the somewhat stodgy body of the British aristocracy. The latest aspirant, being possessed apparently of beauty and talent as well as of wealth and position, will probably reach her goal without great delay.

THE MOVING PICTURE DANGER.

The disaster reported from a small town in the Russian province of Novgorod is a tragic challenge to Canadian building and police departments. Are our "nickel theaters" safe? What is the moving-picture situation in Peterborough, with respect to danger from fire and panic?

It is notorious that many of the nickel theaters in Canada do not seem at all safe to passers-by. Have all been carefully inspected lately, and has compliance with the building law been obtained? We have had little crusades and big promises of reform, but what are the facts at this time?

The shocking disaster at Bologoie is another awful warning. The cost in life of private greed and official neglect is appalling. The police should see that there is no jams in the aisles or doorways.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A Toronto preacher announces that the Canadian people are growing more snobbish every year. He probably bases his belief upon the fact that it is no longer necessary for a candidate for public office to set up the claim that he was born in a log cabin.

The annual spring massacre of Jews is going on at Kieff. How long is Civilization going to occupy a box in the grand stand and permit this sort of thing?

In Russia they call the harem skirt a "jupeculotte." That ought to kill it.

FIANCE KILLED, ENDS HER LIFE

McLeansboro, Ill., Girl Shoots Self on Day Set for Wedding.

McLeansboro, March 8.—Miss Bertha Lee, aged 24, living near Little Springs Church, seventeen miles southeast of here, committed suicide this morning by shooting herself through the heart with a target rifle. Her fiance, Rufus Wiley, to whom she was to have been married to-day, accidentally shot and killed himself Friday, when a revolver was discharged by falling from his pocket. Since Wiley's funeral yesterday, Miss Lee had been despondent and told her sister that she intended to end her life

KEENE SONS OF REST.

According to announcement, the Sons of Rest met in their Hall on Saturday night. At the appointed hour of opening, Positive Legget, the President, came sauntering in, attired in his Sunday go-to-meeting clothes. After hiding his pipe and tobacco in his boot, and shoving his thirsty stiff under the stove, he engaged in a short prayer, after which he sounded the gavel and ordered the brethern to take their respective places. He then rose and addressed the brethern as follows:

"Brethern, it is my intention to speak for a short time to-night on the free trade business. I as well as all the members of this society are Canadians. I am proud to say that we were born and bred here. Are we going to fold our arms and let a few blueblooded politicians sell our prosperous country to gratify the selfish desires of our neighbors across the line? I positively say No! Let us be awake, and if duty demands it, be up in arms to fight for our country and our rights! Truthfully speaking, our country was neper in a more prosperous condition than at the present time. Just think for a moment of the good prices the farmers receive for their produce—and remember brethern, the farmers are the back bone of our country. When times are prosperous with them, it says, good times for all. I trust brethern that each one of you is in the same frame of mind as I am concerning the absurdity of free trade. I will not take up any more time speaking to you to-night, so I now declare the meeting open for general business."

Thos. Decackey, District Organizer, rose and said that he always had a kind regard for the fair sex, and abhored to see their lives endangered by a shying horse. He laid a charge against Chitkery Gall for taking two young ladies for a drive on Sunday last with a shying horse.

The President reprimanded Chitkery for indulging in such a dangerous pastime, and imposed a fine of two hundred dollars and ten cents, to be paid in six hours, or three years in jail with hard labor.

Bismark Miller rose and laid a charge against Tonty Mac for skating with a squaw. The President fined Tonty 25 cents to be spot cash. Tonty paid the fine at once.

Hosier Roach rose and laid a charge against John B. Doris for winking at a young lady in Church.

The President told John B. that he should feel ashamed of himself for hurting the feelings of any young lady. He fined John B. $200, to be paid in two days or ten years in prison.

The President now rose and in a very authoritive voice informed the brethern that it was his intention to be more severe in the future, as he wished to make this a clean, respectable Society. He said it was now time to close and asked Tom Decackey and Bucksaw Carter to sing the closing ode.

Talk about sing. I wish you had heard them. They shook all the plaster off the walls. The meeting was then closed until next Saturday night at the usual hour.

NO MONOPOLY IN SCAREMONGERING.

German Prince Who Sees as Red as the Worst British Sensationalist.

The apprehension form of patriotism which suffers from black specks before the eyes and gloomy forebodings is not confined to one country alone. The Prince of Brunswick made a speech at the annual shipping banquet at Bremen last week, and in it he pictured "Germany yielding ground step by step, and many an anxious eye," he went on to say, "looks up at the lofty mast with the question: 'When will the flag be hauled down and give place to the Union Jack, the tricolor, or even the Yellow Dragon Banner?'" It is depressing to think that in the scare business there is something new in the way of bogies to fall back upon.

RADIUM CURE FOR AGE.

Old Horse Becomes Young Again Under Its Influence.

Paris, March 8. — Rejuvenating qualities in radium have been discovered by Prof. Gabriel Petit at the veterinary school at Alfort. He states in the Petit Parisien that two injections of radium in the jugular artery of a very old horse had a surprising result.

Despite the comparative largeness of the dose, the radium had no ill-effect. The weary steed, indeed, seemed to have received a new lease of life. It began to put on flesh and became quite frisky, while its whole appearance suggested better nourishment.

The animal threw off a certain amount of radium in the days succeeding the injection but the blood still showed considerable traces of sulphate of radium, while the red corpuscles increased in number. The doctor notes that these injections produced a lasting radio activity of the whole organism, and bases on these experiments the idea of thus utilizing through the blood a radio-active serum.

ASSETS OF THE COMPANY

$10,000,000 of stock still in the Treasury.

$10,000,000 pooled for 9 and 18 months.

500 acres of land; value, $3,000 per acre.

6,500 feet deep waterfrontage; value, $200 per front foot.

154 patent improvements obtained over the present most modern sleeping car as shown by patent rights and model and approved by railway experts.

A subsidy obtained from the Municipality of North Vancouver of 5 per cent. for 15 years on $200,000, and freedom from taxation of our plant and 30 acres of land for 10 years.

A subsidy obtained from the Dominion of Canada, 3½ per cent. for 25 years on $1,214,000, for the purpose of building a dry dock of 15,000 tons at Roselyn, the Company's townsite.

A very valuable brick clay deposit has been discovered on the Company's property. This will be developed to its fullest capacity, as brick clay is very rare here, Vancouver even importing from Seattle millions of brick annually.

NOTE.—A shareholder participates in every asset of the Company.

LIABILITIES OF THE COMPANY

Amount yet owing on land, extending over a period of four years, $446,000.

REMARKS

MORE LANDS

The Company proposes to purchase lands surrounding their townsite, and to this end are securing options on about 250 acres, with about 2,800 feet of deep waterfrontage adjoining that which they now own.

MINES

They have also secured an option of purchase of a group of ten claims of very valuable iron deposits situated within twelve miles of their townsite. The Company believe, located as they are in a country which abounds with everything necessary to the smallest detail for turning out a perfect car, should go to nature's storehouse for their material, and with this end in view have secured the above group.

SHIPBUILDING

In addition to building the Imperial Sleeping Car, cars of every description will be contracted for, and just as soon as their dry dock is completed, the Company intend to use it to the greatest advantage in building ships of the largest tonnage. As there will be but three or four docks in the whole Dominion, they will encounter but very little competition in the building of the larger class of vessels.

SALE OF LANDS

The Company do not intend to sell any of its land until its dry dock, car works, sawmills and other industries are in operation, and in this way secure as nearly as possible all the profit derived from the establishment of these great works.

CLEARING OF LAND

The Municipality of North Vancouver have under consideration a proposition from the Company whereby the Company promise to clear their whole townsite on condition the Municipality will at once clear and grade all the streets, charging the cost of same to local improvement taxes. The Municipality view the Company's proposition with great favor. This plan would at least double the price of the Company's holdings.

PURCHASING STOCK

A small block of stock is now on the market and can be had on very easy terms of payment. This once sold, the Company will have no difficulty to borrow on their assets at from 4 to 5 per cent. any money they will require for improvement purchases, and in this case all stock will be withdrawn from the market.

NOT A "SOCIETY LADY."

Lord Cholmondeley Forfeited $15,000 Legacy by Marrying a Divorcee.

London, March 7.—Mrs. Clara Elizabeth Taylor Stirling, the American woman who was divorced by Captain John Alexander Stirling, of the Scotch Yeomanry, Laird of Kippendavie, in one of the most sensational trials that England has ever seen, today became the bride of Lord George Hugo Cholmondeley. Lord Cholmondeley is the second son of the Marquis of Cholmondeley. By his marriage he forfeits a legacy of $15,000 bequeathed by the late Lady Meux on condition that he married "a lady in society." His bride was a former chorus girl.

The U. S. Mass Troops Near Mexico Border

Washington, Mar. 7.—Twenty thousand United States troops, one-fourth of the standing army, have been ordered to the department of Texas, where they will be handy to the Mexican border, and a fleet of cruisers has been ordered to the Texas coast. When news of this action, taken under the personal direction of President Taft, became known here to-day a wild war scare resulted.

State and Navy Department officials, in order to calm the alarm, troops had been ordered for manoeuvres. Nevertheless it was believed "explained" that the mobilization of that information had reached the Government that a crisis in the Mexican revolution is imminent that may involve this country either through violation of the neutrality laws or attacks on American citizens.

FROM ALL PARTS OF COUNTRY.

Within two days this army will be on its way to the Mexican border. In one way this will be a movement aimed to dispute the charges that the United States is unprepared for warfare. At the same time the troops will be handy to the Mexican border for any eventualities.

The troops have been ordered from all sections of the country and the navy will also take part in the test of warfare. A fleet of cruisers will go to the Texas coast accompanied by the auxiliaries necessary for their maintenance. The fleet will be in command of Rear Admiral Sydney A. Staunton, and comprises the flagships Tennessee, Montana, North Carolina and Washington, forming the fifth division of the Atlantic fleet at Hampton roads. They are all ready for service.

DIAZ MADE AN APPEAL.

Officials of the Mexican Embassy held a secret conference with State Department officials last night.

The Diaz Government has appealed direct to President Taft to send sufficient troops to the Texan border to prevent any further violation of the neutrality laws, and to prohibit Texans and others from flocking to the standard of the revolutionists in Chihuahua, as they have been doing in large numbers since the revolution started.

There will be fifteen regiments of infantry, four cavalry, two of field, and two of coast artillery mobilized.

At present there are only 1,500 United States troops along the United States border.

A CRISIS APPROACHING.

Washington, Mar. 7.—The orders to send cavalry, artillery and infantry equipped for service, to the Mexican border, is taken here to indicate that the Government officials believe a crisis is approaching in the Mexican revolution and that energetic measures will be necessary in order to prevent violations of the neutrality laws and attacks on Americans.

Dread of the Mafia Leads to Cloister

Viterbo, March 7.—Martial law was proclaimed here to-day. The town is patrolled by cavalry and caribineers. Houses are being searched by the troops and sentries pace back and forth upon the lawns before the residence of the President of the assize court and the crown's counsel. The crown councellor who will prosecute the 41 members of the Mafia has received many threats of death. One letter was written in red, evidently human blood. The life of the judge has also been threatened.

The three principal witnesses, carbineers, will become priests after the trial is over, realizing the futility of trying to escape the revenge of the Mafia unless safe in the sanctuary of a cloister.

Was Boy's Death Due to Beating?

Ottawa, Ont., March 7.—As a result of representations made by Sheriff Wright of Hull, on complaint of Jos. Remillard, 111 Brewery street, Coroner Dr. Lyster has asked and obtained permission from the Attorney General's office at Quebec to exhume and make an autopsy on the body of Hector Remillard, aged ten, who had died supposingly of meningitis on Thursday last and was buried on Friday morning. It is now alleged that death was caused through injuries the boy received from being beaten over the head by a teacher in the Notre Dame College, at Hull.

On November 23rd last, the boy returned from school with blood gushing from his nose and ears and the imprint of finger-marks across both cheeks. He complained to his parents that Brother Theodore had beaten him because he could not at once find a certain page of his book on order from the teacher. The parents complained to Rev. Father Guerin, parish priest of Hull, and Brother Theodore, on admitting responsibility for the injuries to the boy, was immediately dismissed from the school. The boy apparently recovered from the beating, but complained of recurrent pains in his head, these becoming so severe on Monday last that medical attention was called. Dr. Isabelle of Hull pronounced the case meningitis and beyond hope of recovery, the boy expiring on Thursday.

Bother Theodore, whose whereabouts is not known, is a man about thirty-five years of age and weighs 185 pounds.

Great indignation is expressed among parents in Hull that such a beating should have been administered to such a small boy, and even if the autopsy does not show that death resulted from the injuries, it is said representations will be to have such occurrences made liable to punishment.

The autopsy will likely be made today.

MARRIED MEN ARE TO BE JURORS

MEN WITH FAMILIES ARE DESIRED TO TRY MRS. MELBER FOR MURDERING CHILD.

Insanity to be the Plea—Woman Says She Was Driven to Crime and Forgets All About It.

Albany, N.Y., Mar. 7.—That a jury of married men, all of whom have children of their own, will decide whether Mrs. Edith Melber is to go to the electric chair for the murder of her little boy, George, is the desire of the both the prisoner and her lawyers. This was made plain again today when John H. Dugan, counsel for the defence peremptorily challenged unmarried men, whom he could not dislodge on the ground that they were prejudiced.

Mrs. Melber, the prison pallor plainly stamped on her face, and her frail form presenting a sharp contrast to the well nurtured woman who sat beside her and tried to comfort her, watched intently to-day the work of selecting the men, who may send her to her death, to an insane asylum, or free. Her white face never lightened nor did she at any time indicate any emotions when questions were asked.

Mrs. Welton Stanford, jr., the wealthy deaconess, who had interested herself in Mrs. Melber and the latter's sister, Mrs. Lydia Simmons, of Syracuse, sat close beside the accused woman to-day. Once when they mentioned the dead boy, Mrs. Melber's eyes filled with tears and she seemed about to sob aloud, but finally controlled herself.

There was the usual rush of curiosity-seekers to the court-room to-day, but by order of Justice Wesley Howard, who is president, only those who could be seated were permitted inside. Many were women and a number carried opera glasses through which they could carefully study the pale face of the accused woman.

Whether Attorneys Dugan and Palmer will call Mrs. Melber in her own defence is not known. That they may do so should they decide it necessary to augment the testimony of the alienists, it is likely. She should make a good witness for herself. To everyone with whom she has talked about the tragedy recently, she has insisted that she does not remember anything about it. Her suffering had been most intense since the death of her husband, she says, and hard work and lack of proper nutrition finally turned her brain.

There was an extra panel of 100 men present when court reconvened to-day, and one man, Wesley Smith, a farmer in the jury box. The first few talesmen examined were prejudiced against trying a woman for murder and frankly admitted she should have more consideration than a man. Others were opposed to capital punishment.

BRANDON LIBERALS LEAVE MR. SIFTON FREE.

Trade Agreement Was Endorsed, but Call for Resignation Was Defeated.

Brandon, March 7.—The attempt of some Liberals from Virden and this city to force the resignation of Hon. Clifford Sifton failed last night. After a warm discussion of five hours the meeting passed a resolution endorsing the trade agreement, but decided not to ask their member to resign.

VARICOSE VEINS CURED

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.

Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on Varicose Veins. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I cannot speak too highly of all doctors as little better than pirates. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skilful. I wrote them and got THE NEW METHOD TREATMENT. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $12 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $21 and never loose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment."

The Lenten address last night in St. Luke's Church was delivered by Rev. Wm. Burns, and was fairly well attended.

Knox Church Choir.

The members of Knox Church choir are requested to be on hand this evening, and to remain for a brief period of fifteen minutes after the service for practise.

More Subpoenaes Coming.

The Times has been informed that several prominent citizens are likely to receive "invitations" to attend court at Toronto in connection with the Farmers' Bank matter. It is not a very inspiring thought that innocent citizens are thus to be dragged into the lime light.

Mr. Kenner to Lecture.

Mr. H. R. H. Kenner, B.A., principal of the Collegiate Institute, will deliver a lecture this evening in the Library Building, on "A Liberal Education," under the auspices of the Public Library Board. Mr. Kenner has kindly consented to give the lecture at the request of the Library Board, at the meeting of the District Libraries Association, which is being held in the city to-day. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Laid at Rest.

The funeral of the late Michael Sullivan took place yesterday morning at ten o'clock, and was largely attended. Rev. Father McColl sang high requiem mass at the Cathedral, and Rev. Father McCarthy officiated at the grave. The pallbearers were Messrs. S. Vinnette, J. Flynn, J. Duffus, P. McAvety and J. O'Brien and J. Johnston.

A Splendid Year.

Toronto, Mar. 8.—The fact that a market has developed for Canadian General Electric stock is a sign that the annual meeting is close at hand. It is said that the profits for the year will show an increase of something like $300,000 over 1909; that the company will be able to write off a large amount for depreciation, something in the neighborhood of $175,000, and at the same time, after allowing for a 7 per cent. division, will be able to carry $150,000 to reserve.

Well Known in Peterboro.

Mr. John T. Petty, a former resident of Lindsay, and well known in Peterborough, passed away at his home in Hamilton on Saturday last. Mr. Petty for many years carried on a jewellery business in Lindsay. Mr. Petty's many Peterborough friends will regret to hear of his death.

Library Convention To-Day

The second annual meeting of the Lindsay District Library Association will take place to-day in the Public Library building, George-street. The morning session will open at 10 o'clock, an address of welcome being delivered by Mayor Morrow and Chairman E. H. D. Hall, of the Public Library Board.

An Enjoyable Evening.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Charlotte street Methodist Church, held a pleasant and interesting social on Tuesday afternoon and evening at the residence of Mrs. Walter Stocker, of Weller street. There was a large attendance. A program of musical selections and readings was given by the following ladies: Miss L. Thomas, Miss Letitia Elliott, Mrs. Lyle, Miss Jackson and others. Dainty refreshments were served during the afternoon and the pleasing function terminated early in the evening.

The King's Birthday.

The Canada Gazette contained a despatch from Downing-street, stating that it is the wish of His Majesty, the King, that his birthday should be officially celebrated in the Dominions beyond the seas, on the actual date of its anniversary June 3. Another despatch fixed the following dates for the firing of salutes; Anniversaries of birth, accession and coronation of reigning sovereign, birthday of consort of reigning sovereign, birthday of Queen Mother, on which days a royal salute shall be fired at noon from all his majesty's ships in port and from all forts and batteries from which triumph salutes are usually fired.

The O'Connell Trophy.

Mr. D. O'Connell with his usual liberality has donated a valuable cup as first prize in the road race which will be a feature of the field day of sportsto be held under the auspices of the T.A.S. on Victoria Day, May 24th. The trophy will be known as the O'Connell Trophy. It has not yet been definitely decided whether it is to be won outright by the winner or to be competed for annually.

A GOOD LADY GONE.

Death of Mrs. Templeton Brown, Aged 91 Years.

On Tuesday evening there passed away at the family residence, 561 Gilmour street, one of Peterborough's oldest and most respected citizens, in the person of Eliza M. Frood, relict of the late Templeton Brown. The deceased lady had only been ill a week. Mrs. Brown was the daughter of the late Major Jas. M. Frood, of the Imperial Life Guards, Dublin, and was born in the capital city of Ireland, in 1821. In the year 1849 she came to Peterborough with her sister Mrs. Jas. Reid, who survives her, to live with her uncle, the Hon. A. T. Stewart at Auburn. She was married to the late Templeton Brown in 1850.

She is survived by three sons, Mr. William A. Brown, of Melbourne, Australia; Mr. Chas. N. Brown, of Peterborough; and Mr. Alfred S. Brown, of Vancouver, B.C.; and by one daughter, Miss Bertha F. Brown of this city. Mrs. Jas. Reid, 310 Maitland avenue, Peterborough, and two other sisters residing in Ireland, are also left to mourn her loss. Although in her ninety-first year the deceased had always enjoyed good health and her faculties were unimpaired.

Mrs. Brown was a member of St. Paul's Church, and was esteemed by her acquaintances and beloved by her many friends.

The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the family residence, 561 Gilmour street, to Little Lake cemetery. Rev. Robert Pogue and Rev. Jas. Rollins will officiate.

SOCIETY EVENTS

The Times will be pleased to receive notices of Weddings, Social Events, Personal Announcements, which will be published in this column free of charge.

Rev. Dr. Langfeldt was in Hastings last night, and preached in St. George's Church.

Dr. Cameron has been called away to Saranac Lake, N.Y., and will be absent probably until the beginning of next week.

Mrs. Thos. Lyle, Charlotte street, left yesterday morning for Picton, where she will be the guest of her brother for a few days.

A Pleasant At-Home.

Mrs. Archie Moore, 200 Aylmer street, was the hostess to a large at home on Tuesday evening, given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's Church. An impromptu program of musical numbers was supplied by several of the guests which contributed greatly to the pleasure of the affair. A candy booth presided over by a couple of young ladies was largely patronized, and realized well. Dainty refreshments were served. The function lasted from four till six in the afternoon, and from seven till nine in the evening.

YOUNG COUPLE WALTZ FOR TWO LONG HOURS

Thirst Alone Prevents Their Keeping Up the Dance All Night.

Brussels, March 9.—Jean de Breucher and Mlle. Jeanne Gossens achieved the feat last night of waltzing steadily for two hours and five minutes at a waltzing competition which was held at the Cafe Grand-Place.

Seven couples had entered for the prize, but after the first hour five of them gave up the attempt. Then the excitement of the evening began. Two couples remained, and both determined not to be outdone by the other.

The spectators grew giddy with watching them, but the dancers were indefatigable. Twelve different waltzes had been played by two orchestras, who relieved each other at intervals without a pause in the music, and still the waltzers waltzed and never once fell out of time. They were well on in the second hour when at last one of the couples retreated almost exhausted and left the floor, and the winners sped round the room for another five minutes before they claimed the prize.

Neither of them appeared to be very tired, and they could have gone on all night, except that they were parched with thirst.

The Socialists recently adopted a resolution that Parliament be abolished. This, however, will be another effective move to deprive Laurier of his seat.

What Every Woman Should Know

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS THE SURE CURE FOR ALL ACHES AND PAINS.

Mrs. Vaillancourt Adds Her Experience to the Great Mass of Proof That Dodd's Kidney Pills are Woman's Best Friend.

Lafond, Alberta, Mar. 9.—Special)—That the women of the West are finding in Dodd's Kidney Pills a sure relief from those aches and pains that only women know, is becoming more evident every day, and Mrs. Agnes Vaillancourt of this place gladly gives her experience as an addition to the mass of proof that is being piled up.

"For three years I suffered intensely with Kidney Disease," Mrs. Vaillancourt states. "I had pain everywhere. I only used six boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and I am completely cured of all my aches and pains. I am in perfect health today."

Woman's health depends on her Kidneys. If they are not in perfect order the impurities are not strained out of her blood and she cannot be healthy. She feels it in every part of her body and the result is that she is weary and worn and full of aches and pains. What every woman should know is that there is sure relief and perfect health for her if she uses Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Block in the Estimates—Conservatives May Hold Them Up in Fighting Reciprocity—Who for the Coronation?

Ottawa, March 9.—Supporters of the Government were in caucus for an hour this morning, the gathering being attended by Messrs. German and Harris, M.P., who have bolted as regards reciprocity. The sessional programme and the manner of proceeding with it was discussed.

The Government intends to go ahead with its reciprocity proposals, but the question is whether this should be done, putting aside other business meanwhile, or whether supply should intervene for a certain part of next week.

While considerable of it has been voted, there are numerous accounts, which will be exhausted at the end of the fiscal year and it is probable that these will have to be attended to. As a result there may be a break in the reciprocity debate. Incidentally the Opposition is very likely to block the estimates.

The decision as to the order of procedure, was finally left to the Government.

THE CORONATION DEPUTATION.

There was also a discussion on the coronation deputation, it being argued of the eighteen to go five shall be from the Senate and thirteen from the House.

INDIAN TORTURE.

Yuma, Ariz., March 9.—With the wrists tied to the tail of a wild horse, the body of a Papago Indian was found yesterday by a detachment of the First United States cavalry, on the edge of Gila River near Mesa. In order to secure the body it was necessary to shoot the horse. It is believed that the young Indian had been condemned to die in this manner because of having violated some law of the tribe.

Investigation Into Charge of Graft Opens on Tuesday—Counsel Are Chosen.

Ottawa, March 9.—There will be about forty witnesses in the investigation to be begun next Tuesday by the Privileges and Election Committee in the charge against Adelard Lanctot, M.P. for Richelieu. J. M. McDougall, K.C., of Hull, will appear for Mr. Blondin, M.P. for Champlain, who preferred the charge, and Arnie Geoffrion, K.C., of Montreal, will represent Mr. Lanctot.

Library Convention is Largely Attended

SOME GOOD ADDRESSES BY DISTINGUISHED SPEAKERS.

The second annual meeting of the Lindsay District Library Association took place yesterday in the new Library, George street. The Association comprises the public libraries of the counties of Muskoka, Haliburton, Durham, Victoria, Ontario and Peterborough.

Delegates were present from Haliburton, Fenelon Falls, Bobcaygeon, Norwood, Uxbridge, Oshawa, Lindsay and other places.

One representative from each library in the district was expected to be present, the Department of Education paying the travelling and other necessary expenses of one delegate from each library. The library experts were invited.

In the absence of Dr. Vrooman, of Lindsay, president of the district, the chair was ably taken by J. H. Burnham, the energetic vice-president.

A letter was read from Mayor Morrow in which he expressed his regrets at not being able to attend the meeting.

Mr. E. H. D. Hall, chairman of the Public Library Board, extended a hearty welcome to the visiting delegates on behalf of the Library Association, and hoped that much good would be the result of the conference.

On motion it was decided to suspend the reading of the minutes of the last meeting of the Association.

J. H. Burnham, M.A., vice-president, also welcomed the visitors. He referred to the important part a library occupied in the life of a community and eloquently referred to the work and duties of the Association.

A nominating committee was chosen consisting of representatives from Norwood, Uxbridge and Fenelon Falls.

The address which followed, delivered by Mr. Walter Nursey, Inspector of Public Libraries, Toronto, on the subject of "What the Department of Education is doing for the Libraries" was one of useful information and instruction.

Construction Work Being Pushed With Vigor.

Lindsay Post: The work on the new C. P. R. bridge at the Distillery Creek, is progressing as fast as possible and every effort is being made by the contractors, the Toronto Construction Company to have the piers placed on the east side of the river while the ice holds out. Already three out of the four are completed and the coffer dam for fourth is finished, ready for the concrete.

The construction camp at this point is very interesting and has the appearance of a small town.

The gravel used on all the construction work is being taken from Mr. Pat Murphy's pit on the Fenelon road, and is quite a long haul.

135 Blind Men Had a Desperate Battle

Philadelphia, March 9.—A serious case of blind man's buff occurred yesterday, when one hundred and thirty-five blind men swung brooms on each other's heads in a riot on the third floor of the Pennsylvania working home for blind men. Two men were knocked unconscious, and were taken to the hospital, and it required ten policemen, summoned by a telephone call from the superintendent of the home to subdue them.

Many of the men had fallen to the floor, and the crowd raged over them. Despite their blindness the inmates were able to hurt each other severely The trouble arose over two of the blind men quarreling at their broom bench.

SAVED EIGHT FROM FURIOUS BILLOWS

HEROIC LIFE-SAVERS RESCUED PART OF CREW OF STEAMSHIP MANCHURIA.

Twenty-Seven Remain—Vessel Was Leaking and Storm Increased, so That Nothing Could be Done.

Norfolk, Va., March 9.—Undaunted after a day, and a night of continuous battle in one of the worst storms this coast has experienced in years, life savers last night rescued eight of the thirty-five or more men on board the stranded steamer Manchuria, which now lies three hundred feet from the beach, three miles south of Little Island. Their journey to shore was almost entirely under water.

The storm increased in fury until the waves beat back on the beach for several hundred feet, and the lifesavers recognizing that it would be suicide to attempt to take off any more of the crew abandoned the work of rescue for the time being. From the Manchuria signals were flashed, which said that the ship was leaking, but would probably withstnd the storm until morning at least.

The wire to Cape Henry went down with the storm, and no word from the vessel was received after ten o'clock last night. There are thirty-four life savers standing watch from the beach near the stranded ship.

Ottawa, March 9.—An addition to the Dominion Cabinet representing the Province of Saskatchewan is a certainty before the Government again appeals to the country.

The choice is likely to be between Mr. Turriff, of Assiniboia, who was Commissioner of Dominion Lands under Mr. Sifton, and Mr. Martin, of Regina.

HOTELMEN GIVEN NO ENCOURAGEMENT

A DEPUTATION WAITED UPON PROVINCIAL SECRETARY HANNA.

Held a Long Conference—But There Were No Promises Given That the Tax Would Not Be Imposed.

Toronto, March 9.—Thirty hotelmen, including men from Toronto and other points in the Province, waited on Hon. J. W. Hanna, Provincial Secretary, this morning, to discuss the new five per cent. tax on bar receipts. They were in conference with the Minister for two hours and a half.

James Haverson, K.C., was the chief spokesman and other members of the delegation presented statements to show how their business would be effected. The substance of their case was that the proposed tax would be a heavy charge on their receipts and in some instances would very severely crowd certain proprietors.

Mr. Hanna gave them a very attentive hearing, but promised them nothing.

ONE SCHOOL, ONE FLAG, ONE LANGUAGE

Barrie, March 9.—Nearly 600 delegates are in attendance at the Orange Grand Lodge of Ontario West. Grand Master Lovelock was heartily applauded on his reference to the bills, Congress, Home Rule, and the reciprocity issue.

"When our public streets are used," he said, "and public money is expended, and the representatives of the people as a whole go forth to do 'homage' in their official robes and capacity, and the King's soldiers—Protestants and Catholics alike—are compelled to salute the representatives of a foreign potentate, who disputes jurisdiction with our own august Sovereign—then, brethern, it is time that we, as Orangemen and British subjects, aroused to the situation that makes it possible for a procession to take place within our borders such as was forbidden in the great City of London. It is high time to ask, 'Has Rome conquered Canada?'

One Flag, One School, One Language

"There should be one school, one flag and one language."

He expressed sympathy with the Protestant brethern of the north of Ireland in their opposition to Home Rule.

Referring to reciprocity, he said all Orangemen were opposed to anything that would affect the British connection.

There were 1,300 people at the public meeting last night. Dr. Pyne Minister of Education, spoke of the efforts to raise the teaching standard in Ontario. Without referring directly to bilingual schools, he said he was actuated by the same principles as his brother Orangemen, and though historic conditions might prevent doing all that might be wished, he would endeavor at all times to do his best and whatever was done, would be done fearlessly and in broad daylight. He hoped that the Dominion Government, which made the tariff, would liberally aid industrial education.

Dr. Sproule, M.P., Grand Master of the Order, said the criminal code should be amended, making it an indictable offence for anyone to give advice contrary to the regulations of the Education Department as to what could be done in the schools.

Mayor Geary, of Toronto, was applauded when he declared that we had no need for bilingual schools and what we had no need for should be abolished.

NO EXCUSE.

Controller Hocken spoke strongly on the bilingual school question. "I want to tell Dr. Pyne that whatever historical impediments there are against the abolition of separate schools, there are no impediments to the abolition of bilingual schools. The continuation of bilingual schools rests upon the regulations of the Department of Education." There was never a time, he added, when British liberty was so much in jeopardy as to-day. In Quebec it was the canon law that ruled, not British liberty. The Roman Catholic Church held itself up as the defender of the sanctity of marriage, but the canon law prevailed and people were denied the justice of even the Divorce Court. Men were enabled to throw aside their wives and this could not be done under British law.

Other speakers were Hon. J. S. Duff and Mr. E. T. Fleury, of London.

90 BELOW ZERO SEVEN MILES UP

SUCH IS THE RECORD OBTAINED BY THE LOCAL OBSERVATORY IN A METEOROGRAPH.

Send Up a Small Balloon—It Was Found by a Clergyman Near Peterborough—A New Departure Opened.

Toronto, March 9.—By means of a wonderful instrument called the meteorograph, which was carried above the clouds by a small balloon filled with hydrogen, a temperature of 90 degrees below zero at an altitude of seven miles has been registered.

The balloon was started from the Toronto Meteorological office on February 3, under the supervision of Director R. F. Stupart and Mr. J. Patterson, M.A., of the new Department of Physics recently established in connection with the Central Observatory of the Dominion Meteorological Office. Last Thursday Mr. Stupart was notified that the balloon had been found by Rev. H. B. Rowe at Norham, 10 miles southeast of Peterborough. It was forwarded to Toronto, and its arrival caused great joy in the Government office. This is the first time that a balloon carrying a meteorograph has been used in Canada. The principle involved is simple. The balloon bursts when it reaches a great height because the pressure of the air is not sufficient to counterbalance the expansion of the hydrogen. The meteorograph then falls gently to the ground at the end of a small parachute. The balloon costs $3 and the meteorograph costs $5. A reward of $2.50 is offered by the Toronto Meteorological Office for the return of the instrument after its trip.

In outlining the program of his office in regard to this new field of scientific research, Mr. Stupart said:

THE WORK EXPLAINED.

"The new work will be in connection with solar radiation, atmospheric electricity, and the exploration of the upper air, in order to obtain information as to the general circulation of the earth's atmosphere and of the areas of high and low barometric pressure which are constantly passing over the earth's surface. The currents and temperature of the atmosphere will be investigated by small balloons, carrying self-recording instruments to very high altitudes, and also by kites carrying instruments to lesser altitudes of two or three miles.

"The exploration with kites will be carried on near the magnetic observatory at Agincourt. So far we have all the apparatus installed and have had a mile of kite wire out, but no very high flights have been obtained. They will come soon, and it is confidently expected that we shall reach as high a level as has yet been reached in any country.

"The instrumental record obtained with the kite is more elaborate than with the balloon, consisting of pressure, temperature, wind velocity and humidity. After a good series of results in Toronto, I purpose obtaining records on the Western Prairies in the path of the Chinook wind, and also at Bermuda, at which point the meteorological station is maintained by the Canadian service. Bermuda, from our standpoint, is one of the most important observation stations on the earth's surface for a determination of the general circulation of the atmosphere."

OBITUARY

OBITUARY.

Philip Edward Crough passed away Philip Gidward Crough passed away on Wednesday after a short illness, aged two years and five months. Deceased was a son of William Crough of Ennismore. The funeral took place yesterday at 3 o'clock to St. Martin's cemetery.

MARY ANN PAYNE.

Mary Ann Chown, relict of the late Uriah Payne, passed away yesterday morning after an illness of two weeks Deceased was 68 years of age and was a daughter of the late Richard Chown. The late Mrs. Payne had been a resident of Peterborough for 27 years and was a life member of George street church. She was prominently identified with the good work of the church and was held high in the esteem of all with whom she came in contact.

Two sons survive: Mr. E. L. Payne of Peterborough, and Mr. Richard Payne, of North Monaghan, her husband having predeceased her 27 years ago.

The funeral will take place on Saturday from the residence of her son, Mr. E. L. Payne, 342 Rubidge street, at 2 o'clock and proceed to Little Lake cemetery for interment.

MRS. OSWAY CARVER.

The death occurred on Wednesday evening of Carolina Besterd, the beloved wife of Mr. Osway Carver, of Gravel Road, North Monaghan, after an illness of six weeks, which was borne with Christian fortitude. The deceased was a very well known resident and her many friends will learn with deep regret of her death. She was the seventh child of the late James Besterd and leaves behind to mourn her loss her husband and one son and two daughters. Mr. Harry Carver and Miss Alice and Miss Pearl Carver. In addition eight sisters and one brother survive, namely Mrs. Geo. Hutchinson of South Monaghan, Mrs. John Davis of Toronto, Mrs. E. W. Evans, Little Falls, N.Y., Mrs. John May, Walkerton, Ont., Mrs. Charles Munns, St. Thomas, Ont., Mrs. Geo. Saunders, Toronto, Mrs. J. W. Grice of St. Thomas, Ont., Mrs. Samuel Kemp, city, and Mr. James Besterd, of North Monaghan.

The funeral will take place on Saturday afternoon, the service at two o'clock and the funeral at three from the family residence, Lot 11, Con. 12, North Monaghan, (Gravel Road), to Little Lake cemetery.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Government Majority is Forty-One on First Reciprocity Division

MOTION OF R. L. BORDEN TO DELAY ACTION UNTIL U.S. RATIFIES AGREEMENT DEFEATED.

W. O. Sealey Voted With the Government and Sifton and Harris Against It—German Was Absent.

Ottawa, March 9.—The House of Commons yesterday gave its first direct vote on the reciprocity resolutions, when it voted down an amendment to defer action until the United States Congress had ratified the measure. The Premier had the floor when the House rose at 6 o'clock, after speeches by Messrs. Borden, Fielding, Foster, Northrup and Guthrie, and it was expected that he would go on after dinner. Instead, he sat tight, and the division bells were set a ringing before the members knew what was in store for them as a post dinner treat.

The result was a Government majority of 41, although Messrs. Sifton Lloyd Harris, and Arthur Gilbert voted against the Government. These three were the "bolters." Mr. German was absent.

The vote was 70 against 111, and the result was greeted with great Liberal cheering, because despite the defection of two of the party, the majority was one of the best of the session.

There were thirty-nine absentees, but of these thirty-six were paired, (38 on each side), so that there are but three to account for. They are Messrs. Forget, German and Worthington. The first seldom comes to Parliament, and is never counted in with the whips' estimate, because nobody knows when he will be here; the second did not accept the division (if he had been present he would probably have voted against the Government), and the third is, his many friends on each side of the House will regret to learn, in a critical condition at his home.

FOUR YEARS AND LASHES.

Charles Snider and Carl Epstein, the two young men who admitted that they chloroformed and robbed young Mrs. Lena Miller in such a sensational way a week ago, go to the penitentiary for four years each and get 20 lashes, ten at end of each six months.

"A bad pair," said Col. Denison.—Toronto News.

An Outrage to Send His Client to Trial

So Declared Lawyer in Oxford Graft Case, But Magistrate Was Firm.

Woodstock, March 9.—The trial of B. B. McCarty, of Thamesford on a charge of receiving a rebate on a county order while a county councillor was resumed this morning. The proceedings were enlivened by a hot discussion by Magistrate Ball and W. T. McMullen, counsel for the defence. The magistrate said he would not decide on cases whatever evidence was put in, but would send the defendant for trial.

The counsel for the defence urged that no evidence showed guilt, that if the charge was brought under section 161 of the Criminal Code it was outlawed, and it was therefore an outrage to send his client for trial. Notwithstanding all, McCarty was bound over to appear for trial at the next court of competent jurisdiction.

PERJURY CHARGE WITHDRAWN

Woodstock, Ont., March 9.—Mr. T. Bushanan elected to be tried at the next Assizes on the graft charges. The perjury charge against him was withdrawn.

Negro Cut An Aged Woman's Throat

St. John, N. B., March 9.—Mrs. Ann Davidson, aged 75, who lives alone at Willow Grove, about 15 miles from St. John, was brutally attacked last evening in her home by a young negro, said to be George Hector, aged 22. After he had assaulted her, the negro drew a knife and cut a deep gash in her throat. The old woman's cries attracted the neighbors, and was cared for. It is not thought that she will live many hours. The police have gone to Willow Grove in search of her assailant who is said to have remained in the neighborhood up to quite late this morning.

CHINAMEN IN CELLS TIED QUEUE TO QUEUE.

New York, March 9.—Tied together by their queues, three Chinamen, although discharged from custody, were held prisoners in Bayonne, N.J., Recorder's Court until a sailor could be summoned to untie the knot. They had been arrested in Bayonne by a zealous Bayonne policeman who conceived the idea of queue entaglement in order to prevent their escape. Thus tied they remained in a cell all night.

The prisoners proved to the court's satisfaction yesterday, that they were members of a steamship crew and not trying to enter this country unlawfully. He promptly discharged them, then all hands tried to untie the queues. The arrival of the steamships chief officer saved the day.

Soldier Eloped With His Brother's Wife

Sault Ste. Marie, March 9.—With the deportation to-day of William Hall, a deserter from the United States' army, an amazing story of a brother's ingratitude was unfolded by Inspector Armstrong, senior officer of the Dominion Immigration Service at Sault Ste. Marie. Hall, after deserting his post at Fort Shelling, St. Paul, fled to the home of his brother, James, at Fibre, Mich., where he lived with his wife and two small children. Finding on his arrival that his brother was absent in Saginaw, he importuned the wife to elope with him to Canada. With the knowledge that he was a dangerous character and was already wanted for shooting, and fearful of the consequences should she refuse, she started with him for Canada and after being questioned at the Canadian frontier was permitted to continue the trip to Blind River, where Hall said he wished to visit relatives for a few days. One day later the husband arrived at the border in quest of his wife and family, then from the description furnished was told by Inspector Armstrong to go to Blind River where he found the eloping wife. She and the family returned with the husband, while the deserter was returned to the authorities in the Michigan Soo, where he was held for trial at Fort Brady as a deserter from his post. When arrested, a license to marry his sister-in-law was found on him. Before leaving the home of his protector he possessed himself of a $50 note which he endorsed and cashed.

FORTIFYING THE CANAL.

Ten millions will be spent by the United States in fortifying the Panama canal. Four millions will go for masonry, two millions for guns and carriages, over a million for ammunition, half a million for searchlights and the rest for the construction of naval stations. It is the intention to have the fortifications complete when the canal is opened.

There has been a long discussion whether or not the Hay-Pauncefote treaty permitted this fortification. It is said by the doubters that an obligation rests upon Great Britain to join with the United States in defence of the canal, provided it is not fortified. But this is answered by a study of the treaty. There were two drafts of the convention. The first prohibited fortifications and provided for joint guarantee of the canal's neutrality by Great Britain and the United States. This was not approved by the Senate until an amendment was inserted to the effect that the treaty should not apply to measures which the United States might take for securing by its own forces the defence of the United States and the maintenance of public order. Great Britain amended the rejected treaty and a new draft was proposed. This time, by design, no reference whatever was made to the question of fortifications. This, it is said, relieved Great Britain from the obligation of aiding to guarantee neutrality and permitted the United States to fortify if it deemed it necessary.

A PROFITABLE PARTNERSHIP.

A father with a view to encouraging his young daughter aged 20 to purchase a Canadian Government Annuity, so that she may have an absolutely sure income of $300 a year so long as she may live from and after the age of 55, offered to contribute $25 a year for this purpose if she would from her earnings contribute the balance of the annual premium necessary to secure the said Annuity, an offer which the daughter readily accepted on ascertaining how small an amount she would be required to pay. She found that by a saving of $2.27 a month, in addition to the $25 a year (or $200 a month) to be paid by the father, the Annuity of $300 would not only be secured, but that it would be paid for ten years in any event so that should she die before the ten years expired the Annuity would be continued for the remainder of the term to such person as she might name, thus insuring a positive return of $3,000, but, as has been said, with the proviso that should she survive the ten years the Annuity would be continued to herself so long as she might live. Should death occur before 55 all that had been paid in with 3 per cent. compound interest would go to her heirs. It is certainly a most attractive investment, and other fathers or mothers desiring to set so excellent an example to their children or any one may ascertain full information on the subject by applying to their Postmaster, or direct to the Superintendent of Annuities, Ottawa, to whom all letters go free of postage.

WANTED COMPENSATION

The Home Secretary Denied the Request of an Ex-Convict

An ex-convict complains that he has been refused compensation by the Government. This man was undergoing a sentence of three years penal servitude at Dartmoor when he met with an accident. Whilst employed building a [illegible] engaged with a [illegible] injury. The accident necessitated his going into the infirmary, but the medical officer could not cure him, and on his release he had to undergo an operation at the Middlesex Hospital, where he now lies. After the accident, and whilst still at Dartmoor, he petitioned the Home Secretary for compensation but was informed by the governor that Mr. Churchill saw no grounds for acceding to his request. Apparently the Home Secretary declines to admit liability on the ground that the man was at the time of the accident serving a sentence of penal servitude.

MAN WITH SILVER RIBS

The story of a wonderful operation, in which silver ribs are said to have been supplied to a man, was told by Major A. T. Craig at a gathering at the premises of the Soldiers' and Sailors Help Society in London. The occasion was the distribution by Princess Christian of Christmas hampers subscribed for by public school boys and others. In one case, said Major Craig, there was a box of delicacies, intended for a man who was badly wounded in South Africa, and got practically all his ribs broken. He had been working in a sort of steel jacket since, until at a hospital in London a very wonderful operation had been performed. The man was said to have been supplied with silver ribs.

During a storm which broke over the Canaries a house on the island of Gomera was undermined by water and collapsed. Twenty-two persons, mostly children, were crushed to death.

HIRED HELP IS SCARCE

Eastern Ontario Farmers Wait on Government for Aid

The question of hired help is a serious one for the farmers of Ontario. A deputation appointed by the Farmers' Institute of Leeds and Lansdowne recently waited on the immigration authorities to see what steps should be taken to secure efficient hired laborers. In brief, they were informed that the help secured by the immigration officers is secured in the old country practically by order and demand, and laborers are not brought out by them to this country at hap hazard. The deputation was told that they would have to specify what they wanted, how many laborers, for what kind of work whether for yearly or only temporary employment, wages, and where situated. An effort would then be made by the immigration officers in the old country to meet their demand. Efficient hired help to be secured in Great Britain is not at all too plentiful and it was stated that only seven per cent. of the population are farmers.

TO LIGHTEN HOUSEWORK

Some Useful Hints as to Sundry Household Duties

The housewife with a regard for dust should keep on hand several sizes of soft varnish and paint brushes. So equipped she need not fear dust will disgrace her by sticking in the corners of mouldings, in the carvings of furniture, and along the edges of mirrors.

The scraps of soap left from household and toilet purposes need not be wasted. The former may be used to the tiniest piece in the soap shaker for the dish-pan, while the latter can be boiled down to a jelly with a little water and kept for shampooing mixtures.

Many persons do not know that soda exterminates germs, so be sure to keep a supply on hand to be used in drains and to wash out milk bottles and wipe out shelves of the pantry.

While a pantry need not be so carefully watched in cold weather as in summer, it should always be washed out once a week, preferably before fresh marketing is put in it. Scrub the shelves and walls with strong soapsuds, in which has been put plenty of soda.

KAISER AS A DOCTOR

Many of His Subjects Desire to Consult Him

It was recently stated by "The London Globe" that the Kaiser had received the degree of M.D. "honoris causa" from the University of Prague. In Germany, we are told by a Paris paper, people take things in earnest, butt he writer, who does not add that his confreres frequently draw upon their imagination, proceeds to relate an amusing incident relative to the Kaiser's honor. The other morning the Kaiser was inspecting one of his many regiments of which he is colonel-in-chief. One soldier fell out of the ranks, approached his Majesty, saluted, went back to his place, and put out his tongue. "What has he to say?" demanded the Emperor. "The man is wanting in respect." "No, sire," replied the soldier, "I am unwell, and respectfully ask your Majesty to prescribe for me. The fame of the new doctor of Prague University, who, by the irony of events, had to sign his name in the album immediately after that of the great—in every sense—opponent of Bismarchian policy, Virchow, has spread beyond the army. Outside the Palace at Potsdam, as soon as it was known that the Kaiser had become a doctor, crowds of the maimed, the halt, and the blind lined up, reminding one of the scenes outside a dispensary. Some even offered to pay a fee for the Kaiser's diagnosis. The Emperor was not only embarrassed, but annoyed, so he ordered the following notice to be put up: "The doctorate in medicine conferred upon the Kaiser is simply an honorary distinction, so his Majesty does not undertake the care of the sick either gratuitously or otherwise."

"Dead" Was Alive.

Sixteen months ago a man found drowned at Methley, near Castleford, was identified as William Chatham. The body was interred by the Chatham family after a coroner's inquiry, and a month later Chatham's wife died. Recently the supposed dead man surprised his son and daughter, who still live at Castleford, by walking into the house.

ASSETS OF THE COMPANY

$10,000,000 of stock still in the Treasury.

$10,000,000 pooled for 9 and 18 months.

500 acres of land; value, $3,000 per acre.

6,500 feet deep waterfrontage; value, $200 per front foot.

154 patent improvements obtained over the present most modern sleeping car as shown by patent rights and model and approved by railway experts.

A subsidy obtained from the Municipality of North Vancouver of 5 per cent. for 15 years on $200,000, and freedom from taxation of our plant and 30 acres of land for 10 years.

A subsidy obtained from the Dominion of Canada, 3½ per cent. for 25 years on $1,214,000, for the purpose of building a dry dock of 15,000 tons at Roslyn, the Company's townsite.

A very valuable brick clay deposit has been discovered on the Company's property. This will be developed to its fullest capacity, as brick clay is very rare here, Vancouver even importing from Seattle millions of brick annually.

NOTE.—A shareholder participates in every asset of the Company.

LIABILITIES OF THE COMPANY

Amount yet owing on land, extending over a period of four years, $446,000.

REMARKS

MORE LANDS

The Company proposes to purchase lands surrounding their townsite, and to this end are securing options on about 250 acres, with about 2,800 feet of deep waterfrontage adjoining that which they now own.

MINES

They have also secured an optian of purchase of a group of ten claims of very valuable iron deposits situated within twelve miles of their townsite. The Company believe, located as they are in a country which abounds with everything necessary to the smallest detail for turning out a perfect car, as should go to nature's storehouse for their material, and with this end in view have secured the above group.

SHIPBUILDING

In addition to building the Imperial Sleeping Car, cars of every description will be contracted for, and just as soon as their dry dock is completed, the Company intend to use it to the greatest advantage in building ships of the largest tonnage. As there will be but three or four docks in the whole Dominion, they will encounter but very little competition in the building of the larger class of vessels.

SALE OF LANDS

The Company do not intend to sell any of its land until its dry dock, car works, sawmills and other industries are in operation, and in this way secure as nearly as possible all the profit derived from the establishment of these great works.

CLEARING OF LAND

The Municipality of North Vancouver have under consideration a proposition from the Company whereby the Company promise to clear their whole townsite on condition the Municipality will at once clear and grade all the streets, charging the cost of same to local improvement taxes. The Municipality view the Company's proposition with great favor. This plan would at least double the price of the Company's holdings.

PURCHASING STOCK

A small block of stock is now on the market and can be had on very easy terms of payment. This once sold, the Company will have no difficulty to borrow on their assets at from 4 to 5 per cent. any money they will require for improvement purchases, and in this case all stock will be withdrawn from the market.

Independence Bartered for Few Wormy Plums

VAN HORNE IS VERY BITTER—SAYS CANADA IS MAKING BED "TO LIE IN AND DIE IN."

If Reciprocity is Once Adopted the U.S. Would Not Permit a Change.

Montreal, March 8.—Sir William Van Horne has addressed a letter to Mr. Chas. Chaput, chairman of the Anti-Reciprocity League, which in part is as follows:

Sir,—I regret that having to leave for England on Thursday, I shall not be able to attend the meeting of the Anti-Reciprocity League next week and to give my views in person on the question of reciprocity.

To my amazement and distress and shame I now see the magnificent work of a generation traded away for a vague idea or a childish sentiment—the splendid commercial and industrial position we have reached and our proud independence bartered for a few wormy plums, and I feel it my duty to join in the protest which is heard from every section of the country.

To-day we are in an enviable position: with a commerce three times as great per capita as that of the United States, and without a cloud in our sky save the one which has just now been raised. Does not common sense tell us to stay where we are and let well enough alone?

LOSS OF DIGNITY.

Was there ever such an exhibition of crawling and cringing as Canada's representatives have just now given us at Washington? We have heard much of the dignified attitude of our Government on the subject of reciprocity—a dignified attitude which was assumed after repeated snubs. We have been told that if there was anything more to be said about reciprocity it must be said at Ottawa, but at the very first signal from Washington we have seen Canada's representatives hurrying there, and without consultation with one of our business interests, and apparently without consultation with their colleagues, hastily assenting to terms vitally affecting our vast and complicated trade and commerce, and perhaps involving our political future. I refuse to believe that our honored Premier was a willing party to what has been done; but whether he was or was not the certain consequences to the country are so serious as to quite overshadow all personal considerations, and these consequences should be averted somehow, anyhow. The well-being of the country and its self-respect are at stake, and the shameful thing that is proposed is surely against the wishes of four-fifths of its people, and I doubt if it would, if clearly understood, find a dozen supporters in the Dominion.

NOT GOOD FOR FARMERS.

It is perhaps not possible to make a tariff quite satisfactory to every community, every interest, and every individual; but, rightly considered, our tariff has come pretty near to this. Some of the farmers in the Canadian Northwest want reciprocity in the hope that it will bring them better prices for wheat and cheaper agricultural implements. It will do neither to any appreciable extent.

A BED TO LIE AND DIE IN.

Let us not run away with the idea that if we make a mistake in this matter of reciprocity we shall be able to correct it with pleasure. We may not be permitted to do it. It should be remembered that there are such things as vested interests with nations, as with individuals, and corporations, and that the vested interests of nations, real or alleged, are terribly binding upon the weaker party. When Mr. Hill has extended his seven or eight lines of railway into the Canadian Northwest—lines which have for some years been resting their noses on the boundary line, waiting for reciprocity or something of the kind, to warrant them in crossing, and when other American channels of trade have been established, affecting our territory, and when the American millers have tasted our wheat, and the American manufacturers have got hold of our markets, it is probable that we shall be permitted to recede? Not a bit of it. We are making a bed to lie in and die in.

Yours, etc.,
W. C. VAN HORNE.

SIR WILLIAM VAN HORNE.

NO MEXICAN WAR FOR HIM

Leavenworth, Kansas, March 8.—Quartermaster Sergeant Fred Snyder of the Thirteenth infantry, shot and killed himself to-day immediately after he had bidden farewell to his sweetheart. No reason is known for his suicide, except that he was despondent over the prospect of being separated from the girl.

THOUGHT THE FIRE A JOKE

St. Petersburg, March 8.—The small number saved from the fire in the moving picture show at Bologoe is due to the showman telling the audience that the pictures would be accompanied by appropriate sounds, and even the cries of "fire" were received with laughter. Many men escaped by trampling the women and children under their feet.

Ruef was Taken to Jail in Taxi

San Francisco, March 8.—Having exhausted every legal resource in a three-year struggle to escape the penitentiary, Abraham Ruef, former political leader of San Francisco, was taken to San Quentin Prison yesterday to begin a fourteen year term for the bribery of supervisors during the regime of Mayor Eugene E. Schmitz.

As a final concession Ruef was removed from the jail to the ferry boat in a taxi cab instead of in the regular van. Ruef anticipated the usual prison regulations by having his moustache removed and his hair crapped before his departure.

Warden Hoyle of San Quentin, says that Ruef will be put at work in the jute mill of the prison.

The Socialists recently adopted a resolution that Parliament be abolished. This, however, will be another effective move to deprive Laurier of his seat.

When Temperance Men Join with the Hotels

London, Ont., March 8.—Officials of London branch of Dominion Alliance have announced that a delegation will interview Whitney to protest against the proposed five per cent. tax on bar receipts over $40. They say it will hurt the public in causing increase in hotel rates and will do the temperance people no good.

On inquiry at the Toronto headquarters, it was stated that this step had not been advocated by the central executive. No meeting had been held recently.

Going or Coming?

A train was reported forty minutes late, and after the time had elapsed a would-be passenger inquired:

"How late is that train?"

"Oh, about an hour late."

The hour passed and the query was repeated.

"Well, they'll be about an hour and twenty minutes late here."

Patience reigned until the query was justly renewed, and the railroad man replied:

"Well, sir, I think that train will be near two hours late."

Whereupon the passenger said:

"Say, Mister, will you kindly tell me which way that train is going?"

Dr. Worthington Has Paralytic Stroke

Sherbrooke, Que., March 8.—Dr. A. Norrys Worthington, M.P., for Sherbrooke, was stricken with paralysis at 7.30 this morning and now lies in a critical condition at his home. The doctor was out driving yesterday and appeared to be in usual health. While getting up this morning he was stricken. He is conscious, but unable to speak. Dr. McCrea, specialist of Montreal, is in attendance. Mrs. Worthington is in Toronto, but has been sent for.

Dr. Worthington was born in 1862 and in 1887 was married at Toronto to Miss E. M. Cook, daughter of H. H. Cook, ex-M.P. for North Simcoe. He was Brigade Surgeon-Major Canadian Field Artillery, in South Africa in 1900, and was mentioned in despatches. He is a Conservative and was elected in 1904 and 1908.

One thorough application of Zam Buk at night will bring ease by morning. Zam-Buk stops the smarting, heals the cracks, and makes the hands smooth.

PROOF—Miss Hattie Fortrand, Galesburg, Ont., writes:—"I was troubled with chapped hands and arms and nothing ever seemed to heal them thoroughly until we found Zam Buk. It has cured them. My father has also used it for several skin troubles and injuries, and thinks there is nothing like Zam Buk."

Mothers should see that their children use Zam-Buk daily, as there is nothing like prevention. A little Zam Buk lightly smeared over the hands and wrists, after washing, will prevent chaps and cold sores.

Zam Buk is also a sure cure for skin diseases, eczema, sores, ringworm, blood-poisoning, piles, and for cuts, burns and bruises. Sold on all stores and druggists, or post free for price from Zam Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse harmful substitutes and imitations.

FRIDAY, MARCH 10, 1911.

Fined Two Dollars.

A man named Charles Grogan, a shantyman, was yesterday fined $2 for being drunk, by D. W. Dumble. He was given ten days to raise the amount.

Heavily Fined.

It costs like fun to supply liquor to a man on the Indian list. At the Police Court yesterday a young man, who was found guilty of supplying liquor to Wm. Lavery, was taxed $20. He handed over the cash.

Tuberculosis Meeting.

The Times is requested to state that the tuberculosis meeting of the city council, to which all citizens are invited will be held on Monday evening, and not on Friday as previously announced.

CANADIAN PACIFIC.

Cheap one way Colonist tickets to Vancouver, Victoria, Seattle, Portland, $42.00.

Good going March 10th to March 31st.

Also reduced second class rates to California points. For rates and all information see W. Mellroy, Agent, C.P.R., 242 George street.

Home Girl Dead.

The death occurred at 7 o'clock on Wednesday, at the Margaret Cox Home, of May Knights, aged 18 years. The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2 o'clock, to Little Lake cemetery. Rev. I. Couch will officiate.

Dorcas Society.

The Dorcas Society is deeply grateful to Mr. Edwards, proprietor of the Crystal, for his generosity on Friday afternoon last; also to the public for their patronage and support. A very considerable sum was realized, which will enable them to extend help to several needy cases.

A Pleasant Evening.

A very pleasant evening was spent last night in the S.A. Temple, Simcoe street, when a most enjoyable programme of speeches, music, etc., was presented.

Mark Street Church.

The annual congregational meeting of the Mark street Methodist church will be held this evening. All the members and adherents of the church are requested to be present to take part in the interesting proceedings.

The ladies will serve refreshments and a short musical programme will be given.

You are probably aware that pneumonia always results from a cold, but you never heard of a cold resulting in pneumonia when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was used. Why take the risk when this remedy may be had for a trifle? For sale by all all dealers.

One Way Second-Class Settlers Excursions Every Tuesday.

The Grand Trunk is the only double-track route to Chicago. Full particulars, rates, literature, etc., from Grand Trunk Agents, or address A. E. Duff, D.P.A., G. T. Ry., Toronto, Ont.

Extending Its Line.

The Bell Telephone Company's new rural line to Bridgenorth will be completed in a few days. This will add 35 new subscribers to the local exchange, with whom people in the city will have access without additional cost.

When a child is in danger a woman will risk her life to protect it. No great act of heroism or risk of life is necessary to protect a child from croup. Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and all danger is avoided. For sale by all dealers.

Wesley Banquet.

The lecture room of the George St. Methodist Church, was well filled last night, when the banquet given in honor of Rev. John Wesley, the founder of Methodistism took place. Splendid addresses were delivered by Judge Huycke and D. W. Dumble, K. C. Wesley hymns were read and sung. The dinner was served in eighteenth style.

To Fight White Plague.

This evening a meeting will be held at the Council Chamber, at which Mayor Morrow, will take the chair, to discuss the tuberculosis situation in the city. A number of citizens are interesting themselves in the matter and it is expected that a conference will be helpful. It is felt that Peterborough is behind the times in regard to means, methods and a proper conception of combatting this dread disease, and that sound steps should be taken to deal with the master. Citizens generally are invited to attend the meeting.

Indians Have Big Time.

A number of young people drove out to the Indian Village at Chemong, last night, where an oyster supper was given in the town hall by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Church. The Indian band and orchestra helped to make things lively. The party of pale faces who a short time ago attempted to drive to the village to attend an Indian powwow, and who got lost on the lake, did not put in an appearance. If they had done so, they probably might all have been scalped.

A Birthday Party.

Miss N. Greenwood and Miss N. Smith, were the charming hostesses to a party of about 30 of their personal friends on Wednesday evening, the occasion being the birthdayof the two young ladies. The evening was spent in games, music and dancing. Dainty refreshments were served during the evening. Miss Sutton and Mr. Batterson were the winners of the first prizes in the doll dressing competition. Miss K. Rew and Mr. Batterson were successful in anatomical competition. Songs were rendered by Mr. Batterson and Miss Smith, Miss Greenwood and Mr. Rew, Miss V. Booth, Mr. Merritt, Miss Sutton, Mr. A. Greenwood, Miss Buckham, Mr. Cameron, Miss G. Greenwood, Mr. Anderson, Miss Wilson, Mr. Wood, Miss Shakespeare, Mr. Hooper, Miss K. Rew, Mrs. Rowe, and Mr. and Mrs. T. Greenwood, after which the party broke up after singing Auld Lang Syne.

MANN—NICHOLLS.

A very pretty home wedding was solemnized at the residence of Mr. William Nicholls of Smith Township, on Wednesday last, when his daughter Miss Lottie Levina was united in marriage to Mr. William J. Mann of Smith, and son of Mr. Jonathan Mann, Water street, Peterborough. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Cruikshanks of Bridgenorth, in the presence of the immediate friends of the contracting parties. The young couple were unattended. Mr. and Mrs. Mann left on the 4.38 C.P.R. train for Niagara Falls. On their return they will take up their residence at "Poplar Heights," at Smith. The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome gold watch, while the bride's father presented her with a piano. The wedding gifts were unusually numerous, attesting to the popularity of the bride.

READ EVERY WORD OF THIS

It Will Be Money In Your Pocket To Do So

Everyone is anxious to make money. Everyone has an ambition to get rich. Some men DO get rich. Others remain poor. The difference is simply a difference of methods. Nearly all of us save some money, but we do not let these savings earn anything for us. THE MAN WHO SAVES HIS MONEY AND LETS THE SAVINGS EARN SOMETHING FOR HIM is making it do double duty. Take the history of all the very wealthy men of the country and learn how many of them made their fortunes by simply saving what they earned. Not one of them did. They saved but they immediately put their savings to work for them. YOU WANT TO GET TO THE TOP OF THE LADDER, YOU WANT TO ACCUMULATE SOMETHING FOR YOUR OLD AGE. THEN YOU HAD BETTER PUT YOUR SAVINGS TO WORK AND LET THEM HELP YOU DO IT.

In almost any ordinary investment a man cannot make his money earn over 8 per cent. Mining offers you greater opportunities. I am going to offer you an opportunity that has promise earning for you 800 per cent or even more. I want to take you into partnership with me, in an enterprise that will probably make us all independent for the balance of our lives. YOU MUST TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THIS OFFERING. The Gold Queen Mining Company, of which I am president, has over 135 acres of rich mineral ground in one of the most prosperous mining districts of the world. We have already expended thousands of dollars in developing this property and we have struck ore that is very rich. We need a mill to extract the precious metal from this ore. We need a little help in building this mill. Are you willing to subscribe a portion of the amount necessary to do it? In numbers there is strength, and even though your subscription be a very small one, we are willing to give you a part ownership in this great enterprise, in return for it. We are willing to take you in on an equal basis with us and give you the benefit of all your savings may earn for you. The men behind this proposition are all successful business men. They are in this business to make it pay and for every dollar they earn for themselves they will earn one for you. REMEMBER: THIS IS NOT A PROSPECT—IT IS A MINE WITH ORE IN IT. But a small amount of money is necessary to build our mill. We have decided to offer only a very limited number of shares at the present price, and as soon as this amount is secured the price will be advanced to a much greater figure. NOW IS THE TIME FOR YOU TO ACT. YOU ARE GETTING IN WITH THE ORGANIZERS OF THE COMPANY AT GROUND FLOOR PRICES. YOU ARE COMING INTO A BONA FIDE PARTNERSHIP WITH US AND WITH NO PARTNERSHIP RESPONSIBILITIES. Read what Mr, Van Wagenen, one of the foremost mining engineers of the country has to say: "I would advise the immediate erection of a ten-stamp mill with cyanide equipment, to treat your gold ores, and a separate concentrating plant to handle your copper pyrites, thus reducing the shipping weight 6 to 1, and eventually put in a smelter in connection with the mill, with a ten-stamp mill on your property and a daily production of 50 tons of ore. I CAN PROMISE YOU A NET EARNING OF $300.00 PER DAY or $109,500 per year and that can be increased to ten times as much as soon as tunnels A and B are finished, and added milling equipment is installed. The economical method is the best. Start with a ten-stamp mill and let your stockholders be content with 10 per cent per annum until you have increased your milling facilities, and install your smelting plant to treat your concentrates. THEN YOU CAN PAY THEM 400 TO 500 PER CENT DIVIDENDS PER YEAR FOR THE NEXT TEN YEARS ON THE PRESENT VALUATION OF YOUR STOCK, 5 CENTS PER SHARE, and this out of the new discovered vein alone." Now if you want to get in with us on this proposition you must act quickly, for the present allotment of shares will not last long. The man who buys now will get his shares at the very rock bottom price. The one who waits until later will without a doubt pay many times what it is being offered for now. Arrangements may be made to pay for your subscription on the easy payment plan. Write at once for full information and detailed literature explaining all about it. Write today. Do not wait another minute or you may be too late.

HAULTAIN IN FAVOR OF RECIPROCITY

WESTERN CONSERVATIVES WILL NOT NOW BE ABLE TO SAY WEST IS AGAINST RECIPROCITY.

Was Very Shrewd Move—Leader of Saskatchewan Opposition Played A Clever Political Part.

Ottawa, Ont., March 10.—The action of the Saskatchewan Legislature in passing unanimously a resolution favoring reciprocity, and the speech of Hon. F. W. Haultain warmly commending the Government action, has greatly pleased the Western Liberal members here. There is a feeling among them that it will tend to quiet the Opposition contention that the Western farmers are to a certain extent against the reciprocity pact. They say the Saskatchewan Legislature is very closely in touch with the people, and that its action shows how the people feel on the matter that means so much to the West.

There is also a feeling that Mr. Haultain's speech was a very shrewd political move. He has had a hard and up-hill fight, and is not likely to neglect anything that will help him to enlist the sympathy of the electors.

Town of Pleasant Prairie Wiped Off Map---Thousands were Injured

POWDER MAGAZINE BLEW UP—EXPLOSION WAS FELT 100 MILES AWAY.

Made a Hole 100 Feet Deep—Only Two Were Killed—Miraculous Escapes Reported.

Kenosha, Wis., March 10.—The town of Pleasant Prairie, near Kenosha, is practically destroyed to-day; at least two persons are dead, nearly a thousand are injured in nearby towns and villages and more than $1,000,000 damage is done as a result of the explosion of 100 tons of dynamite at the Ladin-Rand Powder Mills at Pleasant Prairie last night. It was not until early to-day that the full measure of the loss could be ascertained.

SEVEN HUNDRED HOMELESS.

Seven hundred persons are homeless in Pleasant Prairie and three hundred in Bristol, as a result of the destruction of their houses.

Many of these were taken in by friends, but nearly half of them were forced to sleep all night on the ground.

The powder plant was located bout a quarter of a mile from Pleasant Prairie. When the shock came huge pieces of machinery were thrown high in the air and the whole town was razed.

The first explosion occurred in the glazing room, where John Thompson and Edward Hilliard were working. Hilliard escaped, but Thompson was blown to pieces. Fire started immediately and after calling his men together, Foreman Brady led them out of danger.

Within a few minutes a second explosion occurred. This was much worse than the first and shattered the buildings at the plant. In rapid succession, the five magazines exploded with deafening crashes.

The powder plant covered about 200 acres and was composed of sixty buildings. These were literally wiped out. Every man had fled in terror and a long time after the explosions had ceased workmen were afraid to go near the place.

Telephone and telegraph wires were cut down by the blast.

Four Bodies Recovered From Debris of an Apartment House—Two Arrests Made.

New York, March 10.—Four bodies were to-day recovered from the debris at Nos. 12, 14 and 16 East 97th street, where the partly finished structure of a new apartment house collapsed late yesterday.

The dead are workmen who were buried under tons of concrete, Superintendent John O'Brien and foreman Theodore Steinis, of the construction company, were arrested and held in $10,000 bail.

Coroner Holhauser, of New York county, immediately commenced an investigation of the disaster and ordered suuerintendent O'Brien and foreman Steinis to appear before him to-day to testify in an official inquiry.

The scene of the collapse is directly opposite the mansion of Henry Phipps, and in the midst of the millionaire colony.

The accident was due to the falling from some unknown cause of a section of the concrete flooring on the eighth floor. The mass weighing many tons went through to the cellar, carrying with it everything in its way and burying the four men who were working on the second floor

Riotous Scenes in British House Under Churchill's Leading

London, March 10.—After a continuous sitting of nineteen hours, the House of Commons rose at ten o'clock this morning. Stormy scenes marked the session right up to the close.

The whole night was occupied with the discussion of the land clauses of the budget, and the debate was the most bitter that has been heard in the Lower Chamber in ten years.

Taunts and insults were hurled fast and furiously, anger flared up dangerously, and at one moment a riot was threatened when in the midst of an excited demonstration on the part of the Nationalists, Captain James Craig, Unionist member for the East Division of Down, sprang to his feet and addressed the chairman, remarking that if the presiding officer would give the word, the Opposition would gladly throw the Nationalist party out of the House.

This remark drew a hurricane of angry shouts from the Irish benches and it was some time before the chairman was able to restore order.

The scenes reminded one of that night in 1901, when the police were called in to make the Nationalists behave themselves.

ASQUITH'S DAUGHTER ILL.

Home Secretary Churchill stood in the breach for the Government in the absence of Premier Asquith, who had been called to Switzerland by the illness of his daughter, Elizabeth, and of Chancellor Lloyd George, whose bad throat makes it impossible for him to take part in an ordinary debate, and who could not have been heard in last night's turmoil had he been present.

The Home Secretary and the leaders of the Opposition exchanged caustic remarks that were frequently personal, and several times the former was called to order by the chair. Frequently the Government leader resorted to closure, but the discussion was continued until the participants were fairly worn out.

Every time Churchill forced through a clause there were cries of rage from the Conservatives, who denounced him as a usurper and accused him of breaking the Premier's pledges.

To-day's proceedings show that the Tories may be expected to put up the stiffest fight in the history of Parliament against the veto bill.

U. S. Proposes to Arbitrate All Its Rows with Britain

London, March 10.—The Premier, Mr. Asquith, replying to a question in the House yesterday, said that Ambassador Bryce has reported that the United States contemplates proposing a treaty under which all disputes of the two nations may be referred to arbitration. He added that such a proposal would meet the most sympathetic consideration.

Some people can't see the error of their ways because of their habit in looking at yours.

INDIAN REVENGE.

Papago Youth Tied to Wild Horse's Tail by Wrists and Left to Death.

Tuma, Ariz., March 11.—With the wrists tied to the tail of a wild horse the body of a Papago Indian was found yesterday by a detachment of the First U. S. Cavalry at the edge of the Gila river, near Mesa.

In order to secure the body it was necessary to shoot the horse. It is believed that the young Indian had been condemned to die in this manner because of having violated some law of the tribe.

CHILDREN AFFECTED.

By Mother's Food and Drink.

Many babies have been launched into life with constitutions weakened by disease taken in with their mothers' milk. Mothers cannot be too careful as to the food they use while nursing their babes.

The experience of a Kansas City mother is a case in point:

"I was a great coffee drinker from a child, and thought I could do without it. But I found at last it was doing me harm. For years I had been troubled with dizziness, spots before my eyes and pain in my heart, to which was added, two years later, a chronic sour stomach.

"The baby was born 7 months ago and almost from the beginning, it, too, suffered from sour stomach. She was taking it from me!

"In my distress I consulted a friend of more experience and she told me to quit coffee, that coffee did not make good milk. I have since ascertained that it really dries up the milk.

"So, I quit coffee and tried tea and at last cocoa. But they did not agree with me. Then I turned to Postum with the happiest results. It proved to be the very thing I needed. It not only agreed perfectly with baby and myself, but it increased the flow of my milk.

"My husband then quit coffee and used Postum and quickly got well of the dyspepsia with which he had been troubled. I no longer suffer from the dizziness, blind spells, pain in my heart or sour stomach.

"Now we all drink Postum from my husband to my seven months' old baby. It has proved to be the best hot drink we have ever used. We would not give up Postum for the best coffee we ever drank." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Church in Portugal Receives Hard Blow

CLERICAL TROUBLES IN SPAIN.

Lisbon, March 9.—The two priests who were ordered prosecuted for reading the pastoral letter which had been forbidden by the Minister of Justice, presented themselves today before the local authorities. They were accompanied by a mob armed with clubs. A troop of cavalry dispersed the mob, and one of the priests was arrested.

Quick Action of Government in Punishing the Bishop of Oporto Was Not Expected by the Clergy.

Lisbon, March 11.—While the bishop of Oporto has been deprived of his functions and retired on a pension of 500 francs monthly, which is in reward for his services as a colonial missionary, the priests whom he called upon, under penalty of suspension, to read his pastoral against the government, have been given amnesty The civil governor of Oporto has been instructed to take charge of the Episcopal building and property.

In clerical circles this rapid and decisive action of the government was unexpected and is a stunning blow. In republican circles it is hailed with delight and has undoubtedly strengthened the position of the government, especially that of Senor Costa, the minister of justice.

The bishop of Oporto incident has served as a piquant curtain raiser proceeding the enactment of the decree of separation of church and state.

Learning that there exists a Portuguese anti-republican committee at Vigo, certain well-known carbineros have gone thither to keep an eye on the members.

MINISTER FIRED OFF A REVOLVER

MAGISTRATE FINED A DELHI CLERGYMAN, AND NOW REV. MR. HAITH APPEALS.

Was a Deputy-Constable—Assisting in a Raid on What He Thought Was a Disorderly House.

Because Rev. J. M. Haith, of Delhi, discharged a revolver in Windham Township, Norfolk, he was fined by the magistrate, and to-day the minister began proceedings at Osgoode Hall to quash the conviction.

A county constab's invited Mr. Haith to accompany him in raiding an alleged disorderly house, and according to the preacher, the officer authorized him to carry the firearm. Men were seen running from the house and Haith fired off the pistol in the air to halt the fugitives.

Mr. Haith was prosecuted before the magistrate and a fine of $5, with $17 costs, was imposed; with the alternative of a month in jail.

At the Police Court hearing, Mr. Haith said that he told the constable he was with, that he had a revolver, and the constable's comment was: "That's all right; you go to assist me."

This constable said the same thing at the trial, and added that he considered Haith a better man than any of the Delhi constables. This tribute did not save Mr. Haith from a conviction on a charge of having firearms.

Mr. Haith questions the magistrate's jurisdiction and finds fault with the trial and its results in other respects.—Toronto Star.

SUN LIFE ASSURANCE Co.

Results For 1910.

In 1900 the total life assurances in force amounted to $57,960,634.68. Last year, 1910, the total assurances in force were $143,549,276. This practically tells the whole story of the enormous growth of this company in one decade. The increases of 1910 over the previous year indicate that its present prosperity as greater than ever before.

The Assurances issued during 1910 and paid for in cash were over two million dollars greater than in 1909, showing an increase of ten per cent. The cash income from premiums and other sources was $1,932,321 more than that in 1909, an increase of over 20 per cent.

The surplus earned in 1910 reached the large sum of $1,232,545.63. Of this surplus $377,792 was distributed to policyholders, $210,859.26 was applied to place Annuity Reserves on basis of British Offices select Annuity Tables. The balance, $643,903.91, was added to surplus during the year.

The Company's business has developed along every line, and the report shows that it has been strengthened in every particular.

Those who are interested in life assurance, especially those who have policies with the Sun Life of Canada will be interested in the details of the company's statement.

New Law Against the Carrying of Weapons

Ontario Legislation Aimed at Fire-Arms, Air Guns and Knuckle Dusters.

Toronto, March 10.—The carrying and sale of firearms, air guns, knuckle dusters, sand bags, and other dangerous weapons, is to be prohibited in Ontario. Hon. J. J. Foy, Attorney General introduced a bill to that effect in the Legislature yesterday afternoon.

Exception is made for certain cases such as militia, and persons to whom permits have been granted by police magistrates.

HERE IS A TALE WITH A MORAL

LITTLE EDITH HARRIS CURED OF DROPSY BY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Two Doctors Said She Would Die, But To-Day She is a Healthy, Happy Girl—Healthy Kidneys is Children the Guarantee of a Happy Useful Life.

McTaggart, Sask., March 10.—(Special)—That no child is too young to have Kidney Disease even in its worst form, and that Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure it in any form has been abundantly proven in the case of little Edith Harris of this place.

In May, 1903, this little girl, then two years old, was so swollen with Dropsy that her waist measure was increased from 16 inches to 34 inches. Two doctors said she must die. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured her and to-day she is as merry and healthy a child as is to be found in the neighborhood.

In a recent interview her father says: "Edith is better than ever. She has no return of dropsy since she was cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills, over seven years ago. She goes to school and is healthy. I always keep Dodd's Kidney Pills in the house."

There's a moral for parents in this story. Many a child has grown up to a life of pain and suffering because its kidneys were neglected. A life of health and usefulness is assured if the Kidneys are kept in order with Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Three-Fifths Vote to Repeal the Measure

Owen Sound, March 10.—The liquor interests of Owen Sound have received a staggering blow in the announcement that a section has been included in the amendment to the Liquor License Act by which Owen Sound and other municipalities which have carried local option under the straight majority vote before the three-fifths vote was established, will have to take a three-fifths vote in order to repeal the measure.

The hotel people contemplated putting on a repeal campaign for the coming January election, but this amendment makes their case a hopeless one. It will also have its effects in securing the stability of the measure in municipalities such as Owen Sound where since the by-law has been in force there has been a most persistent violation of the by-law.

The move of the Provincial Secretary may be taken as the direct result of this opposition to give the local measure a fair test by the anti-option hotelkeepers.

FARMING FOR WOMEN.

After all, the young working woman's choice is not to be between domestic service and the factory. There is a third course possible, and a New York lady, who has plenty of land is going to make this course easier and more attractive.

Farming for girls—such is the idea which this lady has begun to cultivate on the 200 spare acres which she is meaning to devote to a school of agriculture.

Many farmers, says the patroness of the new enterprise, admit that their wives and daughters are often their best helpers. Enough women, furthermore, are working and managing their own farms to demonstrate that there is nothing done on the farm which women cannot do.

Warm welcome should be given to any plan which promises to remove young women from the crowded urban field of unskilled labor and to give them an opportunity of learning some wholesome and paying work in the real fields outside. Mrs. Belmont, the lady referred to, has the means and the disposition to get out of this new departure all that there is in it, and we hope that it may show the way to bettered working and living conditions for thousands of girls and young women to whom the great cities have been unkind.

CANADIAN LUMBERMEN.

'For every foot of timber that has been cut in Canada by lumbermen, at least seven feet have been destroyed by fire.'

This startling statement is made in a bulletin of the Forestry Branch of the Department of the Interior, lately issued (Bulletin No. 9, 'Forest Fires of 1909.')

The author, Mr. H. R. MacMillan, one of the assistant inspectors of Forest Reserves, is a technically trained forester, who has given much attention to this subject. His figures have been based on the latest obtainable data, including a careful estimate of the stand of timber originally standing in the forests of Canada and that still remaining; the difference between these two, less the amount estimated to have been cut by lumbermen, represents the amount destroyed by fire.

Even this estimate of the ratio of timber burned to timber cut is not as large as some given elsewhere. Senator W. C. Edwards, the present president of the Canadian Forestry Association, and one of the best-known and most successful lumbermen of the Ottawa valley, is on record as saying that in that valley ten times as much timber has been destroyed by fire as has been cut by the lumbermen.

The past summer has brought very prominently to public notice the forest fire problem, especially in regard to the fires in the states of Montana and Idaho, and, more recently, in northern Minnesota, where so many towns were destroyed.

The Canadian Forestry Association has for years been endeavoring to arouse public attention in regard to these fires, and of late the work of the Commission of Conservation has been largely directed in the same direction.

In the bulletin above mentioned, there are also discussed at some length the topics of the destruction of Canadian forests by fire, the effects of these fires (in the destruction of timber and of soil, the effect on subsequent tree growth and on the conserving of the water supply) the chief causes of forest fires and the means of preventing such fires.

The bulletin concludes with a summary of Canadian forest fires during the year 1909 (in which, however, figures for Quebec are not cinctuded). This year was not a bad year for fires in the forest, the value of the timber and improvements destroyed, being $210,400 (timber being valued at $1 per thousand). The expense of fire fighting (government and private) amounted to $331,821.42; except for this fire protection the loss would undoubtedly have been much greater.

Copies of this bulletin may be obtained, free of charge, on application to R. H. Campbell, Superintendent of Forestry, Ottawa.

HAREM SKIRT BANNED.

Bill Introduced Into Legislature in Illinois—"Hobbles" Also.

Springfield, Ill., March 9.—Harem and Hobble Skirts were the subject of a bill presented in the House today by representative Murphy, of Chicago. An absolute ban is placed upon the "Harem Skirt" by the bill, which prohibits any woman appearing in public in the garb, fines for violation of the proposed law is provided.

DOCTOR OF AGRICULTURE

President Creelman Would Have One in Every Community

President Creelman of the Agricultural College, Guelph, thinks there should be a Doctor of Agriculture in Ontario. Graduates in medicine, law, and theology must, on leaving college, go immediately into practice and give to the people, for a consideration, the benefit of their opinion on the subjects which they have for four or more years been perfecting themselves.

"We have," says President Creelman, "not for a moment expected the lawyer, the preacher, or the doctor to return to the old homestead and there, within four walls or inside the fences of the one hundred acres, make such a reputation for wisdom, for the saving of souls, or the healing of the sick, that persons needing such help will come there for it; and yet this is just what we are expecting of the graduates of our agricultural colleges. We are expecting them to take a run-down business and build it up, to make a success of it by personal effort, and at the same time, without sign or hope of financial assistance from anyone, to so impress the neighborhood that better farming will become the rule in that district. Have you stopped to think of this side of the question? The remedy is obvious. We must place a doctor of agriculture in every community, must arrange for him to spend all his time at the work, and must pay him according to his ability and the work he performs."

MAKING OF A DANCER

The Girl Must be Absolutely Physically Fit and a Hard Worker

Each note of dancing is taught by an expert. By and by the child dancer makes progress and her work becomes more difficult and exacting. At least she may have to practice for three hours in the morning, attend a rehearsal all the afternoon and dance in the two ballets at night.

From this it will be seen that the girl must be absolutely physically fit and that there is no time for gadding about or pleasure or self indulgence. It is an absolutely true thing to say that the ballet brings up the most hard-working, honest, and clean-living class of girls in the world.

The discipline is such that it exacts with an iron hand the most stoic self-control. Promotion is slow and tedious, and is only earned by a very literal sweat of the brow. The girl has to work her way painfully and laboriously from the back to the front row.

Fred Farren tells how a young man once came to him and told him that, though he had never danced, he was very anxious to go on the stage, and asked how long it would take him to learn to dance. And this was the reply:

"I am not quite sure. I have been at it for twenty-four years and haven't finished learning yet."

So a little girl may join a school at the age of six, and still be learning to dance twenty years later.

Could there possibly be a harder apprenticeship than this?

But there are compensations. The child goes to a profession which pays a salary—certain, if small—every week in the year. Legitimate houses may close, musical comedies may fail, chorusses may be thrown suddenly out of employment in the middle of the season, but the ballet is eternal and the wage is absolutely certain.

HARNESSING A SPIDER

Hunting for a Substitute for the Silk-Worm's Product

Because of the slow and laborious hard labor necessary to unwind a thousand yards of fine thread from the cocoons of the silkworm, and its being unprofitable to carry on this industry except in countries where wages are very low, innumerable scientists and inventors are trying to devise some substitute for the silkworm's product, or to find some other insect that will produce something similar at less cost.

One of the most recent attempts of this sort was caused by the British Association of Silk Manufacturers offering a reward of $5,000 to anyone who would invent a way to utilize the spider as a silk producer. The idea is an old one (for Cleopatra's famous robe was of spider silk), but the problem has always been how to get enough of the spider thread and how to wind it without breaking it or getting it hopelessly entangled.

A Frenchman named Cachot received a reward a little while ago. He harnessed the spider to a machine that he invented containing diminutive bobbins, which revolved constantly. He wound the thread as the spider spun it, not after it had been made. The end of the web, which was attached to the body of the spider, was caught and fastened to a bobbin; then the machine was gently put in motion. The spider finding its web reeling away, apparently of its own volition, naturally pulled in the opposite direction to get away. To the delight of the scientist, it was found that the spider did not pull with sufficient force to break the thread, but actually seemed to enjoy the process, and kept just enough tension so that the web continued moving.

Many spiders were tried in this way, and at last enough of their product was obtained to be woven into a fabric, which, in tenuity, elasticity and tenacity, was found to be superior to natural silk fibre. Dresses of spider web, however, are still beyond the reach of any except the wives of multi-millionaires.

King Relies on Prayer.

London, March 3.—Expressing confidence that the prayers of the Church will aid him in conducting the affairs of state, King George replied to the convocation address of the Archbishop of Canterbury to-day. He said: "It will always be my endeavor with God's help, to maintain and consolidate the foundations of public and private virtue which you labor to preserve, and on which the welfare of my people rests. The knowledge that prayers are offered unceasingly by the church in my behalf strengthens and and increases my trust that the Almighty will bestow blessings in the fullest measure in the solemn hour of my coronation and throughout whatever length of years He may be pleased to grant me."

Winter Term Now Open

THE MINES DEVELOPING MACHINE WILL BE INCORPORATED

It is One of the Greatest Inventions of the Age for the Speedy Development of Mines

A device which will, when installed, be the means of placing hundreds of mining properties, now laying idle, on a producing and dividend paying basis. It will develop a mine in months where it now requires years. It will be the means of bringing sure and quick returns on mine investments which are now slow on account of the long time required to either reach the ore bodies or develop them to an extent which admits of productions on a large scale.

IT CAN BE USED IN ALL MINING REGIONS.
IT CAN BE USED IN DRIVING IRRIGATION TUNNELS.
IT CAN BE USED IN DRIVING TRANSPORTATION TUNNELS.
IT CAN BE USED IN DRIVING DRIFTS AND UPRAISES IN MINES AND IT WILL WORK IN ALL KINDS OF FORMATION.
IT DRIVES A COMPLETE TUNNEL, DRIFT OR UPRAISE, AND SHAPES ITS WORK ON A SCIENTIFIC PRINCIPLE.

Contracts have already been signed for the use of enough of these machines to keep a large factory busy building them for many months, and I predict that before 5 years many hundred of them will be in use.

A corporation will be organized within a short time to own and handle the machine, and it will be capitalized for $1,000,000 divided into 1,000,000 shares. One-half of the stock will be placed in the company's treasury.

YOU CAN NOW BUY PRE-ORGANIZATION STOCK AT 25c PER SHARE (either for cash or ten-payment installments) BUT YOU CANNOT BUY IT FOR LESS THAN 50c PER SHARE AFTER THE INCORPORATION TAKES PLACE.

BISHOP FALLON A PATRIOT.

Bobcaygeon Independent: This bialingualism is causing no end of trouble even among the French. The French Canadian Educational Association at Ottawa, declined to give an address to the new Archbishop, because Bishop Fallon was present, he being an opponent to bi-lingualism. It did not prevent the Bishop from being present at the Installation. He is a fighter from Fighterasville, and would sooner fight than eat. He is a red hot Imperialist, and heartily approves of armies and navies. By vocation he is a Christian, by nature Caesarian.

Synopsis of Canadian Northwest Land Regulations

ANY person who is the sole head of a family or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Enter by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

Nineteen Killed in Avalanche.

Tiflis, Transcaucasia, Russia, Mar. 9.—An avalanche swept down upon and crushed a workingmen's tenement near here while the occupants were still asleep early to-day. Nineteen persons were killed outright and sixteen others received injuries that probably will prove fatal. Seventy more sustained minor hurts.

Taft Declares U.S. Has No Designs

Washington, March 9.—President Taft to-day assured Mr. de La Barra the Mexican Ambassador to the United States, that the statement issued in Mexico City last night through the American Embassy accurately presented the attitude of the United States Government in sending 20,000 troops into Texas. He told Mr. de La Barra that troops were there for manoeuvres, and that there was nothing in the movement that should excite alarm or unusual interest.

CONFERENCE IN NEW YORK.

New York, March 9.—The intense interest taken by the "big business" in the Mexican situation was shown by a conference at the Hotel Plaza to-day between Mexican Ministers of Finance Limantour and J. P. Morgan, jr. The latter is acting as the head of Morgan & Company during the absence abroad of his father, the founder of the banking firm. Participating in the conference, which lasted more than an hour and was held in the suite of Limantour on the 5th floor of the hotel, besides Morgan and Limantour were Cecil Grenfell, a British member of Parliament and permanent financier, and D. P. Bennett, of the Mexican National Railway. Following the meeting the visitors hurried away by a secret entrance.

Dictator Dead or Dying, U. S. to Save Mexico

Washington, March 9.—The army mobilization at San Antonio was declared by the highest military authorities to be an army of invasion. Every detail has been arranged for "an indefinite campaign.":

All arrangements have been made for the crossing of the Rio Grande River, even in the event of the destruction of the permanent bridges. Carefully drafted maps of the roads of Mexico have been prepared for Major-General Carter.

Four fully equipped hospital companies are on their way to the front. The detachments of engineers, ready to construct pontoon bridges, are prepared for long field duty. The signal corps has been ordered out in its entirety.

Whatever the cause of the mobilization, the fact is undenied, and apparently undeniable, to-day that the United States stands ready, at a moment's notice, to take control of Mexico. If the news of the death of President Diaz should be flashed over the wires to-day, the War Department, within a few moments, could have orders for invasion in the hands of the commanders of the troops.

MEXICANS ASKED TO RETURN.

That the Mexican Government despite its denials and formal statements of assurances, is in a state of almost distracted fear of impending developments, was indicated to-day in official circles here. Formal denial that Diaz was dead was sent out by Ambassador de La Barra to all Mexican consuls and officials in America, and similar messages were distributed throughout Europe. But it was a significant fact that a call was issued to "all loyal Mexicans" to return to Mexico.

DIAZ MAY BE DEAD NOW.

Washington, March 9.—The rumor that President Diaz of Mexico, is dead spread swiftly through official circles to-day, and in the absence of confirmation was given much credence, on the ground that the dictator is more than eighty years old, and because his demise offers the only complete explanation yet suggested for the great mobilization of the United States troops at the Mexican frontier.

It is known as a positive fact that Diaz's death would be kept in absolute secret as long as possible, and that officials denials would be forthcoming as long as there was a chance of further concealment. For this reason, the absence of official information and a formal denial at the Mexican Embassy here early to-day did not effect the general belief that the rumor might have some foundation.

Dr. Vasquez Gomez, head of the revolutionary organization here, received seven messages yesterday confirming the report that Diaz was on his deathbed. The revolutionists declare that Diaz has been near death the last week.

At the Mexican embassy, it was asserted that the rumor of Diaz's death was the product of the revolutionists.

"It is an old trick of the anti-Diaz party," said an attache. "Whenever they think it is opportune, they start the report that the President is dead. They circulated the report through out Mexico last summer.

"President Diaz is an aged man, but he is in vigorous health."

The embassy did not attempt to explain the reported cutting off of all press despatches from Mexico City last night. All officials here who are familiar with the situation agree that if Diaz is dead, no man now exists in Mexico capable of holding the government together. Limantour and other leaders now in the ascendancy are civilians and not army men. No man can control Mexico unless he can control the army, it is declared. General Reyes, who is in Paris, and who is the idol of the army, is declared by many to be the only living man who could master the situation.

The fact that President Taft addressed a reassuring message to Diaz last evening was not taken as proof that Taft had evidence that Diaz was alive. He addressed Diaz merely as the head of the Mexican Government.

No Electric Chair For Edith Melber

Albany, N.Y., March 9.—Mrs. Edith Melber will escape the death chair penalty for the murder of her five-year-old boy "George" down whose throat she forced poison last January.

Negotiations were going on between counsel for the accused woman and Prosecuting Attorney Santori, which probably will terminate in Mrs. Melber pleading guilty to a lesser degree of crime, probably murder in the second degree.

When Judge Howard's court opened to-day the jury box was not yet filled, the progress of the trial having been halted to allow conferences between the prosecutor and the lawyers John H. Dugan and Geo. M. Palmer, representing the defendant.

From a new panel of 50 talesmen, the two remaining jurors were soon chosen.

In reviewing the case, Mr. Alexander told the jury that the motive for the crime was undoubtedly the obstacle which the child placed in the way of a second marriage for Mrs. Melber. He charged that the accused young woman had deliberately lied to a young man as to her motherhood, and that her purpose was to make him believe her childless. He traced the history of little "George Melber," telling the jury that the facts showed that the mother became more and more estranged from her child.

Italians Stabbed by Two Men

Sault Ste. Marie, March 9.—As a result of a serious stabbing affray, Jules Lavergne lies this afternoon in a dying condition in a lumber camp ten miles up the line of the Algoma Central Railway. Lavergne was employed in cutting pulpwood with two Italians, and during an argument over wages one of them drew a long knife and stabbed him in the face, while the other plunged his knife into Lavergne's side.

Provincial Constables Flannagan and Hemmingway searched the woods all night in an unsuccessful effort to find the Italians. Flannagan left for Searchmont this morning, where he will organize a posse to search the surrounding country.

Eat Luscious "Sunkist" Oranges

Seedless—Fibreless—Juicy and Sweet—A Perfect Fruit

Five thousand California orange farmers, raising 60 per cent of the state's entire crop, select, each season, their perfect oranges and pack them under the name "Sunkist." This enables you to recognise and buy California's choicest, tree-ripened oranges. Until you have tasted a luscious "Sunkist" orange, you cannot begin to appreciate the excellence of oranges that are properly grown, rigidly inspected, carefully packed and swiftly transported. Serve "Sunkist" on your table tomorrow morning and learn the superiority of tree-ripened, fibreless, seedless, solid and sound oranges over the commonplace kind. "Sunkist" oranges are so nearly all food that they are much the cheapest kind to buy.

"Sunkist" oranges are thin-skinned and are handpicked. The "Sunkist" orange is a firm, solid fruit. Ask your dealer for the "Sunkist" kind and make sure that each orange you get is packed in a tissue paper wrapper labeled "Sunkist." For these wrappers are valuable. You can buy "Sunkist" oranges by the box and half box.

FREE—This Handsome Rogers Orange Spoon

Save 12 "Sunkist" orange wrappers and send them to us, with 25c to pay charges, packing, etc., and we will present you with a genuine Rogers Orange Spoon, of beautiful design and highest quality. Begin saving wrappers today. For each additional spoon desired send 12 "Sunkist" wrappers and 25c. In remitting please send cash when the amount is less than $5c. On amounts above $5c, we prefer postal note, money order, express order or bank draft. We will be glad to send you complete list of valuable premiums. We honor both "Sunkist" and "Red Ball" wrappers for premiums.

The Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO

SATURDAY, MARCH 11th, 1911.

At All Saints'.

At the Lenten service in All Saints' church last night, the Rev. H. D. Raymond, M.A., of St. James church Orillia, conducted the service.

Made in Peterborough.

The machinery for the operating of the lock gates at Hastings, is being installed by an expert from the Wm. Hamilton Co. of this city.

Sermon on "St. Patrick."

In the Sacred Heart church tomorrow evening Rev. Father McGuire, of Douro, will preach on "St. Patrick."

Spring is Evidence.

The signs of spring are quite in evidence these last few days. The robins have left their winter resorts and are becoming quite numerous. We have not yet heard of the first bluebird but it will soon be making its appearance.

Gets Three Months.

Three months in jail at hard labor was the sentence imposed on Nicalo Massiano at the Police Court yesterday, when he pleaded guilty to stealing a quantity of brass and some tools from the Canadian General Electric Company, where he had been employed.

A Meeting for Men.

There will be a meeting for men in Knox Church to-morrow afternoon at four p.m., at which Mr. Woodside will deliver an address. A prayer meeting will be held in the Brotherhood rooms this afternoon at three o'clock. Open to men and women. There will be no service to-night.

A Public Dinner.

Mr. J. Lockie Wilson, Superintendent of the Department of Agriculture, and Dr. Simmons, President of the Ontario Fairs' Association, will deliver addresses at a banquet to be held at the National Hotel, on March 17th, under the auspices of the Peterborough Agricultural Society.

Fine Touring Car.

Mr. F. W. Doan, the popular district manager of the Bell Telephone Company, has purchased a fine new touring car at the big auto exhibition at Toronto last week. The car is an Everrett, and is built to carry five people. It will be delivered early in April.

Conservative Club Room Closed.

The rooms occupied by the Young Conservative Club on George-street, have been closed and the furniture disposed of. The rooms, being situated on the third floor, were not easily accessible, and were therefore, not largely patronized.

A Social Evening.

The Canadian Order of Chosen Friends gave a social evening and concert last night, in the Sons of England Hall. A good programme was provided, during which refreshments were served.

Oil Stock For Sale.

DO NOT send any money or purchase any oil stock of us without first sending for full information. Also consult Dun and Bradstreet as to our integrity and financial standing. If we cannot make you 100 per cent. per annum, do not buy. Price, 25c. JUNO SAN JUAN OIL COMPANY, 306 Chronicle Bldg., San Francisco.

Another Bank Looted.

The contribution box of the Salvation Army, which occupied a prominent place on the counter in the Hotel St. Lawrence office, Port Hope, was smashed during last Monday night, and the contents removed. It is to be hoped the perpetrator may be caught and receive the punishment he deserves.

Against Romish Doctrines.

Rev. W. C. Riddiford, of the Park-street Baptist Church, will deliver the third sermon of the series concerning the doctrines of the Roman Catholic Church, to-morrow evening, at 7 p.m. The subject will be "The Auricular Confession." The public are invited.

Hard on the County.

In speaking before a committee of the Ontario Legislature a few days ago, Mr. A. E. Donovan, M.P.P., of Brockville, charged Peterboro', Wentworth, Prescott, Russell counties with not contributing a single dollar for the upkeep of the general hospitals, although the average cost was $1.26 a day. They should be ashamed of themselves. The Government last year gave $145,000 to the hospitals.

Chief Howard's Pets.

Chief Howard of the Fire Department, does not believe in paying long prices for chickens when he can grow them himself. He has an incubator at work at the fire station, and the first batch of chickens came forth a couple of days ago. The Chief expects to have fresh eggs to burn later on in the season.

Woman Traps Burglar.

On Monday night a lady living in a handsome home on Water-street, was awakened during the night by some one trying to enter the house by a window. Her husband was absent, having not yet returned from the club. Her first impulse was to scream, but on second thought she decided to try and telephone the police for help. She knew that her husband had a revolver on a shelf in the bedroom, and although it was not loaded, she seized it and disappeared out of the door, down the stairs and along the hallway to the telephone. Just then there was a crash in the room adjoining where she stood, and in a flash she faced around and saw the outlines of a man trying to pick up a small table he had overturned, on which was some fancy china. Like a flash she faced him with the revolver while she turned on the light with the other hand. Horror of horrors! It was her husband, who had lost his latch key, and had entered through a side window. It cost him a new silk dress to settle for his wife's strained nerves. Moral: Never lose your latch key.

Fly Wheel Came Off.

When the passenger train which leaves here at 8.30 a.m., was nearing Hastings yesterday morning, the fly wheel on the engine came off, with the result that traffic was crippled for a number of hours. The auxiliary from Lindsay, in charge of Trainmaster McMillan, was rushed to the scene and the line was soon cleared. The damage was slight. Had the accident occurred when the train was at full speed, it would have been very serious.

Protection Needed.

According to Toronto's medical health officer tuberculosis killed 6,000 people in that city last year, and was responsible for a cash loss of $20,000,000. And yet Toronto, like other communities, seems to be fairly well satisfied to allow the destruction and the waste to continue. If half a dozen people are killed in a railway wreck the whole community is shocked for months; but people are allowed to be killed off by thousands by disease and nobody seems to be greatly concerned. Perhaps the time will come when people will demand protection against both disease and railway wrecks. Those who are promoting the tuberculosis meeting to be held in the Council Chamber in Peterborough on Monday evening are doing a good work. Let there be a large attendance.

Railway Revenue.

Reports filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission of the United States for the months of December make possible a comparison of the earnings and expenses of the railroads for the calendar year 1910 with the calendar year 1909. The total operating revenues increased about $220,000,000, while the operating expenses increased about $216,000,000, leaving an increase in net revenue of but $4,200,000. When this amount of net revenue is reduced to a per mile basis and allowance made for the increased mileage of 1910 over 1909, what appears to be an increase in the net revenue becomes a decrease of about $40. per mile.

Of the increase in expenses over one-half was in conducting transportation in which wages were the largest item. The increase in the net earnings of the first half of the year was almost exactly counterbalanced by a decrease in the second half during which the advances in wages were fully effective. It is evident that a prolongation of the conditions of the last six months of 1910 throughout the year 1911 will have a very serious effect upon railway revenue.

SOCIETY EVENTS

The Times will be pleased to receive notices of Weddings, Social Events, Personal Announcements, which will be published in this column free of charge.

Mr. W. Rudkins was in Lindsay on Wednesday.

SUN LIFE

Assurance Company of Canada

HEAD OFFICE - - MONTREAL

A GRAND RECORD IN 1910

The increases in Assurances in force, in Cash Income, and in Assets, were never equalled by any Canadian Life Assurance Company in any year.

The expense ratio was again further reduced notwithstanding the large increases in all items of business.

The protection for the policyholders is completely secured by the enormous assets and surplus of the Company.

The high standard of profits to policyholders has been maintained and its continuance is assured by the soundness and exceedingly profitable character of the investments.

The great success of the Company is not confined to Canada alone, but its vast business and important connections in other lands are doing yeoman service in greatly enhancing the prestige of this country abroad, and in bringing home large sums for investment.

HONOR AMONG THIEVES

Remarkable Story of a Watch Lost at a Race Meeting

An extraordinary story as to the recovery of a watch lost at a race meeting is being told by a Birmingham commercial traveller. This gentleman attended the Wolverhampton race meeting on Boxing Day, and at the end of an otherwise successful outing found that his gold presentation watch was missing. For reasons which may best be imagined he did not proclaim his loss from the housetops. The same gentleman went down to Newbury and had another good day without any loss to mar it. Returning from town at night he had one companion in his compartment—a complete stranger. Midway on the journey a conversation on lay subjects was started, and in the course of it the stranger said: "Do you know, the first time they come for tickets I shall be arrested. I'm clean broke; been down to Newbury, and lost the last stiver. Pal divided his last five bob with me, or I shouldn't have got to London." The man made no appeal for help—bore himself like a Spartan. The traveller, however, rose to the occasion. "Take a loan against a better day?" he asked of his entertaining companion. "Trust me?" queried the other laconically. "I'm a tout." The traveller did trust him, and paid his fare. Moreover, he asked the racing man to take dinner with him in the dining saloon. In the course of the conversation the loss of the gold watch was mentioned, and the traveller declared he would give $25 to get it back again. The racing man said nothing, but when they arrived at New Street asked for the traveller's name and address, that he might return the loan when fortune smiled upon him once again. The address was given. A day or two later a small parcel awaited the traveller on his breakfast table. It contained his watch, a postal order, and a note, undated and unsigned, which directed that no inquiries should be made, and the $25 be paid over to any charity the owner thought fit. Across the bottom of the note was written: "There is sometimes honor among thieves. Many thanks for that excellent dinner."

Smoking Among Women is Becoming More Common

New York Dining Rooms and Restaurants Putting Cigarettes on the Menu for Their Lady Customers

It wasn't so very long ago that the only place hereabouts where women could be seen smoking in public were in the cabins of incoming liners. But these women devotees of the weed were mostly foreigners.

To-day half the women in one of the public dining rooms of a big New York hotel, lately opened, puff nonchantly—or nervously, as the case may be—at their cigarets, without creating more than passing notice. Cigarets, specially made for "lady" smokers, are even listed on the menus.

As this change in the public attitude has taken place with unusual swiftness, those who model their conduct on more severe lines are wondering how long it will be before women smoke on the streets and at the theatres; the big stores have smoking rooms and the cars may be assailed with such expressions as:

"Clare, dear, won't you give me a light, I haven't a match in my chatelaine."

CLASS LEGISLATION.

The granting to women of the right to smoke in the here in question practically amounts to another case of "class legislation." There isn't a place in town where the poor girl or the social outcast can enjoy a "coffin nail" on public. Even the cheap dance halls, against the evils of which so many virulous tirades are aimed, have private rooms set apart for smoking. One or two of the favorite drinking resorts, yclept cafes, of actual and would-be rounders, permit their women—or rather girl patrons—to smoke in the early morning hours. No such restrictions, however, hedge the befurred and bejewelled women that gather at the Madison avenue hostelry.

A woman writer who sat among these feminine smokers, divided them into three classes: Cosmopolitan women who smoked because they really wanted to, those who smoked out of bravado, and those who smoked simply because they wanted to be "good fellows."

Of the second class, the writer says "They held their cigarets as though they were darning needles and cast furtive glances towards the door lest their not conventional broker husband catch them unawares. One knew that these ladies subsequently went to the washroom and lathered their fingers well with scented soap and held their breath when they kissed their children at home."

The "good fellows" are described as "women who can hold as much as any man," and who calls the gentlemen of their acquaintance "pals." These had always smoked wherever they were allowed, and signified their joy over a public endorsement of their private idiosyncrasy by sprawling their elbows on the tables and puffing their smoke like old sea salt.

The Extra Session of Congress May Last Until End of October

THE COMING SESSION IS EXPECTED TO SET A NEW RECORD IN THE UNITED STATES.

May Put Taft in a Hole by Tacking On Some Tariff Amendments to the Reciprocity Bill.

These are sad days for the new Democratic Ways and Means Committee.

All that they have to do within the next two months is to change the entire system of tariff framing, grant hearings to all interested parties—that is, constructively speaking—raze the protective tariff wall, build a careful revenue-only structure in its place; "bone" up on the dreary piles of statistics of imports, manufactures, cost of labor, and transportation, and finally, nurse into being a successor to the Payne-Aldrich law.

What the Republican Ways and Means Committee of the past Congress took practically a year to accomplish, they must condense into the next few months. They are handicapped by a Republican Administration in charge of the Executive Departments, and by knowledge of the lack of a majority in the Senate. Theirs is the task not only of turning out a series of tariff bills revising the Payne-Aldrich measure—which President Taft said was the best yet enacted—but the herculean job of trying to jam these bills through a Republican Senate and, probably, past a veto by a Republican President.

Leaders on both sides who have viewed the situation are unanimous in their belief that the extra session will not come to a close until the latter part of October.

The coming extra session is expected to set a new record. The extra session of 1909 lasted 144 days. That of 1841—the record for extra sessions to date—covered 166 days. There is every prospect that the session of 1911 will cover 200 days.

"The Voice of Jacob but the Hands of Esau"

Rev. Chas. Carpenter, of St. John's Church, in the course of an interesting and modern sermon, yesterday morning, on the text "The voice is Jacob's voice, but the hands are the hands of Esau," was inclined to the opinion that the foregoing biblical question might reasonably be applied in some cases to representations made to intending immigrants to this country. It was hard to conceive, he contended, that immigrants, especially those with families, would come out here in early winter, ill-prepared to face rigorous climatic conditions, and consequent labor depression, had they been correctly informed as to such before leaving home. He was also afraid that the glowing representations of happy and independent homes easy of acquisition by settlers in this country, had in too many instances proved "the voice of Jacob, but the hands of Esau" to immigrants from the old land. Briefly touching upon the widely advertised opportunities for acquiring Western land, the reverend gentlemen, speaking advisedly, had reason to believe that in many districts, speculation in land had ultimately resulted in its reaching prices beyond its actual value for agricultural purposes.

Peterborough Man in a Bad Wreck

Mr. Jos. D. Armstrong, who lives with his sister, Mrs. Hunter, at 467 Water street, was in a rather bad railway wreck in New Brunswick on Thursday last. Mr. Armstrong was in the smoking compartment of the Pullman car when the crash came and he was thrown across the room and was quite severely bruised on the back and one side, while he received a cut over the left eye. On arriving at St. John he had his eye dressed by Dr. A. F. Emery, and though he still suffers much pain he expects to be all right in a few days.

Mr. Armstrong travels for the Chas. C. Punchard Co., of Toronto, and is very popular on the road. He is a Peterborough boy and having always lived here. His many friends will be pleased to learn that his injuries, while painful, are not serious. It was his first business trip through the Maritime Provinces, his ground having heretofore been from Montreal to Winnipeg and the West.

English Syndicate Buying Up Farms

The Picton Gazette says that an English syndicate is buying many of the large apple orchards in Prince Edward County. Big bids have been made for the best orchards.

The scheme of operation is understood to be on a ten year lease basis. The syndicate assumes entire control of the orchard under lease. A wholesale method is to be adopted in pruning, spraying and generally caring for the upkeep of the orchards.

Many apple growers think the move a good one. They consider Prince Edward will be benefitted in the boom that will be given her orchards in the English markets by a big syndicate operating on a powerful scale.

Telemechanics Will Revolutionize Warfare

The Eiffel Tower may become one of the essential features of perhaps the strongest and oddest system of fortresses in the world, if plans now being perfected by Professor Branley, who recently defeated Mme Curie by two votes for admission to the Academy of Science, are carried out.

"Telemechanics," as the new science is called, means the operation by electricity of machinery a long distance off. By a wireless system with which electrical storms will not interfere in the least, Prof. Branley says he could operate a fort 150 miles or more distant. From the Eiffel Tower in Paris a coast-defence series of guns could be sighted, fired, re-loaded, and all, with ease. Even the effect of each shell could be noted by a peculiar system of reflected Hertzian waves.

The use of the new discovery in the pursuits of peace would be infinitely greater. Engines could be set in motion or stopped at a great distance. Farms or lighthouses could be lighted, mines could be operated without risking the lives of men inside them.

Professor Branley's experiments are not entirely complete, but he has demonstrated clearly the feasibility of his plan.

Duke of Connaught's Coming and Canadian Snobbishness

WILL FORMER MAKE THE LATTER TO FLOURISH, MORE LUXURIANTLY.

Than It Does Now At Ottawa?—"Etiquette" Arrived in Canada in 1878—Wealth Produces "Bounders."

It seems to be the general opinion that the coming of the Duke of Connaught as our Governor-General will cause snobbery to flourish more than ever at Ottawa. Now, this talk of an increase in snobbery must mean that we have some already. Taking this for granted, it may be interesting to inquire when it arrived here, how its growth has progressed, and what it is likely to lead to.

In considering a subject like this it is often more interesting to look backward than forward. Etiquette, we are told by no less a student of affairs than Goldwin Smith, first arrived in Canada in 1878, when the Princess Louise came to Canada with her husband, the Marquis of Lorne, who became Governor-General in that year. Goldwin Smith wrote as follows concerning the event:

Ships have come at different ages laden with special freight of good or evil from the Old World to the New. The barque of Columbus brought European Civilization and Christianity; the Mayflower brought the religious Republic; the barque of John Wesley brought Methodism; that of Hawkins brought negro slavery; the Samaritan has brought Etiquette.

This new addition to our civilization to which Goldwin Smith objected so strenuously announced itself by a proclamation which caused much comment at the time. It concerned a vice-regal reception at Montreal and read as follows:

THE VICE-REGAL DRAWING ROOM.

His Excellency, the Marquis of Lorne and her Royal Highness the Princess Louise will hold a drawing room at 9.30 p.m. today in the Windsor Hotel.

Ladies are to wear low-necked dresses, without court trains, and gentlemen are to be in full dress. Ladies whose health will not admit of their wearing low-necked dresses may, on forwarding to the A.D.C. in waiting a medical certificate to that effect, wear square cut dresses. Dresses fastening up the throat are not to be worn.

Ladies and gentlemen are to bring with them two cards each, with names written legibly thereon; one to be left at the door, the other to be given to the A.D.C. in waiting.

E. G. P. LITTLETON,
Gov.-Gen'l's Military Sec.

DIVINITY OF BUCKRAM.

The Sage of the Grange thought this was the limit, so to speak—especially the medical certificate item. He went for etiquette and snobbery for all he was worth. He pointed out that in the days when English kings were real leaders there was no court etiquette. "Hedged by the divinity of usefulness monarchy needed not to be judged by the divinity of buckram." When kings were good, be observed, they were simple; with the vicious decline of monarchy came etiquette. Goldwin Smith seemingly overlooked the fact that Victoria the Good was then on the throne, but his main objections to the arrival of court formalism were probably well founded.

If real snobbery sprang up in Canada in 1878, who has chiefly encouraged its subsequent growth? This question was put this week to a number of Toronto ladies who are well acquainted with society affairs at Ottawa.

"For goodness' sake, don't blame the women, anyway!" said one. "For you'll find the worst sort of snobbery in Ottawa among little whippersnappers in the civil service, and other men, who are good for very little but cultivating the English accent. But don't say I said so, for there are a lot of good chaps in the civil service, too!"

Another lady thought that the coming of His Royal Highness of Connaught would probably increase the number of bounders at the capital. "But," she added, "I think that bounders will increase with the increase in wealth, whether we have Royalty at Ottawa or not."

This reminds us of the fact that when the Princess Louise was in Canada, "royalty" was looked upon by nearly all of our people as something impersonal, to be respected, from afar. But nowadays there are a very considerable number of Canadians—men as well as women—who are simply aching to be "recognized" by royalty. We see evidences of this in plenty right here in Toronto. In the old days only the women looked for this sort of thing. The men who came in contact with Governor-General were mostly hard-headed persons who often disputed their authority.

Seven Years For Father.

Oakville, Ont., March 10.—John Cowrie, the Trafalgar Township farmer, who was arrested on a complaint of his 15-year-old daughter, yesterday pleaded guilty in the magistrate's court, and was sentenced to seven years with hard labor.

Shot Husband and Son.

Branford, Conn., March 11.—Mrs. Cora Wood, who shot and killed her husband, Christopher G. Wood, and their eleven year old son, Kaikenond, and then sent a bullet into her own breast, at the Wood home here, was still alive this morning, but according to the medical examiner, the probabilities are that she will not live the day out.

NO SYMPATHY FOR HAREM SKIRT.

Des Moines, Ia., March 11.—A vaudeville actress was driven off the streets by the police this morning when she appeared in a "harem skirt."

WILL RE-ENTER FEDERAL ARENA

BOURASSA DISCUSSES PULPWOOD SECTION OF RECIPROCITY AGREEMENT IN QUEBEC LEGISLATURE.

Re-Enter Federal Arena—Nationalist Will Do So at First Opportunity—Goals to Reply To-day.

Quebec, Que., March 10.—In the Legislative Assembly yesterday, Mr. Henri Bourassa, the Nationalist leader, raised the question of reciprocity, urging the Quebec Government to maintain the regulations that tend to foster the making of paper in Canada and in the Province of Quebec. These regulations, adopted about two years ago, prohibit the exportation of pulpwood cut on Crown lands and are the same as those existing in the Province of Ontario.

Official reports of the Crown lands department show that last year, 191,000 cords of pulpwood cut on Crown lands, representing a value of $1,147,000, were exported to the United States. Mr. Bourassa says that if this pulpwood had been converted here in paper, the Province would have drawn $7,652,000, instead of $1,147,000.

Mr. Bourassa commenced the Federal Government for having discussed with the United States Government the question of the free exchange of pulpwood without consulting the provinces on whose wood trade the proposed treaty would have so great effect.

The Nationalist leader feared that the American paper manufacturers will not come and manufacture his paper here, and moreover that American manufacturers will come and spoliate our forests in a manner that will be hard to control. Canada exported last year $6,000,000 worth of pulpwood in the States. If this pulpwood had been here in paper, Canada would have realized $34,000,000 more. Mr. Bourassa also asks the Quebec Government to proceed without delay to a real separation of forest regions and areas fit for settlement.

This speech is said to be the last delivered by the Nationalist leader in the Quebec Assembly. It is said that Mr. Bourassa will take the first chance that is offered him to re-enter into Federal politics.

Sir Lomer Gouin will answer today to this speech and will give his views on the maintenance of regulations on exportation of pulpwood.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

A Big Fire in Millbrook

BLAZE BROKE OUT ON MAIN STREET AND FOUR STORES WERE GUTTED.

A very disastrous fire broke out in Millbrook on Saturday, and did about $15,000 damage before it was extinguished. It was discovered in the dry goods store of Walsh & Clark's by Dr. Fisher, and the alarm was immediately sent in. The firemen quickly responded and soon had two streams of water playing on the fire. By this time the flames had spread to Lang's harness establishment, thence to Steele's jewelry store, where it was finally checked, only to break out again about an hour later in R. J. Doake's office, which is located over Harold Nattrass' barber shop. This building was considered to be fireproof, but the brick wall was heated to such an intense degree as to cause the fire to burst out in the third storey. It was subsequently checked, but the building was badly damaged by fire and water.

A call for help was received by Chief Howard, at Peterborough Fire Station, but he could not do anything until he got the consent of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, and also assurance from the proper authorities in Millbrook that all expenses incurred by the trip would be paid by the corporation of that town. However, word was received later, saying that the fire was under control.

Those who suffered most were Walsh & Clark, dry goods merchants; Thos. Lang, harness shop; John Steele's jewelry shop, and Harold Nattrass. A considerable amount of damage was also done to the surrounding buildings, by water and smoke. A number of plate glass windows were cracked by the heat across the other side of the street. It is reported that the insurance on the buildings and contents, which were consumed, will not exceed ten thousand dollars.

This is the second disastrous fire to visit Millbrook within a few weeks. The last one consumed the Needler Mill property, entailing a loss of $20,000.

Was Rich in This World's Goods

Concord, N.H., March 11.—A valuation of $2,512,146 is placed on the estate in New Hampshire of the late Mrs. Mary Baker Glover Eddy, founder of the Christian Science Church, by the appraisers, whose report was filed in the Merrimack County, probate court to-day by General Henry M. Baker of Bow, executor of the estate. While the property left by Mrs. Eddy in Massachusetts has not been formerly appraised, General Baker estimates it at about $250,000. The total value of Mrs. Eddy's estate, therefore, is approximately $2,760,000.

WEEKLY SERVICE TO GERMANY.

Six Steamers Will Call at Port Montreal.

Montreal, March 10.—As a result of increasing trade and immigration the Canada line will put on six passenger and freight steamers, forming a direct weekly service between Germany and Canada, and will ply from the ports of Hamburg, Bremen and Rotterdam to Quebec and Montreal.

A BIG COLONIZATION SCHEME.

Vancouver, B.C., March 11.—A syndicate of Canadian and United States capitalists here has bought one million acres of the Peace River district of British Columbia for $5,000,000. The district will be colonized by the American farmers.

Two Years for Stealing a Horse

Pembroke, Ont., March 11.—Frank Minard, who pleaded guilty to horse-stealing, was sentenced by Judge Donahue to two years in Kingston penitentiary. For obtaining money by false pretences he received six months the sentences to run concurrently.

Japan Celebrates

Delighted Over Conclusion of Treaty With U. S. A.

Tokio, March 11.—Marquis Katsura premier and minister of finance, gave a dinner to-night for the ambassador and staff of the American Embassy, in celebration of the conclusion of the new commercial treaty between Japan and the United States.

An Outbreak of Foot and Mouth Disease

Britain Again Afflicted—Cattle Embargo Will Certainly Be Maintained Now.

London, March 11.—The foot and mouth disease has again appeared in England.

This time the outbreak is in Surrey.

The movement of stock has been prohibited in a wide area around the seat of the disease.

The embargo on Canadian and other cattle from abroad has been maintained by Britain principally to keep out the foot and mouth disease, which usually costs vast sums of money to eradicate.

A WEDDING FEAST.

The appetite of the Hungarian peasant is well known to be hearty. An idea of the amount consumed at festivals may be gathered from the menu of a wedding feast which took place some days ago in a small Hungarian village. The wedding rejoicings commenced on Monday afternoon and lasted until Thursday night. There were 1,400 guests, and they consumed 650 geese, 425 turkeys, 1,200 chickens, 60 pigeons, 3,400 loaves, 400 tins of biscuits, 2 cwt. of rice, 1,330 gallons of wine, and 100 barrels of beer. Five bands played during the entertainment.

QUEBEC JUDGE ROASTS A PRIEST

Tells Him What He Thinks of His Line of Action—Was a Severe Censure.

Montreal, March 11.—The unusual spectacle of a French-speaking judge severely censuring a priest of his own faith, was presented in the Court of the King's bench yesterday afternoon during the hearing of a perjury case.

The methods and action of Father Desrosier, the parish priest of St. Pierre aux Liens, and a well known temperance advocate, were most dramatically denounced by Justice Lavergne.

The case was that of Napoleon Jubinville, a special detective, who was charged with perjury in connection with a former license law infringement action. Jubinville had made a case against a storekeeper in St. Pierre, named Guaron, and a charge of selling liquor without a license was pressed by the anti-alcoholic league. Jubinville had sworn that Guaron sold him liquor, but the latter proved an alibi.

Yesterday Father Desrosier entered the witness box and swore that he would not believe Guaron on oath, thereby bringing down on his head the wrath of the judge.

"These are the methods of Russia, the land of the bomb and the anarchists," declared His Honor. "These two men, in spite of the fact that they have the endorsation of their parish priest, were not only spies, but provocators of crime. As for Father Desrosier, the reasons he gives for going into the witness box and declaring he could not believe the complainant under oath were insufficient. People like this priest forget all charity in the pursuit of their aims."

Jubinville was found guilty of perjury.

TARGET SHOOTING CONTEST.

MIND TRAGEDIES IN NEW YORK CITY

WILL STOP SMUGGLING INTO MEXICO OF REBELS AND MUNITIONS OF WAR.

The Republic Complained—European Countries Also Looked to U.S. to See That Their Interests Were Protected.

Washington, March 10.—With all the details of the southward movement of troops completed and activity quickly shifted from Washington to the field, the headquarters of the army to-day is awaiting complacently the arrival of the units of the moving commands at their objective points.

The admissions in Administration circles that the military activity is inspired by conditions in Mexico were read with deep interest to-day by officers of the army and navy, a majority of whom had accepted the earlier explanation that the operations were merely technical exercises and drills in the art of warfare. It is now understood that the United States, at the instigation of European powers and President Diaz, has decided to put a solid military wall along the Mexican frontier and prevent the smuggling across of arms and men for the rebels.

VAST SUMS INVESTED.

The total of American capital in Mexico, according to estimates of Consular officials, is nearly $1,500,000,000. This vast sum is invested largely in properties gained through concessions from Diaz.

The investments of British interests in Mexico total more than half a billion dollars. Germany and France also have enormous holdings.

INSURGEETS CAPTURED TOWN.

El Paso, Texas, March 10.—Despatches received early this morning from Columbus, N.M., state that Madero's forces, under Col. Garcia, have renewed the attack upon Col. Cuellar's Federals at Casas Grandes. They have captured the town, but are still fighting to retain possession.

NOT LIKE CLOCKWORK.

San Antonio, Tex., March 10.—With the arrival of the 17th Infantry from Fort McPherson, Ga., the last of 20,800 Federal troops converging on San Antonio pitched camps in historic Fort Sam Houston to-day. Other troops are expected to arrive to-night. Saturday and Sunday will see the arrival of the entire armed strength that is to be mobilized here within easy striking distance of any portion of the Mexican border.

When the 17th arrived it was found that wheels and wagons had been mounted in one section of the transport train all right, but the harness was in another, so that the wagons would have been useless for hurried service.

TECHNICAL EDUCATION BILL.

Following the lines laid down by Dr. Seath, Superintendent of Education, in his voluminous and valuable report on technical education, the Minister of Education has introduced a bill to establish various types of schools fitted for the purpose of giving technical training, says the Kingston Standard. These schools will give an education in subjects fitted to prepare pupils for industrial life. Special industrial classes are intended to provide instruction in theoretical and practical work for particular trades peculiar to the district in which the school is situated.

A committee of twelve will have the management of the technical school; six from the Board of Education, three members who are engaged in industries in the district and three employers of labor. This committee will have charge of the building, the course of studies and all other work in connection with the school. If the school is in an agricultural district the committee will consist of eight, four being members of the Board of Education and four farmers.

The sum of $20,000 is set aside by the government as the allowance for the first year in assisting these schools, this sum to be apportioned in the same way as grants to high schools. This is only a beginning and, of course, the grant will have to be increased as the work grows in importance.

The government is to be congratulated in acting so promptly after the receipt of Mr. Seath's report. No more important measure has been brought before the Legislature in recent years.

GRASPING AT SHADOWS.

Many a man has frequently been persuaded or tempted to withdraw from a savings bank the hard earned savings which he has, perhaps, for years been laying aside to keep him in his old age, sometimes by a friend who applies to him for a temporary loan—"just for a few weeks," the inducement to part with his money being the offer of a handsome bonus, but more frequently is he the victim of the silver tongued exponent of some get-rich-quick scheme. Experience teaches us, however, that too often does the borrower fail in his probably good intentions, and the lender lose the amount lent as well as the interest which his money would have earned had he left it in the savings bank, and that in ninety-nine times out of a hundred does the get-rich-quick scheme fail to materialize—in grasping at the shadow we have lost the substance. The Canadian Government Annuities Act protects a man against improvident acts and injudicious investments—it safeguards him against himself. Moneys paid into the Annuities fund cannot be alienated or used for any other purpose, but must remain intact for the object for which the payments have been made, otherwise the end aimed at would never, as has been illustrated above, be attained, and old age would overtake us unprovided for its many trials and tribulations.

Further information on the subject may be obtained by applying to the Postmaster, or direct to Superintendent of Annuities, Ottawa, to whom all letters go free of postage.

LONDON LEADING IN SPELLING REFORM.

The Schoolmasters' Club of London, Ont., is an organization of professors and male teachers of the University, Normal School, Collegiate Institute, Public Schools, and business college. At its annual meeting on the 14th of February, after the discussion of a paper on the Improvement of Spelling, a resolution was adopted in the following terms:

"The Schoolmasters' Club desires to express to the publishers of the journals of this city its approval of their practice of spelling words as 'labor,' 'governor,' 'honor,' etc., with the 'or' ending, and further begs to suggests that they take steps to introduce approved simplifications and improvement of the spelling of some common words, for example, 'program,' 'catalog,' 'tho,' 'altho,' 'thoro,' 'thoroly,' 'meter,' 'centre,' 'theater.'"

Vice-Principal Dearness, of the London Normal School, said in a recent address: "It cannot be too strongly impressed that no particular method of spelling is either divinely appointed or particularly patriotic. The spelling in vogue is neither more or less than the fashion of the day. If, like bobble skirts on icy sidewalks, it is inconvenient, sensible people are willing to suffer a change. Most of us can laugh at the earnest conserver of the present fashion of spelling, who protested against 'heven' on the ground that he wanted that word always spelt the way the apostles wrote it."

A DOG GUIDE THROUGH CLIFFS

"Major," a Curly-Haired Retriever, Could Even Open Small Iron Gates

The river Cynfal rises in North Merioneth, Scotland, at an altitude of nearly fourteen hundred feet, and as its whole course is not much over eleven miles from the source to the point where it joins the gentle Dwyrid, in the Festiniog valley, it will be at once understood that the stream has an impetuous course from start to finish. The most romantic point on the river is to be found at the famous Cynfal Falls, near the small town of Festiniog, which is in itself a beauty spot in this romantic district.

We called at the Abbey Arms, writes T. M. Hardie, to inquire about the footpath leading to the falls, and Mr. Jones, the courteous landlord, at once commenced to give direction as to a gate in a farmyard at the end of the street. By that time he was in the roadway, and suddenly said—"But I will send the dog with you." Then he uttered a short sentence in Welsh to a black, curly-haired retriever, with beautiful eyes and a most intelligent face. "Major" at once with joyful alacrity responded to the call, and began barking so excitedly as to quickly bring out every other dog in the village. However, peace being restored, the Major led the way, and the small procession started.

The falls are about a mile from the village, and this remarkable and most lovable dog has been trained to act as guide. He carries out his task with great skill, and the thoroughness and energy of every movement provoked much amusement. Along the footpath there are several small iron gates, and, with one exception, the Major can open them. The one he cannot manage has a spring latch, which is beyond his reach. When the noise of the cataract reached our ears the guide, who had disappeared for a short time in order that he might enjoy a bath by the wayside, led us down a side path and left us in front of the lower fall, where the water has a sheer descent of 40 feet. In order that the scene may be thoroughly enjoyed, a bridge has been thrown over the chasm.

On the one side the torrent is pouring over the face of the rock, and the air is saturated with the spray from below. On the other, one can look down to the depths of the gorge and observe the water stealing away between the narrow ledges of rock. The sight is awe-inspiring, and one holds on to the bridge with no uncertain grip. When the party began to retrace their steps we found the Major did not return to the original path, but trotted up a smaller one for a short distance, and then stopped opposite a columnar rock, standing high out of the river, and locally known as "Hugh Lloyd's Pulpit"—a place where, in former days, a wizard was nightly wont to recite his incantations.

We were again following up the Major—eagerly I may say—for we were filled with expectation as to where our canine friend would lead us next. "Next" we found was "The Goat's Leap," a jutting rock with something of the shape of a natural bridge. At this point the gorge widens out a little, and the Major had trotted down a side path and stood beside the river. From the point where we stood there was nothing apparently to be gained by going down, but we reckoned without our host, for we were breaking faith with the guide, who, perceiving that we were leaving out a part of the programme, fell to barking in such a furious manner that we went down in order to pacify him. Having crossed the river, our guide led us up the left bank, and soon we came in sight of what, in some respects, was the grandest sight of all, viz., the upper falls, where the river pours its flood in three great leaps, foaming, into a dark basin overshadowed by the adjoining rocks. A rustic seat at this point provided an agreeable resting-place, where the sandwiches were enjoyed, and where also sat the Major, who had a share of what was going, and well deserved it.

PAY THEIR OWN LIGHT BILL

Novel Method of Making "Late Birds Pay the Piper"

Some of the smaller European towns of economical habits have been complaining because they are obliged to light their streets all night for the benefit of a few belated citizens and have been trying to discover a method whereby the citizen who needs to have his pathway lighted in the small hours of the night shall pay the costs himself. In one of the streets of a small German town such a system has actually been put into operation. The street is a little over half a mile long, and is provided with nine lamps. At each end of the street is a penny-in-the-slot machine, and whenever anyone wishes to light up the street, he has merely to drop in a ten-pfennig piece, which turns on the current for twelve minutes. This allows him ample time to walk the length of the street. The street is normally lighted until 10 o'clock. Thereafter the prepayment meter must be resorted to.

VALUABLE ORPINGTONS

Two raven black Orpington hens exhibited at the Philadelphia Poultry Show were valued at $12,000 and $10,000 respectively. Each of their eggs is worth $25.

CHEAP LIVING

The most optimistic man in London is thought to be a workhouse inmate, who, although he is becoming both blind and deaf, is confident that he can live on the $1.25 a week pension for which he has just become eligible.

The resources of fuel in the peat bogs of the central Provinces of Canada are enormous, says Dr. Eugene Haanel, Director of Mines, Ottawa. He estimates that there is contained in the known bogs, covering 12,000 square miles, fuel sufficient to supply over 5,000,000 families for 100 years. A peat-fuel plant, such as is used in Sweden and Russia, has been erected on a bog near Alfred, Ontario, which last season manufactured 1,000 tons of peat fuel in fifty days. The cost of this fuel on the field should not be more than $1.50 per ton.

Winter Term Now Open

Synopsis of Canadian Northwest Land Regulations

ANY person who is the sole head of a family or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

THE MINES DEVELOPING MACHINE WILL BE INCORPORATED

It is One of the Greatest Inventions of the Age for the Speedy Development of Mines

A device which will, when installed, be the means of placing hundreds of mining properties, now laying idle, on a producing and dividend paying basis. It will develop a mine in months where it now requires years. It will be the means of bringing sure and quick returns on mine investments which are now slow on account of the long time required to either reach the ore bodies or develop them to an extent which admits of productions on a large scale.

IT CAN BE USED IN ALL MINING REGIONS.
IT CAN BE USED IN DRIVING IRRIGATION TUNNELS.
IT CAN BE USED IN DRIVING TRANSPORTATION TUNNELS.
IT CAN BE USED IN DRIVING DRIFTS AND UPRAISES IN MINES AND IT WILL WORK IN ALL KINDS OF FORMATION.
IT DRIVES A COMPLETE TUNNEL, DRIFT OR UPRAISE, AND SHAPES ITS WORK ON A SCIENTIFIC PRINCIPLE.

Contracts have already been signed for the use of enough of these machines to keep a large factory busy building them for many months, and I predict that before 5 years many hundred of them will be in use.

A corporation will be organized within a short time to own and handle the machine, and it will be capitalized for $1,000,000 divided into 1,000,000 shares. One-half of the stock will be placed in the company's treasury.

YOU CAN NOW BUY PRE-ORGANIZATION STOCK AT 25c PER SHARE (either for cash or ten-payment installments) BUT YOU CANNOT BUY IT FOR LESS THAN 50c PER SHARE AFTER THE INCORPORATION TAKES PLACE.

HYDRO POWER TO LITTLE PLACES

PROVISION IN NEW BILL WILL ENABLE VILLAGES TO SECURE ELECTRICITY.

Easy to Set in Motion—One Ratepayer May Compel Council to Take the Necessary Steps.

Toronto, March 9.—An important extension of the powers of the Hydro Electric Commission is provided for in a measure introduced into the Legislature yesterday afternoon by Hon. Adam Beck. It allows the Commission to do business with a limited number of ratepayers in a municipality, and also to enter into contracts with police villages in rural districts. In this way it provides for the selling of power to the farmers, as promised by Mr. Beck some time ago.

Under the bill, one or more ratepayers in a municipality, the corporation of which has not entered into a contract with the Commission may apply to the corporation to obtain from the commission a supply of power for their own use. The council will apply to the commission for estimates, which will be furnished by the commission in respect to the amount of power asked for. The council shall then confer with the applicant, and if they assent, without submitting the matter to general ratepayers, it may enter into a contract with the commission for the amount of power required. It shall then issue debentures to provide money for the necessary transmission lines, and fix the payments from the people served at such a rate as to cover all payments by the municipality to the commission, and to provide for interest and sinking funds on the debentures.

The bill also provides that police villages may enter into contracts with the municipal corporations. Such villages desiring power shall apply to the Township Council, and the procedure will be along the same lines as described above.

Nineteen Killed in Avalanche.

Tiflis, Transcaucasia, Russia, Mar. 9.—An avalanche swept down upon and crushed a workingmen's tenement near here while the occupants were still asleep early to-day. Nineteen persons were killed outright and sixteen others received injuries that probably will prove fatal. Seventy more sustained minor hurts.

Western Conservatives Unite in Condemnation

AS MANITOBA SEES IT.

No mandate from the people.
Will upset trade conditions.
Will side-track Winnipeg.
Will endanger Canada as a nation.
Twelve more nations competing with the Canadian farmer.

Winnipeg, March 9.—At a big mass meeting of Conservatives held last night at which all the Cabinet Ministers and members of the Legislature were present, an unanimous resolution was passed condemning the reciprocity agreement. The resolution was moved by Hon. Hugh John Macdonald and seconded by Mr. Jos. Bernier, M.P.P.

FOUR REASONS.

Mr. Macdonald opposed the agreement on four grounds. First on constitutional grounds, claiming the Government had no mandate from the people. Second on commercial grounds. It would upset trade conditions and imperil the prosperity of Canada. Third, for selfish reasons, as it would side-track Winnipeg and make of it an annex of St. Paul and Minneapolis, and finally on patriotic grounds, as it would endanger Canada as a nation.

Premier Roblin and Hon. Robert Rogers both spoke strongly opposing the pact. The Premier opposed it principally on patriotic and Imperial grounds.

HAD SELFISH REASONS.

Mr. Rogers took a fall out of Senator Cox and said his attitude was for selfish reasons. He was a large stock holder in the Dominion Steel Company, the Dominion Coal Company, and the Crow's Nest Company, all of which were benefitted rather than hurt by the agreement. He said that the treaty gave the farmer free trade on everything he produced, but left protection on everything he wanted.

He emphasized the fact that by the favored nation clause twelve nations got the privileges of the United States and would compete with Canadian farmers, while Canada would have no advantages in their markets.

A resolution was unanimously and enthusiastically passed.

The Premier was presented with a silver service by the Government members of the Legislature, while the Conservatives of Winnipeg gave Mr. Rogers a painting of himself.

Mrs. Coon was taken completely by surprise, and returned her grateful thanks in a few well chosen words.

Case Dismissed.

An employee of a local hotel was charged in the Police Court on Saturday morning with assaulting one of the bell boys employed at the hotel. Several witnesses were called and a lot of evidence was taken, but the Magistrate was unable to make a conviction. He thought that the boy could not have been very badly hurt and that probably there was some justification for the act, so he dismissed the case.

A Twilight Musicale.

A very interesting and delightful musicale was given in the Conservatory of music on Saturday afternoon under the auspices of the Women's Art Association. The programme consisted of selections by the Conservatory orchestra, piano selection by Miss Pearl McKee, violin solo by Mr. Wm. Wilson, song by Mr. Geo. M. Wright and a cornet selection by Mr. Gliddon. The last number on the programme was a transcription of a Russian Hymn, with chimes, played by Mr. Hughes who also conducted the Orchestra for Mr. Gliddon's solo. There were about 300 persons present.

Heavy Penalties Imposed.

Important changes in the law of egress from public buildings are made by a bill introduced in the legislature last week by the Hon. A. J. Matheson, Provincial Treasurer. In all churches, schools, halls, or buildings used for public purposes all exit doors must open outward. The responsibility of church congregations will be strictly enforced. The law declares that congregations or societies possessing corporate powers, and all trustees, incumbents, church wardens and other persons holding churches, schools or buildings used for churches or schools, shall be severely liable as trustees for the societies or congregations to see that the provisions of the Act are carried out. The penalty for an offence is a fine of $50, half of which goes to the informant and half to the municipality.

OBITUARY

MRS. JAMES ZIMMERMAN.

The death is announced of Mrs. James Zimmerman, daughter of Mr. Benjamin McCannon, 480 Donegal street, which occurred in Brantford. The remains were brought to Peterborough on Saturday and the funeral will take place this afternoon from 480 Donegal street, to Little Lake cemetery. Rev. H. J. Keith will conduct the services at the house at 2 o'clock.

MRS. MARY HILTON.

There passed away on Saturday evening an old an highly respected resident of the city in the person of Mrs. Mary Hilton, at the ripe old age of 96 years. The deceased lady came to Peterborough in 1832, and spent most of her life in Peterborough. Mr. Robert Reid, 560 Water street, was a nephew. The funeral will leave the residence of Mr. Reid, of Water street, to-morrow at 3 o'clock. Interment in the Little Lake cemetery.

MRS. GRAHAM.

The many friends of Mr. George Graham, of the Oriental, will sympathize with him in the death of his mother, which occurred yesterday morning at 7.30.

The late Mrs. Graham was 82 years of age and was widely known in the city and vicinity, where she had lived for many years and had made a large circle of friends by her kindly nature and pleasing disposition.

She leaves to mourn her loss, four sons and two daughters. The sons are George, of this city; James, Frank and Christopher. The daughters are Mrs. Gallon and Mrs. McCarnie. The funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon at 2.30.

The Weighing of Coal.

In reference to Ald. Brown's contention that the weighing of coal on the market scales should be paid for, he does not wish to be misunderstood on this question. Ald. Brown says he is not actuated by any desire to handicap the consumer in getting market weight as an evidence of fair measure, but to increase the value of the market tolls to the clerk, and consequently to the city. The tolls are sold by auction, and were a fee charged for weighing coal, the possible market revenue would be proportionately increased, which fact, he offers, would be taken into consideration by those bidding at the sale of the market tolls. Ald. Brown thinks it is in the interests of the city generally that the most should be made of its available assets.

Manchester Blacks.

The boiled eggs (shelled) on a restaurant counter yesterday were floating in water—their dish was half full of it. A customer asked why, nys the "Manchester Guardian." "It's the wind," said the waiter. "Wind! what has the wind to do with it? Are they liable to be blown away?" "No, Sir, but when these gales are on the wind blows the Manchester 'blacks' in so thickly that they settle on the eggs, and we can only keep the whites white by rolling them in water like this." The customer asked about the other food on the counter. "Oh, that doesn't matter. The 'blacks' and the dust do not show up on other things like they do on the eggs." What an atmosphere!

ALL CANADIAN ROUTE

Remarkable Development in Traffic to Halifax to and From the Old Country

Mails and passengers from Great Britain now reach Montreal, Toronto and the Canadian West, and even the portions of the United States more promptly and quickly via the Canadian Steamship routes than by the Lines to New York, and the manner in which transportation facilities between Great Britain and Canada have progressed in order to meet the ever growing needs of the rapidly developing Dominion is really remarkable. The Royal Mail Steamers leaving Liverpool for Halifax, N.S., now make the passage in from five to six days and it is possible for a traveller to reach Toronto, or even farther, in seven days' journey from Liverpool. Halifax is 2,485 miles distant from Liverpool. From Halifax to Montreal via the Intercolonial Railway is 836 miles, and to Toronto is 378 miles farther. On the arrival of the Mail Steamers at Halifax mails and passengers are promptly transferred to a waiting special train at the dock. These trains have the most modern and comfortable type of passenger cars, through colonist and sleeping cars, and dining car, and trains are greatest possible speed, twenty-three to twenty-four hours being the average time for the run from Halifax to Montreal. At Montreal there is direct connection with trains of the Grand Trunk Railway for western points, and thus the whole of Canada is being splendidly served by the Steamship Lines and by the Intercolonial Railway, which has the important task of carrying the mails and passengers between the seaport and the metropolis of Canada.

The development of traffic by the "All Canadian Route" is shown by the increasing number of passengers landing at Halifax by these Steamers, while the tremendous increase in the amount of mail matter carried testifies eloquently to the strengthening of the ties between Canada and the Motherland, and to the great growth of commercial, social and personal correspondence. Recently the "Hesperian," of the Allan Line landed over 4,000 bags of mail at Halifax, enough to tax the carrying capacity of fifteen mail cars. The "Empress of Ireland" on a recent trip carried 2,100 bags and 1,250 packages. The finest steamers afloat have brought the Shores of Canada within six days' sail of England. From the Atlantic port of Halifax, railway trains, the equal of any in regard to speed and equipment, rush travellers to the interior. The I. C. R. "Maritime Express, leaving Montreal Fridays, carries many passengers to Halifax to sail by the steamers departing for Liverpool, and thus there is a constant flow of travel to and fro during the winter season that is drawing Canada and Great Britain together in a closer bond of union.

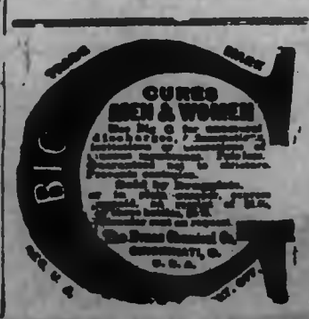
A PIECE OF CHEEK

"A summons for insult against a woman who had the cheek to come to my house to collect some money I owe her," was the request an indignant man made to a London magistrate.



READ EVERY WORD OF THIS

It Will Be Money In Your Pocket To Do So

Everyone is anxious to make money. Everyone has an ambition to get rich. Some men DO get rich. Others remain poor. The difference is simply a difference of methods. Nearly all of us save some money, but we do not let these savings earn anything for us. THE MAN WHO SAVES HIS MONEY AND LETS THE SAVINGS EARN SOMETHING FOR HIM is making it do double duty. Take the history of all the very wealthy men of the country and learn how many of them made their fortunes by simply saving what they earned. Not one of them did. They saved but they immediately put their savings to work for them. YOU WANT TO GET TO THE TOP OF THE LADDER, YOU WANT TO ACCUMULATE SOMETHING FOR YOUR OLD AGE. THEN YOU HAD BETTER PUT YOUR SAVINGS TO WORK AND LET THEM HELP YOU DO IT.

In almost any ordinary investment a man cannot make his money earn over 8 per cent. Mining offers you greater opportunities. I am going to offer you an opportunity that has promise of earning for you 800 per cent or even more. I want to take you into partnership with me, in an enterprise that will probably make us all independent for the balance of our lives. YOU MUST TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THIS OFFERING. The Gold Queen Mining Company, of which I am president, has over 135 acres of rich mineral ground in one of the most prosperous mining districts of the world. We have already expended thousands of dollars in developing this property and we have struck ore that is very rich. We need a mill to extract the precious metal from this ore. We need a little help in building this mill. Are you willing to subscribe a portion of the amoont necessary to do it? In numbers there is strength, and even though your subscription be a very small one, we are willing to give you a part ownership in this great enterprise, in return for it. We are willing to take you in on an equal basis with us and give you the benefit of all your savings may earn for you. The men behind this proposition are all successful business men. They are in this business to make it pay and for every dollar they earn for themselves they will earn one for you. REMEMBER: THIS IS NOT A PROSPECT—IT IS A MINE WITH ORE IN IT. But a small amount of money is necessary to build our mill. We have decided to offer only a very limited number of shares at the present price, and as soon as this amount is secured the price will be advanced to a much greater figure. NOW IS THE TIME FOR YOU TO ACT. YOU ARE GETTING IN WITH THE ORGANIZERS OF THE COMPANY AT GROUND FLOOR PRICES. YOU ARE COMING INTO A BONA FIDE PARTNERSHIP WITH US AND WITH NO PARTNERSHIP RESPONSIBILITIES. Read what Mr. Van Wagenen, one of the foremost mining engineers of the country has to say: "I would advise the immediate erection of a ten-stamp mill with cyanide equipment, to treat your gold ores, and a separate concentrating plant to handle your copper pyrites, thus reducing the shipping weight 6 to 1, and eventually put in a smelter in connection with the mill, with a ten-stamp mill on your property and a daily production of 50 tons of ore. I CAN PROMISE YOU A NET EARNING OF $300.00 PER DAY or $109,500 per year and that can be increased to ten times as much as soon as tunnels A and B are finished, and added milling equipment is installed. The economical method is the best. Start with a ten-stamp mill and let your stockholders be content with 10 per cent per annum until you have increased your milling facilities, and install your smelting plant to treat your concentrates. THEN YOU CAN PAY THEM 400 TO 500 PER CENT DIVIDENDS PER YEAR FOR THE NEXT TEN YEARS ON THE PRESENT VALUATION OF YOUR STOCK, 5 CENTS PER SHARE, and this out of the new discovered vein alone." Now if you want to get in with us on this proposition you must act quickly, for the present allotment of shares will not last long. The man who buys now will get his shares at the very rock bottom price. The one who waits until later will without a doubt pay many times what it is being offered for now. Arrangements may be made to pay for your subscription on the easy payment plan. Write at once for full information and detailed literature explaining all about it. Write today. Do not wait another minute or you may be too late.

A BRAVE WOMAN

Her Wonderful Nerve With a Burglar In the House

A lady of wealth was one evening alone, with only one servant in the house. Being in her chamber, as she laid aside articles of jewellery and placed them in their appropriate places in the bureau, she chanced to raise her eyes to the mirror opposite, and from a light in the other corner of the room she caught in the mirror the reflection of the figure of a man curled up under a large centre table, but hidden from all sight save what was gained by this reflection in the mirror.

In this way she saw one of the hands resting on the floor. This hand was minus two fingers, and she knew at once that close by her was one of the most desperate characters, whose crimes and fiendish deeds had been the terror of the surrounding country for miles.

Now, who could blame her if she had screamed or made a hurried effort to reach the door? Had she done so it would have sealed her fate. But forcing herself to be calm, she finished what she was doing at the bureau, then quietly stepping to the bell, rang for the one servant in the house.

When the girl appeared she quietly said, "Mary, I want you to run over to Mr. —— (a jeweller in the neighborhood), and say I wish he would send back the diamonds he has been resetting; they are the most valuable I have, and I am uneasy to have them so long out of the house. Tell him to send them by you to-night, even if not finished; wait, I'll write a note for fear of mistake."

So seating herself with the greatest apparent composure at the table where the man lay concealed, she wrote the note. Of course, she wrote not for diamonds, but for help. The girl took the note, and alone absolutely, with this great terror concealed close by her, the lady waited.

That no suspicion might be aroused she busied herself putting various things in different places. How terrible must have been that waiting! How full of joy and safety the sound of the bell when the girl returned, and with her the friend and police, who captured the man before he could resist.

MEETING OF "GEORGES."

Will Be Held to Consider Gift to the King.

Toronto, March 11.—The "Georges" will probably participate in the presentation of a coronation gift to the King, as the "Marys" intend to do to the Queen. A preliminary meeting was held at Government House yesterday afternoon. The idea is to give every "George" a chance to subscribe towards the gift to their loyal namesake. Subscriptions from 5 cents upwards to $5 will be accepted. His Honor, the Lieutenant-Governor has taken the initiative here on the suggestion of his Excellency the Governor-General and others.

A public meeting of the "Georges" will be called by his Worship the Mayor at an early date.

for supplying and delivering 190,000 Imperial gallons more or less of illuminating oil and 55,000 Imperial gallons more or less of oil fuel made according to specifications prepared by the Department of Marine and Fisheries.

Specifications and forms of tender can be procured from the Collector of Customs at Toronto, Petrolea, Sarnia and from the Agents of this Department at Montreal, Quebec, St. John, Halifax, Pictou, Charlottetown, and from the Purchasing and Contract Agent, Marine Department, Ottawa.

Each tender must be accompanied by a deposit cheque equal to five per cent. of the total amount of the tender.

No tender will be considered except for oil strictly in accordance with the specifications and put up in packages as called for in said specifications. The cases and cans containing samples of oil submitted with tenders must also be strictly in accordance with the specifications and will be taken as samples of the packages offered.

The Department reserves the right to accept the whole or any part of the tender.

Papers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Department will not be paid for same.

Sand Covering the House.

Picton, March 11.—The sand bank are encroaching rapidly upon houses and groves at the summer resort near here, and the Evergreen House will soon be covered out of sight.

More Dreadnoughts.

London, March 10.—The naval estimates for the year have been published. They show a total of $221,900,000, an increase of $19,000,000. The total includes a sum sufficient to provide for the building of five new Dreadnoughts.

When you have rheumatism in your foot or instep apply Chamberlain's Liniment and you will get quick relief. It costs but a quarter. Why suffer? For sale by all dealers.

Washington, March 11.—(Special)—Republican insurgents and regulars in Congress have declared a truce. War will be discontinued in the extra session of the sixty-second Congress, under an armistice which has been arranged by the leaders of the two factions.

THEY FOUGHT LIKE WILD ANIMALS

FEMALE PRISONER STARTED THE TROUBLE BY JEERING AT HER ALLEGED CONFEDERATES.

Drenched By Firemen—Trial of Italian Prisoners Delayed By Refusal of Jurors to Serve.

Viterbo, March 13.—While members of the Neapolitan Camorra were fighting like wild beasts in their cells in the monastry prison to-day, government officers under direction of Cavaliere Bianchi, judge of the Assise Court, continued their hunt for jurors.

Though the box was filled on Saturday, several later refused to serve and five more were excused to-day, when Cavaliere Santero, the King's counsel, learned that they were closely affiliated with the Camorra organization.

The panel probably will be completed to-morrow as eighteen of those who had fled in fear of vengeance have promised to return upon promise of complete protection and pay of 90 cents a day.

WOMAN STARTED TROUBLE.

A riot was precipitated in the jail this morning when Maria Standardi, the only woman among the prisoners, taunted Alfano, the leader, and his cell mates for having failed to kill Giovanni Abatemaggioi their betrayer. When the prisoners were taken into the corridors for their daily exercise a free-for-all fight resulted, which was quelled only when the fire department turned a hose on the rioters and drove them back into their cells. There the fighting continued until the firemen were again called in and nearly drowned the combatants like rats in a trap.

Father Vitozzi, the "guardian angel of the Camorra," is seriously ill. It is said he took poison, smuggled to him by a bribed soldier.

SERIOUS RIOTS AT SAO PAULO

A NUMBER OF PERSONS KILLED AND INJURED BY TROOPS AND 150 ARRESTED.

An Anti-Clerical Row—Parochial School Could Not Produce Girl When a Demand Was Made.

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, March 13.—Anti-clerical rioting occurred at Sao Paulo yesterday. The military and the police attacked the mob, which fought back, and during the encounter a number of persons were killed and others injured.

One hundred and fifty arrests were made. All of the churches in Sao Paulo have been placed under military guards.

The rioting originated in the disappearance from a parochial school of a young girl who could not be produced by the school authorities when a demand for her was made.

The street railway and power interests in Sao Paulo are controlled by Sir William Mackenzie and other Canadians who have millions of dollars invested there. A number of Torontonians are employed in the city.

Thirty Men Killed in a Rock Slide

Virginia, Minn., March 13.—Death in the form of 500,000 tons of iron ore, rock, earth, ice, and snow, last night, slid down on thirty trackLayers working in the Norman Open Pit Mine. Only four escaped the avalanche, and three of these are in the hospital suffering from injuries that may prove fatal. Ole Johnson, foreman of one of the three changes of men that were caught by the vast mass, is the only one whose injuries are not critical.

The place that was an open pit is now almost a plain of rock, ore and earth, with here and there parts of a body in sight. A few crushed heads protrude from the mass. Arms and legs could be seen at varying angles, as the great lantern of the steam shovels swung over the half-filled pit, and some fell in while looking eagerly for lost friends.

It will be days before all the bodies can be recovered, and all parts of some may never be assembled. The mass of rock and earth ground many of them into shreds. Only the four men near the outer edge had a chance to run as the landslide swept into the hole. So far as can be ascertained, all the men caught in the slide were Finns and Austrians. Many left large families. Paul Paulson, whose wife died a month ago, left seven children orphans.

CENTRAL SCHOOL CLOSED.

Owing to Prevalence of Scarlet Fever in the City.

Yesterday Medical Health Officer McPherson closed the school for two days, in order to have the rooms disinfected. One of the teachers has been stricken with scarlet fever, and there has been other cases.

This precaution was taken in order to stamp out the disease if possible. The pupils were dismissed yesterday morning after being inspected, in order to see that there were no cases among them. The small boys are now happy.

CANADA'S CHAMPION DANCER.

Cured of Piles by Zam-Buk.

Mr. Thomas J. Hogan, Champion Clog and Pedestal Dancer of Canada, who resides at 80 Chambord Street, Montreal, writes: "It gives me much pleasure to let you know my opinion of your wonderful Zam-Buk. For some time past I have been troubled with piles, but this year I suffered so much that I was obliged to cancel a number of engagements. I tried all the so-called remedies that were recommended, but they seemed to do me no good. Having been advised to try Zam-Buk I purchased a box, and after applying it a few times I felt marked relief. I continued with the Zam-Buk treatment, and the relief was extended into a permanent cure. I gladly permit you to use my experience as an illustration of the great value of Zam-Buk for piles."

Another illustration of how Zam-Buk cures long-standing cases of piles is provided by Mr. William Kenix, of Upper Nine Mile River, Hants Co. N. S. He says: "I suffered terribly from piles, the pain at times being almost unbearable. Zam-Buk was recommended to me so I procured a supply and commenced with the treatment. After a very short time Zam-Buk effected a complete cure."

Zam-Buk is also a cure for ulcers, abscesses, eczema, cold sores, chapped hands, varicose ulcers, rashes, blood-poisons, ringworm, cuts, burns, bruises, children's abrasions, bed-sores, salt rheum, etc. All druggists and stores sell at 50c box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Zam-Buk Soap, which may be had from any druggist at 25c per tablet, should be used instead of ordinary soaps in all cases of eruptions and skin disease.

OBITUARY

The many friends of Mr. John Stothard, of Smith, will regret to hear of his death, which occurred yesterday afternoon at 1.30 with awful suddenness. Mr. Stothard had not been feeling well for some days and he decided to come to town to consult a physician, Dr. Marshall. As he was passing through the kitchen he collapsed and fell to the floor, dying instantly.

Dr. Marshall, who was summoned by phone, pronounced it heart failure.

The late Mr. Stothard was born in Smith, and was a son of the late Thomas Stothard, who emigrated from England in 1816, and was one of the pioneer residents of Smith. He was a Presbyterian in religion.

Announcement as to the date of the funeral will be made later.

WILLIAM EVERETT.

William Everett, of Amstruther, passed away on Friday last, and was interred yesterday in the Little Lake cemetery. Deceased was 75 years of age. There are left to mourn his loss three sons and one daughter. The sons are Harry and Russell, of Amstruther, and Bert of Lakefield, and Miss Lizzie of Toronto. Mr. Bert Everett, of the Bell Telephone Co., of this city, is a nephew of the deceased.

Tenders Asked for the Market Tolls.

Bills have been issued from this office, inviting tenders for the market tolls and charges of the City of Peterborough, for the year commencing April first, 1911, and ending March 31st, 1912. Sealed tenders will be received at the City Clerk's office up to four o'clock in the afternoon of Friday, March 24th, and must be accompanied by an accepted bank cheque for $200, which will be forfeited if the person to whom the tolls are sold refuses to enter into the contract and furnish acceptable security for its fulfillment. This $200 will otherwise apply on the first payment of purchase money. The by-laws, conditions of sale, etc., may be seen at the city clerk's office.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Republic of Mexico is Under Martial Law—More Troops Gather on Frontier

DIAZ IS CONFIDENT THAT HE CAN HANDLE THE SITUATION AND WILL PERSUE REBELS.

Two Hundred Mexican Rebels and Insurrectos Have Been Killed and Wounded in Three Latest Battles

El Paso, Tex., March 13.—The Republic of Mexico is now under Martial Law. President Diaz is confident that he will be master of the situation and is pursuing the rebels.

Reports are persistent that the original plan to "storm" Galveston will be abandoned, and that the "manoeuvring" will take place along the banks of the Rio Grande. This move would serve the double purpose of drilling the soldiers and prevent smuggling of arms and ammunition across to the insurrectos.

REBELS ACORE A VICTORY.

El Paso, Texas, March 13.—Two hundred Mexican regulars and insurrectos have been killed and wounded in the three latest battles of the revolution as a result of which the revolutionary forces have gained ground in their extended campaign in the State of Sonora, but have suffered heavily in Chinatown.

The rebels are to-day in possession of the town of Navajoa, Sonora, but lost some of their best men, officers and soldiers of the Foreign Legion, about Casas Grandes.

The rebels were massing their forces before Agua Preita to-day, after having been driven off last night by a galling cannonade from the Federals' machine guns. The 300 Federals in the garrison at Agua Preita supported the artillery fire by constant volleys of musketry. The rebels have tried to capture the town under cover of darkness after bombarding it all day.

After capturing the town of Navajoa, the rebels burned all the bridges in the vicinity to check a re-inforcement of the Federals, who drew off after determining the overwhelming strength of the enemy.

A great deal of doubt exists as to the American dead and wounded about Casas Grandes. The Junta here received word to-day that Capt. R. F. Harrington, an American soldier of fortune, and Guiseppe Garibaldi, descendant of the Italian patriot, had only been wounded and not killed.

Famine conditions in Chihuahua and the operations of the rebels under General Madero and General Blanco, indicate that the insurrectos will try to starve the city into surrendering.

WHAT BRITAIN'S GREATEST ADMIRAL THINKS.

Toronto, March 13.—Lord Charles Beresford, in the course of a letter to Capt. R. M. Melville, R.N., says: "My own idea is that if once reciprocity becomes a fact the Americans will get control of the enormous resources of Canada and eventually there will be annexation.

"Although the present eight millions of Canadians are loyal and genuinely affectionate to the Old Country, they would be swamped with men and money from the United States. However, Canada knows her own business better than anybody over here can teach her, and there is no doubt she will do what is right to herself."

Lively Fight in a Paris Restaurant

William Lee, a Missouri Millionaire, Was Slightly Wounded by a Bullet.

Paris, March 13.—A lively fight was followed by the shooting early to-day in the fashionable Cafe De Paris of William Lee, who is said to be a Missourian and a millionaire. He has a bullet in his hip which came from his own revolver, but his condition is not serious. The incident, coming as it did at two o'clock in the morning while the big dining-room was filled with men and women, caused the greatest excitement.

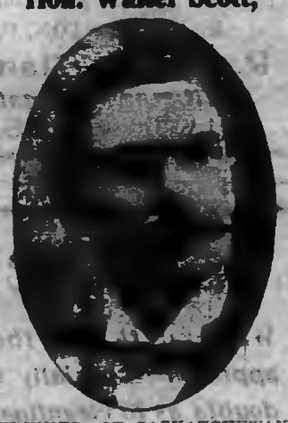
Daniel O'Connel, K. C., May be Appointed

Ottawa, Ont., March 13—The vacancy on the High Court Bench of Ontario consequent upon the death of Mr. Justice MacMahon is understood to be the cause of considerable discussion in the Cabinet. The choice is said to be between W. N. Tilley, of Toronto, one of the counsel at the Hague and Daniel O'Connell, K.C., of Peterborough. A. W. Anglin, K. C., a brother of Judge Anglin of the Supreme Court, is also mentioned. The Minister of Justice is understood to favor Mr. Tilley, but a national consideration looms up. Judge MacMahon was an Irish Catholic and the Secretary of State is urging that an Irish Catholic should succeed him.

Deadlock Exists in Saskatchewan House

Hon. Walter Scott,



PREMIER OF SASKATCHEWAN.

REFUSES TO LET ANY BUSINESS BE DONE UNTIL PREMIER SCOTT YIELDS.

May Dissolve the House—General Election in Saskatchewan is Possible Over the Electoral Lists.

Regina, Sask., March 13.—A curious situation exists in the Saskatchewan Legislature. At midnight Saturday a 61-hour deadlock ended, to be renewed to-day. Each side is firmly resolved not to surrender. No business can be transacted, and it looks as if dissolution is inevitable.

The trouble developed to an acute stage on Thursday, when the Opposition announced that no business would be transacted unal the Government had given assurances that the new lists would be prepared before another election would be held. This Premier Scott refused to do. The Opposition claims that there are no proper voters' lists in existence in the Province.

The Government declared to-day that one of two things would be done at once unless the Opposition receded. The House would be dissolved or the rules amended so as to prevent the Opposition blocking supplies.

Mr. Haultain, leader of the Provincial Conservatives, has refused to yield.

Is Move of U. S. A Warning to Japan?

London, March 13.—London papers to-day give considerable prominence to the following quotation from the Cologne Gazette:

"The Americans generally are suspicious of Japan. But whether the mobilization on the Mexican frontier is due to fear of Japan or actual events in Mexico constitute a reason, cannot be stated at the time owing to the American Government's secrecy."

Assassin Captured by Wounded Woman

Montreal, March 13.—After being shot in the left side of the head by F. Manpeo, Mrs. Antonio Francesco pounced upon him and pinned him to the side of the door until a constable arrived and arrested him. There were a dozen men and a couple of women in the house at the time, but little has been found out as to the details of the shooting, nor the cause.

Local Officers on Tour of Inspection

As is known to all readers of the daily press, the Ontario Government is promulgating legislation to compel all places of public patronage, whether church or theatre, to have doors of a certain size opening outward from the respective places such doors adorn. Whether to anticipate this law or not is not known. However, yesterday afternoon Chief of Police Thompson and Fire Chief Howard visited the various places of public amusement of the city, including the moving picture houses. A Times man happened to be at the Crystal when the Chiefs inspected that place. One somewhat funny incident connected therewith was when Chief Thompson tried to ascend the stairs leading to the operating room, as Chief Howard attended to the rear fire escape exits. The worthy police official, whose girth and breadth of shoulders equals his sagacity to see that the law is complied with, met a stairway adapted to the breadth and width of the ordinary person.

operator. He pulled and sweated, and at last his six feet odd of muscular and trained police perfection, climbed to the "box" where the operator "turns the crank." The result of the officials visit to the playhouses, as learned by the Times man was in every way satisfactory.

Doctor Heavily Fined

At a session of the County Police Court in Lindsay, Dr. Millyard, of Victoria Road, and Mr. Chirpaw, were charged with an infraction of the Liquor License Act. The doctor faced two charges under Section 74 of the Act, relieving certificates for liquor and Mr. Chirpaw for filling up order after prohibited hours. Dr. Millyard pleaded guilty, and was fined $10.00 in each case with costs, amounting to $25.00. The case against Chirpaw was adjourned for a week, as accused was too ill to appear.

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 13.—With eleven men dead as the result of the strike of white firemen on the Queen and Crescent route of the Cincinnati Southern, all traffic along the road from here north is suspended.

The railroad officials hope to resume train service during the day, but only white firemen will be employed, as at every station north of here armed strike sympathizers are searching the engine cab for negroes.

FOLLOWED WIFE AND LOCATED THEIR MAN

CANADIAN OFFICER LOCATED AN ALLEGED SAFE CRACKER FROM MONTREAL IN CHICAGO.

Woman Was Shadowed for 1000 Miles—Husband Met Her and Was Placed Under Arrest.

Montreal, Que., March 13.—By shadowing an attractive woman for nearly a thousand miles, Superintendent L. J. Ebbets, of the Canadian Detective Bureau, solved the mystery that enshrouded the sensational safe robbery of the William Davies Company, Limited, and placed in custody Frederick Krutzberger, formerly manager of the company's chain of retail stores.

Mrs. Frederick Krutzberger, who innocently led the detective to the hiding place of her husband, was under constant surveillance for over five weeks, although so skilfully had all tracks of the affair been covered that to the perpetrator there seemed to be absolutely nothing that would lead to his identity being discovered until he had secured a good start.

The robbery was committed on the evening of Saturday, January 28th, after the clerks had left. The safe was opened and $585 in cash taken. When it was discovered on Monday morning the door of the safe was badly disfigured and the combination broken.

The police were notified and they were inclined to believe that the work was done by some one who forced the safe door.

Tuberculosis Question Discussed Last Night

A meeting of citizens was held last night in the Council Chambers, to discuss the Tuberculosis question, and what should be done in Peterborough. Mayor Morrow presiding.

Dr. Cameron was the first speaker, and imparted considerable valuable information. The following in his own words, is a brief account of his address: "Up to the present time in Peterborough, little has been done to stop this disease. Some time ago there was an organization formed to take up the question, but I do not think that they succeeded in accomplishing much. The work in Canada is being given a great deal of attention at present. The first step in this direction in Canada was the organizing of the National Sanitarium. This organization has done a great amount of good, particularly in Ontario. Another organization which has worked a great change in this line, is the Anti-Tubercular Association. An organization could be formed in a city like Peterborough, for instance, and could be operated with or without connection with the central organization, although it is probably better to have connection with the main organization. In St. Catherines, they formed such an organization four or five years ago; it at once took up the question of the local situation. They bought land outside the city, and by aid of local subscriptions got enough to build an institution for patients infected with this disease. The building cost about $14,000.00, and had about twenty-five patients. Hamilton took up the question, in a like manner, and the work was carried on by some half dozen citizens, and they succeeded in building a sanitarium and establishing a nursery. Now they have a second sanitarium. One is used for the patients in the first stages of the disease, and the other is used for the far advanced cases. The results in all these cases are very remarkable. London, Ont., is another city which has taken a very active part in the question. They have followed a plan similar to that of Hamilton. The Government of the Province of Ontario would supply $4,000 towards a building worth $20,000. The upkeep of such an institution is the difficulty. It is a very expensive proposition—it costs about $8.00 per week, and in some cases it costs $11.00 and $12.00 per patient. For such an institution, the Province gives a grant of $3.00 per week to assist patients."

"So far as an institution is concerned for Peterborough, I am not here to advocate that one be built at once. The plan that has been suggested, is, that until such time as the municipality feels itself in a position to build, the work can be carried on by means of an organization. That method is extremely simple. At the present time there may be 150 patients infected with this disease in Peterborough and some not in a financial position to make their condition as desirable as should be. The plan proposed is, to have a physician visit them and give instructions what to do regarding the care they should take of themselves, also the care they should exercise in preventing others from taking the disease. If a great deal of education was given them, it would render the danger less. The District Nurse,' that has been proposed, could tell them what they should eat, and give them instructions along that line.

Through the aid of the organization we suggest, those affected might be cared for by the District Nurse, and would be helped in such a condition, that their own comfort would be greatly increased, as well as the public danger decreased. It would cost money to do all this, but they have done it in other cities and towns and we should be able to do it here."

MR. BENNET'S OPINION.

"This subject is an extremely important one, and there are very few people who have not felt the ravages of this dread disease in one way or another. Then what is to be done? Dr. Cameron has gone over the ground fully. And I was connected with the association he referred to. It was a branch of the National Sanitarium Association. It was maintained by Peterborough and other cities. It did not have a lengthy existence. The people thought that it was not proper as far as Peterborough was concerned. I doubted, myself, if its benefits were what they should be. Dr. Cameron's suggestion of a nurse seems to be of more benefit to us at present, than a sanitarium would be. The District Nurse appealed to me for several reasons. One good reason is, that the patients may remain at home, and have all the comforts of the home, while the nurses would have the opportunity of giving them the proper diet, and all that the nurse can do. It does not require medical men. The nurse can do all that is necessary. The patient might not need eggs and milk and all those delicacies to get better. Encouragement and plenty of ventilation, are essentials. In order to put the matter into operation, it is necessary to get an association, and we want a 'Help Association,' rather than a 'Tuberculosis Association.' It would be more proper to have that name, as the latter name has rather a threatening sound to those who are afraid of taking it. If we had so far progressed, we could go ahead, and carry on our work according to our means supplied for the purpose."

Dr. Halliday said that it was not necessary for him to make any lengthy remarks, as the former speakers had covered the work pretty fully.

He, however, was fully in sympathy with the scheme, and favored the movement. He also thought that they should proceed to business at once. He stated that people knew how serious the disease was, but that there were very few, who were aware of how to treat it.

Dr. McNulty thought that there were just two things necessary, 'Knowledge' and 'confidence.' Knowledge, to know what they wanted, and confidence, to carry out what they planned after they did know what they wanted. He stated that science has pointed out, how the disease can be radicated. He thought that a great deal could be done along educational lines. A central organization, alone, can accomplish but little, but if working with the local organization, can do a lot. Education is a matter of prevention. The teaching of the children in school is an essential in helping matters in life. He also thought that the distributing of leaflets giving instructions, would also be a good thing. Little talks in fraternal societies would also tend to better matters. Dr. McNulty thought that a little item in the press would also help, as it would acquaint the people with the circumstances. He thought that later on a place could be erected where a person could end their days in comparative comfort.

Mr. D. W. Dumble and Dr. McPherson also expressed their views on the subject. Dr. McPherson thought that the idea of the nurse was about as good an idea as he had heard of, and he also was of the opinion that it would be better to have a sanitarium as soon as the city could afford one. He said that the general public realized the danger, and that any person would contract the disease—old or young or middle-aged.

Dr. Cameron and Mr. W. H. Moore were of the opinion that a Committee should be appointed at once to begin the work, and that they look after the rest of the arrangements.

Mr. J. W. Bennet moved, seconded by Mr. F. Adams, that the following be the committee: Dr. Halliday, Mr. Moore, Mayor Morrow, Dr. Cameron, Dr. McPherson, Mr. J. W. Bennet, Convenor; Dr. McNulty, and Canon Davidson.

And that this committee talk the matter over, and appoint officers for the association, and arrange for a meeting for a week from last night. —Carried.

Sciatica

EXPECTED DEATH ANY DAY.

Another Case Where Life Was Saved and Health Restored by "Nerviline."

We have all read and heard of the agonies of Sciatica, but only those who have been tortured by this dread malady can fully appreciate what it must mean to be cured after years of suffering.

It is because he feels it his solemn duty to tell to the world his faith in Nerviline that Victor P. Hires makes the following declaration: "For three years I was in the Royal Mail Service, and in all kinds of weather had to meet the night trains. Dampness, cold and exposure brought on sciatica that affected my left side. Sometimes an attack would come on that made me powerless to work. I was so nearly a complete cripple that I had to give up my job. I was in despair, completely cast down because the money I spent on trying to get well was wasted. I was speaking to my chemist one day, and he recommended "Nerviline." I had this good liniment rubbed on several times a day, and got relief. In order to build up my general health and improve my blood I used Fercolone, one tablet with each meal. I continued this treatment four months and was cured. I have used all kinds of liniments, and can truthfully say that Nerviline is far stronger, more penetrating, and infinitely better than anything else for relieving pain. I urge everyone with lumbago, neuralgia, rheumatism or sciatica to use Nerviline. I know it will cure them."

CURED SIX YEARS

There isn't a more highly-esteemed citizen in Westchester than Mr. Hires. What he says can be relied upon. For six years since being cured he hasn't had a single relapse. Don't accept anything from your dealer but "Nerviline." 25 cents per bottle or five for $1.00; sold everywhere, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

LEISURE AND ITS USE.

A playwright once depicted a drummer who travelled with hymn books and sold playing cards on the side. His leisure was occupied by an activity which did not offer sufficient change from his daily toil. The fact that there is some noticeable difference between the articles he sold has nothing to do with the case. Whether at work or at play he was selling, soaking his soul in commercialism.

Too many of us in these days find it difficult to use spare time wisely. Indeed we persuade ourselves that we have no spare time at all. We toil away at the same old task hours after the quota of day's work is done. For a young man, anxious to know his profession thoroughly and gifted with exuberant health, there may be some excuse, but for the man whose position is made this constant application is the result of mistaken zeal. Spare time should be used for rest, for the change of work which means rest. It should be employed for the development of those faculties which fit him while we are at our daily work.

Many a man who should know better buys or sells stocks all day, and talks stocks all night. Perseverance in this direction leads to a sort of financial debauch, a perpetual intoxication of mind. We hear a good deal about the "tired business man." It is said that he is responsible for insane stage entertainments. The idea is that he is unable to understand anything but drivel, that he likes drivel. If the business man used his leisure sensibly he would not be "tired," and theatrical managers could not accuse him of softening of the brain.

Mr. Edward B. Butler, is a Chicago merchant, the President of a large wholesale establishment. He is prosperous. He has made by his own efforts a splendid fortune. He is known as a philanthropist as a patron of art. Last year two landscapes by Edward Burgess were hung at the Art Institute. This year, three others found a place on the line, and were highly praised. It now appears that "Edward Burgess" is in reality Mr. Butler. He began to paint at the age of 54. Now he is 57. He has used his leisure to some effect.

It is not suggested that every business man should become a painter. But it would be of great advantage to the community as well as to the individuals if our dollar-chasing mob of nervous business men would find some forms of activity removed entirely from commercialism Municipal Government, Educational Problems, Literature, Art, Music, Travel, even Politics, any one would provide an excellent use for spare time.

WAVES TO DRIVE SHIPS

Applying Wave Power in Propelling Vessels Across the Atlantic

Mr. John Luck, of Brooklyn, has devised a plan to apply wave power to the propulsion of vessels crossing the ocean. The model of his invention, says "Science Siftings," represents the hull of a vessel equipped with water tanks, fore and aft. In the centre of the craft is a piston rod operated by a series of cogwheels, which furnishes motor power for the ship. Theoretically the weight of water stored in the tanks will be sufficient to put the machinery in motion and move the ship. This force will be applied by the rise and fall of the hull, occasioned by the action of the waves. If, for instance, a wave five feet high should strike the vessel astern, tons of force would be thrown upon the operating machinery, which would be simultaneously affected by the suction of the receding waters in other tanks at the opposite end of the boat. It would not, therefore, affect the power of propulsion if the tides were adverse to the course of the ship. Rocking of the boat by cross currents would have no effect on the power pressure.
